Water Rates—
Today will be the last day to pay water rates and avoid the extra 25 cents' penalty.

On November 16th—
Monday, November 16th, is the day the judges will open the envelopes in the Wise store contest.

Chinese To Wed—
A marriage license was issued yesterday to Go Lem Kee and Jew Jen Hee, both residents of Astoria. The groom is a merchant.

Work Is Slow—
Is Very Ill—
The friends of Mrs. V. E. Hatch will regret to learn that she is seriously ill with appendicitis. She has been suffering with this dread affliction for several days and yesterday was no better, it was reported.

Dies at 89—
Mrs. Mary Taylor, mother of Mrs. E. H. Hawes, died yesterday afternoon at the age of 89 years, the cause of her death being a general breaking down due to old age. She was a native of England. The body will be taken to Salem for interment.

A Fine Success—
The Catholic Fair which closed on Saturday night last was eminently successful the net returns approximating nearly $1000 for which all concerned are feeling very happy and grateful. The Astorian in quoting Miss Theresa Leahy's winning number on Sunday morning used the figures 1139 when it should have read 1639. It was a typographical error.

Pilot Board Today—
Capt. A. V. Pendleton and Hon. Sylvester Farrell of that city are in the city to meet with Judge F. J. Taylor today as the Oregon Board of Pilot Commissioners this being the regular monthly meeting day. It is said there is no particular business of importance, unless it shall be the election of a new secretary for the board; and this may be put off.

Off For Tillamook—
Hon. J. M. Poorman, president of the Woodburn bank; lieutenant-colonel of the Third Oregon regiment, O. N. G., and ex-member of the lower Oregon house, arrived in the city yesterday, en route to Tillamook City, whither he goes to witness the marriage of his son, Frederick Poorman, to Miss Edna Alderman of that city. Colonel Poorman left out last evening, on the steamer Sue H. Elmore. He says the people of the Willamette Valley are happy and prosperous, overjoyed at the results of the election and pitching in on a hundred deferred projects of all kinds that waited only the fiat word of Mr. Taft's election.

FISHERY ISSUES NOW UNDER CONSIDERATION WHO IS COMMITTED TO THE ASYLUM

H. M. LORNTSEN, FOR THE NETTERS MAKES A VERY STRONG PLEA.

MAN WHO RESISTED AUTHORITIES FOR SEVERAL DAYS GOES TO SALEM.

Secretary H. M. Lorntsen of the Fishermen's Union, on his return from Portland where he attended the meeting of the Fishery Committee of the Oregon Conservation Commission, said he felt satisfied that at this hearing, in spite of the tactics of the fishwheel owners, more true facts about the salmon industry had been presented, facts which gave to the bill absorbing fishwheels in the upper Columbia a majority of 26,000.

"Of course," said Mr. Lorntsen, "at this hearing were our friends, Seufert and Warren, the principal fishwheel owners. There also was presented Mr. O'Malley, a federal employe under the orders of Mr. Bowers, chief of the United States Bureau of Fisheries. But as Mr. Bowers, against the evidence of such close observers as Dr. David Starr Jordan and Judge Thomas A. McBride, has gone out of his way to protect the rich corporations owning fishwheels in the upper Columbia, the evidence of this 'federal' expert given in favor of the fishwheels is of little weight. Then I also wish to call attention to the fact that Mr. O'Malley's chief, Commissioner Bowers, was last December overruled when Secretary of Commerce and Labor Straus and President Roosevelt ordered Wood and Upper Nushagak rivers, Bering Sea, Alaska, closed. The same principle applied to the closing of three Alaskan rivers applies to the closing of the Upper Columbia, that is salmon streams must be closed where they become so narrow that salmon are prevented from ascending to the hatcheries and spawning grounds."

Mr. Lorntsen also filed with the committee a fine statement of the exact status of the industry as it exists on the Columbia today, and which will appear in tomorrow's issue of the Astorian.

Goes To California—
Benjamin Young, one of Astoria's oldest and most respected citizens, will leave this evening for a journey to California, to be gone two months or more. Mr. Young will go by train, and will first stop at Santa Barbara, intending to remain there two weeks. His daughter, Miss Wilma, will accompany him. From Santa Barbara they will go farther south, and expect to remain in the vicinity of Los Angeles for quite a time. Two of Mr. Young's sons are in Arizona, near Bisbee, and they will probably make a short visit to them.

Want a Cook—
E. M. Bartholomew of the Life-Saving station at Ocean Park was in the city yesterday, coming over for the purpose of securing the services of a cook, a man preferred. The pay is not very big but the place is a good one, and if any one wants a job cooking for a life-saving crew it might pay to write to Mr. Bartholomew at Nahcotta.

Complaining Again—
The masters of bay and river steamers are almost to a man complaining of the presence of sawdust and chips from some of the mills in the river again, and the complaint is to be carried to the federal authorities. It is not known just where the stuff heads in, but this will be ascertained and it is said there will be a strenuous effort made to bring somebody to swift and sharp reckoning for the violation of the law.

Busy On Buoys—
The Astoria Iron Works has been charged with the immediate repair of 13 big red buoys for the government. The number counts for but little on the score of bad luck since the election returns have been brought in. Little thinks like an "unlucky" number, do not weigh much against the big and lucky numbers that express the recent Republican victory.

Jacob Aho, the unfortunate man who was taken from his houseboat Saturday upon suspicion of being demented, was examined by Judge Trenchard of the county court yesterday, with the expert assistance of Dr. Alfred Kinney, and adjudged to be insane. It was ordered that he be committed to the asylum at Salem. There is, of course, the possibility that Aho's affliction may be only of a temporary nature.

While undergoing examination yesterday Aho rambled in an incoherent way. According to the report made by Dr. Kinney he is afflicted with hallucinations both of hearing and sight, and when asked by Judge Trenchard if he was a Socialist—as some remarks had led his interrogators to believe—he exclaimed with vehemence that he is not a Socialist, but a Republican. As he said this the perspiration broke from his face and his speech became violent. Other questioning brought out that his clouded mind takes fright at all organizations, at Socialism, unions, and societies generally.

Aho is 48 years of age, a native of Finland. His father lived to be 100 years. There is no taint of insanity in the family as far as is known, and nothing could be ascertained to be the apparent cause of the mental trouble that has come over Aho. This is his first attack, it is believed. Aho's affliction brings up the old question of the comparatively numerous cases of insanity that have arisen among some of the foreign population. These cases apparently nearly without exception have not been brought on by some taint in the blood, nor by drink, nor other excesses, nor by worry or other mental troubles of like nature.

A usual explanation is that change in diet affects some of the men. Yet perhaps even more decided changes in diet can readily be instanced throughout the world when no mental trouble follows. Another explanation, and one that Judge Trenchard apparently thinks may have something to do with the matter, lies in the fact that some of the Finns—for example—in their own land lived in a state of mind that was almost quiescent. This of course does not refer to the more or less educated ones. But the poorer ones lived perhaps in some small fishing village, where they were not affected by the struggles and explosions of theories and creeds and politics. Here their untrained minds suddenly take up Socialism and other doctrines that only the steadiest of trained minds can properly handle and digest, and may be it is this new and exciting pabulum that has as much or more to do with the cases of insanity than the food that is put into their stomachs. Of course these are merely conjectures. It is to be hoped that some alienist will sometime soon make an exact study of the question. One of the best aspects of the cases that have arisen here is that many of them are merely temporary and soon respond to treatment at Salem.

The "Bakeronian"—
The old Star theatre is to change name and management today. Al Hager retires from the house, and it passes to the lease-hold of K. L. Bernard, who will call it the "Bakeronian" from this time forward. The house will be closed for several days in order to make some essential changes and repairs and will soon open as a moving-picture and illustrated song show, until Mr. Bernard can bring in his new departure, in the shape of the singing and talking picture, the most modern of all such entertainments and the most fascinating. He will be assisted by Fred Simonton, who will manage the house during Mr. Bernard's absence on the road as the latter gentleman has seven or eight other houses of the same sort on a circuit of his own besides representing one of the biggest pyrotechnic houses on the coast the Paine Fireworks Company.

Died In Portland—
Mrs. J. A. Monroe of this city received the sad intelligence yesterday, from Mrs. E. J. Dunn, of Portland, of the death of her little sister, Miss Irene Cramer. She passed away on Friday, at St. Vincent's hospital of black diphtheria. She was formally of this city and her young friends here will be grieved to hear of her sudden death.

Work Is Slow—
The work of allaying the sliding movement of the ground above Scow Bay is necessarily slow, and the men employed on the job seemingly have not made much of an impression yet. As the dirt is sluiced away from the face of the moving mass the ground at the rear has a tendency to move forward to take its place, and as a result of this there has been a noticeable drop of the hillside when viewed from Irving avenue. Several of the little houses at the foot of the hill are on the verge of being crushed to pieces, and are already broken badly. The worst feature of the matter seems to be that the movement of the ground is slowly extending in a westerly direction, and yesterday new complaint were made of breaking and cracking ground. At the present rate of speed it will take quite a while before there is an appreciable cutting away of the face of the hillside, and of cutting out a sluice into the heart of the trouble. On Sunday and yesterday there were many persons who walked up on Irving avenue to look at the much talked-of slide.

Dies At Portland—
Fred Kauppi, the 4-year-old son of Henry Kauppi, who had resided in this city for many years, died in Portland Saturday. The family had moved there about a month ago. The body was brought here last night for burial, and will be interred in Greenwood cemetery this afternoon. The funeral will leave Gilbaugh's chapel at 1:30 o'clock. Services will be held at the grave.
