Miss Minnie Bailey and Mr. S. Bishop, aided by Rev. R. Mayne Irvine, entered into a lifelong partnership last night, at the residence of the bride's parents, on South Workman street. The happy couple started at once for San Francisco, where they will make a short visit, then proceed to Oakland, which will be their home.

THEIR PREVIOUS REPUTATIONS.

That is the Point of Attack in the Wheeling Case.

The defense did a great deal of work yesterday in the Wheeling murder trial. There was not much done of a direct nature, the testimony being mainly directed to the usual attempt to show that bad blood existed between the parties belligerent and that the deceased was the bellicose one of the two. The interest in the trial is very great, and there is a big throng of spectators in the courtroom all the time. George, the blacksmith, who saw the killing of Tweedy by Wheeling, was a very strong witness for the prosecution. The effort of the defense is to break down his testimony. The following two witnesses tried this:

Lewis Mayer said that on July 2d, in Maynard, just after the shooting occurred, he heard a conversation between Tweedy and George. The latter and J. Geary were carrying Tweedy from the shop to a bed in the room in the rear of the shop. Tweedy said: "Ain't it awful to get shot like this?" George replied: "Yes, it is, Bill; but you should not have picked up the iron to strike him."

Tweedy answered: "No, I did not." George answered back: "Yes you did. I wish I had not seen it." The next morning George told Mayer that Wheeling remarked to Tweedy as the latter advanced upon him, "Don't throw that at me." At Lancaster, upon the night of the preliminary examination of Wheeling, George said to witness that he had sworn to certain matters that he was not certain of, but as he had made the statement on the stand he would stick to it.

In cross-examination Mayer admitted that in the preliminary examination of Wheeling he had been a witness on the other side. Portions of his testimony at that time were read to him, and they were not parallel with those made yesterday.

Elihu Smead said: "I saw George at his shop on July 4th. George stated to me in the presence of T. G. Wright that when Tweedy advanced toward Wheeling he picked up the cold chisel and remarked, 'G—d—you, Wayne, what did you shoot my bull for?' George also said that Tweedy rose up in a threatening way and went at Wheeling in the same manner.

Mr. Del Valle, major domo on General Beale's ranch, and a boy named Valencia testified that they had heard the deceased use threatening language. It was somewhat difficult to connect these statements with the name of Wheeling. In some instances the Court ordered that the testimony be stricken out because of this primary defect.

Mysterious Arrest.

Yesterday evening about half past six o'clock Samuel Neath, a capitalist, was arrested by Officer Manning at his residence, No. 14 Orange, on Manhattan avenue, for disturbing the peace, and he was conveyed to the city prison in the patrol wagon. The arrest was made on complaint of Mrs. Neath and her daughter, but of what the offense consisted it was impossible to ascertain definitely. The prisoner refused to make any statement whatever beyond the fact that it was the first time he had ever had the misfortune to be arrested and jailed. A Herald reporter called upon Mrs. Neath for an explanation of her husband's arrest at her instance, but neither she nor her daughter had anything to say on the subject. The officer who made the arrest knew nothing of the affair except that a disturbance of the peace had been committed. The residents in the vicinity of Orange avenue knew nothing of last night's misunderstanding between Mr. and Mrs. Neath.

The Wind Storm.

The wind storm of Sunday appears to have done some little damage to the orange crop of the vicinity. It is reported that some of the orchards in the vicinity of Monrovia were almost stripped of oranges. At Fair Oaks and through the upper San Gabriel valley the losses are said to have been very considerable. One large grower is quoted as saying that his crop was almost entirely ruined.

Railway Notes.

The Santa Fe overland was twelve hours late yesterday, delayed by storms in Kansas and Colorado.

A large Warner excursion will get in today over the Santa Fe line.

There will be no more excursions to Coronado Beach, owing to a raise in the rates charged by the hotel.

MISCELLANEOUS. CATARRH. Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma, CONSUMPTION, Together with Diseases of the Eye, Ear and Heart, successfully treated by M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M. D., M. C. P. S. O.

With his new system of medicated inhalations combined with proper constitutional remedies or the liver, stomach, blood, etc. Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as the introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of catarrh, throat diseases, bronchitis, asthma and consumption.

OZCENA is the professional or technical name given to an advanced form of catarrh, in which inflammation has eaten through the membrane lining of the nose to the cartilage of the bone. Any case of catarrh may end in ozcena, but it most frequently occurs in those who are naturally scrofulous. The discharge takes place through the nostrils or through the throat, and is generally of a yellowish or greenish-yellow color, frequently tinged with blood, and almost always attended with an offensive smell. In the language of Dr. Wood, of Philadelphia, the disease is the most obstinate and disagreeable which the physician has to encounter. In bad cases the breath of the patient becomes so revolting as to isolate him from society, and render him an object of disgust even to himself.

In some cases pieces of bone become separated and slough off, leaving dead, unhealthy tissue, which secretes a fetid matter, and are extremely difficult to heal. After ozcena has continued for some time the sense of smell becomes impaired and often lost.

Deafness is one of the most common consequences, and results from its extension through the eustachian tube to the internal ear. Pains in the head and over the frontal sinuses, impairing memory, and even insanity frequently springs from this extension of the disease. The greatest danger, however, because the most common, is that it will extend downward and affect the lungs. In most cases of pulmonary disease catarrh is present to some degree, and in many cases it causes a large share of the patient's discomfort.

Besides these grave consequences, all of which are liable to spring from scrofulous catarrh or ozcena, there are other, though less dangerous, are sufficiently unpleasant. It occasions great unhappiness to thousands of both sexes by isolating them and preventing their settlement in life. An offensive running at the nose, with foul breath, is about as great a calamity as can befall young people. Every disease of this kind can be cured by our new system of practice.

The following are the distinguishing features of our mode of treatment: 1. A single application gives immediate comfort and relieves at once the most distressing and painful symptoms. 2. The hardened secretions are softened and removed causing the greatest amount of relief to the sufferer. 3. The ulcerated surface is colorized, every unpleasant smell is removed, and the breath is restored to its natural purity and sweetness. 4. The poisonous action of the disease upon the throat is neutralized and arrested and threatened consumption is prevented. 5. The applications employed can be made at home with perfect success and without interference with diet or business. 6. In all cases of catarrh, where the system suffers from the deterring effects of mercury or other vitiated condition of the blood, local treatment is invariably conjoined with constitutional medicine.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever. I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless, unless the disease has advanced to the chest and both lungs are seriously involved. The inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success. The very best of references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE. Those who desire to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impracticable to visit the office personally can write for list of questions and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge.
