

WINS POINT IN TRIAL

The Glass Prosecution Use Bribery Evidence.

LONERGAN ON STAND

Tells How He Was Trapped by Burns and Heney Into Confession.

HENEY WANTED BIGGER MEN

Supervisors Were Not the Ones Who Were Working the Graft—Abe Ruef Had Premonition That Lonergan Was Being Trapped But Was Not Heeded.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 15.—

The cross examination of former Supervisor Lonergan by Attorney Delmas occupied the major part of the morning session of the Glass trial and under questioning Delmas struck a new note in his narrative by introducing the name of Abe Ruef. He said Ruef objected to his receiving money from a man named Roy. Ruef said he should not have done it: "It may be all right but I don't like it," was Ruef's statement.

Later Roy induced Lonergan to come to his house and told Lonergan that he (Roy) was to act as a "go-between" hereafter instead of Gallagher. Roy handed him $500 for a vote in the oil storage ordinance. Lonergan said he was suspicious of Roy and thought he was being jobbed. He tried to get out the room but the door was barred.

Then the folding doors into another room were flung open and Burns, Langdon and Heney stepped into the room. Lonergan tried to get Burns to arrest Roy for attempting to bribe Lonergan but Burns said that did not go.

He told him he had better confess for his wife and children. He said that Heney practically threatened to have him indicted and if he didn't he says Heney said however that it wouldn't clear the atmosphere of San Francisco to send a few supervisors to jail. What they wanted was men who had debauched the supervisors. Lonergan then related the circumstances of his confession.

At the morning session the prosecution won an important victory in the decision of the court that the evidence of acts committed after an actual bribery for an instant return to the Pacific States Company a portion of the bribe money. This ruling as viewed by the prosecution will enable the state to show that such money was returned and credited upon the corporation's cash account tag.

SEATTLE NEEDS COAL.

SEATTLE, August 15.—The shortage of coal is now beginning to be felt in Seattle, and it is predicted that Seattle this winter will witness the worst shortage of fuel in its history. Scarcity of cars for hauling coal is given as the reason for the present state of affairs. Only a small portion of the residents of Seattle have protected themselves for the winter by buying while the market was well stocked with coal, and there is bound to be suffering.

The Labor Council has contracted for 4000 tons of coal, which it will sell to the members of the labor unions, but so far only 400 tons have been obtained. There is plenty of coal in the mines, but the scarcity of cars prevents it from being hauled here.

DRINK AND

Hanson Surrounds Himself With Bottles And Turns On The Gas.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—Surrounded by a number of bottles containing many varieties of liquors, with all the cracks in the room stuffed with paper and a hose connecting the gas jet with the mouth, the dead body of a man about 55 years old, supposed to be named Hanson, was found yesterday morning in a room at 2205 Fillmore street by Policeman Murphy of the Bush-street station.

Very little is known of the dead man except that on Saturday he appeared at the above address and rented a room from Dr. L. O. Sweetser, and after paying for a week in advance, was seen no more. Yesterday morning when Dr. Sweetser, who is a dentist, with an office in the same building, went to his office he smelled gas and called the policeman to investigate. They found the man fully dressed on the bed with the tube in his mouth. He seemed to have been dead for some time.

There were several partly filled liquor bottles in the room. The man had taken pains to stuff paper in all the cracks in order that his scheme would not fall. He had a suit case containing some ordinary clothing, but there was nothing left to lead to his identity besides the fact that he told Dr. Sweetser his name was Hansen.

MANSFIELD'S CAREER ENDED.

LYON MOUNTAIN, N. Y., August 15.—Friends of Richard Mansfield, the actor, state today that he will never return to the stage. His health is still poor.

RELEASE PRISONERS

Situation at Masage Again Gets Serious.

McLEAN NOT YET RELEASED

Reports Were Received by Wireless—Tribesmen Ate up Arms Over Bombardment of Casa Blanca and Cause Delay in McLean's Release.

TANGIER, August 15.—A wireless from Casa Blanca says the situation at Masage continues to be alarming. The prisoners in the jail have been turned loose. There is still uneasiness in the positions of Europeans in Morocco. There is no confirmation of the report of McLean being released. A courier and servant from McLean has just arrived and says the news of the bombardment of Casa Blanca left a bad impression on the Klass tribesmen and caused a suspension of negotiations for McLean's release.

Tribesmen are furious against all Europeans.

They wish to be revenged on McLean who is protected by Raisuli.

It has been learned that Caid Sir Harry MacLean, the Englishman in the service of the Sultan of Morocco who has been a prisoner of the Bandit Raisuli since early in July, has not been set at liberty as previously reported. The British Legation here today received a communication from Raisuli threatening that unless his terms are accepted immediately he would remove MacLean to a place whither all the armies of Europe if united could not follow.

It seems that Raisuli upon hearing of the bombardment and occupation of Casa Blanca succeeded in taking MacLean back of the Klass tribesmen and removed him to a strategic position in the neighborhood of Ben Iarous. MacLean is well but he has been deprived of his tent and compelled to occupy an ordinary soldier's tent of a small size. He is subsisting upon black bread.

DANISH VICE-CONSUL SKIPS.

OMAHA, August 15.—Theodore Olson, former Danish vice-consul and once city comptroller, is missing, and it is alleged that his accounts with the Danish government is short $13,000.

DID DEED WHILE DRUNK

Goold Confesses He Killed Girl.

MURDERED MISS LEVIN

Stabbed Her While Quarreling Over Money Matters.

WIFE HELPED CONCEAL BODY

Body Was Dismembered and Placed in Trunk and Goold's Expected to Put it Out of the Way But Police Were Too Clever for Them—From Good Family.

MARSEILLES, France, Aug. 15.—

The famous Monte Carlo "trunk mystery," which has baffled the police for so long was cleared up Tuesday when Vero St. Ledge Goold confessed that he murdered Emma Levin. Still another obstacle was removed when Goold was found dead in his cell an hour later, having hanged himself, for eminent legal authorities were puzzled as to how they could prosecute him. Goold was an Englishman, and the crime was committed out of France, making a complicated legal problem.

Goold confessed to the murder, saying he stabbed the woman during a quarrel over $100. He then dismembered the body and his wife helped him pack it in a trunk. They then journeyed to Marseilles, where they planned to cast the body into the sea. Referring to the murder Goold said:

"I had been drinking, and, becoming angry, I seized a hunting knife and buried it in Emma's back. She fell dead. The next day I dismembered the body with a saw and knife and placed the torso in a trunk and the head and legs in a valise. I only stabbed the woman once. The other wounds on her body must have been caused by shaking around in the trunk."

Mrs. Goold corroborated everything her husband said.

Goold and his wife, who are both elderly and of good English families, arrived at Marseilles from Monte Carlo August 6. Their baggage consisted of a trunk and a suit case.

Little Japan—It's nice to have an appetite for the things you want.

The trunk was left at the station to be registered for London, while Goold and his wife, taking the suit case, went to a hotel for breakfast. Blood oozing from the trunk aroused suspicion.

BONAPARTE WILL INVESTIGATE.

Will Consult Lawyers Concerning Promise of Immunity to Alton.

WASHINGTON, August 5.—Attorney-General Bonaparte announces he will confer Monday with the president and the former district attorneys at Chicago on the question of the immunity promise made to the Alton Railroad for rebating to the Standard Oil.

Bonaparte did not personally promise immunity to anybody but a promise had been made with the cognizance of former Attorney-General Moody.

Bonaparte said he had not arrived at a decision as to what action is to be taken against Harriman to compel him to answer questions asked by the interstate commerce Commission.

SYSTEMATIC THIEVING.

TACOMA, August 15.—A gang of railroad thieves are systematically pillaging freight cars the past month.

The amount is estimated to be several thousand. A railroad detective caused the arrest of a switchman said to be a member of the gang. A confession is expected.

TEXAS KID GETS A FIGHT.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 15.—Billy Snalihan and Texas Kid are matched for 20 rounds here on August 20.

SHOOTS HIS WIFE

Returns Home After Four Years for Revenge.

DAUGHTER THEN KILLS FATHER

The Daughter Drives Her Father Around the House Firing at Every Opportunity—Was Arrested on Complaint of Wife on Criminal Charge.

NEW YORK, August 15.—George Wasser, after four years' absence, returned home and shot his wife fatally and was then shot by his daughter. The daughter pursued the father through the house firing several times as he fled from room to room. Wasser turned and fired at the daughter several times but missed.

Finally Wasser fell wounded in the parlor. His wife died later and Wasser will probably die. Wasser on entering the house upbraided his wife for causing his arrest. He was charged and tried on assault of their youngest daughter.

THE STRIKE CONTINUES

But Officials Declare it is All Over.

OPERATORS SAY NOT

Neither Will Arbitrate and the Wires Are Working Partially.

BOARD OF TRADE RE-OPENED

Offices Are Filled up with Strikebreakers and Seemingly Running at Normal—Strikers Deny That Some of Their Number Are Going Back to Work.

NEW YORK, August 15.—The general offices of both telegraph companies said today that business is moving in all parts of the country and they are having no difficulty in handling everything offered.

President Clowry of the Western Union, said: "The strike is over. We are having applications from the strikers today but we are filled up and cannot use them."

The Associated Press service is moving under steadily improved conditions.

The officials of the union still profess confidence and deny that many operators are applying for re-employment.

CHICAGO, August 15.—The telegraph companies today re-opened the offices on the Board of Trade but with comparatively few operators. It is predicted that the strike of the broker operators did not materialize. Both employers and strikers declare they will not arbitrate.

SPOKANE, Wash., August 15.—Spokane is practically cut off from the outside world, so far as telegraphic or telephone service is concerned. A few stray bits of news was received by the Western Union. The telephone wires to the coast cities were all down yesterday. The strike is general here. The Postal Company has closed its office, while the manager and his assistant are alone at the Western Union office.

OMAHA, August 15.—President Small of the Telegraphers' Union, passed through the city this morning, en route from San Francisco to Chicago.

PORTLAND, August 15.—The third day of the telegraphers' strike shows no apparent change for the better, despite the fact that officials of the two telegraph companies in New York assert that business is nearing a normal stage and that a full complement of men has been secured. Reports received by union officials and business men, some few of the latter having received delayed messages from various parts of the country show that the tie-up that has paralyzed the business world is practically complete.

San Francisco and Oakland wires are manned by a few men, chiefly the subordinate officials of the companies that are located in those cities.

"Seattle is tied up tight," is the word from the Puget Sound city. Managers and chief operators at this point are endeavoring to keep the service open, but their efforts are not crowned with the greatest success, according to advices received from the strikers' committee. Officials of the two companies, however, allege that business is being handled in good shape.

Superintendent Forehand, of the Postal in Seattle, declares there will be no arbitration.

Superintendent Reid, of the Western Union, charges that railway telegraphers, members of the O. R. T., are causing much inconvenience by plugging and opening wires at irregular intervals. He states that prosecution will follow each proven attempt on the part of the men to obstruct the efforts of the warring companies. He also states a galvanometer is being used to locate and determine the guilty parties.

This action on the part of the O. R. T. men is denied by all telegraphers, who assert that interruptions are due only to unusual conditions existing on the greater part of the lines on the coast, and although these interruptions occurred with great frequency before the strike, no big outcry was made against such conditions by the companies until it is offered an opportunity to discredit the striking operators. In the Willamette Valley the strike is felt in every town where business men are dependent upon the wires for the transaction of much business.

FAMOUS PLAYHOUSE LEASED.

PORTLAND, August 15.—Emanuel May, a retired capitalist of this city, has leased the Marquam Grand Theater for at least six weeks, commencing September 2, and will present the California Opera Company in a series of comic operas, including "Robin Hood," "The Sorenade," and "The Girl and the Governor." Mr. May returned from San Francisco last night. Tom Carl, of the old Bostonians, is the director of the Californians and will probably appear.

Mr. May has a short lease on the house, but he says it may be extended. It is his first venture in the theater business.

HOLY JUMPERS NOW

New Sect Causing Trouble With Religious Pow-Wow.

HAVE HOSE TURNED ON THEM

Creed of This Denomination is to Turn Over All Property to Association and to Jump and Cry Out Religion on the Streets—Are Arrested.

Burlington, Wis., Aug 15.—Sane and sedate citizens of Waukesha, Wis., are jumping on the holy jumpers, and the fracas has developed damage suits besides fracturing the reputation of the town as a summer resort.

Damage suits aggregating $30,000 against Sheriff George L. Dwinell, brought by members of the Metropolitan Church association—the formal name for the jumpers—on the charge of false imprisonment and inhuman treatment; special meetings of the common council and an ordinance prohibiting street meetings except on special permit and continued vigilance in making arrests when street meetings are held are the latest developments in the battle.

Of the nineteen members of the sect who have been arrested within the last month charged with disorderly conduct and creating disturbance on the street each has refused to pay the $2 and costs imposed by the court, declaring that "they preferred to rot in jail."

Sheriff Dwinell's disciplinary measures in turning the hose on his prisoners in a vain effort to make them keep quiet at night and in giving them the unruly prisoners' fare of bread and water is responsible for the damage suits. A small faction of Waukesha residents sympathize with the Jumpers, but the majority feel that the religious enthusiasts provoked all the punishment they received.

The present legal proceedings date back to the night of May 28, when Sheriff Dwinell and his deputies arrested seventeen Jumpers who were conducting a meeting on a street corner jumping high in the air, shouting at the top of their voices and throwing hymn books at each other in their delirium. This tumult was carried on in spite of the fact that Mrs. Michael Holman was lying ill in an adjoining house.

The prisoners jumped all the way to
