The Corn Song.
 Heap high the farmer's wintry haul!
 Heap high the golden corn!
 No richer gift has autumn poured
 From out her lavish horn.

Let other lands, exciting glean
 The apple from its glossy green
 The orange from its glossy green
 The cluster from the vine.

We better love our sturdy gift
 Our rugged, honest harvest
 To cheer us when the storms shall drift
 Our harvest fields with snow.

Through vales of grass and meads
 flowers
 Our plows their furrows made,
 While on the hills, the sun and showers
 Of changeless April played.

And now with autumn's moonlit eves,
 The harvest time has come,
 We pluck away the frosted leaves
 And bear the treasure home.

There richer than the fabled gift
 Apollo showered of old Fair hands the broken grain shall sift
 And knead the meal of gold.

But let the good old crops adorn,
 The hills our father's trod,
 Still let us for the golden corn
 Send up our thanks to God.
 —John Greenleaf Whittier.

Red geraniums were used in the decorations of the dining room of the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon, when the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the association were hostesses to the women of the city at an informal reception from 3 until 5 o'clock.

In the receiving line were Mesdames Harry H. Tuttle, F. C. Massee, Leslie Simpson, Louis Rohde, F. W. Schlaberg, J. P. Read, A. N. Briggs and L. H. Carter. Mrs. Paul B. Griffith sang a group of songs and a program of Victrola selections was given during the afternoon.

Mrs. T. J. Smith and Mrs. F. E. Lurton presided at the serving tables and they were assisted by the members of the reception committee, Mrs. H. K. Geist, Mrs. D. V. Moore, Mrs. Charles Schuyler, and Mrs. J. H. McNeil.

The main object of the reception was to have the mothers of the members of the association and the women of the city, know more about the work of the auxiliary and to become members of it. There are no dues or fees of any kind, the women banding together to be able to take care of all the social work of the Y. M. C. A. at the association rooms.

FEDERAL AMENDMENT DAYS FOR THE WOMEN

National American Woman Suffrage Association Designates Oct. 7-21. New York, Sept. 29.—The National American Woman Suffrage association has designated October 7 and October 21 as Federal Amendment days, and on those days, suffragists all over the country will mark the progress and status of the Federal amendment with fitting public demonstration.

On October 7 public meetings will be held by the suffragists of the local organizations to conduct the country, which will be given the first reports of the canvass of congressional candidates. The candidates' views on suffrage will be read. Suffrage speeches will be made, and the voters will be urged to select a candidate from among those who favor equal suffrage and the Federal Amendment. The suffragists will continue to maintain their strictly non-partisan attitude and will endorse no party candidate but will make it clear that they do not favor those who are unwilling to vote for the submission of the Federal Amendment. The anti and non-committal candidates will have another day of the state organizations, who will model their demonstrations after the original one as planned by the National association.

On this day, also a suffrage tableau will be staged, symbolizing the political status of womanhood in the various states of the United States. The first of these tableaux was given in Central Park, New York City, last week. Photographs of the tableau will be made and sent to the presidents of the state organizations, who will model their demonstrations after the original one as planned by the National association.

BABY SUFFERED WITH BLISTERS

On Cheeks, Neck and Chest. Formed A Crust. Itched and Burned. Almost a Solid Scale.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"A breaking out which caused my baby much suffering came first in the form of blisters on his cheeks, and spread downward covering his chin, neck, and chest. It formed a crust and his clothing seemed to aggravate it. The eruptions must have itched and burned. He was almost a solid scale.

I picked up a paper with an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I immediately sent for them. I only used two cakes of Soap and one box of Ointment and he was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Jennie Vinick, West Pine St., Paxton, Ill., Jan. 28, 1916.

DRUNKENNESS IN BRITISH ARMY HAS FALLEN OFF

Y. M. C. A. and Kindred Bodies Have Done Great Work.

London, Sept. 19.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—There isn't anything like as much drunkenness in the British army as there used to be. Lord French attributes much of this improvement to the great work done by the Young Men's Christian association and kindred bodies. They have established innumerable substitutes for the canteen which Thomas Atkins has found much more attractive and much less expensive. They provide wholesome refreshments and harmless recreation for him. And religion, too—if he wants it. Often he helps himself to all three.

It was the opening of a new Y. M. C. A. hut by Lord French that afforded him the opportunity to tell how much the army had benefited by such work.

"I remember," he said, "when I first joined the army—how long ago I don't like to remember—the only refuge of the soldier was the canteen. In those days we had old soldiers who used practically to live on beer. It used to be quite a common thing in those days for an old soldier to sell his food to the young recruit and buy beer and live upon it."

"I think it is something like thirty or thirty-five years ago since the founders of the Y. M. C. A. commenced their beneficent work and the change that has come over the personnel of the army during that time has been something very little short of miraculous. Those who have served all those years in the army can realize that more than anybody else."

"A few years before the war commenced this improvement began to manifest itself in an extraordinary manner, and especially with regard to the orderly ranks waiting to be punished for drunkenness. You hardly ever see a drunken soldier now, and in many other directions the work of these institutions upon the spiritual and moral development of the soldier is very marked and has been clearly proved."

"When I was commander-in-chief in France for some eighteen months I realized that these institutions have done for soldiers. It was on the fields of battle that the men showed what difference they were. This war has demanded more in the way of nerve and courage from our men than any war that has ever happened in the history of the world. The most constant courage has had to be exercised every moment of the day and night. No bit of ground is secure from the long range high explosive shells. But through it all our men have shown a magnificent courage. One cannot but remember that the old soldiers of the world were splendid, but they certainly never surpassed the splendid courage that has been shown in this war. One cannot help thinking that perhaps it is to be traced to the work of these institutions."

ANOTHER THEORY SHATTERED.
 James Bryce in the Atlantic: A study of history will show that we may, with an easy conscience, dismiss the theory of Treitschke that war is a health-giving tonic which Providence must be expected constantly to offer to the human race for its own good. Apart altogether from the hopes we entertain for the victory in this war of a cause which we believe to be just, we may desire in the interests of all mankind that its issue should credit by defeat a theory which is noxious as well as baseless. The future progress of mankind is to be sought, not through the strifes and hatreds of the nations, but rather by their friendly co-operation in the healing and enlightening works of peace and in the growth of a spirit of friendship and mutual confidence which removes the causes of war.
