Bill Onward is the Watchword of Our Thriving Town and Country—So Let It Ever Be.

The Grand Combination of Railroad Magnates and American and Foreign Capitalists.

What a Disinterested Witness Testifies of the Value, Growth and Development of our Country.

From a Disinterested Standpoint.

The editor of the Lansing, Mich., Journal who has been here for several weeks, gives his views to his readers in his correspondence, from which we extract the following. We do it for the edification of the alert readers who may be somewhat skeptical in their views and belief of papers published here. It must be remembered that this gentleman writes, not only from a disinterested standpoint, but for the information of his old patrons back in the state of Michigan, with whom he has been associated for a great many years, whom he could not afford to deceive even if he were so inclined. After leaving Fargo he proceeds, with a preliminary comparison between the Red River and the James River Valleys, the consideration of Jamestown as follows:

The weather this spring abundantly justifies the position which the careful readers of the Journal will remember that I have always taken, that the James River Valley, on account of being somewhat low and level, is not so favorable to farming as the James River Valley. The land in the Red River Valley is first-class but floods are liable to delay seedling. The river flows at the wrong end and first. If the river ran south the Red River Valley would be the best country in the Northwest. The James River Valley has also a most excellent soil and the extent is entirely across Minnesota and Dakota, into Montana, a distance of 820 miles from St. Paul. It makes stage connections at Miles City for points on the Yellowstone.

It takes you through the greatest wheat fields of America, an avenue of inexhaustible wealth. Its entire train run through without change. St. Paul to Bismarck. It takes you through the greatest wheat fields of America, an avenue of inexhaustible wealth. Its entire train run through without change. St. Paul to Bismarck. It takes you through the greatest wheat fields of America, an avenue of inexhaustible wealth. Its entire train run through without change. St. Paul to Bismarck.

The principal buildings now being erected are a fine three story brick building for the James River Valley National bank, which will cost $200,000, and is to be first class in every particular; a fine three story brick building for the First National bank of Jamestown, which is also to be a first class building; two fine houses, one built by Hon. E. P. Wells, and one by Mr. Bennett; a large double building, three stories, by Hon. S. A. McGinnis; the new brick bank building by Messrs. Lloyd, Dakin, and Co., which will cost $100,000, and is to be first class in every particular; a fine house, Mr. Howitt, Judge Ott, Mr. Curtis, and Mr. W. H. Miller are building fine residences. Many other dwellings are being put up in all parts of the town. A Catholic church is going up, the foundation being now laid. The city is building a fine school house, and is to be built this season. Real estate advanced since last fall in price from 200 to 300 per cent. It would require columns to enumerate the striking bargains that have been made, but I will give a few samples. Mr. H. M. Winslow bought ten lots last fall for $3,500, the purchaser soon after sold a half interest in the same for $5,000, when Mr. Winslow offered him $7,500 for the other half, which was refused. Four lots were bought two years ago for $120. They sold to Mr. Lloyd a few days ago for $2,400. Last fall I was offered two lots for $1,000, and gave several Lansing friends the chance to buy them. They are now worth it. This is the way the real estate business goes on in Jamestown.

The Northern Pacific road has located its shops here, and upon them 5,000 men, and add 1,500 or 2,000 to the population within the year. They have ordered $150,000 worth of machinery. There seems to be as good promise that Jamestown will be the largest city in population and the price of her real estate in the next year as it has in the past. It is conceded by all that it is the handsomest town in Dakota. Its location is beautiful; it is intelligent and cultivated people; it is surrounded by a most beautiful and fertile country; its railroad facilities are excellent and are sure to increase. It has the best water, and it has an active, energetic, enterprising people with push, brains, capital, and determination to make Jamestown the best and handsomest town in Dakota.

Our Distinguished Visitors.

Sunday afternoon the following party of gentlemen distinguished in financial and railroad circles arrived in Jamestown by special train and remained until yesterday afternoon: H. Villard, president, C. T. Hobart, Supt. Dakota division; Geo. N. Sims, assistant vice president; A. Mitchell, chief engineer; H. Haupt, general manager; Mr. Windsor, of the land department, and a party of six German bankers and capitalists; the Seligman bankers of New York City. Messrs. A. W. Bell and James Pilon were the conductors. Notice of their coming was received by telegraph, and upon their arrival buggies were at the depot ready to conduct them about the town and country, of which they made a survey in the evening and next morning attended by prominent citizens of our town. The alert learns that they were well pleased with their reception and with the town and country. Our enterprising business men can entertain visitors as royally as any people in the country and they did it on this occasion.

After the rest and quiet of Sunday, business in town resumed with increased vigor. The arrival of railroad magnates on business directly affecting the town gave a new impetus to our already booming business, and the demand for lots and lands improved likewise. It is evident that the boom of Jamestown has not only

The County Superintendent reported that he had set off to be known as District No. 10, all sections from 1 to 15, inclusive, in township 140, range 63. On motion the report was accepted and approved. On motion board adjourned till 10 o'clock a. m., June 10th, 1882. GEO. W. VENNEY, County Clerk.

Pony Exercise.

Our town looked very much like it had been taken possession of by a cavalry brigade yesterday evening—that is, it would appear so to a stranger—but the equestrian display was on account of our own citizens having purchased ponies during the day and were out trying their tractability and speed. Those who have not obtained a Texas pony, but are anxious to stand on the sidewalk and watch their more fortunate friends ride by with that air and feeling of triumph which no one can ever assume except he is the possessor of a Texas pony, are permitted to see the Wellingtonian horseback attitude they put on, sitting up so straight they describe when the pony suddenly stops and the riders go on reaching the ground in a position of reversed perpendicularity. We shall call at the coroner's office early in the morning and obtain a list of those who are not a success in riding a Texas pony. As a matter of convenience and to insure publication in the next issue of the Alert, we request those who intend taking these evening rides to report their names, ages, and to whom their estates are devised, and to have them ready for an emergency. The ponies are well broke, but some of the riders are not.

A Picnic Retreat.

Out about fifteen miles from Jamestown is Spiritwood lake, surrounded by trees and in the clear waters of which fish of several kinds abound. The road to that place is always good and the drive is a pleasant one, of from an hour and a half to two hours or longer as the load, team or driver may suggest. No country in the world can excel our wagon roads, which are solid as level with either ruts or sloughs, and even across the prairie and over the regularly traveled road the going either on foot or by team is good. But as to Spiritwood lake, it is a beautiful place for a picnic for parties who have a pleasant drive and boat ride and some amusement fishing. Messrs. Wallace and Winslow own several sections of land in that vicinity and we learn they intend to build some houses there this summer with a view to furnishing the means of accommodation to picnic, fishing and other parties as may go out there on pleasure visits.

Eldridge Squibs.

It is currently reported here that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway will intersect the Northern Pacific between New Minneapolis and Eldridge, and in consequence thereof land that was selling for $6 and $8 per acre three weeks ago has advanced to $15 and $20 per acre, and it is generally conceded by old heads that say little and think much, that this section of the country is here to enter upon a career of prosperity heretofore unappreciated in the history of the territories. F. E. Jones, assisted by his half brother Isaac Penney, has fenced in forty-five acres of pasturage on his stock farm north of here. The funeral of the late Mrs. Flora Lockwood was attended by a large number of friends and acquaintances on Saturday afternoon last. The ceremonies were conducted by the Rev. Wm. Huelster and Elder Lawrence. Richard Griffing has got the only buggy in the county that passed safely through the revolutionary war. It is still in good state of preservation, and with care may last another twenty years. Two men from Chicago, supposed to be representatives of Jas. R. Keene, were here last week with a view of buying up the growing crops. They offered as high as $1.10 per bushel for wheat and 60 cents for oats. When these gentlemen were asked how few that they paid such a high price for Dakota wheat answered that it was reputed to be the best in the world, and worth from 15 to 25 cents more

The New Court House and the Future.

Yesterday morning ground was broke for the foundation of the new court-house, in the north half of block 59, by E. D. Lathrop, the contractor. The location is on the highest elevation in town, except perhaps some of the additions that extend upon the bluffs, and is certainly a beautiful and eligible site. When the beautiful structure stands complete in all of its magnificence and gorgeous grandeur, it can be seen from every part of town and will first present itself to view from the railroad trains and wagon roads coming into town from all directions. The new court house will be a thing of beauty and a joy to the generations yet to come. It will first present itself to view from the railroad trains and wagon roads coming into town from all directions. Delays Are Expensive.

The tide in the affairs of every one which, if taken at the flood, leads to wealth, glory and renown, now is presented to those who are within reach of Jamestown. The prices of property here are but nominal as compared with those of Fargo, and there is nothing in the surrounding country that compares with the value of the property here. The matter of delays is so important that it is worth the attention of every one who is within reach of Jamestown. The prices of property here are but nominal as compared with those of Fargo, and there is nothing in the surrounding country that compares with the value of the property here. The matter of delays is so important that it is worth the attention of every one who is within reach of Jamestown.

Let 'Em Come.

It is announced from Washington that a party consisting of Gen. Sherman, Chief Justice Waite, Justice Gray and other dignitaries will take a trip out to the Yellowstone country and the Pacific slope this summer, and upon the return to the Northern Pacific. If they do come Jamestown will greet them with her magnificent flag, and her band will stir their souls with music. The boys should rub up on Hall Columbia for the special benefit of the "recumbent" Sherman who is an American soldier to the backbone, a terror in war and a hero in peace. We must have a cannon for that occasion, and give the Sherman a war boom. The alert on this party and notify the people in due time.

Klaus' New Park.

The attention that has already been given to the laying out and beautifying public parks at Jamestown is eminently praiseworthy, and the enterprise of several of our citizens in this respect entitles them to much credit and gives them a pre-emption on the gratitude of future generations if not of this one. Parks in cities are like oases in a desert. No matter how attractive a city or town may otherwise be, if it does not possess these retreats from the constant and unceasing tumult and turmoil of business, it will become tiresome and monotonous and repulsive to the wron and weary. A park for social gatherings, public demonstrations and retirement from the incessant hum of business is an absolute necessity as an adjunct to any town or city of laudable aspirations and deference to the comfort of its people as well as of the stranger. How pleasant it will be during the long, hot days of the summer to stroll down to the parks and enjoy the luxury of a shade on the banks of the beautiful James River, whose crystal waters flow on and on forever, coming as they do from nature's unpolluted fountains of the north. On the other side of the river, just below the confluence of the Pipestem with the James, is a woodland of large and beautiful trees which the God of nature planted there years and years before the foot of the white man ever trod the soil, or his eyes ever beheld the valley, among which at later date, the intrepid and daring scout has judged from one to the other in his wary gaud against the arrows and bullets of the antagonistic Red Man, but which has now come under the government boundary line of peace and undisturbed quiet. This tract of woodland

Chicago Labor Troubles.

Chicago, June 8.—Some trouble is anticipated because of serious interference threatened and in a few cases actually offered by striking horsehoes against those refusing to join their union. Mr. Kelleher's Trip.

Jamestown, June 8.—ED. ALBERT—As there are so many inquiries made of me about the country north and east of Devil's Lake, it may be as well to answer all questions in the shape of a letter to the Alert, which every person in our town reads, or ought to read, before breakfast every morning. I left Jamestown May 29th, and traveled by stage to Fort Totten. On this line you can find the best accommodations of any in our territory—good roads, agreeable drivers, good beds and good tables. Above Fort Totten, May 31st, Fort Totten is a very nice place, and right here I wish to return thanks to the officers of the post for their kindness to me while there, especially Lieut. Messers. Scott, Chalkers, and Capt. Mathew, all of whom were hospitable and kind to me. At Fort Totten I found very good accommodations at the post traders', Messrs. Peck and Shook, two agreeable and accommodating gentlemen, and I crossed Devil's Lake by ferry to the north shore on what is known as Graham's Island. The island contains about 2,000 acres of land, about two-thirds of which is timber. I consider the island one of the best places to locate a farm, and I went to Freshwater Lake, distant from Totten about eighteen miles in a north-east direction. Our guide was Mr. F. Adams, a well-known Totten stage driver, a gentleman in every respect. Any of my readers desiring to look the country north of the lake over had better secure Mr. Adams as guide, as he knows all about that part of our territory. Freshwater Lake is about fifteen miles long, in the shape of a half circle. Around the lake is the best wheat land I have seen in Northern Dakota. There are at present about twenty settlers around Freshwater Lake. The lake is fed by springs, which can be found all over the country. The following day, June 3rd, we went north about ten miles over splendid prairie lands dotted all over with small groves of timber. This country is destined to attract considerable attention in another year. On the edge of this lake I met as settlers Mr. Frank Cavanaugh and Mr. Fred Ayers, who treated me with marked kindness. I also met here a Mr. Kirkland, and son as settlers on a very nice point on the north shore. June 4th we went from Freshwater Lake to the notorious Rock Island, which is at present the seat of war in North Dakota. Rock Island contains about 8,000 acres, 2,000 of which is government reservation. On this island is a strong defensible position in the interest of Mr. Oswald, of Minneapolis, and Lieut. Creel, of Fort Totten. There is a good deal of feeling existing about the island, and I present, but let them fight it out as best they can. The Lieutenant and Mr. Oswald I met on the island. That evening we crossed the ferry and got back to the Fort. The lake is fed by springs, which can be found all over the country. It is now, however, so common that the fact that no country, not even the Emerald Isle, could produce such potatoes, and now the tables are turned.
