N. Y. DEMOCRATS PICK STRONG MAN FOR GOVERNOR'S RACE

Judge Samuel Seabury.

New York, Aug. 17.—Judge Samuel Seabury, the Democratic nominee for governor of New York, has been on the bench for fifteen years. During this time he has participated in some notable decisions. He it was who wrote the famous decision in a suit involving the morality of the works of Voltaire; he gave New York fair taxicab rates by the firmness with which he maintained the rights of the city to regulate the use of its streets. But it is perhaps in his police trials, so-called, that he made his best record. Judge Seabury tried Joseph G. Robin for larceny in connection with the Carnegie Trust company and Washington Savings bank; he tried the case of the four police inspectors for conspiracy to defraud justice; he tried the Anhut case involving an attempt to bribe the superintendent of Mattawan Insane Asylum to release Thas and he tried Stilwell for bribery. He also sat in the second Becker trial. Judge Seabury and Governor Whitman will make a very interesting campaign; they come from the people as men of different temperaments, one having served a long period in the prosecuting branch of the judicial department, and the other having been on the bench equally as long. Both are strong men, and both are popular; the race will be very hotly contested. Governor Whitman has gained his reputation from the manner in which he enforced the laws on the statute books, Judge Seabury from the manner in which he has construed them.

TO CONTROL LIQUOR TRADE.

Purchase by State of Scotch Inns and Hotels is Recommended. London, Aug. 17.—The committee appointed some time ago to advise the government in regard to prohibition where they come before the people as men of different temperaments, one having served a long period in the prosecuting branch of the judicial department, and the other having been on the bench equally as long. Both are strong men, and both are popular; the race will be very hotly contested. Governor Whitman has gained his reputation from the manner in which he enforced the laws on the statute books, Judge Seabury from the manner in which he has construed them.

McLEAN WILLING TO QUIT.

McLean of Simsbury, junior senator from Connecticut, who is serving his first full term in the senate and has not run for an elective office since he was chosen governor sixteen years ago, is not anxious to be renominated by the Republican state convention to be held at New Haven on September 6, according to a telegram received here today from Washington. Senator McLean is quoted as saying: "I can only reiterate what I have said many times heretofore, that I wish the convention would nominate some one else."

MISS KRASTUE DIED TODAY

First Infantile Paralysis Victim Succumbs to Disease Today.

Genora Krastue, the 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Gunder Krastue, Fisher, Minn., died at 2:10 o'clock this afternoon, the victim of infantile paralysis. The child took sick on Friday, grew steadily worse with an increasing temperature until Tuesday when it was first positively known that she was suffering from the dread disease. Her limbs became paralyzed Tuesday. It was thought that the disease was leaving her on Thursday, but she took a bad turn last night and death relieved her sufferings at an early hour this afternoon. Deceased is survived by her mother and by three brothers and three sisters all of whom are older than she was. Funeral arrangements have not been made, but it is known that no public funeral will be held owing to the fear of contagion and further spread of the disease. Citizens of the town are making every effort to remove every possible source of the disease. The children of the town are not allowed to intermingling and posters are up advising parents to keep their children in their own yards. So far, no further cases of the dread scourge have appeared and all of the children are reported to be in good health. It is devoutly hoped that no other cases will appear, but it is felt that as long as the hot weather continues, the danger is imminent.

IS AVERAGING 12 BU. PER ACRE One of Best Field in County Shows Small Yield of Light Grain.

$79,000 ESTATE IS APPRAISED Property Values of Huge Amount Left by Man Who Came Here Poor

John O'Leary has begun to thresh his field of wheat, which is located just outside the city limits on the Point, and is obtaining a yield of about 12 bushels to the acre. Not only is the yield light, but the kernels are shrunken so that the grains average only about 50 pounds to the bushel. These results are somewhat discouraging even to those who have pretty well decided that this year's crop would be poor. The O'Leary field appeared better than the majority of wheat fields in this community, and the yields realized off it will cause more farmers than ever before to question the utility of cutting some of their grain. The wheat on the O'Leary farm is velvet chaff. This breed is one of those which appears especially susceptible to rust, being exceeded only by blue stem in its vulnerability. Durum wheat is doing by far the best, most of the grain from fields of this breed being plump and healthy looking. Marquis, one of the newer kinds in this region, is also quite resistant though far inferior to durum in this respect. The people of all countries have reason to expect that at the end of the present war conditions will be created which will make another war of such magnitude—possibly an all-considerable magnitude—impossible in the future.

E. Arneson and L. O. Lystad, appointed appraisers for the August Nelson estate by Judge Hovland of the probate court of Polk county, have just completed the valuation of the estate after two days' work. The figure fixed by them as the value of the property is $78,000. This is one of the largest estates handled through the probate court of this county for a long time. It is all the more remarkable because of the fact that the man who accumulated it came to this county as a penniless homesteader in the pioneer days. The original homestead of 160 acres, situated north of this city, has been increased by four additional quarters, making about 800 acres in all. The farm at present is operated by two tenants, Carl Nelson and Ed. Hanson. August Nelson, who died on May 10, 1916, is survived by his wife and five children.

hoped it would not be necessary to hold a general election during the war, circumstances might arise which would force this on the country. In such a case it would be manifestly unfair to exclude soldiers and sailors from voting. Andrew Bonar Law, secretary for the colonies, speaking on behalf of Premier Asquith, announced after the formal second reading that further consideration would be postponed until the autumn.

RED CROSS AID TO BERLIN. American Branch Seeks to Re-establish High Units in Germany. Washington, Aug. 17.—Permission to re-establish American Red Cross units in Germany is being sought of the German government. Announcement at Red Cross headquarters here today described the step as taken in order to make possible the sending of Red Cross supplies to the central powers, which the British government has announced it is willing to allow only on condition that the units be re-established, that supplies be sent directly to them and that the state department guarantee that all such supplies be destroyed after their use for hospital purposes, in order to prevent the use of cotton, rubber, etc., for military purposes. Last October American Red Cross units were withdrawn from Germany as well as all other countries in order not to conflict with local agencies. A long and tangled correspondence has ensued which finally resulted in British concessions.
