City's First White Boy Visiting Here

Charles E. Maloney of Yorktown, Mass., arrived Sunday evening to spend the holidays with his mother and sister, Mrs. Mary Maloney and Miss Sue Maloney of the Dinnie Apartments.

Mr. Maloney was the first white boy to be born in Grand Forks. His birth place was on the present site of the Scandinavian-American bank. His parents came to Grand Forks in the spring of 1874 and Mr. Maloney was born here the next year. In 1878 his father built the Ingraham house on the site, which was one of the landmarks of the city. This is Mr. Maloney's first visit to this city in eight years, and he is very much impressed with the progress that was made in that time. Mr. Maloney is accompanied by his wife and son, Charles Hugh.

Dancer is Blamed For Marital Troubles; Referee Sees a Good Cause For Divorce

Mr. and Mrs. John L. De Saullies (left) and Miss Joan Sawyer.

New York, Dec. 26.—"A certain Miss Sawyer, whose first name is Joan and who is well known as a dancer, was the cause of all the trouble between the former Senorita Blanca Errazuriz, Chilean heiress, and her husband, John Longer De Saullies, a famous Yale quarterback, according to the report of Referee Phoenix Ingraham, filed in the supreme court in a divorce suit brought by Mrs. De Saullies.

According to the testimony taken before the referee in two hearings, at the very time that Miss Sawyer was at the height of her popularity as a dancer and as a model for artists who were picturing the grace of the fox trot and the hesitation, she also was the magnet which was diverting Mr. De Saullies from attention to his own wife.

The testimony showed that on many occasions Miss Sawyer and Mr. De Saullies had been seen motoring together in one of the high powered automobiles that had won for him the envy of the amateur speed devotees.

The referee recommends that the divorce be granted to Mrs. De Saullies.

De Saullies was a member of one of the oldest Knickerbocker families. He was graduated from Yale in 1901, having been one of the cleverest quarterbacks who ever captained a varsity eleven.

In the employ of the South American Concessions company he went to Chile armed, among other things, with letters of introduction to the most exclusive circles. There, near Valparaiso, he met and won the beautiful Senorita Blanca Errazuriz, then only sixteen years old and regarded as the wealthiest heiress in Chile.

They were married in Paris December 15, 1911, following a trip to the city by the young girl and her mother.

Mr. De Saullies is now engaged in the real estate business. He lives at the Yale club. The De Saullies have one son, John Longer De Saullies, Jr., now almost four years old.

In 1912 De Saullies organized the Woodrow Wilson College Men's League and was subsequently appointed United States minister to Uruguay, although he resigned before going to that country.

A motion picture of the recommendation of the referee will be heard before Justice Pendleton next Thursday. It will then be determined to whom the custody of the child will be entrusted.

Mrs. De Saullies' inheritance from the estate of her mother will amount to several millions.

First Aid to a Good Complexion.

A poor complexion is a sign of ignorance, carelessness, or both. We owe it to ourselves and those about us to be as attractive as circumstances permit. On every side we meet scores of people whose complexions proclaim lack of care, and yet nothing adds more to one's appearance than a bright, clear complexion which speaks of good blood and exquisite cleanliness.

To insure a beautiful complexion, there must be a reasonable amount of attention to the general health, and persistent, daily care of the soft, sensitive texture of the skin itself. This is reasonable. We know that if our health is poor or our digestion imperfect, our teeth will protest by becoming impaired. On the other hand, if our health is good and we do not keep our teeth clean, outside influences again will cause the ivory surfaces to decay.

Then, first of all let us remember that we must eat regularly of wholesome, nutritious food, that this must be thoroughly masticated and eaten with pleasant surroundings. If there is friction or unpleasant argument at mealtime, digestion is arrested and the complexion becomes muddy and the eyes dull and heavy as a natural result.

The majority of people do not drink nearly enough water and so the system is not flushed and cleansed daily as it should be. From eight to ten glasses of water should be taken each twenty-four hours and this mostly between meals. If the body functions regularly and sufficient sleep is taken in a well-ventilated room, there is no reason why the blood stream should not be pure and healthy unless there is a diseased condition present.

Wash the face with soap and water is not enough to keep it clean, for dust and grime become imbedded in the oily pores of the skin and the usual method of cleansing is entirely inadequate. Follow the directions and watch the grateful skin respond majestically.

Each night anoint the face and neck gently yet thoroughly with a good grade of cold cream which is guaranteed not to produce hair. It is much better to purchase a scientifically prepared article from a firm with a reputation back of it than to experiment in a crude way at home. Leave the cream on five or ten minutes after it has been worked into the skin, then wipe away with firm strokes with a clean cloth. You will be surprised to see the soil on the linen. Now wash thoroughly with lukewarm water the temperature of the skin. If you are going out in the wind or dust, work in a very little vanishing cream and powder lightly to protect the surface. Any further washing needed through the day should be done with plain, luke-warm water. Be careful not to drag the muscles ly a delicious little lunch may be served and how much the hostess will enjoy the coziness of it.

As long as the weather is cold, provide something in the way of a hot drink—hot malted milk if there are little people, coffee, cocoa, or a cup of well-made tea. It is a good idea to have a little can of Orange Pekoe or some choice brand for use at this time to give a distinctive touch to the lunch.

Sandwiches of nut bread and marmalade are most satisfactory and the nut bread may easily be made on Saturday. Here is a simple rule which will make two loaves:

One egg, one cup sugar, one cup walnuts, one and one-quarter cups sweet milk, four and one-half cups flour, four teaspoonfuls baking powder, one teaspoonful salt.

Mix into two loaves, let rise half an hour, and bake forty-five minutes in a slow oven.

Or, sandwiches of white bread with a filling of cottage cheese and chopped nut meats; or cottage cheese flavored with sweet pimento; minced chicken and salad dressing; deviled ham and chopped cold boiled eggs, are simple and delicious.

As for cup cakes or an assortment of macaroons, lady fingers, fig newtons, or a surprise in the way of some favorite cake not often served by the family circle, any guest who may be carrying beneath our roof.

LINDSEY'S WIFE WOULD BE MOVIE QUEEN

Mrs. Ben Lindsey.

Denver, Dec. 26.—Mrs. Henrietta Brevoort Lindsey, Judge Ben Lindsey's wife, is on her way to New York to sign a contract by which she will enter the ranks of the movie actresses.

When the juvenile court judge married three years ago he set all the reporters busy finding out what were his wife's views. She herself would not even admit that she was a suffragist. But she soon set doubts at rest by going into court with the judge every day, sitting beside him and giving him a bit of woman's counsel.

Now she is going to help his work by appearing in film plays based on the work and possibilities of the juvenile court. The judge wrote the scenarios, Miss Harriet Ford of New York and Harvey O'Higgins helping him, and William A. Brady is to produce them.

BLUFF FACTS AND PARADES

Mrs. Newlywed was making her first trip to the big city market intending to buy strawberries for husband's supper. The berries proved to be a greenish-white and scraggly.

"Why I—I thought strawberries were redder," she said to the obliging clerk, who, sizing up the situation at a glance, answered:

"You should do some motoring, by all means," she ran on. "I couldn't live without it. I am so accustomed to our six cylinder four speed Clip-tray, with automatic sparking attachment, that I simply abhorinate horses. By the way, you ought to get a machine."

"I have one," was the quiet reply.

"Indeed?" remarked Mrs. Newlywed. "I never knew it. What make is it?"

"Oh," replied her friend, sweetly, "a light running lockettish, with hemmer tucker and buttonhole attachment!"

Good Old Home-Made Family Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-Made. Kicks Coughs and Croup Prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you would hardly have in them all the curative power that lies in this simple "home-made" cough syrup which takes only a few minutes to prepare.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Finex (50 cents worth), pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 54 cents and gives you a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Finex and sugar syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes that line the throat, chest and bronchial tubes, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and, for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Finex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with genuine licorice, has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment be sure to get your druggist for "Finex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of genuine quality and money returned if returned, goes with this Finex. The Finex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.
