Lullaby.
Foppies red are nodding, nodding,
"Neath the sil'ry moon;
Babies in the branches twitter,
Tiny starlets gleam and glitter,
Fire-flies begin to flitter,
Night is coming soon.

Water sprites are tripping, tripping,
Lightly o'er the sand,
As the ev'ning mist comes creeping,
List the crickets peeping, peeping,
Soon my darling will be sleeping,
Out in fairy-land.

Baby, thou are sinking, sinking,
Into peaceful rest,
Now the twilight gently closes,
Dew-drops gather on the roses,
Thy weary head reposes
As I follow on my breast.

— Florence Harris.

Of Interest to Women

To Clean Carpets.
To remove lint from a rug or carpet immediately sop sweet milk over the spot and dry as much as possible with a dry cloth. Then apply gasoline to take out the grease that the milk would otherwise leave. To remove snot from a carpet sprinkle the spot with salt. Let the salt remain on the spot for about twenty minutes, then sweep it hard with a broom. The spot will disappear.

One Good Idea.
If you have in your wardrobe one of the old embroidered voile dresses with the narrow waist, you will appreciate this way of fixing it over into a wearable frock. From the narrow skirt, if it is not too narrow, you can cut a Russian blouse, using the border of the skirt for the border of the blouse. It may be necessary to set in side sections to widen the blouse, but these may be tucked out and look as if they were intentional. From the old blouse you will probably get sleeves and enough embroidery for a collar. Then you will have to make a new skirt, torn to the waist to the depth of the blouse and using plain voile with graduated tucks for the bottom. This extra material will not be much expensed and the satisfaction from using up the old broderie and having a new frock into the bargain will surely outmeasure it.

Hints for Ironing Day.
With the onslaught of warm weather and the wearing of wash dresses ironing day becomes an important feature of the week. Even the girl who presses her own blouses and handkerchiefs has to consider it seriously, so it may not come amiss to give a few hints about keeping the iron in good condition. Never put a hot iron on the back of the range unless you stand it on end or lay it on its side, for it will otherwise collect any tiny particle of grease or stove black that may be in contact with it. Rub your iron vigorously before you put them on to heat with a piece of ordinary pumice stone slightly dampened and only remove all particles of dirt and rust, but polishes them and makes them iron smoothly.

If you are ironing starched clothes be sure to put a handful of salt on a piece of newspaper and rub your iron in this from time to time to remove the starch that adheres to the hot metal.

In pressing crepe de chine, georgette crepe or any thin silk use an iron that is fairly cool, as a very hot iron wrinkles the material and takes the color out. In pressing ribbons wipe them with a cool iron, using a piece of linen or a handkerchief to protect the ribbon. A dampened ribbon ironed with a hot iron will turn very stiff, but if a fairly cool one is used will remain supple and smooth.

If you want a white shirt waist fairly stiff, but not starched, iron it with a hot iron while it is very wet. Pongee also must be ironed while wet, otherwise it will not be spotless. If you want the pongee very soft, however, let it dry and then iron it without sprinkling, using strength to press out the wrinkles. Never dampen pongee as the spots will show.

If you want to keep your platted trills looking like new, baste the bottom of the skirt into place before you wash them, the material will be readily ironed back into place, and then the basting may be removed.

Sewing Room Wrinkles.
If your colored silk thread gives out when you lack only two or three inches of finishing tie the thread as soon as it leaves the spool to an ordinary spool of cotton thread; then it is possible to sew a distance of exactly ten inches more. The knot goes through all the openings except the needle's eye, and by being attached to the spool the thread is held taut. Do not cut your sewing machine belt when it gets loose. Instead put a few drops of pure castor oil on the band, run the machine a few minutes, and the belt will be tightened.

If you will cover your sewing table with white oleoth stretched tightly
