

Of Interest to Women

No Christmas Gifts For the Canadians

The women of Winnipeg are foregoing many of the Christmas comforts this year, in order that the soldiers in the trenches might have a happier time. For several weeks these workers have been telephoning to their friends not to buy Christmas gifts, but to use the money to send comforts to the soldiers. The department stores have been working with the women, and they have made a specialty of displaying boxes packed especially with things for the soldiers, and these have found a ready sale. There have been more packages sent to the front this year than ever before, as the senders do not now have to pay postage on articles destined to the soldiers in the prison camps in Germany. No effort is being made for the giving of Christmas presents to the men, most of them being looked after by their families. However, several of the patriotic organizations of Winnipeg, are raising funds to send presents at New Year's to the men who were forgotten at Christmas time.

HERE'S SOME ADVICE FOR YOU, GIRLS; WED AN APOLLO OR SCORN MERE MAN

Charlotte Perkins Gilman.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Speaking before the Chicago Woman's club, Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, writer, lecturer and suffragist, urged another great sacrifice upon women. She said that women should scorn all except the perfect fathers when it came to marriage.

"Don't scold them," said Mrs. Gilman. "Don't find fault with them. Don't preach to them. Simply don't marry them."

The members of the club, a large number of whom are grandmothers, cheered. Mrs. Gilman said that in the past women have made a miserable failure in selecting their mates.

"Women have got to marry a different sort of men," she said. "It is going to reduce the number of marriage licenses. The choice of a husband should be from the biological and psychological standpoint and not on economic grounds. Young women should be trained to know what constitutes a safe paternity. We have absolutely failed in the choice of fathers, because we have had no choice."

Mrs. Gilman, in her advocacy of "kitchenless homes" "community dining rooms" and "socialized mother-

Miss Ethel Sherrin, a bride of next month, was honored when the South End Bridge club entertained at a dinner at the Hotel Dacotah for her. Miss Sherrin has been an instructor in the Belmont school and she will leave on Friday evening for her home at Estherville, Ia.

The early settlements in the Red River valley including the Selkirk, the Icelandic and the Dunkers, were discussed by Mrs. C. S. Marsden at the regular meeting of the P. E. O. Sisterhood held last evening at the home of Mrs. Paul B. Griffith, 186 Reeves avenue.

The speaker told of the starting of the Selkirk settlement at Winnipeg and how it gradually spread until it included the whole of the Red River valley. The Icelandic settlement in Pembina county was also spoken of and she told much of the early history of the colony.

A short time was also given over to a discussion of the Dunkers and their settlement in Towner county. A short discussion of the early history of Grand Forks city and county was also included in Mrs. Marsden's paper.

In connection with the settlements in Pembina county, an interesting fact was brought out. The original name of the place was "Nipemlinan," an Indian word meaning "high bush cranberry." When the white men came they called it Pembina, which is probably a contraction of the Indian word. Mrs. C. B. Harris of Pembina, chairman of the historical committee of the North Dakota Federation of Women's clubs, has suggested that the club women of the state make an effort to have the high bush cranberry planted in the parks of the state as a memento of this occasion.

Using Judgement in Selecting Gifts

"Christmas comes but once a year, And when it does it brings good cheer"

That is, it does if you use good judgement in selecting your Christmas gifts.

How many times have you received something at Christmas that was of no earthly value to you, and how much better pleased you should have been if the giver had used a little judgment.

Don't let this happen to you. Don't give your friends an opportunity to cast your present aside because it is useless.

Honestly now, what would be nicer for your mother, sister or friend than a selection from the magnificent assortment of holiday goods you'll find here.
