South Riverside "Gem of the Citrus Belt." Phenomenal in Growth and Prosperity.

NOTE CAREFULLY SOME OF THE points in favor of South Riverside as a place for investment, residence or business. It is located about forty miles east of Los Angeles and is situated in the southwest corner of the new Santa Fe line, and at the junction of the new line from Pomona and Elsinore. South Riverside is the natural center of a very fertile fruit-growing and rich mineral section.

The lands are within the great Orange Belt, where can be grown to perfection all kinds of fruits and plants known to Southern California. This large tract is subdivided into lots of five and ten acres, and present prices are much lower than elsewhere for the same grade of soil and for similar conditions. There are three water systems that will furnish an ample supply for irrigation and domestic use. In addition to the general fruit interests, there are many kinds of mineral and clay that will come into use for building, piping, tiling, etc.

White and black sulphur springs, hot and cold, are near the townsite. These springs have long been known and used for their medicinal properties. There are many conditions here most favorable for a leading health and pleasure resort. The smooth rolling mesa land can be irrigated without expense for grading or leveling. There are many miles of rich valley land tributary to this point, making it an important place on the new Santa Fe line, as it has within itself all the elements of successful growth, and, backed by a good surrounding country, it must soon become a place of wonderful beauty and prosperity.

The town proper is unique and inviting. A three mile grand boulevard encircles the place. This smooth, graded avenue will be lined on each side with the choicest plants and trees. From every part of the place the view is most enchanting—lofty mountains, slightly foot hills, verdant valleys. The extent and variety of scenery is unsurpassed.

There is already a large amount of permanent improvement; a fine three-story hotel occupies a central block, the building is modern in design, complete in appointments and will become a delightful resort for health and pleasure seekers. A large block will soon be up which in design and finish would be a credit to any place. A number of costly dwellings are now building and many others contracted to go up in a short time. Ample provision for health of location, fine climate and active business, having the advantage of being a railroad center, near to Los Angeles and within easy reach of mountains and ocean resorts.

Within six months lots and lands here have doubled, in some cases quadrupled in value. The same property will no doubt continue to advance at the same rate for the next six months. Everything gives promise of a growth and increase in values unprecedented in the history of such enterprises.

CATARRH! Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma CONSUMPTION

Together with diseases of the Eye, Ear and Heart, Successfully treated by M. Hilton Williams, M. D., M. C. P. S. O.

No. 275 Main Street, A Few Doors South of the New Postoffice LOS ANGELES, CAL.

All diseases of the respiratory organs treated by the most improved Medicated Inhalations, combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

Over 75,000 cases treated during the past twenty years, in some form of head, throat or lung trouble.

CATARRH

To those who are afflicted with any of the different forms of Catarrh, we would say, there is no disease so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

Over 75,000 cases treated during the past twenty years, in some form of head, throat or lung trouble.

From the earliest symptoms (which are generally attributed to a "cold in the head") to the various ugly and distressing stages through which the disease passes, the patient is hopeful of recovery, and rarely gives it proper attention, until certain alarming symptoms, such as coughing, expectoration, and the rapid advance of the malady to the lungs. Indeed, so early are the symptoms of Catarrh, that the disease is not always known or even suspected, until it has become so advanced that a discharge from the nostrils or throat, or a complaint from the chest, or a frequent and a frequent disposition (especially in the morning) to clear the throat, and the effort to do so, often though not always, attended by expectoration; there is a sensation of heaviness in the frontal part of the head, and the brain sometimes suffers to an extent producing headache, vertigo, and confusion; it becomes difficult to breathe, and the patient's concentration of the mind; the memory becomes impaired and the intellect enfeebled; depression of spirits, and an excited condition of the nervous system. Such is the effect of the disease, and if not treated, it leads to insanity or idiocy; we add many of the more serious symptoms, such as the loss of the voice, or the loss of the hearing, or the loss of the sight, or the loss of the taste, or the loss of the smell, or the loss of the power of the lungs, or the loss of the power of the heart, or the loss of the power of the stomach, or the loss of the power of the liver, or the loss of the power of the blood, or the loss of the power of the system. Every case of Catarrh is curable if properly treated.

Chronic Bronchitis. Acute Bronchitis is an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes, and is one of the most common of the pulmonary diseases. It is a dangerous disease, as it prevents the oxygenation of the blood, and in many cases, particularly after it passes into the chronic stage, the substance of the lungs becomes seriously involved, giving rise to what is very properly called Catarrh of the Lungs. In the acute form there is a sense of tightness or pressure across the chest, with considerable weakness, and a slight fever, and prostration. This is at first a white gurgling cough, which, at a time, becomes purulent. The patient in some cases is obliged to sit up in bed, the oppression across the chest is so great, that the patient cannot prostrate rapidly sets in, and in fatal cases there will be muttering delirium, coma and death.

Chronic Bronchitis is also an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes. When a cold settles on the chest, and is not promptly cured, it often becomes chronic, and is attended by a sense of tightness or pressure across the chest, with considerable weakness, and a slight fever, and prostration. This is at first a white gurgling cough, which, at a time, becomes purulent. The patient in some cases is obliged to sit up in bed, the oppression across the chest is so great, that the patient cannot prostrate rapidly sets in, and in fatal cases there will be muttering delirium, coma and death.
