LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Herald is the only newspaper in Los Angeles that receives the Associated Press telegraphic dispatches.

Bright's motto is to sell. Regular session of Council this evening.

A. Glassell, Esq., returned from San Francisco overland yesterday.

The steamer Orizaba sails for San Francisco and way ports this evening.

The Turner Rifles will shoot on Sunday afternoon, at the City Gardens, for a gold medal.

Immense stock arriving at Bright's famous cheap store.

There promises to be an unusually large attendance at the Fair this year.

Large numbers of San Diegians, we learn, will be on hand at the Horticultural Fair.

The coast and best appointed billiard room in the city is located at Reid's, St. Charles Hotel.

Dr. J. D. Dunlap, Deputy United States Marshal, got home from San Francisco overland yesterday.

Justice Ross, of the Supreme Court, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday's train from San Francisco.

A number of Chinese vegetable peddlers were arrested by the police yesterday for doing business without license.

The Silverado district is putting on decided signs of life.

A good silver mine in Los Angeles county would put the cap sheet to a prosperous year.

P. Loiseau, who keeps a saloon near the French Hospital, was arraigned before the Mayor yesterday and fined $5 for keeping a disorderly house.

Governor Irwin goes up to San Bernardino to-day and will address the people of that place to-night.

Justice Lawlor yesterday morning rendered a decision in the case of C. White, finding that gentleman guilty of disturbing the peace, for which he imposed a fine of $5.

Bright, the famous cheap store man, has just arrived from the markets with a large stock of goods, bought at reduced figures and will be sold cheap at No. 53 Main street.

There are already ten running horses at the Agricultural Park, besides a number of trotters, in training for the Fair races.

Mr. Joe Hayer, in our New To-day, requests all persons indebted to him to call and settle their accounts, as he leaves in a few days for Tucson, Arizona.

Life members and contributing members of the Horticultural Society can get their season and family tickets to-day at the Society's office, room No. 1, Baker block, from 1 to 5 o'clock.

By a telegram from Sacramento, published in the proper column, it will be seen that the Republican candidates for county offices have concluded to run, the decision of the Supreme Court to the contrary notwithstanding.

We trust that the Agricultural Park portion of the coming Fair will be properly attended to. Los Angeles county has made such a fine record on the up-country tracks lately that the local performance ought to be beyond the average.

We had the pleasure of meeting yesterday Mr. Myron H. Kimball, whose extensive mineral cabinet will be one of the leading attractions of the coming Fair.

The City of Paris store will have a formal opening next Monday, when an immense invoice of new goods will be exposed for the inspection of the public.

As this is the last opportunity we shall have of referring to the matter, we earnestly bespeak for Senator Farley on Monday night a large and representative audience.

It is reported that the dredger now being used in Wilmington Harbor brought up a piece of rock, a few days ago, weighing 1,100 pounds.

The other day a man named Hubbell, while awaiting examination in a Justice's Court, on the charge of obtaining money under false pretences, took advantage of the officer's attention being attracted to something else and slipped

GARFIELD'S PERJURY.

A Clear Statement from Judge Black.

Don't forget it. Bright's, the famous cheap store, is the place. The Southern District Agricultural Society offers a purse of $100 in addition to the fine trumpet displayed in the window of Sweater's jewelry store.

The survey for the railroad from San Diego to the junction of the Atlantic and Pacific line at the Needles commenced yesterday. The several corps of surveyors are now in the field.

Not only the grapes but all kinds of fruits have been very backward this season, owing to the unprecedented cool summer.

By an oversight of the compositor the names of the following Vice-Presidents were omitted from our report of the Irwin meeting yesterday.

In the hurry of transcribing the reporter's notes of Governor Irwin's speech Thursday evening, one line was omitted, by which the debt of the South, under carpet-bag administration, was made one thousand millions.

Owing to the threatening weather the attendance at the Orphans' Fair last night was less than on any night since the opening and the receipts correspondingly light.

The Fair closes to-night, when we hope the attendance and receipts will be of such a character as to convince the Sisters that their good work in behalf of these unfortunate is appreciated by our citizens.

Yesterday afternoon the orphans from the Sisters' Asylum visited the Fair at Turn-Verein Hall.

Justice Lawlor yesterday morning rendered a decision in the case of C. White, finding that gentleman guilty of disturbing the peace, for which he imposed a fine of $5.

GARFIELD'S PERJURY.

A Clear Statement from Judge Black.

EDITOR SUN—Sir: Your questions are entitled to a candid answer. I will not deny that I was once in the city of Los Angeles and gave my reply to each one in the order you put them:

I. Did I mean in my letter to Mr. Blaine that Gen. Garfield acknowledged the receipt of stock and dividends from Oakes Ames? Unquestionably he agreed to take the stock, and did receive dividends upon it.

II. Did I declare to me that he would go before the Poland Committee and testify truly that he had taken the stock? I had no previous conversation with him about his testimony before the Poland Committee, and I did not know what it would be until I heard it delivered.

III. Did I advise and urge him to tell the truth? No; certainly not. Such advice and urgency would have been a most outrageous insult, which I could not offer to any gentleman of his character.

IV. Did he agree to adopt the line of defence suggested by me? You seem to think that I was his counsel. I was not; but, as his friend and a believer in his perfect innocence, I was extremely anxious that he should get safely out of this unfortunate business.

I have already said that he made no agreement about it. His reason for abandoning the true ground of his defence was, doubtless, the necessity he felt himself under of making common cause with his political friends, for whom there was no safe except in a fundamental falsehood.

CHANGING COLOR. A Mulatto Woman Turning White and a White Woman to a Darker Hue. [New York Sun.]

BRIDGEPORT, August 1.—With the exception of an irregularly-shaped dark spot on each cheek, Mrs. Samuel J. P. Miles, of this city, would easily pass for a Caucasian, and any one who would mulatto, as scores of people who have known her all her life are ready to testify.

Mrs. Miles herself is not less distressed than puzzled over the mysterious change. She has repeatedly consulted doctors since it began, to see if the trouble could not be checked, and has been heard to say that she would give $10,000, or any sum she might ever possess, if she could only be restored to her natural color.

Her husband, a full-blooded negro, is a whitewasher and preacher. They have two children whose complexion is of a rather darker shade than that of a mulatto.

Mrs. Miles herself is a pleasant and mild spoken woman, of ladylike and intelligent appearance, and is about thirty years of age. Her hair has a slight tinge, but hardly enough to attract attention. She is very sensitive about the color change she has undergone, and can not easily be induced to talk about it.

"How did the change come out?" the visitor asked. "First," replied Mrs. Miles, "there came out a white spot on one wrist. It kept growing, enlarging so fast that I could not spread from day to day. Soon a spot of the same kind appeared on the other wrist, and both kept extending upwards until they spread completely over my arms and face, except these two spots that you see."

The extension of the spots over these parts of my body took only about two months, but the skin affected has steadily been growing whiter and the dark spots to my face and arms. I have those now left will entirely disappear in time."

Mrs. Miles said that excepting her arms her body below the neck retained its natural color. "I felt badly about the change at first," she went on, "not only because I wanted to keep my color, but because I was afraid that it would affect my health. It hasn't seemed to do this, and the doctors told me that wouldn't seem to explain what caused the change, and did not appear to think they could cure me."

They told me it was some peculiar skin disease they did not know much about, but thought likely it came from my liver."

Several physicians with whom the writer talked said practically the same thing. "The subject isn't treated of much, if at all," the medical books," said he, "and I don't think it has ever been made a matter of special study. About all you can say is that the change is due to some arrest in the color development, caused probably by the failure of the liver to perform its functions properly."

Another case in the city, nearly as remarkable as Mrs. Miles', is that of a white lady, whose skin lately began to change to a decidedly dark hue. She is the wife of the Rev. J. G. Davenport, of the Park street Congregational Church, and the change for a time was occasioned for much anxiety to herself and friends.

She had been in poor health for some time when a liver affection which gives support to the opinion of the doctors that these color changes proceed from something abnormal in the workings of the organ. Mrs. Davenport began to improve in health lately, and the dark spots are disappearing, as the result, probably, of medical treatment and better health.
