

FAVOR DAM AT HEAD OF RIVER

Grand Forks Delegates to Conference to Work For Control of Lake.

Professor E. F. Chandler of the university and W. H. Brown of the Red River Power company will represent the Grand Forks Commercial club at the conference called to consider control of the waters of Red Lake and Red Lake river at Thief River Falls on November 23, according to an announcement made yesterday.

Grand Forks is very interested in any proposition to control the waters of Red Lake and of Red rivers, according to Mr. Brown, because this city must take precautionary measures to insure a constant water supply. Mr. Brown contends that every possible influence should be brought to bear to protect this vital element of the city's welfare, and he believes there should be a large delegation to the hearing on this question on November 23.

FAMOUS THEOLOGIAN AT "U" SATURDAY

Professor Walter Rauschenbusch of Rochester Seminary is Convocation Speaker.

Professor Walter Rauschenbusch of the Rochester Theological seminary, and recognized as one of the foremost of social workers of the day, will be the speaker at the university convocation tomorrow morning.

Professor Rauschenbusch will take for his topic, "The Challenge of the Social Problem to College Men and Women." Preeminent in the field of social service, Professor Rauschenbusch is recognized as one of the greatest reformers of the present day. He is known the world over as the foremost interpreter of the teachings of the gospel and a man with a message of irresistible strength. As an author, Professor Rauschenbusch has attained an enviable record. His works are quoted as authority on social problems and are used as text books in the majority of the theological colleges in the world. One of the best works of the author is "Christianity and the Social Crisis."

The special music for the convocation will be furnished by the Woman's Glee club of the university, in their first public appearance of the year.

CANVASSING BOARD FIND FEW ERRORS

Monotonous Grind Nearing End But Only Slight Changes Made in First Counts.

The work of canvassing the votes cast at the general election on November 7 is rapidly being completed by the county board of canvassers and unless errors are found, it is probable that the entire count will be completed by the first of next week.

Few errors have been found on the records of the election inspectors and only a few of the unofficial figures have been changed. These varied but a few votes and had no serious effect on the results of the candidacy of any of the office aspirants.

CANDIDATES TO FILE REPORTS

Must Place Expense Accounts in Hands of Auditor Before Next Wednesday.

Before next Wednesday night, candidates for public office, successful or defeated at the general election of November 7, must file with the county auditor a true list of their expenditures necessitated in promoting their candidacy.

No accounts had been placed on file at noon today, but as only a limited time remains, it is expected that the reports will begin flooding the auditor's office next Monday. Several of the office aspirants stated today that the delay in filing was caused by the neglect of newspapers throughout the county which have failed to forward the statements for advertising.

It is known that several of the campaign costs will be large, as several of the fights for office necessitated the expenditure of large sums in advertising. Probably the lightest expense accounts will be filed by Sheriff Art Turner, County Auditor Hans Anderson and Clerk of Court M. W. Spaulding, who had no opposition.

In case a candidate neglects to file the account of all expenses incurred during the campaign, a fine of $25 for each day elapsing between the date of filing and the date filed, will be made, subject to the order of the district court.

REPORTS TO BE MADE TONIGHT

Supper to be Served at Dining Room of Y. M. C. A. For Campaign Teams.

At a supper to be held this evening at the Y. M. C. A., the reports of the campaign teams will be made and new "pep" will be instilled into the work of soliciting memberships for the last lap of the campaign. The supper will be served this evening at 6:15 in the basement of the Y. M. C. A. and all members are urged to attend and make their reports.

The campaign has been unusually successful and a large number of new members have been obtained. With the end of the campaign drawing near, it is expected that the final effort to secure members will bring about the enrollment of many more.

Little trouble has been experienced in obtaining the names of those who have witnessed the performance of the gym classes or who have inspected the accommodations at the association building, and during the past few weeks a noticeable growth has been made in every department. Last evening over 40 men participated in the class work in the gymnasium.

The bi-weekly dinner of the Commercial club on Tuesday, November 28, will be complimentary to Messrs. J. G. Haney and E. I. Olsen, in recognition of their work in relation to the improvement of agricultural and stock-raising conditions among the farmers of the county and state.

At this dinner the house and entertainment committees will present tentative plans for the entertainment of the guests who will arrive in the city on December 4 to embark on the Great Northern special train for the trip to the Chicago live stock show. It is expected that this dinner will be served to not less than 300 visitors from all parts of the state. The preliminary arrangements are being made under the direction of C. C. Gowran, chairman of the house committee.

SEAL SALE OPENS ON NOVEMBER 26

Red Cross Christmas Seals to Be Sold Here—Mrs. J. E. Stevens of Lawton in Charge of Work.

The national association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis in the United States has issued nearly 300,000,000 of Red Cross Christmas seals to the different towns and cities in the United States, and they hope that at least 100,000,000 of them will be sold during the holiday time, thus raising the sum of $1,000,000 for the fight against the white plague in this country. The official opening takes place today, but the seals will not be placed on sale in this city until Sunday, November 26, when a health rally meeting will be held at the Metropolitan opera house. Mrs. J. E. Stevens of the State Anti-Tuberculosis association is in charge of the work for that day, and she will be assisted by the women of the different church organizations and a number of volunteer workers. All money raised in North Dakota will be spent at the tuberculosis sanitarium at Dunsmuir.

MAY SETTLE TAX CASE OUT OF COURT

No Date Has Been Set for Hearing of Great Northern Right-of-Way Litigation.

No date has been set for the Great Northern tax case which was slated to come up in Grand Forks this week, when Attorney George E. Wallace, counsel for the company, would ask that the tax deed against property leased to Nash Brothers and Swift and company for trackage purposes, be set aside.

It is believed that the case is being settled out of court as no information has been given court officials relative to the proposed litigation. The taxes amounted to $1,000 and the property was sold to recover this amount, because of the delinquency.

Both men have completed their three years' service with the guard.

TAX CASE WILL BE UP NOV. 27

The Mandamus Proceedings Started by Attorney Bangs to be Settled by Cooley.

The mandamus case which recently was filed with the clerk of the district court against County Treasurer John Bridston, by the Crane-Ordway company, through Attorney R. Bangs, will come up for hearing before District Judge C. M. Cooley on November 27, according to an announcement made today.

The case will be a test of the law, which will decide whether or not the treasurer will be forced to accept taxes on property, that has been subject to levies, other than for real estate. The case is a complicated one. It appears that the Crane-Ordway company held a mortgage on property upon which personal property taxes had been levied before foreclosure.

County Treasurer John Bridston has refused to accept the real estate tax or to issue a receipt for that amount, unless the personal tax of the previous owner also is settled. It is here that the legality of the action arises and this question will be put before Judge C. M. Cooley to decide.

Freak Aquatic Horse Drowns; Cramps Attack

August Mayer, a Minnesota Point resident, mourns a valuable horse, which died the victim of his own aquatic intrepidity. The animal was a freak in horsedom—some amoebio ancestor, perhaps, had projected itself across a million years. Anyways, some instinct in the equine mind dictated that he must have his daily bath, which he had a habit of taking in the Red river along the point, sporting and splashing around in a horsey interpretation of September morn. This refreshed, he was ready for his day's duties.

Now Mr. Mayer mourns his loss, and alleges that the animal's habit of taking his daily bath has cost him just $165.

While practicing the Australian crawl stroke, he met a tragic and untimely death by drowning when seized with cramps.

vator, and the last two years he has been head of the Imperial Elevator. He has, however, lived in this part of the country for ten years; in fact, was one of the original settlers. Mr. Borley still owns a farm a short distance from the town, on which he raised a good crop this year. He marketed nearly $4,800 worth of grain off from 230 acres, which speaks pretty well for the productive quality of the soil in this section. The elevator has a capacity of 15,000 bushels, has an Inglehart car loader (which saves a lot of hard work), and is equipped with two scales—a weighing-out and a receiving scale. Their machinery is all up-to-date, and they are prepared to handle the business quickly and accurately. They get at least their share of the business.

FARMERS' ELEVATOR.

Like most of the Farmers' elevators throughout the country, this one is co-operative, there being sixty-two stockholders, all local men. Last year, the company paid a 2-1/2 per cent dividend, and handled about 55,000 bushels, which speaks well for Mr. A. L. Tennis, who has been managing the elevator for the past two years. The elevator has a capacity of 30,000 bushels, and has been filled to capacity this year. The car shortage has been a great handicap so far, but they hope for better conditions soon. Mr. Tennis came to Medicine Lake from Willow City, where he was manager of the St. Anthony Elevator. As he has been in the business for fourteen years, he is what one might justly call a thoroughly experienced and posted elevator man.

SOUTHALL & COMPANY'S ELEVATOR.

For the past six years, Mr. George Borley has held his present position as manager of the Southall Elevator, and has watched the business grow to its present big proportions. Mr. Borley says it has always been the leading elevator of the town. It is equipped with a new, up-to-date Fairbanks Morse engine and all the other machinery is the best of its kind. The capacity of the elevator is 30,000 bushels. Mr. Borley owns a farm near the edge of town, where he has a sand and gravel pit. He is also the town's ice-man, and does not have to go off from his own farm for his ice supply. He has been with the Southall company, altogether, seven years, and is considered one of their most valuable men.

EMMETT GORMLEY.

Mr. Gormley is one of the oldest settlers in this section, as he took up his homestead, about ten miles north-east of Medicine Lake, about ten years ago, which was two years before the town started. He has a fine farm and expects to build a new house and barn on it next summer. He is one of the many prosperous farmers in the county.

It is reported that the people in the east are now eating horse meat. There's no accounting for the taste of war bride speculators.
