FOR CONGRESS, SIXTH DISTRICT, R. F. DEL VALLE, OF Los Angeles.

Confirmation of Dr. Conger's Charge.

The letter from Dr. Conger, which appears in our local columns, corroborated as it is by the testimony of the Messrs. Turner and Bristol, given over their own signatures, conclusively establishes his allegation that Col. Markham, the Republican nominee for Congress in this district, employed Chinamen on his Oro Grande mine.

In face of such explicit evidence the Colonel can no longer plead ignorance, which, by the way, he has been very careful not to do publicly himself.

He has shown great wisdom in allowing his friends to assume it for him, and we are inclined to think that no amount of persuasion will induce him to deny the charge personally. We now have an amount of accumulated testimony on this point which must carry conviction to the mind of even the most distrustful Republican.

We first have the charge made by Dr. Conger, a Republican and Col. Markham's old business partner, which ran for the Republican nominee for Congress was in favor of the employment of Chinamen at the mines and that he was fully cognizant and consented when they were employed. Corroborative of Dr. Conger's position were letters which appeared in the Herald (which our esteemed contemporary assumed were written in the Herald office) and a letter, over his own signature, which also appeared in the Herald, in the Samuel Lamm, who had been Col. Markham's superintendent of the Oro Grande mine, and who asserts that Col. Markham personally instructed him to employ Chinamen and to cut the miners' wages. Added to this testimony, all of it direct and reputable, we have the statement of the Messrs. Turner and Bristol, that Col. Markham personally directed them to take the Celestials out to the mines.

We have heretofore intimated that Col. Markham had better adjust his canvass at this end of the Sixth Congressional district. As the counties composing it are all more or less mining communities, it will need a general reconstruction all along the line to prevent his defeat from becoming a rout. It may be said in his favor that, coming from Milwaukee, he could not be expected to fully understand our sympathies with the California sentiment as to cutting miners' wages and employing Chinese labor as an older Californian would. If he were not running for office this excuse might have some weight; but he is not only running for office but for Congress, and in the Democratic House of Representatives that we have mainly had to look for remedial legislation. The man who could discharge white miners to make place for Chinamen could scarcely be trusted to resist the influence of the God and Morality of his party. The people, on this most vital of all questions, are willing to take no chances.

Our esteemed contemporary the Express has started in to relieve Mr. Blaine from all responsibility in the matter of the Know Nothing record of the Kansas Free Journal, and in doing so it states correctly that a Mr. John J. Stevens was that gentleman's associate in the ownership of that paper in 1855, when it was so rabidly and prospectively Native American and anti-Catholic in its utterances. This veracious individual claims that Blaine, through his editorial associate, had nothing to do with the editorial utterances of his paper. This is one of the coolest propositions ever ventilated in a newspaper. Every one knows what a modest and unobtrusive man Blaine was in those green and salad days of his early manhood, and how willing he was, as always, to take a back seat. The Plumed Knight probably surrendered his pride and ambition and occupied himself exclusively with the sciences and past, alternating his labors by working off the editorials and cleaning out the typewriters. No doubt, one of the original Big Chiefs in the Native American party, tells the story of Blaine's connection with it, but no such corroboration was needed. The articles themselves bear intrinsic evidence that they emanated from the aggressive and agile brain of the Republican candidate for President. The old legal lion that he who does by another does by himself also comes into play to shake off such sophistry. Our contemporary has a good deal to say about Blaine's early identification with the Republican party. This is true, but it was not until the Democratic party, under the leadership of Gov. Henry A. Wise, had annihilated the Know Nothing party in the ever memorable gubernatorial election in Virginia, which preceded the Presidential election of 1856 that Blaine sloughed off his Know Nothing skin. We have already given copious extracts from these virulent lectures, penned by Blaine, and the Know Nothing literature of the day contained nothing more proscriptive and intolerant than they.

Or the two persons who came forward to shield Col. Markham from the charge of employing Chinamen at the Oro Grande mines one, Mr. R. Williams, is

Justice of the Peace and Postmaster of Pasadena. It is fortunate that his tenure of the former office is about to come to a close, for a strict adherence to the truth is a very desirable thing in such an official. The other, T. F. Lukins, is now running for Justice of the Peace. We are informed that, prior to his publication of the card in the Times, Lukins had an interview with Mr. A. O. Bristol, in which that gentleman made him acquainted with the facts which are recapitulated elsewhere in a communication addressed to the Herald. If the people of Pasadena are wise they will ponder long before electing such a man Justice of the Peace. Love of truth and a spirit of impartiality are not his strong suits.

At no primary ever held in Los Angeles was there as much interest exhibited as in that of yesterday. The knowledge that the men selected by the Democratic County Convention will surely be elected had much to do with the unusual excitement. There was a loyal and hearty but amicable struggle amongst the friends of opposing popular candidates, and this is one of the healthiest signs imaginable. The primary is the pulse of the party, and where it beats strongly there is great vitality in the campaign on that side.

MANY of the doubting Thomas guild of Democrats, if there are any, will feel their hopes revived by reading elsewhere the opinion of Speaker Carlisle on the chances of the ensuing election. He says that he has no certainty that Cleveland and Hendricks will be elected.

BLAINE AS A KNOW-NOTHING. "Ned Buntline," the Boss Know-Nothing Organizer, rises and testifies.

(Special Correspondence of the World.) STAMFORD, Delaware Co., N. Y., Sept. 12.—To a large class of novel readers no person is better known or more widely read than Col. E. Z. C. Judson, or, as he delights to call himself, "Ned Buntline," and though approaching the allotted three score and ten, he still sends out his fictions of the Buffalo Bill order, to a large though not widely-diffused or cultivated constituency. The hero of three wars and literally riddled with bullets, he resolutely declines to be placed on the pension list, and is content to pass the remainder of his days with red and gold at "Eagle's Nest," one of the finest homes in the mountain-environment and surprisingly lovely village. Varied as been his career, no portion of it is as interesting as his connection with the Know-Nothing movement of thirty odd years ago.

Commissioned by the central authorities to repair to Maine and institute lodges, he soon became the head and front of the "Knights" of the dark lanes in that State. Being, as he says, "young, active, vigorous and a somewhat fiery speaker, there is hardly a spot in the land of pine trees he did not visit and hurl his anathemas at foreigners in general and Catholics in particular. Great as was the excitement of the hour he intimated it by his impetuous zeal and in visiting town, village or hamlet, thousands flocked to see and hear the man who was to "destroy Archibald Hughes' power, prevent the Pope from transferring his seat to America and take the ballot from all Catholics, and, in fact, every person of foreign birth." While on his way to speak at Bath his horse was stopped by a person in the dark. "Buntline" drew his revolver, shot and killed the intruder, and then drove on to fill his appointment. This, coupled with the burning of the Catholic churches at Bath and Lewiston, and the outrage inflicted on Father Bapst, who was tarred and feathered and ridden on a rail, only served to inflame the passions of the big game who shouted: "America for Americans only."

The father of almost every Know-Nothing lodge in the State he had ample and particular means of familiarizing himself with the mind of members of that now odious order.

When asked by the writer if it is true that Mr. Blaine was in fellowship with him, he replied: "There can be no doubt of it, and those of us who were active and instrumental in building up that movement in Maine and elsewhere never had any misgivings as to where Mr. Blaine stood. He was with us heart and soul, and there must be at least fifty persons in Portland who could if they would prove what I say."

"Why, when I reached Maine he was among the first of the many people whom I met. He was then young, bright and ambitious for a seat in the Legislature, and, as the record of his whole life proves, ready to serve any cause that he thought would benefit the nation. He was a man of high character and high ability, and I personally organized the 'Guards of Liberty,' a secret military order, which was to serve as an adjunct and protector to the parent society. I was made Commander-in-Chief and had a hundred and fifty thousand members under me, scattered through several States, who were to respond to my call at a given signal. It was our purpose to fight, if need be, to maintain the supremacy of the native element and drive Catholic and foreigners from power. This order was composed exclusively of young men, and that Mr. Blaine was one of the number. I have no sort of doubt whatever."

"After a lapse of thirty years or more, and with all the record of the Kansas Free Journal, and in doing so it states correctly that a Mr. John J. Stevens was that gentleman's associate in the ownership of that paper in 1855, when it was so rabidly and prospectively Native American and anti-Catholic in its utterances. They all do it.

"What is it?" Any man would have guessed the same as Blaine did if he had his chance? That is the answer which Republicans in this city are making to the established case against the Republican candidate for President. We have heard that sort of talk before. "What are you going to do about it?" asked Tweed.

The following testimonial of a certain recent medicine speaks for itself: "Dear Sir—Two months ago my wife could scarcely speak. She had been taken with a 'Life Restorer,' and now she can't speak at all. Please send me two more bottles. I wouldn't be without it."
