The Approaching Campaign—The Democracy.

The indications point to a long campaign and to the early assembling of the nominating conventions of the respective parties this year.

The prospect for the Democracy never looked better than today. The disgust at Harrison's insane administration is nowhere more pronounced than in this State.

This should be victory all along the lines. The Democracy ought to elect their Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, State officers, Supreme Court judges, and, more particularly, a majority of both branches of the legislature; and, with anything like a thorough organization and competent leadership, they will do so.

Both these journals express a decided preference for Col. H. H. Markham as the Republican nominee for Governor. That this is an attack upon Waterman in flank and rear which possesses elements of danger cannot be doubted.

There is no reason why the coming campaign on the Democratic side should not be enthusiastic and victorious. Should a Congress Republican in both branches adjourn without some substantial concession to the silver interests the manifold causes of Republican disgust will be graced by a becoming capsheaf.

The managers of the Los Angeles and Pacific Railway Company claim that they have succeeded in placing the affairs of that corporation in good shape, and that they will have it fully equipped and in good running order within three months.

The Governor and the Newspapers. The interest which has all at once been developed amongst our Republican contemporaries of Los Angeles in the gubernatorial question is passing strange.

The Tribune stands on impregnable ground. In carrying the colors of our present gracious Governor, "Strictly Business" R. W. Waterman, that journal shows that it knows a good man and good thing when it sees either.

Waterman by the Republicans are mainly responsible for this premature activity. The prospect for the Democracy never looked better than today.

La Cresenta.

EDITORS HERALD.—It is interesting to note the constant change going on in a social way in a new place, like this. It is not unlike the ceaseless waste and renewal of the tissues of the human body, which, although constantly changing never lose their identity. So it is with our little community up here in the mountains; an "old settler" of four years, sees about a complete change in the social aspect, as is supposed to occur in the human system in seven years time, and still the place keeps its own identity. Some go, and others come to take their places. These thoughts were suggested by a retrospective view of the little congregation which gathers weekly for divine service in our valley; with but three or four exceptions the faces were entirely changed from their gathering there two years, or even one year ago.

Mr. Ed. Little and family, of Amboy, Ill., have recently come to Crescenta to reside. Mr. A. G. Pickett and family have moved to the old "Hilliard place," just over the divide to La Canada. His son-in-law, Mr. Coates, and family remain in Crescenta. Mrs. Dean and daughter, Emma, with Miss Quail, of East Los Angeles, made a flying trip to Dr. Briggs' delightful home on Saturday last.

Mr. J. Whittaker and Mr. A. Fallon, of Los Angeles, have been visiting for the past two weeks in our valley. Mr. S. Canfield, who is staying with Dr. Briggs, has been quite ill for the past week and a half. He had a serious hemorrhage of the lungs, and is quite prostrated in consequence. The Rev. Mr. Church, of Pasadena, who preaches every week in this valley, spent two days of last week visiting the residents and becoming acquainted with them. Mr. Fitzwilliams and son, of Los Angeles, were in Crescenta a short time ago with a view to coming up here for a more prolonged stay. As a health resort for some maladies, particularly asthma and throat difficulties, it is hard to find a better location than this place, and many people have been benefited by coming here. The high altitude (from 1,500 to 2,500 feet), the pure air and great amount of sunshine are greatly in its favor. Considerable work is being done in the way of planting this spring. Mr. Griffith has recently put out about nine hundred young fruit trees on his place, mostly apples and pears, with some quinces, peaches, etc. Mr. Holly and Mr. Carpenter each have a fine nursery of orange trees, and Mr. Holly recently shipped about nine hundred White Smyrna fig trees, with some orange and lemon trees, to the northern part of the State. Many of our people are starting large numbers of cuttings of figs and olives. JUNE.

La Cresenta, March 17th.
