

DAWES' SPEECH CREATES REMARK

Ex-Comptroller of Treasury Criticizes Federal Department of Justice.

ENTERS DEFENSE FOR CAPITAL

Delegates to National Civic Federation Eagerly Discuss Position Taken by ex-Federal Official—Urges Amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Delegates to the National Civic Federation today eagerly discussed the remarks made at last night's meeting by ex-Comptroller Dawes of the Treasury. Dawes made an attack on the Federal department of justice saying:

"Some of its actions look remarkably as if favoritism was being displayed in the election of combination to be investigated and in the manner of attack.

"It is remarkable that the cases handled by the department of justice are always tried in the newspapers before they get into the courts."

The speaker also criticized the magazine writers who he said made a practice of attacking men who accomplished great things in the mercantile and financial world. He then entered to the defense of the financiers of New York asserting that many of them, who have borne the lash during the last four years, are doing a work for the good of the country, the value of which it is hard to estimate. In conclusion Dawes urged the amendment of the Sherman anti-trust law so as to avoid the implication that all combines are of a criminal character.

At today's session Herman Ridder of New York spoke upon "Printing and Publishing," the only industry that tends toward diffusion.

At the afternoon session Hency, during the re-direct examination of Gallagher, had him identify his signature to the original stenographic notes of his confession. The prosecution called former Supervisor Furey to the stand and the offer of his testimony marked the beginning of the introduction of "evidence of similar offenses."

INVESTORS ANXIOUS

Reynolds Bank Failure Creates Considerable Worry.

LIABILITIES WILL BE COVERED

Many People of Small Means Had Money in Securities—Ministers, Church People and School Teachers Dabble in Stocks of Get-Rich-Quick Scheme.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Dispatches from Boston say that Massachusetts stockholders of the Reynolds companies are bombarding Reynolds' Boston office with anxious inquiries for an accounting of their investments. The news of the failure of the bank at Valdez has created among them considerable fear regarding their savings. The investors are largely ministers, church people and school teachers.

Reynolds, according to Seattle dispatches, relinquished his equity in the Alaska Coast Line Company's steamers immediately after the closing of his Valdez bank. He realized nothing from the sale of his equity in the transportation company, according to the statement of a man who was closely connected with the deal. Mr. Reynolds, as trustee for the Reynolds-Alaska Development Company, secured an option on 93 per cent of the capital stock of the steamship company and paid $47,000 down. The balance, which was $47,000, he contracted to pay in 90 days.

The syndicate of Tacoma men agreed to take up the option if he would relinquish his interest in the company. Reynolds being unable to pay the balance on his option, acceded to the terms offered and secured in return for his investment of $47,000 a contract by which he may buy back the steamship line within three years by reimbursing the Tacoma men for the money they invested.

Two months ago the Reynolds-Alaska Development Company had $500,000 to its credit in various banks. How this was spent Mr. Reynolds and the board of directors have not stated. It is known however, that Reynolds purchased the

ENJOYED THEIR TRIP.

French Balloonists Arrive in Eastern Metropolis.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Alfred Le Blanc, pilot of the French balloon Isle de France, and E. W. Mix, his assistant, who landed at Herbertsville, N. J., having all but won the James Gordon Bennett trophy, and the international race arrived in this city today. They reached the ground hungry and sleepy and cold, but aside from these minor discomforts, they had a fine trip. Incidentally Mix revisited the scenes of his childhood, but it was from the air that he did so. He was born in Franklin county, Ohio, on a farm, but he had not seen the place in many years. Before he and Mr. LeBlanc entered the basket of the balloon for the race, he remarked that it would be a great pleasure if he could pass over his birthplace. On Tuesday morning he looked down and saw what seemed familiar country. The balloon was floating along near the earth and presently the scenery became even more familiar to his eye. Next he saw some relatives and friends and they recognized him, he thinks, but they could not understand what he shouted. Before reaching Franklin County the Isle de France sailed along with two other competitor balloons. One of these was the St. Louis and the other the Lotus II. The rival balloonists were able to keep up quite a long conversation in the small hours of the morning. The Isle de France passed over Grafton, Monday evening, and over Columbus next morning. That night LeBlanc and Mix went over Pittsburg and enjoyed watching the trolley cars and the lights. They crossed the Susquehanna at Delta, Pa., and went over Delaware Bay in a fog. The Delaware river they crossed at Wilmington and Philadelphia pretty soon came in sight. They crossed New Jersey and New York to Long Island but were afraid of being blown out to sea, so they landed at Herbertsville.

FIANCE CANNOT COLLECT.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 24.—An 11-year engagement to a man does not permit a woman to collect his life insurance after his death, Judge Slover decided recently in the circuit court. Mrs. F. L. Lundy sued the Woodmen of the World and Thomas Wilson, administrator of W. H. Wall's estate, for the $1000 life insurance which Wall carried. She said she had been engaged to him 11 years and that he promised to assign the insurance to her. Wall died last February leaving the insurance money to his mother, Mrs. Navina Wall, who died a few days later. After hearing the testimony, Judge Slover dismissed the jury. CONVENTION FIGHT

Chicago and Kansas City After Republican Convention.

EASTERN DELEGATES PLEDGED

Chicago Will Be Compelled to Enlarge the Coliseum as the Seating Capacity Is not Enough—Kansas City Can Seat 20,000 Persons.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Chicago and Kansas City will fight it out for both the Republican and Democratic National conventions of 1908. Chicago will win only on condition that a larger convention hall be provided than the Coliseum and better arranged. Thomas D. Knight, president of the Hamilton Club, delivered this message last night at a banquet of the "Old Guard" of the club. He had just returned after a consultation with Chairman New and other Republican National leaders at Washington:

"Chicago must provide a hall which will comfortably seat 14,000," said Mr. Knight. "That is the foundation stone of the demands of the national committee, and must be met by Chicago or the convention goes to Kansas City, where there is a hall seating 20,000. Already many Eastern committeemen have pledged their support to Kansas City which has made a strong campaign. The Coliseum, as present arranged does not answer nearly the demand. We will strive to arrange a system of new galleries. Mr. New will be here in a short time to see what we can do. We are considering urging the rapid construction of the new seventh regiment armory, which will be adequate, or failing in that, to build a temporary wigwam. Chicago must hustle to land both conventions."
