Miss I. M. Williamson, of Ilwaco, is the accredited representative of The Astorian and will take care of all items of news, orders for subscriptions and all kinds of printing.

ILWACO

Harold Richardson, who has been in the employ of W. A. Fowler and George L. Colwell for several months past, left the latter part of the week for his home in Rainier.

An injunction to restrain a husband from singing love songs to his wife through her open bedroom window, is the newest wrinkle in Chicago divorce court procedure. The same was practiced by a husband in a certain home in Ilwaco a few evenings ago, but instead of divorce proceedings he was greeted with a shower of bootjacks and old shoes.

Cashius Kirk, of Ocean Park, was a business visitor to Ilwaco Thursday, returning home Friday. He purchased a large bill of lumber from the Ilwaco mill and contemplates building soon.

The Republicans of the State of Washington have declared by a large majority their preference for Wesley L. Jones for the United States Senate. No matter who else may be a candidate before the Legislature, they expect to cast their ballot for Jones for Senator.

Charles Miller, a regular on the Cape Disappointment life-saving crew, was a visitor to North Beach Thursday, where his home is. He drove back Friday morning.

Mrs. Matt Markham and Mrs. Clarence Curry, both of Chinook, were visitors to Ilwaco the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Seaborg returned Friday from a trip to southern Oregon. They express themselves as delighted with the beautiful country around Klamath Falls.

Mrs. J. D. McGowan left about the middle of the week for a visit with friends in Portland.

Mrs. Cox and daughter, Miss Jenny Cox, are in Ilwaco at present. This is one of their regular trips made to Ilwaco every fall.

John McGowan and C. C. McGowan left Friday for the Nasel to investigate some things of great importance to their fishing interests.

Albert Jacobson, of Long Beach, who has been confined to his bed for a long time, is slowly improving. He was able to be assisted out in the yard Friday, but nevertheless he is still very weak.

A crowd of sportsmen left Friday morning for Bear River for a couple of days outing spent in fishing and hunting. They expect to return Sunday evening laden with fish and wild game. We were unable to ascertain all of the names, but the following young men were members of the party: Mr. Joseph Du Pae, of Ilwaco, and Messrs. J. McAfee and Hann, of North Head.

Rev. Morris, who has been teaching some classes in the Ilwaco public school since the opening of the term September 7th, was relieved Thursday by the arrival of the regular teacher, Miss Giss.

Mr. Gulliford, of Pendleton, Ore., was in Ilwaco for a couple of days this week visiting with his wife and children, who are making their home here.

Mr. Ziegler, of Astoria, was in the city the latter part of the week on business.

H. Fleckenstein, of Portland, through Ilwaco one day this week on his way to his cottage at Tioga, where he will make a stay of a few days on the beach.

J. R. Goulter, an active and earnest worker in the cause of good roads, returned Friday from a business trip of a few days spent in South Bend working for the interests of Pacific county.

Mrs. Frank Gold, of Nancotta, is a guest of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Gold, for a few days.

Quite a serious accident, due to a split rail, occurred Friday afternoon on the Ilwaco Railroad Company's line at Ocean Side, in which no one was injured, but the cars were pretty badly damaged. A relief train was hurriedly sent to the aid of the wrecked train and the passengers were carried to their destination without further delay.

Matt Saari, as foreman of a large force of men, is superintending the repair work being carried on in Main streets, is laying new stringers, but some of the old planks will be used again. However, the largest part of the work is being done with all new material.

The people on the Washington side of the Columbia River, especially the fishermen, are very indignant over the positive injustice of the new Oregon fish law and are of the opinion that it will not and can not hold when taken to the courts. They are anxiously awaiting the final decision.

Miss Alvina Peterson returned Saturday morning from a business trip to Portland.

M. W. Rubin and wife, of Long Beach, leave Saturday afternoon for their home in Portland. Mr. Rubin is owner of one of the most popular ice cream parlors and confectionery stores on the beach, and he leaves after a very busy and successful season with the expectation of returning next summer.

TAXPAYER TO FRONT

much expense, but if in cement, as planned at Seattle, at enormous figures, all of which would be in addition to the $300,000 for bulkhead in original construction.

"That on last year's valuation of Astoria property—$2,080,000—the annual assessment on each $1000 home would be $5, and the value of Astoria would have to be advanced to three millions to raise $15,000 by a five-mill levy.

"That the issue of $300,000 bulkhead bonds would mortgage for $143 every $1000 home, outside of cost of bulkhead renewals once, twice or three times during the coming fifty years.

"That a 50 by 100 lot in Mc-Clure's Astoria, with its share of street filled to level of present grade, say 17 feet, would absorb 49.7 yards of dirt, costing say 30 cents per yard, bringing the cost of filling up to $1475.

"That the filling of dirt must be removed from a lot before a pile foundation can be driven for a brick building, and the lot afterward refilled at a cost of not less than $1 per yard.

"That the sewerage expense on each filled-in lot would amount to $100 to $300 per lot.

"That the lots in the south part of Scow Bay would require a 30-foot fill for proper sewerage.

"That as a sanitary measure the filling in of water lots would be an utter failure unless drained at a cost of several hundred thousand dollars.

"That where the tide ebbs and flows is the most healthful portion of our city, for the truth of which consult the medical fraternity.

"That the tide-flat odor is nothing compared to that of years ago when sawdust and rotten salmon strewed the beach.

"That under the sea wall bill, as framed, the commission could sell bonds at any old figure, say ten cents on the dollar.

"That the owners of the land where they hope to erect a brick building some day would not allow their lots to be filled in, even when a brand-new bulkhead glittered from Smith's to Tongue Point.

"That Seattle had 150,000 population before she filled any of her many tide-flats, and then she didn't do very much in that line, and most of the filled-in land remains unoccupied to this day.

"That South Bend filled some of her tide-flats without either increasing population or wealth.

"That we are renting all our school houses without a kick, but the taxpayer draws the line at renting a wooden bulkhead.

"That when our city becomes large and rich we will not want a bulkhead inside the railroad track.

"That the sea wall boosters are not buying up real estate for the coming bulkhead boom.

"That it might be better for the taxpayer if the financial statements of the year's earnings were published before the election.

"That most of us will be shorn of our lots in Astoria before the immense ocean of timber tributary begins to be harvested and before the many good things due and now on the way arrive, unless we can subdue the prevailing disease of bond-selling and aircastle building.

"That many who are prudent in their own business are inclined to be reckless when the general public is concerned.

"That when Astoria's time arrives she will develop, and not before.

"That the idea now being broached that we should vote for a measure to be used possibly years hence is but a sop to the voter, a collar about our necks, and as inconsistent as to bind ourselves to eat a big meal, sick or well, at a certain hour five years in the future.

"That we want taxes less instead of greater, and propose to battle against being made to pay $1000 to hold a $100 lot.

"That the old chestnut, 'What's the matter with Astoria?' could just as appropriately be applied to Chinook or Kalamā. And why not as well ask why can't a man lift himself over a fence by the seat of his trousers?"

"TAXPAYER"

MOROSINI'S WILL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The will of the late Giovanni P. Morosini, filed for probate today, distributes the entire fortune of the former banker and art collector among his five children. No provision is made for bequests to charity or public institutions. Giulaia Morosini is made residuary legatee and receives, in addition, the testator's home at Riverside, together with its contents. A trust fund of $525,000 is to be divided, $150,000 to each Giovanni P. Morosini, Attilio Morosini and Amelia Morosini, and $75,000 to Victoria Morosini, who incurred the parental displeasure more than twenty years ago by eloping with the family coachman.

VIA UNFREQUENTED SEAS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Rear Admiral Sperry, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Battleship fleet, informed the Navy Department by cable to-day that the fleet, having left Albany this morning, would proceed to Manila by way of the Lombok Straits, the Straits of Maccassar, the Colesby Sea, the Straits of Basilan and the Sulu Sea. The waters are unfrequented ordinarily by either naval or commercial vessels, but the route selected by Admiral Sperry is the shortest between Albany and Manila.

AFFIRMS THE STATEMENT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—John D. Archbold tonight affirmed the correctness of Senator Foraker's statement that the $50,000 draft was for the purpose of enabling Foraker to consummate the purchase of the Ohio State Journal, but that the deal fell through and Foraker returned the money.

SUTLER RESIGNS
Hearst in Letter Says He is Glad That He Did
ATLANTA, Sept. 19.—William R. Hearst, in a dispatch to E. G. Clapp, the national committeeman from Georgia for the Independence party, declared he was glad to hear of the resignation of the chairman of the State Executive Committee of the party, Bernard Sutler, closing with these words: "I am as proud of the kind of man that leaves the party as I am of the kind who stand nobly by the party. This is a fight to the end." This is the latest development in the split which was brought about when Sutler announced that the State Executive Committee would not support Hisgen.
