OVER THE KITE-SHAPED TRACK.

Knights of the Maccabees Off on a Holiday Jaunt.

Wives, Mothers and Sweethearts Accompany Them.

The Largest Local Excursion Ever Run in Southern California—Eight Hundred People in the Party of Sight-Seeers.

The largest passenger excursion ever run in Southern California was that of the Knights of Maccabees yesterday over the Santa Fe company's famous kite-shaped track. The local Maccabees are a jolly crew and as energetic as they are jolly. When they undertake to do a thing it is generally done with a vim that assures the highest degree of success. There is no hanging back in the traces; all pull together and the result is that the Maccabees never fail to get there, so to speak.

The growth of this order in Southern California within the past year and a half has been phenomenal. As a fitting celebration of their prosperity, it occurred to them a few days ago that it would be a good idea to have an excursion over the kite-shaped track, limiting the sale of tickets to members, their families and such special friends as they chose to invite. The result was yesterday's mammoth turnout. Eight hundred people availed themselves of the opportunity of swinging around the circle and viewing the sights of the famous orange belt. The majority of these had never taken the trip before, and of course they were both surprised and delighted with the richness of Los Angeles' back country.

The Santa Fe company placed a special train at the service of the excursionists, and at 7:45 a. m. Mr. J. M. Ermerins, deputy supreme commander of the Maccabees and organizer for Southern California. The train consisted of 10 coaches, all crowded, when it left Los Angeles at 7:45 o'clock in the morning. Two of these coaches were filled with representatives of the Maccabees. Stops were made at Los Nietos, Santa Fe Springs and Anaheim to pick up members, and at Orange two cars were added, representing the Santa Ana contingent. At San Bernardino the number of coaches was increased to 16 and the train divided into two sections.

The run to Riverside was a pleasant one. Half the passengers departed at Arlington, where carriages and street cars were in waiting to drive the party through Riverside's famous thoroughfares, Magnolia avenue. These carriages, though limited in number, were furnished free by the citizens of Riverside, as was also the entire rolling stock of the street railway company. The remaining half of the excursionists, as they were termed, to Riverside station, where they alighted and were driven back to Arlington via Magnolia avenue. The train backed to Arlington and picked them up and the journey around the kite-shaped track was resumed.

At San Bernardino the local tent of Maccabees had arranged to give the excursionists a free dinner. The feast was spread in the pavilion, and as the 800 pilgrims marched up E street, they formed a procession nearly half a mile long. The majority of the party, the hospitality of the San Bernardino Maccabees, but many refreshed the inner man at convenient restaurants.

At the pavilion the spread was a bountiful one, and after Mr. Ben E. Cowan, past grand master of the local tent No. 12, had delivered a very happy address of welcome, all fell to and ate. At the conclusion of the meal, Mr. George Varcoe made a felicitous speech, thanking the San Bernardino Maccabees and citizens for their hospitality and dwelling on the good of the order. Deputy Supreme Commander Ermerins acted as master of ceremonies, and also made some remarks.

After an hour's stay at San Bernardino the journey was resumed. Redlands was reached so late that the party had to drive to Smiley Heights had to be postponed, although the hospitable citizens of Redlands had placed all the carriages in the community at the disposal of the visitors.

After a brief stop at the infant wonder city, the return trip was commenced. A halt was made opposite the new insane asylum, to give the tourists an opportunity to get a good view of the valley stretched out before them, which looked very beautiful in the glow of the setting sun.

The rest of the journey home was without incident, the last section reaching Los Angeles at 9:30 p. m. A special train left for Santa Ana a few moments later, with the excursionists from that vicinity.

But for the immensity of the crowd, which somewhat upset the calculations of the Riverside and San Bernardino people and caused delay, the day was an enjoyable one. Arrowhead tent No. 12 was organized but three weeks ago, with 62 charter members, and too much credit can not be given them for the splendid manner in which they provided for so large a number of guests. Every one of the 12 tents of Maccabees in Southern California, reaching from Santa Barbara to Santa Ana, was represented in the excursion.

SOCIETY. Miss Lizzie McNeil will arrive this afternoon, and will be the guest of her cousin, United States Mineral Surveyor L. Friel, and family, while in the city. She has been a missionary in Africa, under Bishop Taylor, the last five years, and brings with her, Diana, the little 4-year-old African girl, introduced by Bishop Taylor to the great company of ministers at the general conference in Omaha. She will talk and Diana will sing at the regular Thursday evening meeting, at the First M. E. Broadway church, this evening.

A number of society people spent yesterday at Sierra Madre. They drove in single and double rigs to the Sierra Madre villa, where a dainty lunch was enjoyed. Places of interest were visited, the afternoon being spent in driving. The party returned to Los Angeles late in the afternoon. Those composed of the party were Misses Menefee, Reid, Gregg, Guiteau, Tomner, Bucklin, Pattie and Hynes, Messrs. A. H. Braly, West, Potter, Theou, Couler, Ben Couler, Wm. M. Edwards, Walter Obansior and George Lindenbach.

Last evening at their residence in West Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard entertained the young ladies and gentlemen who participated in the minutetablan in the National Pageant.

SALVATIONISTS AND HISTORICISTS HAVE PUBLIC WEDDINGS.

Two Pleasant Marital Events Last Night Which Were Witnessed by Many Interested Spectators.

There were fully 4000 people present at the Park theater last night to witness the double bill of The Streets of New York and the marriage on the stage of Miss Alma Shyrma and Mr. Frank C. Thompson, both of the Park Theater Stock company.

The principal attraction of course was the sure enough wedding, for after the curtain went down on the last act, not a single person in the immense theater left his seat, and notwithstanding the fact that it was fully 30 minutes before the stage could be reset, the audience remained perfectly quiet, and not the slightest sign of impatience was shown in any part of the house.

Every member of the company seemed to be laboring under great excitement and in consequence the performance went off with more telling effect than any yet given in this house.

At the end of the last act the management announced that the next thing on the programme would be the wedding. When the curtain was rung up the management and several members of the company were discovered on the stage, which was handsomely set and decorated with flowers and evergreens. A large bell composed of white roses hung from the center of the stage, and as the contracting parties took their places the other members filed in and made a pretty group.

The bride was escorted in by Mr. Fred A. Cooper and Miss Anita Fallon acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Henry Westbrook as best man.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. James Campbell, pastor of the First M. E. church, in a most impressive manner. After the happy couple had been declared man and wife amid rounds of applause, Mr. Arthur C. Sutherland of the company stepped to the front and made a few remarks, in which he paid the newly-married pair a number of compliments and wished them untold happiness. He also, in the name of the company, presented them with a number of tokens of affection.

Both of the young people are natives of San Francisco, and have numbers of friends not only on the coast, but throughout the east.

Mr. Thompson is a member of lodge 22 of Elks, Buffalo, N. Y. He has been on the stage a number of years and belonged to many of the leading companies of this country.

THE SALVATIONISTS. There was a wedding and much enthusiasm at the Salvation army barracks last night, and a big crowd, most of whom were unable to find room, attended for the purpose of giving the like a good send-off. Edward Reed, aged 27, a native of England, has come to the conclusion that it must be easier work chasing Salvation with a helmsman than doing so alone, and therefore persuaded Miss Isabel Everet, a fellow soldier from Ohio, to aid him in the pursuit.

The small hall on Spring street was crammed to suffocation with curious sight-seers to such an extent that the bride and bridegroom made a somewhat ignominious entry through a side window, but their appearance on the platform was the signal for a burst of Hallelujahs and an overpowering salute from drums and cymbals.

The ordinary uniform was worn by both bride and groom, with the exception of a white veil worn by each across the left shoulder. Adjutant H. Hernandez tied the knot, the ceremony being much the same as the Church of England service, with the rather strange difference that the parties declare themselves desirous of marriage, only that they may be of greater service in the army, and for no other personal reasons.

After the service was concluded, a short thanksgiving service was held, and the happy pair departed without any of the usual demonstrations, a clause in the Salvation army wedding service particularly stating that there shall be no such frivolity allowed as the casting of rice or the flinging of antiquated footgear.

An unknown donor presented the bride with a highly ornamented gold and silver spoon, the bowl having "Salvation" engraved upon it, and a regulation tambourine crowning the handle. Adjutant Kernahan stated that a similar spoon was presented to Miss Shyrma of the Park theatre, who was also married during the performance last evening, though what the connecting link between church and stage was, the adjutant was unable to explain.
