

DAILY HERALD.

A LIVING MASTODON.

Indians Who Avert That They Have Seen It.

In conversation with D. H. Summers, formerly of Denver, Col., who came out this fall with the first party of miners from Forty-Mile Creek, we learned that the existence of mastodons near the headwaters of White River was not the mere fabrication of the northern furriers, but that the Stick Indians had positively told him that not later than five years ago such an animal had been seen by them.

A Sudden Sensation.

Of chilliness invading the backbone, followed by hot flushes and profuse perspiration. We all know these symptoms, if not by experience, by report. What is the best thing on the program? Quinine? A dangerous remedy, truly. Produces caries of the bones, only affords temporary relief. Is there no substitute? Assuredly, a potent and safe one. Loetter's Stomach Bitters, a certain, speedy means of expelling from the system every trace of the virus of malaria. Use it promptly, persistently.
