

Sunbaths.

The Russian press is raising the question of rectifying the Russo-Chinese frontier.

Sweet older, even if just from the press, is condemned by the Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society.

The Russian General Staff has had printed several thousand copies of a new Afghan-Russian dictionary for the use of the Russian officers.

The Frankfurter Zeitung reports a glut of maidens in Frankfurt. Many women are offering their services at nominal wages in order to secure homes.

John Hickey, the Boston billiard expert, is under arrest on a charge of trying to swindle the Old Colony Railroad Company by pretending to be a sufferer from the Wollaston disease.

There are gypsy child stealers off the coast of the stage, and some of them kidnapped a Lowell boy, tied him in their wagon, and were carrying him off, when his cries brought aid.

The German Emperor's physicians have recommended him to spend the winter in Italy, but the Emperor appears determined to return to Berlin and to resume the government in its full scope.

A man was too thoroughly converted in a revival meeting in West Greenwich, Conn. He went home wearing a man's clothes, and his dog, and tried to shoot his father, whom he took for the devil.

It is not the servant girl who is under arrest in Allentown, Pa., for opening her mistress's letters, but exactly the reverse. The servant girl, who is under arrest, is the mistress's daughter, and the mistress yielded to curiosity and read them.

A new bank has been started in Paris under the auspices of M. de Soubeyran, the well-known ex-Sub-Governor of the Credit Foncier. It is to be called the Banque d'Escompte de Paris. The capital is to be $10,000,000, in 100,000 shares of $100 each.

A positive contradiction is given to the statement of a London paper, according to which the King of Denmark's consent to the marriage of Princess Thyra was given on condition only of the Duke of Cumberland abdicating all rights to the Crown of Hanover.

Lighting by Electricity.

Edison, although the best known, is far from being the only man who is applying his brains and ingenuity to the problem of how to utilize electricity for lighting purposes. Hundreds of other busy minds are hard at work on the subject, and there is scarcely a European or Eastern journal which reaches us that does not contain an account of some new system which has received the approval of some high scientific approval, and is backed by means sufficient to test its worth.

In every case, it is true, there is some little hitch. The machinery is not complete, the supply of some improvement, so that the problem is still unsolved, or at least its solution has been practically demonstrated. But when such a close approach is being made in a dozen different directions to the end in view, it is reasonable to suppose that it will soon be reached and a final stop put to the extortions of gas company monopolies.
