REV. SEEMANN DISCOURAGED ABOUT HEALTH

Indigestion Made Life of Minister Miserable; Is Now Like Different Man.

Rev. L. C. Seeman, of the Evangelical Lutheran church, whose address is Fessenden, R. F. D. 1, Wells county, S. D., prominent not only as a minister of the gospel, but popular as a man and a citizen who has been true to his friends and every trust imposed in him, said recently:

"I had a bad form of stomach trouble for three years and was discouraged, as the treatments I tried did not help me. My appetite was poor and the little I ate gave me great discomfort afterwards. My back hurt me a good deal, too. I was nervous and losing vitality right along. It didn't even get much help at first from Tan-lac but fortunately, I persisted and the good results have been far beyond my expectations. I eat what I please, now, and am never troubled with indigestion. I sleep better than I have in years and, in fact, feel quite like a different man than I did before taking this remarkable medicine. I believe it is my duty to tell this experience of mine, as I know there are many who are in need of just such a medicine as Tan-lac proved itself to be in my case."

Dr. H. R. Brush to Head Department in "U" of California.

Dr. H. R. Brush, head of the department of romance languages at the university, has accepted a position with the University of southern California and will take up his work there next fall, according to announcement made at the university today.

The University of California, one of the largest institutions of its kind in the country, has expanded its facilities at Berkeley, Cal., and two years ago took over the Los Angeles Normal college and established it as a part of the university. During that time it has served as a junior college giving work through the sophomore year, but beginning this fall the complete university courses will be given. Three thousand students are expected in attendance at the opening of the next school year and within five years this will probably be increased to an enrollment of from 5,000 to 8,000.

Dr. Brush received word late in April asking him to take charge of the department of romance languages in this southern branch. The opportunity is a large one and represents a considerable financial increase. Dr. Brush will remain at the University of North Dakota during the summer session. He expects to leave for California in September.

Dr. Brush has served as head of the department of romance languages at the state university for eight years, during which time the department has grown from 27 students with one member of the teaching staff to nearly 400 students with four instructors and a student assistant. The increase has been unusually large since the war, conditions following which favored the study of romance languages.

Knights of Columbus Take Steps to Erect New Building Here.

Articles of incorporation for the Grand Forks Knights of Columbus home, with capital stock of $200,000, have been filed with the secretary of state, according to announcement made today.

The incorporators are M. Norman, grand knight of the local council; John E. Nuss, Joseph Mahowald, James V. Rogers, Martin J. Colton, Michael F. Murphy and Daniel O'Connor.

Though a campaign will be started at once to arrange for disposing of shares to members of the Grand Forks council number 1240, no actual selling of shares will take place until next fall, probably after November 1st, officers of the council said today. There are 900 voting members of the Grand Forks council, and the plan is to dispose of shares to these members.

Plans for the building which is to be erected, have been informally taken up by the council, and one or two suitable sites for such a building are being considered, though nothing definite in this regard has been done so far, it was said today.

APPEALED CASE BEFORE COURT

John Leslie Sues For Wages Which He Claims Due Him.

A case being aired in district court today centers about certain wages which John Leslie claims that Mike Seepiak owes him. The matter was threshed out in justice court, but Leslie was not satisfied with the decision, and had the case appealed to the district court.

P. A. McClernan is handling the plaintiff's case. Mr. E. Elton is appearing for Seepiak. The case is expected to occupy the greater part of the time today.

Judge C. M. Cooley, who is presiding, dismissed the jury until 10 o'clock Saturday morning, when the case of English, et al, versus Crosier will be called. Jurymen acting in the case being tried today, were not dismissed, however, and will remain until the action is concluded.

After deliberating for several hours, the jury brought in a verdict Wednesday afternoon in favor of the defendant in the case of W. H. Kelsey versus William Woods. Kelsey sued for $100 commission which he claimed due him on a house sold some time ago by Woods. The jury decided that the commission was not due Mr. Kelsey.

"SQUAD" COMING TO ADJUST CLAIMS OF FORMER SERVICE MEN

The Federal Board for Vocational Education, working in conjunction with the state headquarters of the American Legion of North Dakota, is sending out an "eligibility squad" to conduct examinations of disabled former service men, who may be eligible for assistance under the Vocational Education department.

The "squad" will be in Grand Forks on June 29 and 30, and at that time will conduct examinations for former service men in Grand Forks county, and also in the counties of Pembina, Cavalier and Walsh.

Transportation of men outside of Grand Forks city, who wish to have their cases reviewed while the board is here, will be paid, upon proper application which may be made to officers of the Red Cross, or to officers of the American Legion post.

This campaign is being conducted for the purpose of disposing of every case in North Dakota of ex-service men and women who claim the benefit of vocational training, and arrangements also have been made to take care of compensation claims at the same time. The opportunity for conferring with the "eligibility squad" is open to all ex-service men, whether members of the American Legion or not.

Consider Your Clothes

HAVE you ever stopped to think of the part petroleum plays in converting raw material into the fabrics which are used to make your suit of clothes? From the wool on a sheep's back to the clothes on your back is a long journey and petroleum shortens it at every step.

By machinery lubricated with petroleum, a man may shear from 175 to 200 fleeces a day. By the old method, 50 fleeces would be considered a big day's work.

After leaving the sheep, the wool passes through ten major processes before it is ready for the tailor. Each of these require the use of intricate machinery, having bearings which run at speeds varying from 350 to 12,000 revolutions per minute.

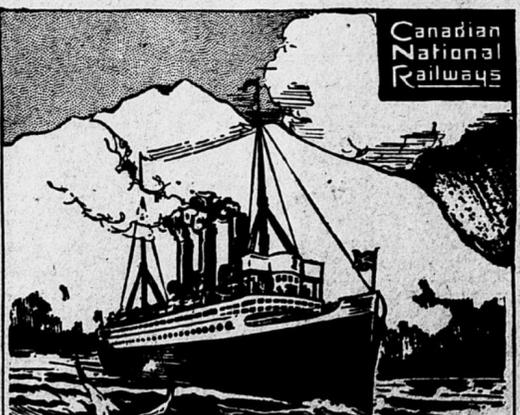

From the clipper to the last finishing machine, a diversity of mechanical conditions exist, each of which has been studied and experimented with, and a lubricant found which meets exactly the needs of the machinery.

In solving these lubricating problems, and manufacturing oils and greases which enable these machines to perform their work, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) always has been among the leaders.

Its staff of carefully trained chemists, refiners, and lubricating engineers are constantly at work, devising new and more efficient means of reducing friction.

This Company computes its success not wholly upon its balance sheets, not wholly upon the number of useful products it manufactures, but rather upon the fact that many of the useful products of petroleum are made from material which otherwise would be wasted, and are made by processes which were evolved in the Company's laboratories.
