correspondence began while Grant was in Mexico. He wrote from there to his friend, Senator John P. Jones of Nevada, criticizing some of the appointments, and approving the position taken by Senator Conkling.

Enclosed to Jones is a letter for the President which was delivered to Mr. Garfield by Senator Jones in person. The President sent a letter, in reply directed to General Grant at the City of Mexico.

General Grant says his letter reached him on the steamer at Vera Cruz on the day of sailing, and that pressing business matters have since occupied his time so completely that it was not until yesterday that he found time to answer the letter.

He says that the President's letter was courteous and friendly in tone, but that in no way changed his opinions on the course of the President in removing from office his friends, Senator Conkling, and Minister Cramer, and in appointing his enemy, Senator Robertson, to be Collector of this port.

These things he considers the result of a deliberate purpose to injure him and his friends. The letter he wrote to the President yesterday replies to Gen. Garfield's letter, and the President is authorized to publish this reply also.

A Look West. NEW YORK, June 22.—Ex-Collector Murphy is continuing his efforts to bring about an amicable understanding between the President and General Grant. He is not so sanguine, however, about reconciling the President and Senator Conkling.

Mr. Murphy tells his friends that just after Mr. Garfield's nomination at Chicago he took Mr. Garfield to General Arthur's rooms to meet Senator Conkling, and that Mr. Garfield waited there four hours for Mr. Conkling, but failed to see him.

General Grant says he will not consent to meet the President until the latter has more satisfactorily explained his course. The presentation of the citizens' purse of $250,000 to General Grant is delayed for a few days at his request.

Whiskering offered a resolution that the convention be adjourned until the next day, but it was rejected. The convention adjourned at 10 o'clock.
