

TRAIL ROUTES TO BE LOGGED

Northwest to Become Section of Interest to Automobile Tourists.

Within the next two weeks, a crew of men representing the blue book automobile trail, will arrive in Grand Forks and begin logging the trails leading from this city to other points in the northwest, in order that important points, centering at Grand Forks, will appear in the next issue of the book.

The Wonderland and Red trails will be the most important to be logged from this city. These highways lead directly across the state, through rich farming districts, forming an ideal drive for the tourist. The roads are well drained and smooth along the entire route, and because of this fact, promise to become two of the most attractive automobile drives north of the Lincoln highway.

During the year, considerable progress will be made in promoting the tourists' interest in the northwest, by offering to them routes leading through attractive sections, interspersed with park districts and farm lands.

Red Lake Falls Meeting.

At Red Lake Falls today, committees representing a large number of commercial clubs in the northwest, are gathering to discuss the proposition of opening a route from that city, through the Red Lake Indian reservation lands and eastward to Duluth, offering a direct route through a section that has never been tapped by a good road and which is probably the most beautiful in the northwest.

The proposed thoroughfare would connect with Red Lake, the largest body of water wholly within one state in America. To the tourist, it would offer an opportunity to visit points of interest on a reservation, including the modern schools and farms where the Chippewa Indians are educated and cared for by the government.

The big proposition confronting the committees is the construction of the road through the reservation district, as further east, modern roads have been built, connecting with Duluth, at the head of the great lakes, where thousands of tourists assemble each year. In the western section of Minnesota it would tap the Jefferson highway, the new route connecting New Orleans and Winnipeg.

The Wonderland and Red Trails, but a few hours' ride further west, throws open a marvelous stretch of highway to Montana and the beautiful park district of the west.

W. H. Brown, manager of the Red River Power company, planned on representing the Grand Forks club at the Red Lake Falls meeting, but was unable to make the trip, owing to the condition of the roads, resulting from the recent rain.

RYE FARMERS TO HOLD FIRST MEET

Big Gathering to be Held This Evening Will Open Season's Activities.

Opening the season's activities for rural clubs in Grand Forks county, the Rye township farmers organization will meet this evening in the new town hall, recently constructed at a cost of $2,000. Plans will be made for the winter meetings, and an excellent program will be given.

The Rye township club has been one of the most active in the county in the past and the members, recognizing the benefits to be derived through co-operation, are the first to begin the winter sessions to take up farm problems which have arisen during the summer months.

Miss Julian Newton of the extension department of the North Dakota agriculture college will be among the principal speakers and will take up topics of special interest to the women. Edgar J. Olson, field agent for the Grand Forks County Better Farming association also will attend. He will assist with work relative to general farm work.

A discussion of many topics, in which the members of the organization will participate, will be held. Many entertaining features have been arranged for and as usual, the "spread," prepared by the ladies, will be one of the feature attractions. It is expected that several auto parties from Grand Forks will attend the meeting.

Presbyterians Home From Synod Meeting

Dr. William H. Matthews and Rev. D. M. McIntosh have returned from Fargo, where they attended the annual meeting of the Presbyterian synod.

Several North Dakota pastors were in the city last night en route to their homes. They were Rev. D. Finlayson, Park River; Rev. K. J. McGinnis, Forest River; and Rev. A. E. Hall, Emerado. A. B. Muir of Inkster and J. D. Gillespie of Park River, lay delegates, also were in the city.

APPRECIATION PLANS TO BEGIN

Leaders of Movement Throughout State Getting Together to Arrange Details

Plans as yet are tentative for the annual North Dakota Appreciation week program, which was launched for the first time last year and which will again be observed throughout the state during the coming winter. F. E. Black of Chicago, who recently arrived in Grand Forks to take charge of the arrangements for this city, is now outlining the program.

Within the next several days a publicity committee will be appointed, marking the first actual step to bring the feature to a climax. R. J. Hughes, president of the North Dakota Press association, will be among the active participants in boosting the Appreciation week.

Further developments are expected within the next few days as the leaders of the movement are now communicating in an effort to further the plans.

INTERESTING POINTS TO BE BROUGHT UP

North Dakota Laws to be Tested in Litigation for Recovery of Insurance—Complaint Filed.

Attorney J. B. Wineman, representing Katherine Ann Foster, widow of the late Dr. R. B. Foster, has received an acknowledgment of the summons and complaint, served on the commissioner of insurance at Bismarck, in which Mrs. Foster will attempt to recover $2,000 insurance from the Western Mutual Life Insurance company of Los Angeles, Cal.

It is alleged in the complaint that the late Dr. Foster had a $3,000 policy with the western association and that no settlement has been made, although nearly two months have elapsed since the date of the policy holder's death.

Many interesting points will be brought up in this litigation, inasmuch as the North Dakota law conflicts with the conditions upon which the policy was issued. Dr. Foster succumbed a few days after he had attempted to strangle himself, and, it is believed, because of this fact the insurance company has failed to make settlement. Mrs. Foster is administratrix of her husband's estate.

The case will be brought before the district court.

TOO HIGH WAGES MEN WON'T ENLIST

So Claims Sergeant E. J. Flint of Fargo Recruiting Station on Way to Gardar, N. D., Today

The work of recruiting for the regular army is progressing slowly, according to Sergeant E. J. Flint of the Fargo recruiting station in Grand Forks a short time this morning on his way to Gardar, N. D. There is a large demand for men, and the prevailing high wages paid for labor makes army life no inducement.

Sergeant Flint goes to Gardar to pass on applications to regular army service, a result of the new system of recruiting whereby the nearest recruiting officer is notified when the postmaster receives applications. Corporal Coomer, formerly of the Grand Forks recruiting station, has charge of the Fargo office during Sergeant Flint's absence.
