change will take place has been greatly expedited by the injurious hostility of the people of Northern California towards their Southern neighbors.

This agents of the Navy Department report that the specimens of steel manufactured in California for the cruiser Charleston compare favorably with the best that can be produced elsewhere.

It would seem as if the purse of Fortunatus is here. Real estate in the city is going up, up, up—and yet at every rise purchasers come forward and plunk down their money and buy, buy, buy. So it is with lands in the country; and as for lots in the new towns started and projected in our valleys and foothills, they are bought with avidity at prices that fairly make the heads of the old-timers swim. A reputable real estate agent assured us a few days since that he had sold $200,000 worth of lots in the previous forty-eight hours. The transfers in the Recorder's office show that there is no diminution in the sales of real estate; but that on the contrary, the tendency is to increased activity.

Mr. T. D. FISHER, the Assistant United States Architect, who came here to open the bids for sites for the Federal building, started away suddenly and unexpectedly for Texas yesterday morning. He had received no formal offers of sites before his departure, so that the only ones that are now officially tendered are the four sent in prior to the opening of the bids. Whoever wants to bid now will have to communicate directly with the Department of the Treasury at Washington. We understand that a movement is on foot to make the tender of a very eligible location to the government. We have not been apprised of the exact point at which this location is situated; but if we were called upon to guess, we would say that it is not many miles from Main and Second.

THE New York Herald has been giving, for some time past, a record of the financial and industrial condition of this country in the several lines of business, and takes a very hopeful view of the situation. The volume of bank exchanges for the first quarter of the year shows a decided gain on the same period of last year, and even New York, which lagged behind, has latterly caught up. The railroad earnings show an improvement of 17 per cent. during the same period, and strikes and lock-outs are less frequent, and the number of men at work is larger than for some time past. The Herald reviews each trade separately and finds it in good condition. Especially is this so of the dry goods trade and the manufacture of iron, than which there are no better barometers of the trade condition of the country. Upon iron are founded all the other leading industries; while the dry goods trade is one of the most important in the country, and marks more or less its prosperity.

Parnell's Indignant Reply. In the House of Commons, Monday night, Parnell and Balfour rose at the same time. Balfour refused to give way, and the Speaker gave him the floor. At the close of his speech, Parnell rose and said that Balfour, with characteristic unfairness, had refused to give way to him at a time when his words would have reached the outside world in ten minutes. [Before the morning reports had gone to press.—Ed.] He craved to refer to the vile, brazened forgery [others from the Irish members] printed in the Times, obviously for no other purpose than to influence the division. He thought he was entitled to have an opportunity to express this deliberate attempt to blacken his character in time to reach the outside world. There was no chance now. In addition to passing this Coercion Act, this diabolical forgery had been loaded. The great organs of public opinion were to be permitted to pay miserable creatures to produce such calumnies, and who would be safe under such circumstances? When he heard of the concoctions in the Times, he supposed that some autograph of his had fallen into the hands of a person for whom it was not intended, but when he saw the letter he saw plainly that the signature was an audacious, unblushing fabrication. He failed to understand how the conductors of the press could be so respectable and yet so ready to publish the forgery. He had no doubt that the forgery bore any resemblance to his autograph, and the Times could have seen the same. He never heard of nor saw any such letter until it appeared in the Times. [Parnell cheers.] Its phrasology was absurd, and its purport preposterous, and every part of it bore evidence of its being a forgery.
