ABOUT THE CITY.

Work to be Commenced on the Pine Street Route. The company left the matter open as long as possible, so that the people interested in the Briswalter route could give their route if they wanted to, but as they showed no signs of coming to terms, Mr. Lunt telegraphed yesterday to Vice-President Towne for instructions, and in reply came the order to commence construction. It has leaked out, however, that if the Briswalter people choose to make a rally to-day and concede the right of way, the grading outfit will be removed from Pine street to their tract. The deeds conveying the Pine-street property to the Pacific Improvement Co., virtually the Southern Pacific, were filed yesterday, although this was only a coincidence, for they have been in the hands of Judge Bicknell, the company's lawyer, for some ten days past. It is stated that the working force will be increased to 100 men by Monday next, and that the connection will be made and the last spike driven a week from Saturday. The work of transferring the offices will then commence and by the 1st of March the Wolfskill depot will be in full running order. The electricians are now putting in the extra lights in the arcade that were found to be necessary at the experimental test on Sunday last.

STREET PAVING. Labor-Saving Methods Used On Upper Main Street. Large quantities of stone from South Riverside are now being hauled to the city for paving purposes, and, in connection with it, some ingenious labor-saving devices are used. In the first place, the usual method of transporting stone from quarries is by loading it into wagons and then reloading on to railroad flat-cars, that is, unless a spur track runs right into the heart of the quarry. These contractors, however, have special wagon-boxes, each of which will hold 2 yards of stone, and, on reaching the railroad, the wagon beds are lifted, by means of huge cranes, on to the flat-cars, six of them constituting a carload. On arrival here they are unloaded in a similar manner at the way-track, between First and Aliso streets, skeleton wagons being in waiting, on to which the beds are transferred and then hauled up town. At Upper Main street, where the work is going on, the wagon is unloaded, and here another device steps in, for the whole affair can be handled by one man. The wagon-bed is made of a number of cross-slats, and the unloader, starting in at the tail of the wagon, removes one at a time and the load falls to the ground. The stone is then crushed and put down and, as it is of porphyrous formation, it is admirably adapted for road purposes, as it will not wear out as does sandy rock or limestone. In connection with the work a novel method of evening the surface is employed. The usual manner is by means of a large steam-roller, but in this case a large water tank, drawn by six horses is employed. When the work is completed the water can be run off and the empty tank hauled to the next scene of labor by one horse, instead of entailing the cost of transporting a steam-roller from place to place.

AMUSEMENTS.

Kiralfy's Girls the Sensation of the Hour. The Grand Opera House continues to be filled nightly by the people of Los Angeles, who do not seem capable of being satisfied with seeing the Black Crook as presented by Inure Kiralfy's company. The beautiful scenery, the pretty girls in their glittering splendors, and the fine line of specialties hold the popular heart with a firm hold.

Carleton Opera Company. Sale of seats for the Carleton Opera Company opened at the Grand Opera House yesterday and the take was quite large. Recently in Chicago the Carleton, McCaull and New York Casino Opera Companies all opened simultaneously, and each presenting a new opera, and the Chicago Times had the following: "In the tripartite operatic engagement of the past week three comic operas not before seen here have come together. In most respects Myrhaer Jan, given by the Carleton Company, which is by far the best singing Company of the three, is musically better than either of the others. The only principal singer presented by either of the companies is Miss Clara Lane of the Carleton company, and she goes about her work in a way to show that she has a good natural voice, and has been very well trained. She keeps closely to the key, an accomplishment which the leading female singers in the other two companies have not attained. Mr. Carleton himself maintains his old high reputation as a singer and as an opera disciplinarian. This places the Carleton Opera Company as the leading organization of America."

K. of L. Entertainment. Local Assembly 7,647 K. of L. gave a very enjoyable entertainment at Good Templars' Hall last evening. The proceedings were opened by Mr. A. E. Street, who welcomed those present. The following programme was then well rendered:

Address by Mr. Dockweiler on "Society." Song..... Henry Harding Reading..... Mrs. T. Vernon Song..... Mrs. T. Vernon Recitation..... Miss Beckwith Song..... Mrs. Geo. Feller Recitation..... Miss Beckwith Recitation..... Miss Beckwith Vocal Duet..... E. C. Homes and Mr. Parker Violin and Piano Duo..... Messrs. Ellison and Piro Song, with guitar accompaniment..... Messrs. Holmes and Parker Piano Solo..... Mr. Hodson

The entertainment wound up with a social hop. A similar meeting will be held on the third Thursday evening of each month, at the same place.

The Ostriches. Mr. Beauchamp, of the Kenilworth Ostrich Farm, was in town yesterday, and when asked how the birds were getting along, said that the weather had been rather cold for them at the foothill ranch lately. For some mornings the thermometer registered 14 degrees of frost, but it has warmed up considerably recently, for yesterday only 2 degrees were shown. This comparatively low temperature has had, it is feared, a bad effect on the eggs, and if they do not show signs of breaking shortly, Mr. Beauchamp will discard them and pluck the birds. The plucking has been very fine this year, and the ostriches are all being remarkably healthy and evidently flourish as well as on their native heath in South Africa. Several letters from circus men have lately been received regarding the obtaining of birds for show purposes.

Held to Answer. Robert Levine, the keeper of the Exchange Saloon, under the new United States Hotel, who is charged with the crime of arson, has been undergoing examination before Justice Austin during the last three days. The testimony was finished yesterday, and the case argued by the lawyers. The Court held the defendant to answer to the charge in the Superior Court, on bail of $7,500. This is something of an increase from the original bail, which was $2,000. The evidence, though circumstantial, appears to be very complete. The defendant was unable to secure bail, and was committed.

The "Tribune" Difficulty. Judge Van Dyke yesterday morning denied the application of Colonel Eastman to have a receiver appointed to take charge of the business of the Tribune Publishing Company. He stated that the court had no authority to appoint a receiver under the circumstances and said that there were other remedies if the books of a corporation were not properly kept.

A Collision. Quite an exciting collision occurred on Commercial street yesterday evening between a beer wagon and a buggy. The two vehicles were proceeding leisurely toward each other when a Chinaman set off a bunch of fire-crackers. The noise startled both teams and they ran together with great violence. The two men in the beer wagon flew in the air over the buggy, and the driver of the buggy flew after his horse, which tried to dash away up the street. None of the men were injured, but the buggy and wagon were demolished.
