STORM REPORTS SHOW DAMAGE

Many Localities Hit by the Storm of Thursday—Child Killed.

Devils Lake, N. D., Aug. 5.—From a reliable source it has been learned that the child killed at Hamar in the cyclone last evening was the small son of Ole Borgeson...

The barn on the farm of S. Hovek, three miles away from Hamar was torn down and two churches near Tolna, Catholic and Norwegian, were destroyed.

Devils Lake, N. D., Aug. 5.—Heavy hail fell yesterday afternoon and evening, in some sections of the county completely annihilating what the rust and blight had left of a once promising crop.

One of the worst visitations was a strip of country running east and west through Garke for at least fourteen miles and about four miles wide, north and south.

No hail of consequence fell at Webster, the nearest point touched by the John Ferguson farm three miles north of there.

Less damage was done on the O. P. A. Borstad and Peter Anderson farms about six miles northeast of Devils Lake at about 8 o'clock.

Farmers coming in from Garke state that most of the crop lying within the hail belt was a total loss and will be plowed under.

Slight wind damages were reported by Homer Weed, Poplar Grove, barn Albert Maxwell, Minnewaukan township, barn; Joseph DeMars, Grand Harbor, n-w residence, and Mrs. Harvey Alderson, destruction on her farm in North Minnewaukan township.

Railroad men coming in from Antler state that there was a terrific storm there and hail cut the grain in a strip about 17 miles wide.

A terrific wind and torrents of rain wrecked destruction south along the Aneta line, at least as far as Hamar.

At the latter place one child was killed and a man's leg broken by a falling barn which was torn to pieces.

Trees were blown down and other buildings uncovered. At Tokio the roof was torn off of the Bovey-Shute lumber building and a big barn in the country nearby was raised from its foundation and moved eight feet.

At Chautauqua several large trees were blown down. At Leeds considerable damage was done.

Aneta, N. D., Aug. 5.—Reports indicate that heavy damage was suffered in southern Nelson county from the storm Thursday night, which appears to have worked the greatest havoc in that section.

Terrific wind and torrents of rain combined to lodge the grain in a score of large barns on farms were demolished or badly damaged.

Devils Lake, N. D., Aug. 5.—P. M. Poole, the Rumley representative, came in from Leeds. Mr. Poole was caught in the cyclone about half past seven in the country between Esmond and Maddock and considers himself fortunate to be here to tell the story.

The cyclone swept down barns and demolished a church nine miles north of Maddock. Several people were injured. The hall storm originating at York swept northeast four miles wide and passed four miles east of Leeds.

The crop in the territory over which it passed is a total loss. Passengers on the Aneta train report that the cyclone extended down as far as Finley and the path between here and Aneta is marked with reconstructed buildings, especially barns.

LABOR AGENT STANLEY ASKS CO-OPERATION

Reports of Harvest Help Needed Reaching Federal Agent.

Bismarck, N. D., Aug. 5.—Sentinel Butte wants fifty men for the harvest field and Beach is also in need of hands, according to word received yesterday by T. L. Stanley, federal labor agent, co-operating with the state commissioner of agriculture and labor.

Mr. Stanley has issued the following statement regarding the plans of the department: "The federal government, in co-operating with the state department of agriculture and labor, finds difficult obstacles to overcome in its attempt to properly distribute help to the farmers during the harvesting and threshing season.

The principal trouble is the lack of definite information as to the needs of each specific locality. Good men are to be had through the department, but owing to the short time that the federal agent has had to secure definite places for these men, will handicap the work for the farmers unless definite information is sent in at once.

Informants Needed. "From the meager information at hand there is a shortage of labor within the state to take care of the harvest and threshing this season. Along the main lines of railroads there are a large number of men which, where considered by the larger towns where they congregate, indicate plenty of labor coming to the state. But this is apparently not true in the more rural sections. In sections of the state not supplied with thorough lines of railroads and where the towns are smaller, there is a real demand for help. The real difficulty is to get into touch with some one in these localities who will take the responsibility of informing this department of their needs.

Now is the Time. The opportune time to do this is now so that the unemployed may be saved the expense of going to these localities where there is no ready work for them, but rather to those sections where thousands of bushels of grain may be saved by being taken care of at the proper time. If the farmer will co-operate with the federal agent now located at Bismarck, he can possibly secure both his regular and seasonal help as needed. This department, because of its co-operation with labor departments of other states, can study the problem and formulate the plans to get the worthy laborer from those sections to some location within this state. This will no doubt work out in time as vastly better than the present plan of going to town and picking up labor from the street corners.

Those needing help should send word direct to T. L. Stanley of the state department of agriculture, or T. L. Stanley of the U. S. department of labor at Bismarck. Every effort will be made to fill demands in all lines and the success of the plan will be facilitated by the hearty co-operation of the people of the entire state by giving definite and specific information at once."

28 VALLEY CITY LOTS DISAPPEAR Valley City, N. D., Aug. 5.—Mrs. Florence E. Haven of Boston, Mass., owns or did own, about 110 lots in that city. Her agent here had instructions to put these lots on the market, consequently he sent Fred Fredrickson out to post the lots with "for sale" notices. Everything went smooth until Fred went up in the northeast part of town out by the gravel pit. Mrs. Haven had twenty-eight lots out there high and dry as one thing but she was writing there is nothing but a big hole where these lots used to be. The city of Valley City and various contractors have been digging gravel and sand from the gravel pit and did not stop when they came to Mrs. Haven's property line but kept on digging and removing soil every one of those lots have disappeared. We have not the slightest doubt but what those who were helping themselves to these lots have done so without any serious forethought and evidently believed they were taking stuff from the railroad company—but that does not alter the fact that the lots are gone and those who have taken them will have to make good to the owner. The hole left where the good lots used to be is no good at the present status of the case as people do not care to build houses and homes twenty feet below the surface. It is rather a comical situation but at the same time it is a serious one. The fact of the matter is that it would come under a grand larceny charge and would result disastrously upon conviction of the offenders. We do not anticipate that our city officials will have to go to the pen along with some of our good contractors and some of our real estate agents. We do not think that anybody will have to settle with the owner of this property that she had but hasn't.
