

A STRICTLY NEW BIT OF EVIDENCE

Witnesses Testify in the Miles Murder Trial.

The Prosecution Produces Some New Evidence in the Case.

A Bloody Ivory Poker Chip and a Bunch of Keys Discovered by Chief of Police Glass—Slow Examination of Witnesses.

One of the exhibits in the Miles murder trial yesterday was a hammer. It is supposed to be the weapon that slugged George Miller into the sleep of death in May, 1892. It was handled by counsel in an indifferent sort of way, and as much time has elapsed since the murder, that the blood stains alleged to have marred it have become faded. Nevertheless it excited considerable attention from the spectators.

The defendant sat by Mr. Pritchard of Albuquerque, both silent and attentive, and Mr. Miles, who has an impediment in hearing, had his left hand to his ear in a listening attitude most of the time. The prosecution was characterized yesterday by deliberation and the examination of witnesses was prolonged.

The first witness was George Gerkins who testified that he was employed in the Carlton saloon two months prior to Mr. Miller's murder. He had the morning and afternoon watch at the bar.

On the day of the murder Gerkins saw Mr. Miller about 2 o'clock. He was in the saloon and was drinking. About 9 o'clock the witness was in the saloon and was reading a paper, when Mr. Miles asked him to get some change. He went to the water-torium and got it. He did not hear of Miller's death until 4 o'clock the next morning.

Miles witness.

Upon further examination the witness said that the small room door behind the bar under the stairs was kept locked, and Mr. Miller usually kept the key. Liquor and other stock was kept there. He knew of no hatchet that was kept in the saloon, although there was a small hammer. It was something like a blacksmith's hammer, pointed at one end.

A hammer, the one which was found in the closet behind the bar was produced, and the witness did not recognize it. He testified that he thought the one belonging to the saloon was more pointed at the end.

Mr. Miller was showing a check in the afternoon, and money, and was drunk at the time. He was accustomed to sleep off his drinks in room No. 3, at the rear of the saloon. Anyone could see the lounge in the room when the door was open. At the time the witness left the saloon at night, about 9:30 o'clock, only a few chairs were occupied on the side of the room.

The cross-examination of the witness was noticeable from the fact that the chief of police department testified to his investigations in the Carlton saloon. He corroborated Chief Glass in his statements.

Officer C. E. Wallin testified that he was in the saloon when the hammer was found, and his observation was much in the same line as the other witnesses.

The trial will be resumed at 10 o'clock this morning.

REEDY AND THE DOG.

A FULLMAN CAR PORTER ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLING A CANINE.

A Complicated Case Before Justice Seaman's Yesterday—A Plan That Failed—Ready to Be Sentenced Saturday.

O. Reedy, a Pullman porter, has gotten himself in trouble. Justice Seaman yesterday found him guilty of embezzlement. Reedy stole a dog, as the court believes. He was bringing an empty car out from Kansas City. One of the passengers had a dog. He fixed up a deal with Reedy, so he swore, to have him (Reedy) carry the dog through his empty car to Los Angeles, for which he was to receive $2.50.

Somewhere in Kansas Reedy told the passenger that his dog had been stolen or had gotten away. As the animal was a valuable one the passenger became very much wrought up at this, and notified Reedy that when he got to Los Angeles he would expect him to turn the dog over to him as he had agreed to do.

When the train got here Reedy of course did not have the dog and then the angry owner had him arrested for embezzlement. Reedy took the stand and denied knowing anything about the dog at all. He claimed that he had never agreed to keep the animal or anything of the kind. It was shown on the contrary by two passengers that he had taken him and agreed to deliver him in Los Angeles. The contention of the defense was that the dog was stolen here, was stolen in Kansas, and that the offense was therefore outside of the jurisdiction of the police court of this city.

Justice Seaman held that Reedy swore to a lie when he said that he had not received the dog, and that as he had received him and agreed to deliver him in Los Angeles the embezzlement was committed when he failed to deliver the animal as per contract. Reedy will come up Saturday for sentence.

MINOR CASES.

Ah Hung will be tried today by Justice Seaman on a charge of selling lottery tickets.

L. B. Woodman was arrested yesterday for driving stock through the city violation of the city ordinance. He will be tried on Monday by Justice Seaman.

Frank Dixon and W. J. Davis were arrested early yesterday morning for fighting on First street, in front of the Wilson block. They were charged with disturbing the peace. Yesterday Justice Seaman found them guilty and fined them each $2, which they paid.

MAHAR-TAYLOR.

A Pleasant Wedding Which Was Celebrated Last Evening.

Harry W. Mahar and Miss M. R. Taylor, both members of the HERALD chapel, were united in marriage at the residence of the bride's mother, 532 South Flower street, at 8 o'clock last evening. Rev. W. J. Chichester of Immanuel Presbyterian church officiating, only the immediate families of the contracting parties being in attendance.

The couple will enter upon their married life in their new home, 227 E. Pico street, which was purchased and furnished by Harry before securing the bride. A splendid cake and a basket of wine accompanied the notice to the composing room, force and as the boys partake of the cake, and wash it down with copious draughts of the sparkling fluid, their best wishes will go out to "Ding" and "Rizkie."

An Improvement for Boyle Heights.

Arrangements have been nearly perfected for the construction of a fine concrete sidewalk along both sides of East First street, from Boyle avenue to Evergreen cemetery. An ordinance directing the work will shortly appear in the HERALD. The improvement will be somewhat costly, but the benefit to property on Boyle Heights can scarcely be estimated.

The Loop Line.

Via Soldiers' home to Santa Monica is a perfectly delightful ride. Take 10:20 a. m. train from Arcade depot. The fine band at Soldiers' home plays there every afternoon. Visitors welcome. Last train leaves Soldiers' home 5:02 p. m. Round trip, 75 cents, Saturdays and Sundays, 50 cents, via Southern Pacific.

WON AND LOST TWICE OVER.

The Angels and Colonels Play Great Ball.

The First Game of the Series Won by the Home Team.

Both Pitchers Hit Rather Freely, but Los Angeles Takes the Long End Gossip about the Game and Players.

In spite of all unforeseen complications and erroneous telegrams there was a game of baseball yesterday afternoon at Athletic park between the Angels and the Colonels, and it was a rattling good game—from the local point of view. It was no pitchers' battle. Hits were frequent, the festive base on balls got in its deadly work and the agile fielding error would bob up just in time to keep everybody guessing and stimulate the excitement.

The Angels did rather better with the stick than their opponents, but seven of the visiting swatters walked to first by reason of wildness, and one Athenian collided with an in-shoot for variety's sake.

Two new men were on probation before the fans yesterday. Hutchinson, in left field, was not a stranger, as he covered the third bag for Oakland last year. But Hughes, in that position for the Angels, is a new one, and is labeled a phenom at that. He deserves it all, for he handles himself well in the field, and on the coaching line his voice indicates that he would cut a wide swath even in the Epworth league.

But this is not telling how the game was played. Both teams scored a run in the first inning. For the Angels, Rasty walked to first before Horner settled down to steady work. The next two men could only pop the ball straight up, but Hutchinson made his debut before a local audience by knocking a double to right field, and a run scored.

Unhappy Joseph McGucken also walked to first in Oakland's half, but was thrown out at third for trying to take two bases on Irwin's single to the right garden. The latter took third on a poor throw to head him off at second, and scored when Earl was thrown out at the same bag.

Lytle worked Horner for a walk in the second inning and stole second. An error by Irwin from Lohman's bat advanced Pop to third, and Nicol's double scored the runner. Colony erred on a hard hit bouncer by Wright and Hulen's two-bagger to left netted the side three runs.

In the third inning the locals made the more runs on as many base hits, a little daring base running and a base on balls.

The visitors made one in their half. Horner and McGucken both hit safely, and Irwin reached first on a force. Horner scored while the latter was being run down by Hulen. Nicol's double scored the runner. Colony erred on a hard hit bouncer by Wright and Hulen's two-bagger to left netted the side three runs.

The HERALD obtained information yesterday that a state division organization has been effected in this city. The informant refused to give any names, but his high standing as one of the leading attorneys and financiers of Southern California makes his statement of fact unquestionable. The organization, it seems, was informal, being more in the nature of personal pledges to take active steps as soon as the summer vacation is over, and all Southern California is seath at home.

The gentleman in question may be identified by some of his numerous friends as the one who wrote the joint resolution for state division introduced into the last legislature by the Hon. J. C. Lynch of San Bernardino.

It appears there was an informal meeting, some of the leading intellects of Los Angeles being present. There were lawyers, bankers, physicians and merchants enjoying a social chat. The question of state division came up and it was found that the sentiment was unanimously in its favor.

The question of action was brought up and the temper of the last legislature was discussed, also the possible advantages of the capital-removal question as to state division. After an earnest and long discussion of all the points at issue it was resolved that in the fall, certainly not later than September, that a plan of campaign would be outlined and vigorous action commenced. To this end all present gave their personal pledges, and what began as a mere social gathering, ended as the first state division club of Southern California. When a call is made it will be such a general one that every worker will respond.

The gentleman who furnished the information further stated that if there had been proper organization the last legislature could have been easily induced to have passed a state division law. He has no doubts as to the possibility of getting it through the legislature of 1895, but fears that the hardest fight will be to get the consent of congress. The Atlantic coast states do not want the senatorial power of the west increased. This will be a pitch of battle, and it must be continued till won. It was further suggested that to Los Angeles county would be conceded the capital of Southern California, and that in the apportionment of delegates the other southern counties should undoubtedly have the larger share.

Hughes handles himself well. Hutchinson covers lots of ground in left field and hits the ball hard except when it hits him.

MR. RAGAN'S LECTURE.

Another Large Audience Listens to His Fascinating Address.

Unity church was crowded last evening to hear and see Mr. Ragan's illustrated lecture on ancient Rome. He introduced his lecture by a few remarks on the foundation of the city—its tradition, history and romance. He traced its rise from the rude huts of the barbarian to its grandeur as the capital of the world.

Mr. Ragan's lecture was very instructive and highly interesting. The illustrations showed the first Pagan temple, the first Christian church, the Coliseum, the Pantheon, the Vatican, etc., being a complete historical picture of ancient and medieval Rome, explained in a very entertaining manner by the lecturer.

The large audience was highly pleased with this most entertaining lecture. Mr. Ragan will give an illustrated lecture next Monday evening on Alaska.

Letters of administration were issued yesterday to R. D. List upon the estate of Martha Larabee.

Judge Van Dyke yesterday sustained a demurrer to the complaint in the case of S. E. Harvey vs. The Los Angeles Consolidated Railway company.
