Washington, Aug. 30.—During the naval war game last week there were 28 battleships, eight cruisers, 22 destroyers, 100 submarines, 100 gunners, 200 submarine tenders and six auxiliary naval vessels in active commission on the Atlantic coast...

All these ships now are in a state of "material readiness for war," according to Rear Admiral Benson, chief of operations. The only large ships which could not be sent out immediately are the battleships Connecticut and Georgia, undergoing alteration and repair at their home yards...

The remainder had full crews. The lessons of the war game will be fully worked out at the navy war college. Screen charts showing the positions of all ships are being prepared for aeronautical use. Every movement made by either commander will be discussed and the navy department hopes to duplicate the charts so that officers throughout the service will have an opportunity to study them in connection with the reports of Admiral Mayo, commanding the victorious "Red Fleet." Rear Admiral Halsey of the "Blue Fleet" and Rear Admiral Knight, chief umpire...

TEAM DASHES INTO CORTEGE

Three Injured When Team Bolts into Funeral Procession.

Some automobiles in the funeral procession following the body of Pearl Brekke, aged 10, frightened a team of horses hitched to a bundle wagon in a field by the side of the road, near Reynolds, Tuesday afternoon, and the team crashed into the passing cortege...

In attempting to stop the frightened animals, James Evanstad, 17, who was on the ground beside them, ran in front of them and was thrown to the ground and trampled on when given medical attention it was found that the unconscious lad had sustained several fractured ribs and was bleeding internally...

The team ran into the first buggy in the procession, which contained the parents of the dead child. The buggy was demolished by the animals. Mrs. Henry Brekke, sustained a broken jaw. Mrs. O. Hammar is suffering from several broken ribs. The other woman in the rig, Mrs. P. Moon, was not severely hurt. The men also escaped without injuries...

The procession was on its way to the St. Olaf Lutheran church cemetery, which is about four miles north from Reynolds. The accident occurred when the cortege was about one mile from the church...

University Alumnus First Lieut. at Border

Advices from Washington Announce that if Departure Impairs Efficiency of Companies, they Must Stay.

Student members of the national guard companies on the border may not be able to attend school this year after all. A recent order from the war department states that where the departure of the students is in so large numbers from any company that the efficiency is likely to be impaired, they will be required to remain...

This order will undoubtedly keep the boys in Company M on the border. There are 12 student members of this company. In case of a whole company composed of students, as in the instance of one company from Minnesota, they will be permitted to return...

Charles M. Flett, Graduate of 1911, is Officer in Company L of Sidney, Montana.

University alumnus may be interested in knowing that Charles M. Flett is now first lieutenant of Company L of Sidney, Mont., now stationed at Douglas, Arizona...

Flett graduated from the school of mines in 1911 and played on the varsity football squad in '10 and '11. He is a member of the Alpha Kappa Zeta fraternity...

He reports a pleasant time on the border, a sanitary, comfortable camp, good food, and work enough to keep the men in the pink of condition.

FOR A CHILDREN'S PARTY. Be sure to have an abundant supply of wholesome, attractive drinks. Children are always thirsty after romping about...

Chop all the fruits you use for the cakes, even the currants. In this way they don't upset the little "tummies." Do not use caraway seeds or much candied peel. Most children do not like them.

A supply of small individual sponge cakes,iced with chocolate and made in attractive shapes, are sure to be popular and are quite wholesome.

Keep the menu very plain, but decorate lavishly and gayly. Food that looks pretty and party-like will delight the little people, while the simple, wholesome fare that leaves no after effects will make the mothers rise up and call you blessed.

Very thin sandwiches filled with simple fillings and free from condiments will be much appreciated, especially if cut in fancy shapes and garnished prettily.

Let the party begin early and break up early. Put the time clearly in the invitations. If the tots are kept up much after their usual bedtime it means frazzled nerves with subsequent squabbles and tears to spoil the joy of the evening.

Fruit pastes, homemade fudge, plain fluffs are the best candies, and an old-fashioned candy pull adds considerably to the pleasure.

Stored Up Energy

Everybody needs it—stored for emergency in a well-developed, well-protected, well-nourished body and brain.

Grape-Nuts food stands preeminent as a builder of this kind of energy. It is made of the entire nutriment of whole wheat and barley, two of the richest sources of food strength.
