

HURRICANE IS MOVING NORTH; WARNING ISSUED

Great Lakes District and Atlantic Coast to Get the Brunt of It.

MUCH DAMAGE IN SOUTH WEDNESDAY

Mobile and Pensacola Hit Yesterday—$100,000 Loss Reported.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The tropical hurricane which yesterday swept from the Gulf of Mexico over Florida and Alabama had progressed into Indiana today, with its intensity tempered, moving toward the Great Lakes and the Atlantic coast. In its northeast movement, the official forecaster predicted, it would increase in force. Storm warnings were ordered throughout the Great Lakes and on the Atlantic coast from east Port Maine to Hatteras, N. C.

Much Damage Done. Mobile, Ala., Oct. 19.—Reports today show that southern Alabama and western Florida are recovering from the hurricane, which swept out of the Gulf across the coast yesterday, causing two deaths, and great property and marine loss. Although the wind attained a greater velocity than that which accompanied the storm of last July, both Mobile and Pensacola, the chief cities in the hurricane path, suffered far less damage. The total loss in the two cities probably will not exceed $100,000. Train service from Pensacola to Jacksonville will be suspended for a week.

Snow in Nebraska. Omaha, Neb., Oct. 19.—A rain and sleet storm last night turned into snow today. The snowstorm extended practically over South Dakota, Nebraska and western Iowa. Four inches of snow fell in Norfolk, Neb. There are two inches of snow at Sioux Falls, S. D., where the temperature is slightly below freezing.

FORTIFY CHIHUAHUA CITY

Trenches, With Concrete Protection, and Shell-proof Dugouts to Protect the Place.

Chihuahua City, Mex., Oct. 19.—Trenches with concrete protection, shell-proof dugouts and protected artillery emplacements, embodying the lessons of the European war, are being erected around this city in accordance with the plans devised by General Trevino and his general staff. When this work is finished the city will be impregnable against troops not possessing powerful artillery, it is said, and will prevent a recurrence of the events of September, when Villa was able to make a surprise attack. On his round of inspection today General Trevino was accompanied by a representative of the Associated Press who saw hundreds of laborers engaged on this work. The defense line is several thousand yards in length.

Supreme Issue in State Fight

Home-town Friends of Grace and Robinson Say They Cannot Conscientiously Vote for Them—Farmers, Sure of Success, Prepare to Get Their Dues.

(By Tom Parker Junkin.) I have spent some busy days visiting in the towns and cities of western North Dakota, on trains and on highways. I have talked to and listened to perhaps two hundred men—voters—and I have heard some mighty interesting arguments on the issues and the people of the day in the political campaign.

I have drawn some conclusions as to the trend of sentiment before I state these conclusions let me say that I went out with an unbiased mind and almost a stranger to North Dakota politics and I will give my impressions in all sincerity and unprejudice.

I have talked with farmers, bankers, grain buyers, politicians, newspaper men, shoe dealers, grocers, hotel men, lawyers, judges and other office holders. I have heckled and prodded some of them to get their real sentiments "from the heart out." Traveling men, butchers and barbers; Republicans, Socialists, Nonpartisans; Democrats and Prohibitionists; physicians, preachers, railroad men, Norwegians, Swedes, Germans, Hoosiers, Badgers, Plickertalis and Wolverines were among the victims I picked on. And what did I get?

The Vote for President. So far as the national tickets are concerned I firmly believe that Woodrow Wilson will poll a larger popular vote next month than he did in 1912—and Charles E. Hughes will poll practically the entire popular vote given to Taft and at least 85 per cent of the vote that went to Roosevelt, the other 15 per cent being divided between Wilson and the Prohibition and Socialist candidates. This is based on the sentiment I find prevailing in North Dakota and northern Minnesota, and my best information from observers in other states. Writers who are doing a large amount of talking. The stalwart Republicans are content to say "I am a Republican and I feel sure Hughes will be elected." They let it go at that unless you prod them into an argument. They seldom start an argument.

The Nonpartisan, too, is content with the situation, being satisfied to say he is positive his state ticket will win and he isn't telling what he will do about the national ticket. He is waiting for the precinct meetings to be held on Tuesday, October 31, one week before election to find out just where he will stand on election day.

Got His Money's Worth. "I paid $5 for my league membership—I got it early before the price was boosted—and I think I got my money's worth," said one. "I will attend our precinct meeting and I believe every other member will. But I am a Republican and I shall vote as I believe is best for me and my country when I get into the booth. I am a nonpartisan in the affairs of concern to North Dakota under the wrongs of the farmer corrected, but no man can tell me for whom I shall vote for congress, or the U. S. senate, or for president—or state supreme court, for that matter. We want legislation and we have taken it." (Continued on Page 8.)

WOMEN DENIED EQUAL RIGHTS IN THE CHURCH

Episcopal Bishops Reject Two Proposals on the Subject.

St. Louis, Oct. 19.—Women were denied equal rights with men in two actions by the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal general convention in session here. A proposal to permit women to sit as delegates in the general convention was defeated. The house suggested to Rev. Logan H. Roots, bishop of Bankok be allowed to admit women to membership in his advisory council. The bishop, it was stated, that he might create an auxiliary council of women.

The proposal to give women equal rights with men in the convention was sponsored by Robert H. Gardiner of Maine. A similar resolution is now in the calendar of the house of deputies and it is pointed out today's action in the upper house does not preclude it being discussed in the lower body. Since concurrence of the two houses is necessary in the event the house of deputies should approve the proposal it will go to the house of bishops for reconsideration.

The bishops also considered changes recommended in the communion service by the commission on the book of common prayer. The report in the house of deputies that the Ten Commandments be printed in the prayer book in both their shortened form and in their full form and that clergy members be given optional use of either in the service, it was stated.

Efforts to have the prayer of George Washington read on the occasion of his birthday down the supreme command of the federal armies, adapted and substituted for the present prayer "for our country" in the book of common prayer, were inaugurated in the house of deputies by Roland S. Morris of Philadelphia.

Mr. Morris introduced a resolution which resulted in a prayer which has been recommended by the commission on prayer book, being recommitted to the commission with the suggestion that it consider the Washington prayer. This pleads for God's holy protection for the United States, obedience for its citizens, for their brother affection for each other; "particular for their brethren who have served in the field," and that God will dispose us to do justice, mercy and charity. The prayer suggested by the commission asked that "our land be blessed with honorable industry, sound learning and pure manners. It also asks that we be saved from violence, discord and confusion; from pride and arrogance," and that our liberties be defended and our unity preserved.

GERMANY HEARS THAT ENGLAND ARMS ALL SHIPS

Sharper Submarine Warfare Must Follow, Says Paper.

Berlin, Oct. 17.—(Via London, Oct. 19.)—(Delayed.)—The Kriegs Zeitung, the evening edition of the Lokal Anzeiger, publishes a report that the British have ordered the arming of all merchantmen and says that as a result Germany may be forced to take up a sharper submarine campaign with the consequent endangerment of German-American relations. It continues: "If England actually intends to arm all her merchantmen with heavy and therefore, far-carrying guns and thus label them plainly as warships intended for attack, it cannot be avoided that, whether we wish to or not, we must give a sharper tendency to our submarine campaign."

DOES HUGHES SANCTION ARMY BILL? ASKS BENSON

Socialist Candidate Says Measure Gives President More Power Than Britain's King Over Australia.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 19.—Allan H. Benson, socialist presidential candidate after making an address here last night sent a telegram to Charles E. Hughes, Republican presidential candidate asking him to make public his reasons for refraining from having signed a bill empowering the president, in time of war, to draft American citizens in the federal army.

"This is a greater power," the telegram asserted, "than the king of England has over the people of Australia. It inquired if 'failure to criticize the president for his signing of the draft law is to be construed as indicating Hughes' approval of the law.' Mr. Benson sent several days ago from Portland, Oregon, requesting him to make public his reasons for having signed the draft law.

THINK PASSENGERS HAD LEFT THE BOAT

Some Americans Were on Board When She Left New York.

The Alauania sailed from here on October 7, with passengers. Line officials believed they were landed at Falmouth, according to the usual custom.

Captain Benson and some of the crew are missing, the cables reported. The Alauania called at Falmouth Tuesday. She was on her way to London when she struck the mine this morning.

FATE OF GREECE IS IN BALANCE

King Constantine Enthuses Populace by Stand Against Allies.

Athens, Oct. 18.—Greece is at the threshold of a crisis which threatens her very existence as a state, as a result of the landing of French marines and the seizure of the Greek navy by the Allies.

King Constantine has made an appeal to America and the other neutral nations against the action of the Allies in imperiling the sovereignty of the nation, and the allied commanders have made demands that peace be established with the operations on the Macedonian front.

It is known that the king has given command that anti-entente demonstrations must cease, as the very existence of Greece is at stake. It is difficult to say, however, whether in the present state of public opinion over the presence of marines of foreign powers at Athens and Piraeus, even the king's orders will be obeyed by the excited populace.

His majesty insisted on the groundlessness of the suspicion that Greece contemplated an attack on the forces of General Sarrail. As proof of his good faith the king is said to have declared his readiness to withdraw the Greek forces from Larissa.

King Constantine yesterday dismissed all guards during an address to the Greek sailors and rode alone and unprotected through the crowd, which pressed about him, touching the sovereign and his horse. The act appeared to inspire the almost fanatical devotion of the people. In addition the events of yesterday, including the seizure of three Greek battleships, which is not yet known generally, preface possibilities of trouble. The city is being policed by Greek cavalry. A further detachment of French marines has been landed yesterday and the commander has demanded the use of the parliament and university buildings as barracks.

CHURCH ESPOUSES PRESS

Greatest Publicity Medium and Should Be Used, Says the House of Deputies.

St. Louis, Oct. 19.—Establishment of a permanent church publicity bureau, because of the increasing dependency of the church on the press, was urged in a resolution adopted by the house of deputies of the Protestant Episcopal general convention here today. To become effective the resolution must be approved by the house of bishops.

The bureau, according to the plan announced, is to study means of getting the co-operation of the newspapers of the country in carrying on the work of the churches.

In presenting the resolution, together with the report of the joint committee on press and publicity, Francis L. Stetson of New York asserted that the church is under the greatest obligation to the press.

"The newspaper is the greatest publicity medium," said the report. "Through the press we can accomplish a great religious work in reaching the man outside the walls of our church. Altruistic organizations of all kinds are depending more and more on the press for support in their work. As a matter of business efficiency this church should follow the lead and establish a permanent publicity bureau."

The house adopted a resolution, thanking the press of the country for its support in the present convention.

One official said that he considered it most likely that the Bremen met the fate of a number of naval submarines, which sailed and never were heard from again. These vessels disappeared completely. None of the members of their crews is reported as being in detention camps of the entente allies.

It is presumed they had some accident which caused them to sink or had a mishap while diving which prevented them from coming to the surface.

GERMAN FORCES PREPARE FOR A TITANIC STAND

Belief That Somme Drive Presaged End Now is Given Up.

EVERY VILLAGE IN WEST A FORTRESS

Western Front Will Know no Quiet Till Peace Ends Hecatomb.

(By Frederick L. Palmer.) (Copyrighted, 1916, by Associated Press)

British Front in France, Oct. 18, via London, Oct. 19.—The war will last another year, according to the consensus of opinion among the British soldiers and their leaders. This also is the opinion of the Germans, if the views of prisoners count for anything. Before the grand offensive started, a high authority informed the correspondent of the Associated Press that the German line would not be broken this summer and that slow operations of wearing down the Germans would be inaugurated, probably lasting thru another summer. With the approach of winter conditions, which make military movements difficult, this officer recalled his prediction and in a discussion of the situation, today said: "We knew what the German resources were and what ours were, and the time required to force a decisive victory for our arms is a matter of calculation." The German prisoners taken during the summer invariably spoke of peace being a certainty in autumn. They regarded the Somme thrust as the final effort of the allies for a decision, and, after it peace would be made. Their tone is entirely different now. They recognize that it is a fight to the finish between the man power and resources of two foes, and that the ultimate decision will come from fearful attrition on the western front, which now will know no intermission until the end.

The Germans are determined to make every village on the western front a fortress which will yield only when reduced to powder by shell fire and every gully, crater and machine gun post to secure their defensive against a critical defeat.
