THE SISTERS' FAIR. It Opens With a Very At-tractive Display. THE BOOTHS AND THEIR KEEPERS. Not a Very Good Attendance--Music and Dancing--The Open-ing Address.

The Sisters' Fair opened last night at Armory Hall. It is given under the auspices of the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart for the benefit of their school on Pico Heights. These good ladies have been at work for some time making preparations for this event, and the results attained in the tasteful arrangement of the booths and the decoration of the hall are quite all that could be asked.

The President of the Executive Committee is Mrs. General A. E. McDonald, and she and her fellow-workers were busy all day yesterday getting things in shape for the opening in the evening. Among those who should be mentioned as doing active work both in the preparation and in the entertainment last evening are A. C. Golsh, Miss Belle Del Valle, of Camulose; Agnes Wilson, Rachael Happ, John Clancy, Victor Ponet, Andrew Mullen and Miss Alexander, of the Dominguez ranch.

On the left side of the hall just beyond the entrance there is a table bearing 150 pieces of china donated by Mrs. Griffith which will be raffled off. The table is in charge of Mrs. Warrell, and the tickets are being sold by a number of young ladies on the floor.

Next to this booth is the fish pond, where any one may angle with a long pole that is provided, and get something either of use or ornament on his hook. Mrs. Chalmers has charge of this, assisted by Misses Annie Lindendorf and Hattie Lindendorf. Mrs. Dawley and Misses Sarah, Barrock and Callaghan.

Mr. Nordhott who recently returned from an European trip, brought with him a piece of the Blarney stone. This stone, as will be remembered by every one who has read Irish stories, is situated in the Emerald Isle, and is supposed to bestow upon the young man who kisses it the power of saying just the right thing to the fair sex. The piece which Mr. Nordhott secured is now at the fair, and is in charge of him and Mr. J. Coffield.

Next comes the flower booth which is in charge of Mrs. D. Desmond, assisted by the Misses Desmond. Then there is a lottery booth in which there are dolls, cushions, silk hats, etc.; they will be raffled off to those who are lucky enough to hold the right tickets. Miss Eliza Coyle, Miss Louisa Chevalier and Miss Dora Matfield have charge of the booth. The Gypsy booth which comes next has a number of young ladies attired in appropriate costumes. They will tell the fortune of anyone who will cross their palms with silver. Their names are Miss Gerrie Reeve, Mrs. R. J. Reeve and the Misses Sadie Simmons, Katie Simmons, E. Hupp, Birmingham, Fortman and Alice King. Here there is a large oil painting by the Rev. Father Tanqueray of Wilmington. It will be raffled off.

Across the hall is the ice palace where soda water is dispensed by Hattie May Lindendorf, Manette Capitan, Jennie and Marie McCarthy, May Kiffell and May and Carrie Mulroy.

The music booth is in charge of Prof Gardner, and here musical instruments will be sold. There is a wheel of fortune on which various articles of value will be placed. It is then set in motion and stopped at a certain point by the individual who puts up a small fee. It is managed by Misses Nora and Katie Niemeyer, assisted by Miss Florence Williams and others.

Miss Fitzgerald, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Grant, Miss Grottel, the Misses Maloney and O'Leary have charge of the candy booth, where an abundance of sweets are on sale. At the fancy table there is displayed a choice variety of fine work done by the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart. There are fire screens, cushions, silk plush table spreads, table scarfs, baby robes, lunch sets, table cloths, napkins and many other articles of virtu. A $25 parrot and a $75 parlor rug have been donated to the fair. There is also a number of pieces of silverware, knives, forks, etc. The ladies in charge are: Mrs. General A. A. McDonald, Mrs. E. Drury and Mrs. T. Reynolds, assisted by Mrs. Dr. Reed, Miss McGill, Miss Lettie McDonald, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. J. M. Taylor, Miss Kate McCarthy and Mrs. Dr. McDonald.

At the right hand corner of the entrance is the ice-cream booth which is elegantly decorated. It is in charge of Miss Maria Reyes Dominguez and Mrs. Walter Maxwell, assisted by Mrs. John Kenally and the Misses F. Alexander, Desmond, Devin and Leta Maxwell.

Of course there is a postoffice, where letters are provided for all who apply and are willing to pay the postage. Mrs. Dr. Kannon is the postmistress. She is assisted by Miss Edith Reeve and several others.

The hat and cloak stand at the right of the entrance is in charge of Miss Tudy Warde and Miss Supleny.

Up in the gallery a lunch will be served every day from 11 to 2. It is an excellent business lunch which is set before one for the small sum of twenty-five cents. This department is presided over by Mrs. M. A. de'Reilly and Mrs. Jeanne, assisted by Mrs. G. Straub, Mrs. Quinn, Mrs. Redmond, Mrs. Johnson, Misses Paulina and Josie Mesa, Misses M. Sanford, Ter-a-Tos, Magdalena and Mariana Etchemendy.

The fair had its formal opening last evening at 8 o'clock. A good many were in attendance and toward the end of the evening the young people who were present indulged in a dance.

The fair was opened by the Rev. Father Scanlon. The reverend speaker said that when he came to plead the cause of the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart of Mary he came to plead the cause of education. "They were conducting various schools throughout the diocese, giving practical proof of their ability and efficiency in the instruction of the young. In Los Angeles they had a large attendance in their school rooms, so large in fact that more ample accommodations had become necessary. For this purpose they are now building a new convent which they are to make their home, and where they will also conduct a boarding school. It was in the education of these children that these good Sisters were expending their time and energies. Man needs a training and an education to bring him to maturity and unfold those high gifts and faculties which have fallen to his share--that intellect which makes him like the angels, that heart which elevates him towards God which self, those affections of selfishness, or by education be made to expand over a broad area of sympathy, charity and philanthropy towards his fellow man. It was such an education the Sisters were imparting to youth, an education which not only forms clear judgment for the purposes of life, but teaches them the way of virtue in which they should walk; which not only teaches them human knowledge, but the knowledge of God and obedience to His laws. It is such an education that reveals to man his external destiny, and makes him understand that having been created to the image and likeness of God, he should live in this world after the manner his Creator has prescribed, in order to attain the end for which he was put into this world. It is such an education that opens to youthful minds the love of that Savior of the human race, who descended from heaven to earth in the form of a man, because a child for their sakes living in obedience, patience and resignation till He suffered and died out of pure love for them. You are called upon this evening to make some sacrifices to secure this education for your children. It is not often those good Sisters tax your generosity. They take the honor of His church and the welfare of the rising generation."

A gold-headed cane will be voted to the most popular young man. The polls were opened last evening and the vote started out as follows: Isadore Dockweiler, 43; John Moriarty, 37; W. A. Driscoll, 32; Horatio Cleveland, 28; M. A. Moriarty, 29; Alphonso Mesmore, 27. The privilege of voting costs 10 cents.

This menu today provides for a special chicken lunch and it will probably be largely patronized by business men. The attendance last night was something of a disappointment to the ladies who have worked so hard to get up the fair. Not many were present, and most of them ladies, and not the young men whom they had hoped to see. The fact that there was a larger house than usual at the theater, may account for the slim attendance. The cause is a worthy one, and the fair is in every respect unusually attractive. It is certainly worthy of a much better patronage than it received last evening.

The fair will continue through Saturday evening.

THEATRICAL. Presentation of "The Honeymoon." There was another fine house at the Grand last night to greet Miss Mather as "Juliana" in The Honeymoon. The piece is so palpable a plagiarism of Shakespeare's Taming of the Shrew that much of the interest that would otherwise be excited by the beauty and rhythm of many of its passages is abated. The low comedy episodes in the piece, gross enough at the best, were very much overdone last night. Miss Mather's "Juliana" was played with spirit and obstinacy enough to bring the points of the central character in bold relief; and Studley's "Duke" as well as Eytling's "Mock Duke" were satisfactory renderings.

This evening Miss Mather will appear as "Rosalind" in As You Like It.

Next week, on Tuesday night, Charlie Reed and his company will open at the Grand in The City Directory. The play is spoken of as full of humor and rollicking fun, but clean as can be. Charlie Reed is a long-time Coast favorite, and will no doubt draw.

The residents of Court House street and Grand avenue met with the Board of Public Works yesterday morning and objected to the proposed changes of grade resulting from the change of grade of Temple street. They said that the streets had been graded and accepted by the city, and if there were to be a change the city would have the bills to pay. They alleged also that the damage resulting to their property from the change would be very material. No conclusion was reached in the matter, and it will come up again.

A Great Benefit. Tomorrow night a benefit will be tendered to Billy Manning and Billy Mehan at the Palm Gardens, on Court street, between Spring and Main. The two beneficiaries will have a six-round contest, and Kelliher will be master of ceremonies. A number of the leading lights of the local talent will exhibit their powers and the programme will include eight events, each of which will be interesting. It is expected that a large crowd will be in attendance.

Mr. Bridgen's Grape Crop. Mr. Albert Bridgen, of Five Oaks, was in the city yesterday. He says his grape crop is unusually good this year, better than it has been for many previous years. He says his vines are looking remarkably healthy and show no further signs of the disease. Mr. Bridgen confesses that his neighbors' crops are not generally as good as his, but he is positive in his opinion that the disease has done its worst and that hereafter the tide will turn and the wine industry revive.

Montano Released. Yesterday afternoon A. A. Montano, late County Auditor, under indictment for uttering fraudulent warrants, was released from jail, having furnished a proper bond. He has been in the County Jail for many days, unable to furnish the required amount of bail, $5,000. On Tuesday his bail was reduced to $3,000, and this he succeeded in giving yesterday afternoon. General E. Houston is the chief surety on Montano's bond.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN. The Pesthouse Case Still on Trial.

DOINGS IN POLICE CIRCLES. Minor Offenders and What Was Done With Them Yesterday. Other Local Events.

The prosecution in the suit of Mrs. McLand against Dr. Hagan and others, in which the plaintiff claims $50,000 damages for the death of her daughter, which, she claims, was due to her removal to the pest house, rested their case yesterday and the defense took up their side of the question. It is the second trial of the case. In the other trial the jury awarded damages in the sum of $5,000. Dr. Cole, assistant to Dr. Hagan, and one of the defendants, was put on by the defense. He stated that he had found the patient suffering from a bad case of confluent smallpox, with hepatic complications accompanying the disease. He swore that in such cases the books show that 95 per cent usually die and only 5 per cent survive. He went through the whole history of the case, detailing the progress of the disease from the time of his first visit to the death of the young girl. He swore that when he first saw her he considered her case a very critical one, and that his opinion became more and more confirmed from day to day until she died. He swore that in his opinion the girl died of the disease running its natural course. The case will take several more days to try.
