Philadelphia Brewery. Beer has a Falstaffian effect, as Henry Weil, the brewer of the Philadelphia Brewery, will testify. Good beer makes muscle and fat, and all the regular patrons of the Philadelphia Brewery are strong and healthy. It makes the sick well and the healthy stronger; physic is unnecessary and doctors are played out, if you use the Philadelphia Beer. Leave orders at the brewery or send them by mail. Delivered free to any part of the city. a24-tf

LOCAL BREVITIES. The Unitarian Thursday promises to be especially attractive this week.

Our handsome and serial friend Gen. Phineas Banning is enjoying a visit from his mother-in-law.

And now the barnyards are vocal with the protests of turkeys destined for to-morrow's dinner.

Mr. Whitney, formerly, one of the proprietors of the St. Charles Hotel, is registered at the Pico Hotel.

Judge Fawcett, of the Santa Barbara District, has been holding Court for Judge Denson at Sacramento.

The Messrs. Parker and Gifford, whom Angeles and San Diegans will remember, are now citizens of Tucson.

Persons in search of employment will do well to consult the advertisement of E. T. Naylor, in our New To-Day.

The announcement of Mr. L. Labory as an independent candidate for Councilman appears in our New To-Day.

The vote next Monday is likely to be light notwithstanding the fact that the contests for Councilmen will be fought fiercely.

T. L. Nesmith, Esq., the President of the San Diego Bank, is registered at the St. Charles. He will go down on the steamer Thursday.

Mr. Henry Horton, of Yuma, has been registered at the St. Charles for some days past. He proposes to take up his residence at Tucson hereafter.

By card elsewhere, it will be seen that Mr. Paolo Ponzo, the artist, has removed his studio to the residence of Mr. A. Coronel, on Alameda street.

James Paul, the man arrested by officer McFadden with the stolen shoes in his possession, was sent to the chain gang for ten days by Judge Peel yesterday.

The regular examination of teachers commences in the room formerly occupied by Arnold's Business College, McDonald Block, Main street, at 9 o'clock this morning.

The channel at Wilmington is steadily deepening. The crossing of the bar by the Ancon the other day is one of those facts which Wilmingtonians point to with pride.

We had the pleasure of meeting our friend Major Ned McDaniel on the streets yesterday. He is looking in superb health and we are glad to welcome him back to his old stamping ground.

The next Unitarian Thursday entertainment falling on Thanksgiving evening, the managers have concluded to prolong the time for dancing so that all may have a full measure of enjoyment.

The Jubilee ball of Park Hose Company No. 1, at Turner Voren Hall, Thanksgiving evening, will be just the place at which to round out the celebration of Thanksgiving day in an enjoyable manner.

From a private dispatch from San Diego we learn that in the match game of base ball yesterday, between the Academy Club of this city and the club of the Bay City, our boys were beaten by a score of 84 to 9.

Angelenos at San Francisco hold on at the 25th: H. J. Carr and wife, The Baldwin; G. H. Bush, Cor. Fore and 1/2; W. Wells and wife, Palace; J. Rogers, Russ House; W. H. Allen, E. L. Alexander, Cosmopolitan.

Butch Gaines, who was arrested a few days ago for assaulting a man named Schultz with a knife and who was indicted by the Grand Jury for assault with a deadly weapon, was tried in the County Court yesterday, and found guilty of simple assault.

John F. Moore, who attempted to set fire to Lankershim & Van Nuy's grain warehouse and who was indicted for arson, in the County Court yesterday, changed his plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to the charge. He will be sentenced on Saturday.

Mr. Paolo Ponzo, the artist, we understand, has ordered a collection of etchings by the old Italian masters, which will be used as models by his pupils in drawing. Mr. Ponzo is a young gentleman of decided talent and we trust his enterprise may be rewarded by liberal patronage.

In the Supreme Court, at Sacramento, on Saturday last, in the case of Johnston vs. Hellman, commonly known as the Board of Public Works case, upon motion of Brunson & Wells for appellant and King on November 20th of a petition for rehearing, ordered that a stay of proceedings be granted until the same is determined.

FELLOW WORKMEN: I thus take the liberty of addressing you through the press from a consistent Workmen's standpoint, knowing that the clamor of the office-seekers and their tools in the party would not allow me to be heard from the platform. All of you who have been the real supporters of the Workmen's movement know that I have been with you from the beginning and you must give me credit for an honest and consistent member of your party up to the present time, both in word and action, as my pure and brain have always gone hand in hand in helping to build up your organization. You must also give me credit for not being an office-seeker, inasmuch as you on the 14th inst., heard me say, at a fall meeting of the Central Club, whilst refusing the nomination for a member of the County Committee that I would not accept an office, neither in the club nor outside of it. Hence, let your present false leaders swallow their own lies when they say that I feel "sore."

Workmen—I mean real Workmen and not the town rascals who live by their wits and who have lately worked their way into our clubs with no other object than to use us as a stepping-stone to the offices of our city government, we are generating from our first love. Look at the meeting on Saturday night last. Judging from the absence of the usual cry of "The Chinamen must go!" one would naturally suppose that we had given John a new lease. But our party has moved into a glass house. Hence it would not be right to throw stones. Surely, if our party is so debilitated, it compels us, to insure success, to fix upon a man who gets up every morning and sits at his table eating his biscuits baked and well seasoned with the essential spice sprinkled from the leprous mouth of a Mongolian, we must be low indeed. But I hear some say that Brother Toberman is a good, generous sort of a man. Yes; and I would not say how generous he is with me once. Three years ago, last summer I was engaged as a practical coal miner, by a coal mine prospecting company, to go to the mountain to inspect what they thought to be a big coal vein. Now, Brother Toberman, the good and generous, was a member of the above company, and he wanted to send myself and another man out to the mountain to look for coal; and, because the best of the company were considerate enough to grant us a few additional luxuries, he indignantly shut out of the company. So much for Brother Toberman's generosity.

I hear some of you boast of some great things done by the ex-Mayor when in office before, but for the life of me, I cannot learn from anyone what those great things were, with the exception of ignorantly dragging the city into the expense of a worse than useless litigation, and the loss of twenty-three thousand dollars into the bargain. If this employer of Chinamen should be elected Mayor, his success will be the growth of his negative qualities, and he will sit in his judgment seat like the man whom Telemachus saw in hell, not for what he had done but for what he has neglected to do.

In the next place, I wish to bring your attention to our new convert, Brother Godfrey. A few years ago this worthy left his native soil a strong Republican and arrived in our city. He looked around him with an eye to business and saw that the Democrats were the strongest party; as a matter of course, he also very conveniently was a Democrat. Two years ago Brother Godfrey elected to the position of a cratic ticket in his present office almost unanimously and thus being on well until the last June election, when we, the working men, defeated him with a great majority. Then this worthy Republican-Democrat began to smell the rat, and he saw that we were becoming a power, and at once commenced to pave his way to the coming Workmen's Convention. He set to work to kick up a quarrel with the Water Company. Now I wish you to understand distinctly that I am not defending the above parties, as they are no friends of mine, neither are any friends of mine, yet I am a friend of consistency, and when I see a man like Mr. Godfrey, changing with every wind that is likely to promote his own interest, I have a right to question his integrity. We have a first-class Republican, then a Democrat as he could profit by it, and now, forsooth, he thinks of retaining his hundred and fifty dollars a month, being a hard working man, smart, very smart. His colleague, the ex-Mayor, and he will make a fine span of wheel horses for our party, with Toberman's Yo Hing sitting on the driving seat, and a band of workmen marching in military form behind the team, crying, "The Chinamen must go," and the wagon crammed full of Chinamen to work on our city improvements.

Fellow workmen, the above picture is our true standing before the public. I am sorry to see such an ignominious result after fifteen months of hard labor to build up our party. As long as we have a business with closed doors and took good care of our ballot box, we did well. But our doors were thrown open for the reception of a swarm of hungry demons, and our honey is all gone. Even new clubs spring up for electorship purposes, with their pets for office, who, after the election, will fall back into their own nothingness. We agreed at our mass-meeting of all the club that no one should vote at our Convention but such as were in good standing. We also agreed that the basis of good standing should be confined to members who had paid their fifty cents initiation fee and signed the pledge. When the so-called Irish Club presented their petition to be examined by the Committee, they showed eight men who had not paid their initiation fee. What is called the First War Club, which has been figuring in print with upwards of a hundred members, showed, but a comparatively small number of eligible voters. Yet, strange to say, they and the Irish Club opened the floodgates of corruption and presented more votes at the nominating Convention than all the club besides. Men that had never been inside of any club, and some that were not even American citizens, were voting on the multi ticket we were offering to the suffrage of the intelligent voters of our city. Twice the numbers were counted, and we had about fifty ballots more than there were men in the hall, and our worthy was seen depositing six tickets in the last at one time. This is the next where in our two new-born Workmen, Toberman and Godfrey, were hatched, to the dishonor of our movement. We had far better men in our own party who, according to our own principles, have more claim upon your attention, and I would have been preferred by the general voters.

In conclusion, I beg that you will excuse me for my somewhat lengthy remarks, as I have written with the best of motives. I am an old man, and have been forty years in harness, fighting the battles of labor and trying to leave the world, when I go hence, better than I have done. My former life has been consistent with the past fifteen months I have spent in helping to build up the Workmen's party in this city and county. I have advised the members of the party, and through the press upon the mismanagement of our past City Fathers. I have given you documentary proofs as to how the city lands have been reeked-squandered, and I have given you figures and locations to show our corrupt and unjust system of assessment, by far more extensively than Col. Godfrey did on Saturday night, as only referred to the property of the three he had quarreled with; but, for his information, I beg to say that, to be a true Workmen, he must have no respect of persons. He will have to admit that he has done his best, which I believe to be the great end of the Workmen's party.

Yours truly, R. HUGHES. November 26, 1878.

Mixed Case of Ownership. Before Judge Peel, yesterday, John Cantlin, charged with grand larceny, entered a bid in $500 for his appearance before the next Grand Jury. It appears that, some months ago, Cantlin, who was going to Arizona, entrusted his trunk, containing some jewelry, to a family named White for safe keeping. During his absence the Whites changed their residence from this city to Los Nietos; but, before leaving, turned the trunk over to Officer McFadden. Cantlin, on his return from Arizona, found that the jewelry had been abstracted. He swore out a search warrant and the assistant district attorney, at the house of the Whites. White made his escape, but Mrs. White was arrested and gave bail for her appearance before the Grand Jury. An indictment was found against her for grand larceny, but when the case was called on the County Court, the other day, she failed to appear and her bail was declared forfeited. Now comes the strange part of the story. When the recovery of the trunk, containing the jewelry, was taken to the headquarters it was recognized as the same style as some that had been stolen from a Mrs. Dayton last Spring, at that time a boarder at a house in Sonoma, in the city. The County Court, at the same time a boarder. Mrs. Dayton, who now lives at Red Rock station, near Mojave, and who was apprised of the discovery, came down here and positively identified the property as hers and caused the arrest of Cantlin, with the result above stated.

An Open Letter to J. R. Toberman. DEAR SIR: I am a voter entitled to cast a ballot at the coming municipal election. My mind is as yet not quite at rest as to whom I shall vote for for Mayor. I do not like Mr. Cohn. To say the least, there are many men in Los Angeles whom I would rather vote for than Mr. Cohn; and I am not altogether certain that you are not one of them.

Before I can settle my question definitely, I generally like to have all the data that I can procure, and therefore take this opportunity of endeavoring to obtain from you information that I have sought for in vain from other sources. In the first place, I wish to know whether you have taken the Workmen's pledge, particularly that portion of it whereby they agree to abstain from voting for or casting a ballot for any political party or affiliating with them in any way whatever?

I have asked several members of the Workmen's clubs whether you have taken the pledge, and I am told by one in positive terms that you have, and then by another in terms equally positive, that you have not. Of course, I don't suppose that you will deny either of them, but I am sure that you are willing that your position should be a firm and decided one; particularly on the non-affiliation and anti-Chinese questions. I should also like to know whether you have taken the pledge, and I am sure that you are willing that your position should be a firm and decided one; particularly on the non-affiliation and anti-Chinese questions.

I should also like to know whether you have taken the pledge, and I am sure that you are willing that your position should be a firm and decided one; particularly on the non-affiliation and anti-Chinese questions.

I am truly yours, CITIZEN.

The Yuma Sentinel of last Saturday says: Hon. H. S. Stevens is due by stage to-day, on his way to Washington. The full vote of the Territory, for delegate, is so different reported that it is difficult to say who is elected. The best information we can get indicates that Stevens is re-elected by a small majority.

We see it stated that the Woolen Mills property has been sold to two practical woolen manufacturers from Merced, who have already brought their families here. The new proprietors intend to repair the mill in thorough repair this week, and as soon as that is accomplished the work of manufacturing will be commenced in earnest. 1800.

Thistleton Convicted. The Jury in the case of Thistleton, who was tried in the County Court on Monday for libel of R. H. Brown, of this city, after having been out all night, yesterday morning brought in the following verdict: People of California vs. Geo. Thistleton: We, the jury, find the defendant guilty of libel as made in law, but not in fact, as charged in the indictment, with recommendation to the leniency of the Court. GEORGE CARSON, For-man. Los Angeles, Nov. 26, 1878.

On the strength of this finding, Thistleton, who had been out on bail for some time, was remanded to the custody of the Sheriff and locked up.

Originally eight indictments for libel were found against Thistleton. One was dropped by the district attorney for prosecution at the request of the complaining witness; one resulted in an acquittal; the third was disposed of as stated above, and five still remain to be heard.

The law which applies to Thistleton's case, as follows: Section 249. Every person who willfully publishes or causes to be published, any libel, is punishable by fine not exceeding $5,000, or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year.

Section 250. The injurious publication is presumed to be malicious if no justifiable motive for making it is shown.

If the other five cases result as the last one did, Thistleton may have an opportunity to serve an apprenticeship of six years to the county.

COURT REPORTS. Tuesday, Nov. 26. People vs. Elias Gaines—Assault with deadly weapon. Verdict of guilty of simple assault.

People vs. John F. Moore—Arson. Plea of not guilty withdrawn and plea of guilty entered. Sentence for November 30th, at ten A. M.

People vs. Rubio—Set for trial Wednesday next at 10 A. M.

People vs. Churchill—Grand larceny—On trial.

Las Bolsas Ranch. (San Francisco Chronicle.) V. C. Julian, Secretary of the California Settlers' Protective Union, organized to combine effort to oppose the encroachment of the United States Government upon the long communication respecting the late stretching of Las Bolsas grant, near Anaheim, in Los Angeles county, over the homes and improvements of over three hundred settlers, embracing more than 12,000 acres of land, covered with houses, barns, orchards, vineyards, gardens, fences and other improvements, and all within the limits irrigated by the waters of the Santa Ana river, one of the richest and most fertile spots in California. Mr. Julian's letter is too long for publication. Epitomizing, it is this: The two Mexican grants, Las Bolsas and Rancho de Santiago de Santa Ana, surveyed by governmental authority, and under which judicial possession was given to the grantees, start from the Pacific Ocean and run mostly parallel to the coast, and extend for an average of about three miles. This intervening land, all under a high state of improvement, has for several years been in the peaceful possession of the settlers, and is now stretched over the line of the westerly line of Rancho de Santa Ana, and thus cover the farms and improvements of the settlers. This survey was approved by the District Court of Los Angeles, about ten years after it was made, and in the matter of approving surveys for patents. Although this was clearly shown to Williamson, and all the papers exhibited to him in proper form, he declined to give the settlers to institute suit in the name of the United States for the correction of the Las Bolsas lines, and patents have been issued to the Mexican grantees for the land. Agents for the United States have commenced to evict from their homes the settlers who have claimed the land under the pre-emption and homestead laws of the United States. If those actions should be sustained, the heads of families, with their wives and little ones, will be turned out upon the public highways, wanderers and vagrants over the earth. Mr. Julian investigates against the United States, and has commenced to institute suit in the name of the United States for the correction of the Las Bolsas lines, and patents have been issued to the Mexican grantees for the land. Rudolph Graves, says the Philadelphia Transcript, had not been married long—not long enough to have become an expert nurse. In fact, this was the first pledge of love that had blessed the Graves union; that Rudolph, with a total failure to regard or recognize the responsibilities incurred, promised to keep for an hour, during his wife's absence, shopping. When she returned, she found Rudolph playing the garden hose over baby. He had tried everything else, he said, to keep it quiet, and this seemed to soothe it.
