The Herald Steam Printing House is not surpassed by any Job Printing office on the Pacific Coast, outside of San Francisco, in facilities for doing job work.

Provincial vs. National Politics.

We confess that the situation in California is such that our interest is centered just now rather on National than State politics. In the State of California the Democratic party, and for that matter, the Republican party, is paralyzed by the general suspicion that corporations and the moneyed power have had entirely too large an influence over party movements.

We have had in California to listen to a fearful amount of provincial ranting about the Potter investigation. Our telegrams told us the story of Blaine, of Maine, standing in the hall of the House of Representatives, which has so often resounded with his eloquence, and remarking that more than one hundred Republican Congressmen were voting against a resolution of inquiry which they wished to see passed.

We have never attempted to conceal our disgust at the aspect of the Constitutional question in the State of California. It is an unwholesome thing when two great political organizations show such fear of the Workingmen as to appear to coalesce to beat them.

Whereas a select committee of this House has been appointed to inquire into certain frauds alleged to have been committed in Florida and Louisiana in November, 1876 in connection with returns of votes for electors for President and Vice President; and

Resolved, That said committee be and it is hereby empowered to inquire into the same in its opinion, testimony thereon of a substantial character shall be presented to it; and be it further some democrats meditate an attack on the Presidential title the mass of the republican side have clearly announced that they freely consent to this design.

The vote was very significant. In the first place, of the Potter committee, only one member, Mr. Blackburn, voted against Mr. Harrison's resolutions. All the others, except three absent, voted for Mr. Harrison, and consequently voted that it is not now in the power of Congress, nor is it the purpose of this House, through said investigation, to annul or attempt to annul the action of the Forty-fourth Congress in settling the Presidency.

Seventy-one democrats voted in favor of Mr. Harrison's resolutions and therefore against reopening the Presidential question, and only fifty voted against Mr. Harrison and presumably in favor of reopening the Presidency, though Mr. Mills, of Texas, who voted "Nay" to-day, was understood, the other day, to stand with Mr. Harrison.

Of the fifty who, by this record, appear to favor the great Presidential title, eleven democrats and two republicans are from Northern States, the remaining thirty-nine are Southern men, and six are from Kentucky, two from Tennessee, two from Texas, two from Missouri, three from Mississippi, one each from West Virginia, Florida, South Carolina and Louisiana, three from Arkansas, seven from Alabama and six from Georgia.

Of the seventy-one who voted with Mr. Harrison, and therefore against reopening the Presidential title, only ten are republicans. Of the sixty-one democrats twenty-four are Northern and thirty-seven Southern men; of the Northern men five are from New York, five from Illinois, three from Pennsylvania and Ohio, the remainder being scattered; of the Southern men, there were four from each of the States of Tennessee, Virginia, Maryland and Missouri, seven from North Carolina, three from Texas, one each from Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi and West Virginia, two from Kentucky.

We have quoted the Herald because it is known to be so fanatically anti-Democratic. The account, of the same tenor, of the New York Sun, is equally long, but we give only the conclusion, as follows: The accounts of the conference held in Foster's room on Thursday night last, at which an effort was made to save Hayes's title by abandoning his friends, has drawn out nearly as many denials as the first account of the Wormly conference, where an agreement was made to secure Hayes's title by abandoning his friends. The Wormly conference is now admitted, and will be proved. It will not be strange if the same thing happens of the last conference. It does appear, however, that some credit will be being present while Hayes was there were not in the room at the same time with Hayes.

It will be seen, from the foregoing extracts, that the Radical journals of the Pacific Coast, from the blatant Chronicle to the sniveling Call, have mistaken their cue, and have been dealing out imbecile and provincial politics. The fact is that the Republicans of the East are beginning to be ashamed of the Presidential fraud, and they are now only anxious to end their disastrous identity with it. They will release themselves from the guilt of being accessories after the fact if they wash their hands outright of the Returning Board President, and they seem sagaciously bent on doing just that thing.

We have never attempted to conceal our disgust at the aspect of the Constitutional question in the State of California. It is an unwholesome thing when two great political organizations show such fear of the Workingmen as to appear to coalesce to beat them. The workingmen really belong in the party of Jefferson and Jackson; and when they are repelled from it, there is something "rotten in Denmark" which will have to be repaired before the Democratic party is again successful in California. Certain Democratic and Republican leaders fancy they have taken the best course to reduce the Workingmen's organization to a political nullity. We have said before, and we reiterate the opinion now, that the old and experienced political organizations have committed a mistake—an emphatic mistake. Neither a man nor a political party ever loses one jot or tittle by manliness or by standing to their colors. When political organizations are deliberately surrendered to their enemies their members sometimes develop a devil may care disposition to help the fun along, irrespective of the result. The best way to have defeated the Workingmen's attempt to get hold of the Constitutional Convention was to have made straightout Democratic and Republican nominations. We may be guilty of a tremendous error in leaning to this opinion; but, after all, we are half inclined to think that, aided by our instincts, we hit the thing between wind and water. We have not yet formed a conclusive opinion, but the way the Constitutional question present itself to us is that the Workingmen have a capital chance of figuring creditably in the poll of the delegates when they are called at Sacramento, and we entertain no doubt in the world that the new Constitution, when formally promulgated and subjected to the ordeal of the referendum—the vote of the people approving or condemning—will be disastrously defeated. If our judgment shall be proven by the issue to be false we shall most penitently utter a "per mea culpa," and confess that there are some things in heaven and earth which are not dreamt of in our philosophy.

Honest John Sherman

WASHINGTON, June 1st.—Before the Potter Committee to-day, Judge Shellabarger, counsel for Sherman, said in reply to a question, that he had no knowledge of Sherman's ever having written such a letter. Butler offered a resolution, which was adopted, providing that the paper identified by Sherman should be produced before the committee and have an opportunity to see it, whereupon Chairman Potter notified Sherman of the action of the committee. A letter was produced, signed by witness, addressed to Weber, stating that Packard was raising hell because of their refusal to protest against the returns in their respective parishes. Revers.

After recess Secretary Sherman appeared and the letter which was claimed by Anderson to be a reply to his letter, was shown to the Secretary, who said: "Mr. Chairman, I believe, upon my responsibility, from the view I have taken, that I never wrote such a letter. If I have written it, it must have been when the Returning Board convened to count the returns and I do not believe I ever wrote this letter. At the same time there are things in this letter I would have written to these or any other men engaged in such occupation, but I don't believe I wrote this letter."

The meaning of the Potter investigation is disclosed by a stupid and evidently fragmentary dispatch which appears in our news columns. Honest John Sherman, in a letter, tells Anderson, of the Louisiana Returning Board, that, as soon after the 4th of March as possible, he will be rewarded by Hayes and himself for the stand he has taken. That is to say, in vulgar English, "Go on in your villainous and Judas-like work, the thirty pieces of silver are ready for you." And they were undoubtedly ready. Office to their hearts' content awaited Anderson and Wells.

Our readers may waver all the spare change they have that the Potter investigation, unlike the Grover investigation conducted by Oliver Perry Morton, will disclose something. Whether or no the Associated Press allows Californians to hear the evidence, in seven days the New York papers will arrive, and we take the contract of keeping our readers advised.

It gives us pleasure to note that Mr. W. E. Shepherd, of the Ventura Signal, has been nominated by the Democracy of that county as a candidate to the Constitutional Convention. Mr. Shepherd is a newspaper man of ability and standing, and we should look to him for sterling work in the event of his election.

NOTWITHSTANDING Republican clamor to the contrary, the Democratic House of Representatives has placed itself solemnly on the record as in favor of investigating any sustained allegation of electoral fraud in any State.

European Cable News. The Groszer Kurfurst Disaster. LONDON, June 1.—It is extremely difficult to obtain exact information about the sinking of the "Groszer Kurfurst." The survivors were taken on board the other iron clad and nobody from either of the three vessels has landed at Folkebone or Dover. All the morning papers give different estimates of the number of lost and saved. The Telegraph reports 167 saved out of a crew of 520. The confusion and conflict of statements yesterday were so great, that the first boat who came ashore, a Folkebone reports that the foundered vessel was the British iron clad "Warrior." An eye witness writes that the "Groszer Kurfurst" was landing the squadron and that the "Koeftler" was following and struck the "Kurfurst" in an effort to wear ship to avoid a merchantman. Twenty-three of the "Kurfurst's" officers were saved. The "Preussen" was some distance astern at the time of the disaster and did not come up in time to assist in the rescue.
