An Insubordinate Lesson.

While the Democracy emerge from the struggle of Tuesday with all the substantial success, we do not feel like claiming the result as a Democratic victory. We confess that it is with a pang that we see so reliable a Democratic State as New York wrenched from the Democratic column.

What is the cause of such a signal defection of reliable Democratic States? We are aware that a number of shallow people are in the habit of sneering at the EXPLANATION because the political views of the editor in many respects are identical with those so ably and trenchantly advocated in the columns of the New York Sun.

With this premise, we have no hesitation in saying, heartily and without reserve, that we share the opinion so frequently advanced in the Sun, that, by the passage by a Democratic Congress of the Burdick and Hartridge resolutions, which recognized the sacredness of Hayes's title, the Democratic party stultified itself and invited the defeat it has met in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

It is worthy of note that in the States where the Republicans simply ignored Hayes, as in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, that party has made large Congressional gains. On the other hand, in Ohio, where the Republicans endorsed Hayes, his title and administration, while they had a plurality on the State ticket of three thousand, the Congressional delegation, which stands in the present Congress twelve Republicans to eight Democrats, will stand in the next House eleven Democrats to nine Republicans, a Republican loss in Ohio alone of three in a division.

The signal triumph of Mr. Conkling in New York this year is very suggestive. He repudiated Hayes with an energy quite equal to that which many Democrats, to their shame be it said, were ready to rally to his defense. In the Rochester Convention of last year, in the Saratoga Convention of this Fall, wherever the head of a Hayes partisan was shown it was baten down out of sight by the Conklingites. The Democratic party entered the contest with a temporizing attitude towards the fraudulent occupant of the White House and with an attitude of almost downright repudiation of Mr. Tilden, dictated by John Kelly; and it encountered, what it justly deserved, a defeat under the circumstances.

The Democratic party must retrace its course, stand on a vantage ground it should never have abandoned, and show a determined front and purpose to the people. The masses will never rally round an organization that does not seem to know its mind.

We think the elections of Tuesday will be pregnant of good to the party. They abound in lessons whose full significance we should learn. They were not in any sense a Democratic disaster, because they leave the party in full possession of the whole power of the government of the United States. We have but to use this precious trust with judgment to put the cap-sheaf of a Presidential victory on our political garnering.

We have too often been deceived by the first telegraphic advices of important elections to attach any importance to the first claims of the Republican managers. Without descending to details, we have carefully scanned the skeleton notes which have reached us, and we are satisfied now as yesterday that the extreme Republican membership of the next House of Representatives will not rise 125, the National Labor and Greenback and National Labor and Greenback and Democratic combinations having a membership ranging from 10 to 16. The Democracy will largely increase their majority over the Republicans, and they will have, besides, a satisfactory working majority over the Republicans and the third party members united.

The telegraphic details of the election are characterized by many absurdities. Amongst the rest "Jimmy O'Brien, who has been elected to Congress from a New York City District by the combined anti-Tammany Democrats and Republicans is set down as a Republican. Mr. O'Brien was simply elected as a Democrat who rejects the authority of John Kelly. A certain number of Democrats and Republicans in New York "pooled" their issues and divided the nominations, the Democrats taking the Mayoralty and other offices and the Republicans the District Attorneyship and their share of the other offices. That the Democracy, through the violent feud in its own ranks, has lost largely in the New York Congressional delegation, is undoubted, but Mr. O'Brien's district is not one of the lost ones. He will form a reliable member of the Democratic majority of the next House. Later intelligence will clear up the facts in regard to a dozen other districts now confused, and we wait for it with a confident belief that it will steadily diminish the Republican Congressmen.

There is one aspect of the late Congressional elections which deserves some attention. It is amongst the possibilities that the next election for President will be thrown into the House of Representatives. This is a very rare occurrence but it is liable to happen once in fifty years or so, and it is just about half a century since the conjuncture last occurred. Elections have so far been held in thirty-seven of the thirty-eight States of the Union, with the result that the Republicans have carried eighteen States and the Democrats eighteen. The Indiana delegation stands six Democrats, six Republicans and one Greenbacker, the latter holding the balance of power. This gentleman would decide how its vote should be cast for President. This invests with great interest the Congressional election which will come off in California next September. Should the Indiana delegation remain a tie, California would have the casting vote. Should California and Indiana vote one Republican and the other Democratic in the event of a Congressional election for President there would be a tie and no election by the House.

The New York Herald's suggestion that Mr. Tilden and Senator Conkling ought to be respectively the Democratic and Republican candidates for Governor of New York next year will encounter but one obstacle, and that is that both Mr. Tilden and Mr. Conkling believe the former to have been elected President of the United States and there would be a gross indecorum in his running for any subordinate office. Should he be alive and in good health, however, there could be no earthly objection to Mr. Tilden, having been cheated out of his first term, running for a second, if the people be then in the humor of vindicating free, elective government.

We think the Constitutional Convention did a very ill-advised thing in declining to adopt Col. Ayer's proposition restricting the trial of libel suits against newspapers to the place in which the alleged offense was committed. While we have an intense contempt for libelous newspapers, a poor and honest journalist can be persecuted with a refinement of cruelty under the present law. However, we hope that the next Legislature may be brought to adopt the principle of Col. Ayer's proposal.

One of the little dodges resorted to by those members of the Constitutional Convention who desire to get the Supreme Court away from Los Angeles is to represent that only a few Los Angeles lawyers are in favor of having the tribunal here. The fact is that all Southern California would resent the withdrawal of the only concession ever made to this end of the State. There is no division of opinion on this subject in any quarter of Southern California.

THE ROBBERY OF THE STEWARTS' VAULT.—The robbery of the Stewart's vault, which was reported to have been perpetrated by a party who had been in the vault, but the robbers do not appear to have hesitated in choosing the right one. The outer casing of cedar was easily broken open and the second or broken coffin was found open, apparently with a large knife. There then remained the oak coffin, which was also broken open. The body was then taken out and placed in some sort of sack, lifted up toward the opening, where there were probably other hands to receive it, and carried to the iron railing around the churoyard. The weight of the body was very great, but it was a question how it was passed over the railing. The work was performed somehow, for all the gates were locked. The body was then probably put into a wagon and driven away. It is worthy of note that no foot marks were found in the churoyard although the surface was soft after the fall of rain and melting snow last evening. It is therefore surmised that the robbers stepped from gravestones to gravestones and thus made their exit, either on Stuyvesant street or Eleventh street. They wrenched the staple of the casket and carried it away with them. On the whole, the indications point to a remarkably bold execution of a carefully conceived plan. Especial care must have been taken to avoid the police for the spot is very open and offers a good chance of concealment. The heads of two policemen were close to the churoyard railings and the two officers ought to meet there constantly throughout the night, but neither of them saw anything to excite their suspicions. Mr. Libby, of the firm of A. T. Stewart & Co., said to-day that the estate of A. T. Stewart will not offer a reward for the recovery of his body. It will give $100,000, if found, for the detection and punishment of the outlaws, but not one cent to them for the return of night amended section—so as to require the Supreme Court to sit at Sacramento. The report is uncompleted and will be presented in a day or two. The Committee on State Institutions to-night considered various propositions. It is probable that they will recommend a provision for the election of a State Prison Commission.

Dividend Declared.—SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7th.—The Standard mine has declared a dividend of one dollar per share.

Money Market.—SAN FRANCISCO, November 7.—Legal tenders, 99 1/2 bid, 99 1/2 asked; Mexican dollars, 84 bid, 80 asked; trade dollars, 98 bid, 80 1/2 asked; half dollars 98 bid, 80 1/2 asked.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 7th.—The following was adopted at a meeting of non-Mormon women of this city to-day: To Mrs. Ruthford B. Hoy's and the Women of the United States: It is now more than thirty years since polygamy was planted on the shores of Great Salt Lake. During these years Congress has utterly failed to enact efficient or enforce existing laws for the abolition of this great crime, and we believe that more of these unlawful and unhalloved alliances have been consummated in the past year than ever before in the history of the Mormon Church. Endowed houses, under the name of Temples, are being erected in different parts of the Territory, costing millions. It is impossible to ascertain the exact number of polygamous marriages for they are concealed in these Endowed Houses, an institution no Gentile is permitted to enter, where brotherhood and sisterhood are sealed and bound by oaths so strong that even apostates will not reveal them, and rather than mention which witnesses on the witness stand unblushingly perjure themselves and jury-men violate all considerations of decency and their oaths. Considering all our surroundings, and that polygamy has never taken such a degrading and debasing form in any nation as in Utah, that it is degrading to man and woman, a curse to children and destructive to the sacred ties of the family, upon which the civilization of the nation depends; that there are things which cannot be repeated or printed, that reduce this system to the lowest form of indecency; that it should be practiced in the name and under the cloak of religion; that an apostate polygamist with four acknowledged wives is permitted to sit in Congress, and only adds to the enormity of the crime until makes it more revolting to our common Christian principles. Our Legislature is composed almost entirely of polygamists who have thrown around polygamy every possible Legislative safeguard. In their power and the right of power has been abolished to break down the distinction between the lawful wife and the concubine. The Mormons are wipily extending into Arizona, Idaho, New Mexico and Wyoming. They have the balance of power in two territories and are without doubt plotting for it in others. We call on the Christian women of the United States to join us in urging Congress to arrest our courts to arrest the further progress of this evil and delay the admission of Utah into statehood until this is accomplished, and we call on you to assist in publishing an appeal. It is our purpose to present your names to the petition designed for Congress, and we hope also that every Minister of the Gospel will commend it to the women of his congregation, and that all Christian associations will do what they can to obtain signatures. With the cordial co-operation and concerted action of the Christian women of our land, we are fully confident that the great evil of polygamy may be abolished.

The Tilden Revenue Tax Case.—NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The case of the U. S. vs. Samuel J. Tilden was to-day. Mr. Sykes, Vice President of the C. and N. W. R. R., appeared but failed to produce the books of the company. He swears that they were not under his control, but that they were in the hands of Chicago. Adjourned till Monday.

Constitutional Convention—Afternoon Session.—SACRAMENTO, Nov. 7.—On reassembling Fawcett presented an amendment to strike out the clause giving a jury the right to determine the law and fact and to insert a provision giving a jury the right to return a general verdict, the same as in other cases. After discussion it was adopted by a vote of 74 to 67. The Committee then rose and the Convention adjourned.

Committee Work.—SACRAMENTO, Nov. 7.—The Committee on Education have completed a partial report, which will be made to-morrow. To-night a section was adopted that the State Board of Education shall recommend a series of text books which may be adopted by local boards or by Supervisors where there are no local Boards of Education. The books shall be in use for four years, during which time there shall be no change. The State Board shall have control of the examination of teachers and certificates.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7th.—A Times Camp Robinson, Nebraska, special says: A courier who has just arrived from the Seventh Cavalry command on Ash Creek states that Little Wolf's trail was discovered yesterday, going South from the head of Ash Creek, in the direction of Running Water. The hostiles are endeavoring to cross the road between Fort Laramie and this post. Four companies of the Third and Seventh Cavalry, Capt. J. F. Simpson commanding, are in full pursuit and will doubtless capture or kill, not however, without loss of life.

A Republican Gained From Florida.—CHICAGO, Nov. 7th.—The Journal's Washington special says: Private advices indicate that the Republicans have carried the Second Florida District, but the fear is expressed that the Democrats will annihilate the returns. In the entire South the Ash Creek states that according to the returns received here, at the Republican headquarters, elected but four Republicans—one in Maryland, one in Virginia, one in Tennessee and one in Florida. There is a far more prospect, however, that one District in North Carolina and one in Louisiana have returned Republicans, which would make a total of six members out of 105.

European Cable News.—LONDON, Nov. 7th.—The Manchester Guardian's London correspondent says that before the plenipotentiaries left Berlin Lord Beaconsfield and Count Suleyev signed a treaty providing that if Russia should try to remain on Turkish territory after May, 1879, England and Austria will insist on her complete withdrawal. If Russia should urge that Turkey is unable to protect Christians, owing to the disturbed state of affairs in Roumelia, England and Austria will furnish a garrison to relieve the Russians. The purport of this treaty was communicated to Russia.

The Budapest Legislature Quelled.—CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 7.—The Budapest Legislature has received a fatal blow by the assassination of Omegar, one of its most influential leaders, by Kara Yusuf, a former leader, who had been disgraced for plundering Omegar's death in process of reorganization that a majority of the leaders dismissed their bands to their homes.
