vertises in his new Dakota paper for 100

A bill asking for an appropriation of $75,000,000 to assist in furthering the Niagara canal project was introduced dressed in congress last Tuesday. It is more than probable that it will be qualified.

Press and Dakotian:—The cost of maintaining Dakota's convicts at Detroit is about $14,000 a year. Transportation expenses about $6000. The coming legislature will do well if they make some provisions by which this money can be kept in the territory.

It is rumored the Chicago & North Western railway will endeavor to force this county to pay it several thousand dollars in order to induce it to cross the Northern Pacific at this place. It is hoped that the county will do nothing of the kind.

The Dakota Journal is the name of a new paper just started at Pierre. The number before us is ably edited and presents a very commendable typographical appearance. We wish the Journal succeed and trust that it will exert a restrain-ing influence over the murderous people of the village in which it is published.

A Washington special to the Pioneer Press under date of Dec. 14, speaks very discouragingly of the proposed scheme to put Gen. Grant upon the retired list.
The Military Committee is composed of McCook, author of the bill, Sparks of Illinois, and Bragg of Wisconsin. It is understood that Sparks and Bragg are both opposed to the bill.

A disgraceful squabble is being made over the location of the county seat in Kidder county. "Lord" Steele of "Mute-ville" is industriously striving to have it located on his farm, while the enterprising town-site company of Dawson are equally anxious that it should be located on their premises. The end is not yet, and just how the thing will terminate is not altogether clear.

The scheme of effecting a town organization is what appears to be troubling the minds of the average citizen of Jamestown. The Alert has labored almost unceasingly for an early consummation of the plan and it is hoped all necessary arrangements will be effected at an early date, so that the election of town officers can take place at the time of our regular spring election.

The report, which in all probability originated with the ambitious town-site faction of Spiritwood, to the effect that the Chicago & Northwestern road will cross at Spiritwood instead of Jamestown is the latest. The excuse offered in the rumor is to avoid heavy grading. To strangers this excuse may appear reasonable, but those who are acquainted with the lay of the land in the vicinity of the proposed route, are forced to regard it as being very thin and pronounce it without foundation.

Jamestown has the best stocked stores of any town on the N. P. of its size. It has one or two not excelled by any in Fargo or Moorhead. Mr. Churchill has one of the most extensive and carefully selected stocks of holiday goods ever brought to Jamestown. The beauty of his stock is, there is scarcely an article among it that is not in some way both ornamental and useful. Our citizens should show their appreciation of Mr. C's enterprising disposition by favoring him with a liberal patronage.

The Fargo Times, which claims to be strictly independent in its political views, but which is often found wandering, is of the opinion that the present congress will not give Mr. Bennett's bill asking for a division of the territory on the 46th parallel a favorable consideration. While it is a noted fact that a democratic congress is among the most dangerous uncer-tainities of this wicked world, it is hoped that they will, before retiring from power, do one act at least which will entitle them to a reasonable amount of creditable distinction.

It would prove very advantageous to the general interests of Dakota if the late bill introduced by Judge Bennett is successful. It would be very unbecoming in the eyes of Northern Dakota, if any thing should occur which would make it possible for a whole hog admission. Such a result would prove exceedingly disastrous, and all hope of an early separation from Southern Dakota would be entirely cut off. As a state we would be but little better off than we are now as territory.
The same perplexities would cause constant irritation and we would then, as now, be compelled to humbly submit to the selfish wishes of our southern friends, regardless of our own desires or interests.
A division on the 46th parallel is what we want. Admit Southern Dakota as a state, and let Northern Dakota remain as it is, a territory, whose name shall be D.
T. To force upon us another would be doing us as a people a great injustice, an injustice which we could scarcely forgive.

THE DIVISION QUESTION.

The Fargo Daily Argus, received the following explanatory letter from Judge Bennett on the 17th inst.

"The associated press despatch was wrong in giving the forty-seventh degree of north latitude as the line of division.
I sent you a copy of the bill yesterday, which will explain itself. The same bill has been introduced, on my request, in the senate by senator Paddock. The house committee on territories has not yet had a meeting this session and I am not advised as to how my measures for division will fare in that committee when considered. The republicans are all favorable, and some democrats; but the latter will be controlled by caucus action, so they are rather non-committal. It has been my intention to have the bill organizing the territory out of the north half amended by substituting the name of Northern Dakota for that of Minnesota The line of division, whether the 46th or 47th standard, I do not deem very important, and many members here insist on the former for one reason and another, and I would rather not make the change now."

The following section of the bill now in the hands of the committee on territories will afford the readers of The Alert an idea of the nature of the proposed division:

Section 2. That the state of Dakota shall consist of all the territory included within the following boundaries, to wit: Commencing at a point on the west line of the state of Minnesota where the forty-sixth degree of north latitude intersects the same; thence south along the west boundary line of the states of Minnesota and Iowa to a point of intersection between the Big Sioux and Missouri rivers; thence up the Missouri river and along the north line of the state of Nebraska to the east boundary line of the territory of Wyoming; thence north along the line of the territories of Wyoming and Montana to the forty-sixth degree of north latitude; thence east along said forty-sixth degree of north latitude to the place of beginning.

Judge Bennett in his epistle to the Argus, expresses himself as having intended to amend the bill, conceding the name of "Northern Dakota" to the northern portion, but declines to change the line of division from the forty-sixth parallel to the forty-seventh, as desired by some.
In this the Judge acts wisely, and we believe in unison with a large majority of the well-informed citizens of both Southern and Northern Dakota. The forty-sixth parallel seems, and always has seemed, to be the most natural dividing line. By creating a division on the forty-sixth parallel no organized counties will stand in the way, unless it be Richland, which is, as shown on the map, badly for-mated and could be greatly improved by taking a narrow strip off its southern boundary.
The distance between the forty-sixth parallel and the forty-seventh standard does not exceed five miles, and in as much as this small strip of territory does not contain within itself any very great intrinsic value, we cannot see where there is anything to be gained by raising an issue upon that point. If Northern Dakota ever expects to be freed from Southern Dakota it must learn to let well enough alone.

The bill, with the promised amendments, now under consideration, dividing the territory on the forty-sixth parallel, admitting the southern half as a state, and leaving Northern Dakota as it is, with the name Dakota, is good enough.

JAMESTOWN AS A CITY.

Since The Alert has taken occasion to urge upon the citizens of Jamestown the importance of taking immediate steps toward obtaining a village charter, there has been much said upon the subject by leading citizens of both sides of the track. It is plain, however, that many whose judgment is unquestionably good, are disposed to disapprove of The Alert's plan of organization. It being in their opinion better to drop the subject of a village charter and consider the feasibility of taking immediate steps toward securing a city charter instead.

The idea of our putting on city airs, is certainly very pleasant to contemplate, and since the territory's statutes provide only one law for the organizing towns and cities and in view of the fact that both are governed by the same act, we presume a city charter would be the best.
The expense of organizing, and supporting would be the same.

As promised by letter, H. L. Inman returned to Jamestown last Wednesday noon. Those who had been lead to believe that he had decamped for good, leaving certain accounts unsettled and certain bills unpaid, were surprised to see him, while those of his friends who felt confident that he would return, expressed much joy over the event.

It would appear from what The Alert can learn that the reports which have been so industriously circulated concerning Mr. Inman and his business relations have been unfounded for no other object than to injure his business prospects for the future. It nothing of a more condemning character comes to light, than now appears upon the surface, it is not at all improbable that Mr. Inman will come out all right; and continue to transact business as of yore.

Mr. Inman pronounces Mr. McLaughlin's statements to the effect that he (Inman) is indebted to him as being absolutely false, and that the indebtedness, if there be any, is in his favor. Mr. Inman finds it difficult to account for Mr. L's conduct, only in one way; and that is to the effect that he is ambitious to again occupy this field with his manchinery, and on that account desires to get Mr. Inman out of the way. This may or may not be true.

Public Meeting.

As a bill is now before congress for the division of this territory and the admission of the southern portion, a meeting of the citizens is called for Wednesday evening, Dec. 23d, at the office of the Dakota House, to give expression to public sentiment on the subject.

WASHINGTON.

From Our Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 11th, 1880.

What has actually been done in congress this week is easily told. The two parties have fought, in the House, over a measure for counting the electoral vote, and have reached no determination except to stop the debate, and that was the most sensible one possible, for the measure proposed (or any measure on the subject), could be necessary only in such cases of doubt as followed the war, and at this time no one questions the November result.

Two appropriation bills only have been reported, Fortifications and Pensions.
The former is small in amount, and will probably be passed without delay or debate. The pension calls for fifty millions, an increase of about twenty millions since last year. Under the pension laws as they now exist, it is believed there will be an increase for several years to come.
Senator Withers, of Virginia, yesterday introduced a bill in the Senate which, it is believed, will make it more expensive to secure a pension, and will therefore prevent the prosecution of claims and reduce the government expenses. The bill proposes to have every claimant prove his case in his own congressional district, bringing his witnesses together at some point where a government officer will take their testimony. The saving to the government arises from the fact that in most cases, the witnesses are now widely separated and the claimants will be unable to bring them together. Hence the dropping of claims already filed and the failure to file hereafter, and hence the saving to government.

Two New York Representatives have charge of two of the important bills soon to be considered. Sunset Cox will introduce a reapportionment bill within ten days, he thinks, and will urge its passage during the present session, because so many State legislatures will be in session this winter to redistrict their States, whereas, if Congress neglects its duty for a year, many States will lose for two years the benefit their increased population would give them in representation in the House. Fernando Wood will push his $100,000,000 refunding bill as soon as he can. He and his committee—Ways and Means—believe in a three per cent. loan.
There is little doubt that is the kind which will be agreed on.

Every military company in the United States will be specially invited to visit Washington at inauguration time. Many companies not waiting an invitation have already signified their intention of being present. So have almost a hundred pe-litical clubs. So numerous are promises of this kind that a vigorous committee has been appointed to inquire into the matter of accommodations.

As several of our society ladies have expressed a purpose to "receive" on New Years day, The Alert will, in its next issue publish a list of those ladies who will keep open houses. Ladies, send in your names.

dition to Jamestown, $100.
James W. Raymond and Samuel K. Mc-Ginnis to Thomas H. McBride, sec. 3, tp 138, range 64, 640 acres, $3200.

Dr. Baldwin is rapidly becoming popular as a physician.

A. A. Allen visited Fargo last Tuesday. He went to try some contest cases.
Remember and attend the Christmas tree next Friday evening at the school house.

Mrs. R. A. Bill has sufficiently recovered to enable her to superintend her domestic duties.

T. W. Fields, our live jeweler, received two very complicated jobs from away down in Iowa last week.

If you have any green or dry hides to sell take them to Maltby and he will pay you the cash for them.

Pat Moran has set a good example by repairing his sidewalk. There are others who should go and do likewise.

Jamestown has more solid enterprise to the square inch than any other place of its dimensions, on the Northern Pacific.

Our frisky harness maker, Shipley, discovered two mairaid ducks in the river where rapids occur, one day last week.

On the 17th of last December this region was visited by one of the severest blizzards this country had ever experienced.

Col. Lonsberry and his wicked associate, Marshall Jewell, passed through this city en route for Bismarck last Wednesday afternoon.

Foreman McKean's residence is rapidly assuming a formidable shape. It is under the mechanical treatment of our talented carpenter, M. Murphy.

Peter Aubertin has lately erected a very elaborate carpenter shop just west of Major Lyon's store. Mr. A. is one of the most successful contractors the city affords.

That there has been no small amount of unnecessary pilfering going on in the way of gathering wood from government and other trespassable lands in this vicinity during the past season, is apparent.

There are cases where it is necessary to take wood from these lands in order to persevere life, but there is no excuse for those who steal it to sell, and those who have done so should be made to render an account to the government for their willful crookedness.

By the time that promised "write up" appears in the Chicago Tribune and Inter Ocean, by those notorious dead-beats, Pagget & Edholm, those of our business men who paid them money will have reached an age sufficiently ripe to debar them from further enjoying the pleasant experiences of the average greenhorn. It will be remembered that The Alert took occasion to warn our people against having anything to do with these men.

The well known lyric poet and composer, J. G. Clark, gave two of his popular and charming ballad concerts in Jamestown last week which were enjoyed to the fullest by those present. An evening could not well be more pleasantly spent than by listening to the beautiful songs comprised in Mr. C's program. It is needless for us to say that Mr. Clark is a vocalist of rare merit and a thorough musician in every respect.

It was anticipated by Mayor Lyon and yep paste-pot fend that when erected our residences away over on the north side, outside the lines of the south and north side barbarians, we would not be troubled with neighbors very soon, but left to enjoy ourselves unharassed by the average up-town worldling. But, alas, how foolishly did we anticipate, as there has, within the last few days, several other mansions equally commanding, been stuck up on lots joining us. It all goes to show that we cannot always have things our own way.

At the last term of court Judge Barnes granted a permanent injunction in the Vennum & Phelps ditch case and issued an order commanding them to remove the obstructions in the river below Klaus' dam; also requiring them to deliver up the bond given by Mr. Klaus for the construction of the mill. Thus ends a very unpleasant affair. In the divorce case in which Geo. Vennum and his wife Emma, are to a modest extent interested, the judge thought it prudent to restrain Mr. V. from selling any more of his real or personal property during the action of the divorce.

DIED—At the residence of Wm. Clark, near Jamestown, on the morning of the 18th inst., of consumption of the bowels, Miss Carrie Corwell, aged 23 years.

Miss Corwell was formerly of Jackson county, Mich., and had only been in Dakota a short time. She was a sister of Mrs. Wm. Clark, of this place. Miss Corwell had been a sufferer for over two years.
