IMPORTANT CONGRESS.

SENATOR ADAMS ON THE NEED OF WESTERN STATES COMBINING.

A gathering of Representatives from All the Transmississippi States and Territories to consider their Mutual Interests.

Hon. A. P. Adams of Pico, Colorado, state senator and a large mine owner, is stopping at the Hollenbeck. He is a very affable gentleman and bears a close resemblance to ex-Governor Adams, the smoothest governor Colorado ever had.

Senator Adams believes in the greatness of this great western country, and thinks that much can be done to hasten its prosperity.

"There are 22 transmississippi states and territories," said Senator Adams, and our members of congress go to Washington to represent us before they get acquainted and they don't accomplish as they might.

"There will be a congress of western states at Ogden, beginning Monday, April 24th," continued Senator Adams, "and I want to see all our congressmen there, and have them get acquainted and agree on what the west needs and wants."

The president of the congress, has invited all of the other 21 governors to meet with the congress this session, and it is certainly to be hoped they will do so.

"It will help to create that harmony and unity of purpose so much needed, more than anything else that could happen. The congress meets just one week before the opening of the world's fair, and will adjourn in time for the governors to reach Chicago for the world's fair opening. Just think of twenty-two governors entering Chicago from the west on the same train. Nothing would more signally emphasize the importance of our transmississippi country. It takes an object lesson like this to teach some people."

The territory those governors represent is more than three-fourths of the United States, and represents more enterprise, energy and intellect than there is in the balance of the Western hemisphere. Once let this push and intelligence get together and agree on what it wants, and it will get it.

"If it is a nation in politics who thinks that the merit of his cause alone is going to put it through congress. You can stand up and talk San Pedro harbor till doomsday and you won't get it without effective work. Wall street has a ring in the nose of congress and we will not get legislation in the interest of the masses till we organize as they do."

"Colorado has had delegates at every session of the transmississippi congress and we will be at the next one to shake hands with delegates from every state and territory that attends and ready to pledge mutual friendship."

"All I have to say to you people of California is, that if you want what you want and want to get it, come in with us."

ASTONISHING FACT.

Suspected by comparatively few—things that embody the most truth are frequently among the last to be realized. Incredible as it may seem one in four have a weak or diseased heart.

CHICAGO WEATHER.

A Wine Merchant Anxious to Know When It Will Moderate.

The Herald is in receipt of the following letter from a well known firm of wine dealers in this city:

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 14, 1893. EDITOR HERALD:—If you be kind enough to insert in your paper, if you can, when the weather in Chicago and vicinity is generally expected to get warmer in the spring as this is of very much interest to us. We have to make our shipments in accordance with the weather. For instance, if now being 10 degrees below zero we do not dare to make any shipments of wine in glass, although we are anxious to make a shipment of 400 cases as soon as practicable.

Hoping you will comply with our request we are yours truly,

There have been hard questions asked of newspapers before, but the above is probably the most difficult that was ever submitted for decision. It is a bold man who will attempt to prophesy about Chicago climate. In the first place it is a very big climate. It covers the thermometer from 40 degrees below zero to 110 degrees above, and its vagaries are only limited by the length of the thermometer tube. It is always a big climate, like everything about Chicago, buildings, feet, distances, fairs and bills. But it is presumed that California wine could be shipped there at any date without danger of its being frozen. Its a very cold day when California gets left at Chicago, particularly Southern California. Wide the position of the second mortgage bondholders of the cable road. Vide also Major Ben Truman, the floricultural superintendent of the great fair. If the Chicago people only knew when those 400 cases of wine were going to leave here for their city, there could be no doubt but that they would at once raise a fund wherewith to send a delegation to the gate of Heaven, to talk to St. Peter into getting a divine order that the temperature must not fall below summer heat during the transit. After the wine arrived there it would not matter how cold the weather became, the beverage would be beyond the jurisdiction of cold; it would not be given time to freeze. The Chicago people know a hard winter when they hear it, and California wine comes under that category.

AN EVENING WITH THE BIRDS.

The Southern California Science Association Wrestles With Ornithology. The regular monthly meeting of the Southern California Science association was held last night in the rooms of the Friday Morning club, at St. Vincent's hall on Hill street. Dr. Davidson presided and Mrs. Hart was in the secretary's chair as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. J. L. Murphy were added to the roll of membership and the society's membership is constantly increasing. The first paper of the evening was read by Capt. Thos. B. Merry on the Australian Birds of Transmutible Plumage, in which he depicted the annual changes which occur to the male regents, dragon, rille birds and satin-birds of the south continent.

The next was a very interesting paper from the president of the society upon Bird Life in California and Europe, in which he showed the great fecundity of the thrushes, finches and larks in England, France and Germany over America. This he attributed solely to civilization which had led up to the general destruction of snakes, birds of prey and all other natural enemies of song birds. This is largely owing to the countless thousands of miles of hedgerows in England and Scotland, affording the greatest facilities for nest hiding.

Dr. Wheeler was to have read a paper upon Song Birds and Their Habits, but was called away professionally just before the meeting convened. The next meeting takes place on the second Tuesday in March and will be devoted to astronomical considerations.

MRS. GORHAM'S PINS.

THEY ARE FOUND AMONG THE EFFRUITS OF PARKER.

Evidence of Grand Larceny Accumulating Against the Imprisoned Ex-Night Clerk of the Westminster Hotel.

When Chief Glass pricked his finger yesterday morning against some pointed substance, while examining the effects of Robert H. Parker, the ex-night clerk of the Westminster hotel, the charge of petit larceny which had been preferred against him grew into a larger offense.

The article containing the point upon which the chief had wounded his official hand, was a fancy handkerchief case, profusely embroidered. From its folds was finally drawn forth a pair of gold pins with pearl heads, attached by a gold chain. They were the missing property of Mrs. E. J. Gorham of Santa Monica, whose loss of various articles at the Westminster has been referred to before.

The police detectives have been on a still hunt for the pearl pins, and until Chief Glass accidentally ran across them in the manner described, had almost despaired of bringing more than a petit larceny case against the slick young clerk.

The find caused much rejoicing amongst the police officials, who were positive that young Parker is the person who has been doing the pilfering at the Westminster. Shortly after the pins were discovered Chief Glass went into Parker's cell in the city jail and engaged him in conversation. With reference to the articles in question the young fellow said that he did not know, but that some one had put the pins in his effects since he had been in jail.

A new complaint was drawn up and sworn to by Detective Walter Able, charging Parker with grand larceny. It charges him with stealing on February 10th, at the Westminster hotel, $300 in gold coin, $50 in currency and the pearl pins, the value of the latter being placed at $70 and the property of Mrs. Gorham. The complaint was filed in Justice Austin's court and the defendant was arraigned on the new complaint during the afternoon, his examination being set for Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. His bond was fixed at $2000, which he was unable to give, and he went back to jail to await the examination.

It was learned last evening that the relatives of the boy in the east are interesting themselves in his behalf, and have telegraphed for the employment of competent counsel to defend him.

SCROFULA.

In Its Worst Form—White Swelling—Cured. The remarkable effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the following case illustrates the power of this medicine over all blood diseases.

"My son, 7 years old, had a white swelling come on his right leg below the knee, which contracted the muscles so that his leg was drawn up at right angles. Physicians lanced the swelling, which discharged freely, but did not help him materially. I considered him."

A Confirmed Cripple.

I was about to take him to Cincinnati for an operation, expecting his leg would have to be taken off, and began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla in order to get up his strength. The medicine woke up his appetite, and soon pieces of bone were discharged from the sore. We continued with Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it seemed to be doing him so much good, and the discharge from the sore decreased, the swelling went down, the leg straightened out, and in a few months he had perfect use of his leg. He is now apparently as well as ever." J. L. McMurray, Notary Public, Ravenswood, W. Va.
