N. D. TEACHERS' CERTIFICATES MADE EASIER

Elaborate Arrangements Have Been Made for Meeting Starting Nov. 12.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 6.—Far-reaching changes in the regulations for teachers' certificates, all designed to increase the number of well trained teachers, were made at the meeting of the state board of education recently held at Bismarck and notice of which reached the superintendent of Schools J. W. Riley this morning.

One important change is that fourth grade certificates (second grade elementary) will be granted without examination to graduates from public high schools located in the United States when covering four years of work above the eighth grade and representing 18 one-year courses, provided they have completed at least one-half year in pedagogy; and third grade certificates (first grade elementary) will be granted to those completing a similar course, provided they have completed one-half year each in pedagogy and psychology and in addition have had eight months of successful teaching.

In case the work in pedagogy and psychology has not been completed, then the applicants will be required to write on these subjects. For those high school graduates attending an institute this fall with a passing grade of 80 or over will be accepted for this one-time in lieu of the examination in pedagogy. It is announced that all applicants for certificates on high school graduation will be required to write on the preliminary papers at their homes. These must be done within two weeks of this examination, and the preliminary papers with the usual fee sent through the county superintendent's office to the state office.

"We hope that you will get in communication with the teachers in your county who can qualify under this new requirement, so that no one will be put to the unnecessary expense of attending the examination," writes State Superintendent N. C. McDonald to County Superintendent Riley.
