THE SUN-DIAL'S MOTTO

If you want your life to run without friction, adopt the sun-dial's motto: "I record none but hours of sunshine."

What a great thing it would be if we could only learn that the art of wiping out of our memories forever everything that is unpleasant, everything which brings up bitter memories and unfortunate associations and depressing, discouraging suggestions, would double and quadruple our happiness and power! If we could only keep the mind filled with beautiful thoughts, thoughts which uplift and encourage, the efficiency of our lives would be multiplied many, many times.

No mind can do good work when clouded with unhappy thoughts. The mental sky must be clear or there can be no enthusiasm, no brightness, clearness, or efficiency in our mental work.

If you would do the maximum of which you are capable, keep the mind filled with sunshine, with beauty and truth, with cheerful, uplifting thoughts. Bury everything that makes you unhappy and discordant, everything that cramps your freedom, that worries you, before it buries you.

Man was not made to express discord, but harmony; to express beauty, truth, love, and happiness; wholeness not halfness; completeness, not incompleteness.

The mental temple was not given us for the storing of low, base, mean things. It was intended for the abode of the gods, for the treasuring of high purposes, grand aims, noble aspirations.

It does not take very long to learn that the good excludes the bad; that the greater motive, the grander affection, excludes the lesser, the lower. The good is more than a match for the bad. Exchange.

BARGAINS IN BABIES

Among the deacons of a Presbyterian church in an Ohio town was a good old gentleman familiarly known as "Uncle Thomas". Although too deaf to hear, he was always in his accustomed seat at church, and his zeal in religious work was untiring. Owing to a shortage of song books in the Sabbath-school, some additional ones were ordered by "Uncle Thomas", who apprised the pastor of their arrival, and the latter agreed to announce the fact from the pulpit on Sunday morning.

The pastor made the promised announcement, among others, concluding with this one:

"Parents wishing their children baptized will please present them at the close of the service."

The good deacon jumped to his feet and, in the loud voice peculiar to the deaf, bawled out, "Those who have not any can get them at my house for fifty cents apiece!"

As "Uncle Thomas" and his wife had always been childless, this startling information almost broke up the meeting, and a wave of merriment swept the congregation that threatened to shake the church from its foundation.—Exchange.

STIMULUS OF AFFIRMATIVE

We do not think highly enough of our superb birthright. We do not realize to what heights and grandeur we were intended and expected to rise, or to what extent we can really be masters of ourselves; that we can control our destiny, make ourselves do what is possible to us, make ourselves what we long to be.

"I, myself, am good fortune," says Walt Whitman.

If we could only realize that the very attitude of assuming that we are the real embodiment of the thing we long to be or to attain; that we possess the good things we long for—not that we possess all the qualities of good, but that we are these qualities—with the constant affirming, "I, myself, am good luck, good fortune; I, myself, am a part of the great creative, sustaining principle of the universe, because my real, divine self and my Father are one," brings it about—what a revolution would come to earth's toiler!

"Nerve us with incessant affirmatives," well said the Sage of Concord. Few people understand the tremendous force there is in a vigorous, perpetual affirmation of the things we long to be or that we are determined to accomplish. Great things are done under the stress of overpowering conviction of one's ability to do the thing he undertakes, under the stimulus of a vigorous affirmative expressed with unflinching determination. One might as well have tried to move Rock of Gibraltar as to have attempted to turn Napoleon from his course or to change his decision. What did he care for the Alps, for "impassable" rivers, or for desert sands!

The Daily Market Report

PORTLAND, July 14.—The movement of new crop hay has started in this state, a shipment of 200 tons of valley timothy, the first of the season, having just been brought to the city. This hay is now selling here at prices around $15 a ton, and the indications are that present quotations will be maintained. Large quotations will be maintained. Large consignments of cheat from valley points are expected next week. This will probably sell at $1 2a ton.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Would Have Saved Him $100.00.

"In 1902 I had a very severe attack of diarrhoea," says R. N. Farrar of Cat Island, La. "For several weeks I was unable to do anything. On March 18, 1907, I had a similar attack, and took Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which gave me prompt relief. I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and had I used it in 1902 believe it would have saved me a hundred dollar doctor's bill." Sold by Frank Hart and leading druggists.

Over Thirty-Five Years.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by Frank Hart and leading druggists.

Boy's Life Saved.

My little boy, four years old, had a severe attack of dysentery. We had two physicians; both of them gave him up. We then gave him Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which cured him and believe that saved his life.—WILLIAM H. Strolling, Carboi, Hill, Ala. There is no doubt but this remedy saves the lives of many children each year. Give it with castor oil according to the plain printed directions and a cure is certain. For sale by Frank Hart and leading druggists.

Help for Those Who Have Stomach Trouble.

After doctoring for about twelve years for a bad stomach trouble, and spending nearly five hundred dollars for medicine and doctors' fees, I purchased my wife one box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which did her so much good that she continued to use them and they have done her more good than all of the medicine I bought before.—SAMUEL BOYER, Folsom, Iowa. This medicine is for sale by Frank Hart and leading druggists. Sample free.
