San Francisco Grand Jury's Report.

MANY REFORMS RECOMMENDED.

Coleman Makes a Proposition to His Creditors—Big Fire at Lathrop.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the Herald.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—The Grand Jury submitted its final report to-day, after having been hearing evidence since last December. The report urges the need of a new city charter and an amended election law to prevent fraud at the polls. The report says that the San Francisco elections are controlled to a great extent by a league of from twelve to fifteen hundred of the criminal element. The report is severe in its comments upon the methods and records of the local police courts.

In the matter of canvassing the advance election returns, the jurors recommended to the next Legislature, for the prevention of frauds, an amendment of Section 1,537 of the Political Code, as follows: That the ballots be placed in piles according to the respective political parties; that the judges count the tickets of each party, the scratches of each name, and the times each name is written upon the proposing party ticket; that the ballot be then replaced in the ballot-box; that the figures thus obtained be given to the public, after which the regular count may proceed without any attempt on the part of the election officers to figure out the results. Such a course would not only prevent fraud, but give speedy and reliable advance returns.

The jurors deplore prize-fight exhibitions in club rooms and elsewhere, as well as the fact that many respectable citizens give such events substantial assistance, thereby ending in educating men and boys to a low standard. Speaking of Chinatown, the report says: Its gambling dens, its brothels and its opium joints flourish in spite of our police, and its inhabitants live in foul kennels, in which the visitor with their unbearable stenches. The Chinese have a complete system by which they notify those following illegal occupations of the action of the courts and approach of the police. This vile spot should seriously engage the attention of the Board of Health.

THE COLEMAN DIVIDEND.

W. T. Coleman Offers to Pay Forty Cents on the Dollar.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—It was learned to-day that Wm. T. Coleman, of the suspended mercantile firm of Wm. T. Coleman & Co., communicated with his creditors on Saturday last, offering to pay 40 cents on the dollar of his indebtedness, 10 per cent to be paid in cash, the balance in equal payments at one, two and three years from the date of the first payment. Furthermore, a division was to be made whenever five per cent of the indebtedness is on hand, irrespective of time. The schedule filed two months ago shows total liabilities of $2,919,993. The assets were first thought to greatly exceed this amount, but it is now known they had been over estimated, and Mr. Coleman's assignees give it as their opinion that forty cents on the dollar is as much as he can possibly pay. They believe his proposition will be accepted by his creditors, though as the latter are somewhat scattered, some weeks may previously elapse and that firm may yet resume business.

A SMOKER DID IT.

The Lathrop Fire-Depot and Other Property Burned.

LATHROP, Cal., July 23.—This afternoon the Southern Pacific depot caught fire, presumably from some one carelessly casting away a cigarette or cigar. In half an hour the depot was consumed. Wells, Fargo & Co. saved nearly everything. The Southern Pacific Company's loss is about $40,000. Stockpots & Lincoln's loss is unknown at present, but they were well insured. One freight car loaded with ties was burned and a large supply of other railroad material was totally destroyed. There were no water facilities. There were several narrow escapes from burning by individuals. All trains were delayed about five hours.

Drowned While Bathing.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 23.—Geo. Hibbard and Frank Smith, aged seventeen and nineteen years, sons of George L. Hibbard, a pioneer merchant of this city, were drowned in the Willamette yesterday afternoon. The bodies were recovered to-day. The boys were bathing in the river and were evidently alone when they met their death.

ANOTHER VICTIM.

STOCKTON, July 23.—John Murphy, 13 years old, was drowned in San Joaquin river yesterday while bathing. At the suggestion of an onlooker Murphy and another boy had been ducking each other. During the sport Murphy ventured beyond his depth and was carried away by the current. The body was recovered this morning three miles and a half from the scene of the drowning.

Population Homeless.

ELENSBURG, W. T., July 23.—Fire yesterday destroyed a coal mining town, twenty-eight miles from Ellensburg. The entire population of 1,300 is homeless. The wind was blowing at the time and the town being without fire apparatus, nothing was saved. Relief was sent from Ellensburg last night. Provisions and clothing were sent this morning. About thirty-five houses were burned. Nothing is left but the coal company's office and depot. No insurance; loss half a million.

Artillery Moving.

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., July 23.—Light Battery K, First United States Artillery, arrived this morning and exchanged at San Anselmo. They leave for San Francisco to-morrow morning.

The Lamp Was Upset.

MODESTO, Cal., July 23.—The residence of J. E. Hays was burned early this morning, caused by the overturning of a lamp. Loss, $5,000; insurance, $600.

Carlisle Causes Consternation.

ATLANTA, July 23.—The declaration of Speaker Carlisle to speak at the Piedmont Chautauqua, after having accepted an invitation to do so, and with the Atlanta committee of escort already in Washington, creates considerable consternation among the Chautauqua authorities. Carlisle, Mills and Breckinridge had been extensively advertised to speak. The refusal is likely to create bitterness. Efforts are being made to induce Carlisle to reconsider his declaration.

BOYS IN BLUE.

Events at Camp Terrill—A Court-Martial—Officers' Ball.

SAN JOSE, July 23.—This was a quiet day at Camp Terrill; but few visitors were present during the afternoon until dress parade at 5 p. m. Colonel Dyckinson, though still suffering with a sore neck, commanded the regiment during the battalion drill. This morning a court-martial composed of Captains H. S. Bush, G. R. Birdick and R. H. Marshall, and Lieutenants H. H. Woodruff, F. J. Warten, M. W. Burts and J. H. Storey, was appointed to sit during the encampment. J. H. Storey was chosen Judge Advocate. Private Wm. H. Kelly, of company D, was tried for conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline, and sentenced to be discharged. His sentence was commuted on account of previous good conduct to twenty-four hours additional arrest and confinement to camp for the rest of the stay.

A grand ball for the officers was held at Turn Verein Hall to-night. The division officers, Gen. W. H. Dimond, Col. M. H. Hecht, Col. Z. P. Clark, Colonel J. W. Staples, Colonel Horace Platt, and Major George Whittle, came down to attend the ball and visit the encampment. The privates also had a dance in the pavilion near the camp. The camp has been gaily decorated for the regimental reception to-morrow night.

FRIENDS TO THE RESCUE.

Settlers Vigorously Fighting the Maxwell Grant.

TRINIDAD, Col., July 23.—Information reached here this evening that about noon to-day 100 settlers rode to the ranch of George Blosser, near Raton, and reinstated him in the possession of his ranch, which during the absence of the family from home had been turned over to a representative of the Maxwell Grant. This Grant is taking vigorous measures to dispossess the settlers. The settlers vow they will not give up until the Private Land Claims Committee of the lower House of Congress shall say whether or not the ruling of Secretary of the Interior Cox, in 1869, declaring these lands a part of the public domain, has the force of law or not. Great excitement prevails, and personal violence is feared.

DISRUPTED.

The Oro Fino Club Members Disagree.

WHO PAID FOR THE FURNITURE?

The Bolters Assemble and the Moore Faction Packs the Meeting and Carries its Point.

There was a partial eclipse of the Oro Fino Club last night, rather discounting in gloom and general unpleasantness the performance given by Luna the night before. If the meeting which took place in Justice Austin's court-room had been made up of Democrats instead of enthusiastic members of the "party of great moral ideas," it would probably be called a "howling mob of the unwashed," or some such name, by the Republican papers.

The Oro Fino Club is generally supposed to meet in rooms on First street, where hangs a gaudy campaign banner. Mr. Walter S. Moore serves as its President when he is not dancing a clog-dance on some primary ballot-box. Any one who climbed the dark stairs and penetrated to the regular rooms of the club last evening found no one there except Mr. Niles and Mr. Fehnmann, two of the men who were arrested for complicity in the breaking of the ballot-box. The rest of the club were holding an indignation meeting in the neighborhood of the police station. The location was wisely taken.

The meeting was called to order about 8:30 by Vice-President A. Montano. He stated that a number of members of the Oro Fino Club had asked that a meeting be called to take action upon the outrageous conduct of some of its members. A temporary secretary was appointed, and then the show began.

Mr. Benjamin, who is the attorney for Mr. Moore's henchmen in their appointment with the police authorities which is to come to-day, opened the performance with the very pertinent inquiry of "What are we here for?" Since Flannagan asked that question at Chicago four years ago, it has often been asked at Republican meetings, but it never was more unsatisfactorily answered than last night. At the end, there were not ten men in the room who could have told what had been done or for what reason they were there.

In answer to Mr. Benjamin's question, Mr. Kelly handed in a series of resolutions, reeking with long words and legal phrases. On the third reading it began to dawn on the meeting what they meant: that the club, or the part of it assembled there, denounced the proceedings in the Fourth Ward on Saturday to-day. The resolutions were laid to rest by Mr. Kelly, who was proposed that a committee be appointed to investigate the matter and to report on the advisability of abandoning the club.

The Chairman proposed that before any action be taken in the matter, Niles and Fehnmann be sent for and heard in their own defense. The Secretary of the meeting thereupon jumped up and waving his arms wildly, shrieked out that he would not listen to them. Later on he forgot about this resolution long enough to submit quite peaceably to being called a "liar" and "no gentleman" by those individuals when they arrived.

Mr. De Las Casas made a very inflammatory speech about instantly withdrawing from the club, for which he was heartily hissed. "Hold on, boys!" cried the Chairman. "No hissing!" Remember, we are all gentlemen!

One of the "gentlemen" in the back part began to make a speech, which soon revealed the fact that he was very full. During the rest of the evening he contributed a lively comedy element to the performance by jumping up at the wrong time and proposing impossible points of order. It took all the spare time of two active members to hold him down. The resolutions were read and discussed separately, and the first one, which merely denounced the perpetrators of the outrage was adopted.

It was moved by Mr. McAllister and carried unanimously that a committee of five be appointed to investigate the charges which had been brought against members of the Oro Fino Club, and to report thereon at a meeting to be held at some future time.

The chair undertook to appoint this committee, but could find no one who was willing to serve except Mr. McAllister. He was still engaged in searching for the other four, when a stampede of the element of the meeting which had advised the withdrawal from the club took place. At a preconceived signal they got up and bolted into the anti-room. The door was locked, and they held a caucus by themselves. An orator on the outside mounted a chair, and declared that the bolters proposed to break up the meeting and reorganize when the Moore faction had left the hall.

The scheme was a failure. The other crowd staid by and sent over to the regular hall for reinforcements. When the bolters came out of their secret caucus, the complexion of affairs had changed, and the Moore crowd were overwhelmed in the ascendancy. When Niles and Fehnmann entered the room they were greeted with a cheer that showed that the sympathies of a great majority of the club were with them.

The ballot-box prestidigitators then began to carry the war into the enemy's country. Instead of being denounced, they denounced the others. They made speeches triumphantly clearing themselves, and showing that they were the real Oro Finos, and the others only a base alloy, a pinch-beek imitation.

Mr. Niles came out strong on the principal question, and narrated some interesting facts. "Who had paid for the furniture in the club rooms and footed the bills for all political performances thus far? Walter Moore and his friends. Who were these bullies? They had no standing either in the club or the party. They were nobody!"

The alleged "respectable element" sat silent and discomfited. A temporary diversion was created in their favor by an epileptic fit, done by a young man by the name of Wells. He was carried into the anti-room and restored to consciousness. The meeting went on, entirely now in the hands of the Moore men.

Fehnmann said that the Oro Fino Club had determined not to stand idly by and see the "bosses," consisting of Gen. H. H. Boyce and Messrs. Gosper, Payne and Cornell, run the election. He had been sent to the Fourth Ward to see fair play, and he found there was none for any ticket but the caucus ticket. No man could vote except he voted the caucus ticket and when a number of honest voters appeared to vote the opposition ticket, who ordered the polls closed but the "boss," General Boyce, and that, too, ten minutes before it was time. At General Boyce's order the Judge McMillin, illegally took the ballot-box under his arm and ran away with it up the stairs. "Who is to blame that there was no election in the Fourth Ward? Boyce, Payne and Gosper."

Benjamin then took the floor and related how the "bosses" had tried to fool the colored men, and how he had detected them in the act of scratching off the names of the colored candidates when they had promised to support them. It was then that he had turned and worked against the caucus ticket.

The end was a row. Mr. Niles, after taunting the would-be bolters with never having paid any dues, moved that the crowd which had opposed Moore in his performances on last Saturday be denounced.

The Chairman refused to put the motion. It was pushed, and would have been carried by an overwhelming majority, had not the bolters broken up the meeting by rushing for the door and calling out "adjourn." The Chairman left his position, and with a cheer for Harrison and Morton, and another for Walter S. Moore's friends, the mob poured out of the room.

THE UNIVERSITY.

The Beautiful Year-Book of This Flourishing Institution.

The University of Southern California has just issued its Year-Book for the current school year of 1887-8. This publication contains cuts of the several college buildings, the names of the faculties; those of the students; the studies pursued each year in the various departments, and much other information of great value to parents having children to educate. The curriculum embraces a very liberal course of study. There are colleges of Literature, of Free Arts, of Medicine, of Music, of Theology, and of Agriculture. There are also preparatory schools in various parts of South California, all connected with the fountain head here in Los Angeles. The list of students in the several schools indicate that the institution is very prosperous. The book is typographically very artistic, and in this respect no office in San Francisco could turn out a job of work of a higher style of workmanship. After this it is perhaps needless to say that it bears the imprimatur of the HERALD office.

"Wonderland."

The wife of the editor of the Shreveport Times has been spending some time in Los Angeles. She thus writes to that journal: "I cannot begin to tell you anything of the wonders of this wonderful country. Even my anticipations have been more than realized. It is entirely unlike anything I ever saw or dreamed of. This city is wonderfully beautiful, though to me it is nothing compared with the grand and picturesque scenery of the surrounding country, of which only a poet's pen or a painter's pencil could give you a conception."

All here are exceedingly kind and seem determined to do everything for my pleasure; and the only thing that mars my complete happiness is that you"—etc., etc.

"To-morrow we will go to Pasadena by special invitation of Lillie Jacobs. Her apricots, peaches and other fruits are in their prime, and she wishes, she says, for me to enjoy them just from the trees in all their perfection. Of course, I will see Mrs. Thurmond, Dr. Billin's daughter, and other Shreveport people there. Thursday we will run down to Long Beach and take a peep at the ocean—the grand old ocean; just think of it! But as there are no "wild waves" on the Pacific I can never tell you what they are saying, or would say."

The Columbus Exhibit.

The joint committee upon the project to forward to Columbus, Ohio, an exhibit of the agricultural wealth of Southern California met yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Board of Trade. Everything was reported to be in an encouraging shape, and the minor details for taking care of the exhibit were arranged satisfactorily.

SIZE AND SPEED.

Largest Passenger Steamer in the World.

LONDON, July 23.—The new Inman Line steamer, City of New York, has completed her trial trip. She is the largest passenger ship in the world, being fourteen feet longer than the City of Rome. She is built almost on the lines of a yacht, and has enormous engines to develop extraordinary power. It is anticipated that she will reduce the Atlantic voyage to a little over six days. She was tried for speed at short intervals several times, and each time made twenty-five miles per hour, under limited propulsion. The allowed speed will be diminished to the extent of only one-fourth the maximum. The new steamer is lavishly furnished with life-saving apparatus and is fitted and constructed with a view to use as a Government cruiser in the event of war. On her first voyage she will take out Blaine and the members of his family, who have been touring in England.
