The Gift of Imagination.

Children have a perfectly wonderful imagination and it is one of the richest possessions they can possibly have.

A little girl who can content herself with her favorite doll, playing it is an obedient orphan child this morning, a rebellious youngster this afternoon, and a patient, dangerously ill tomorrow morning, is simply peering her world with different characters just the same that you and I do when we read stories with great delight which we know to be purely fiction.

The imagination of children should not be discouraged, and to fail to give them understanding sympathy, is to check their confidence and faith in us. Occasionally the imagination of little people becomes so vivid that the creations of the mind actually seem like the real thing to them.

It may be that Johnny did not see a growing bear in the back yard, nor meet a runaway horse in the upstairs hall on his way to the bath room, but the wise mother will meet such imaginative tales with a fine and happy understanding, skillfully labeling them "play stories," and entering into the spirit of them in a truly constructive way.

out-of-town women who were in Bismarck, interested in the passage of several bills relating to suffrage. Covers were laid for 50 guests, and after the repast was served, given by several prominent workers.

The women of the Sacred Heart Catholic church in East Grand Forks will give a card party in the church hall on Thursday evening.

Dean and Mrs. George F. Wells, 59 Fourth avenue, held their regular monthly "open house" for the students of the law school, at their home from 8 until 10 o'clock, yesterday afternoon.

On Tuesday evening, January 30, an informal dancing party will be given in the Guild hall.

A card party will be given on Wednesday evening, January 31, in the auditorium of St. Michael's pro-cathedral by the Young Ladies' Society.

The benefit card party given at the home of Mrs. Frank L. McVey by a group of women interested in the American Fund for French Wounded was largely attended.

Gives up Career as an Architect for Grand Opera

Graham Marr in "The Pearl Fishers."

New York, Jan. 29.—Graham Marr, late of the architect's guild, is now baritone with the Boston Opera company in the success of the season, "The Pearl Fishers."

American baritones in grand opera are even scarcer than were American prima donnas up to within a few years ago because of the almost impassable barriers raised by the foreign artists as obstacles to American trained aspirants.

Graham Marr is more conspicuous by his unusual entry into operatic circles. He is an American, born in Pennsylvania, and is a graduate of Princeton University.

Possessor of a fine baritone voice, he sought the best American masters and his place in the field today was gained only by hard efforts and pitched battles against prejudice of artists

DIAMONDS

The fine distinctions that may mean a difference of hundreds or thousands of dollars in the intrinsic worth of a stone consist in infinitely subtle qualities indistinguishable to any but an expert—Yet these qualities absolutely determine the market price of the stone—Your purchase of diamonds must therefore, be made with full reliance on the integrity and discernment of the jeweler.
