

THE PIRATES WALK THE PLANK. They Got Into Deep Water Yesterday.

The Bold Stockton Buccaneers Robbed of a Game.

The Angels Defeat Them After They Had the Game Won—The Angels Can Bat—Following is the Tale of Woe.

The Angels defeated the Stocktons yesterday, in the opening game of the series, by the score of 21 to 12. It was a curious exhibition of the national sport. There were three phases to it. First, that the Angels were apt to win; then as if Duke Finn could pack it away in his gipsack, and finally that it was secured to Mr. Lindley by an air-tight mortgage. The Angels batted the victory out of positive defeat and fooled everybody, including themselves, and not to speak of Mr. Harper. The Stocktons had gradually been adding runs to their credit, three at a time, until when the seventh inning opened they found themselves five runs in the lead. But in some inconceivable manner the Angelic batters caught on to prepossessing Mr. Harper and batted him all over the field in the three last innings.

The lucky seventh, the lucky eighth, the lucky ninth and the unlucky Tenth were what did it. During the first part of the game many of the Angels played like a lot of school boys and, in fact, kept it up during all of the game. The Pirates were equally as bad. There was lots of fun in the latter part of the game, though. The crowd yelled itself hoarse when Pop McCauley cleared the bases in the seventh inning, and also did some more yelling in the next two innings.

Seven of the 21 runs were earned, and in two innings at that. Borchers did himself proud, allowing 13 men to walk to first base, 12 for base on balls and one for being hit. How the Angels managed to win with him in the box is a marvel.

The pitching yesterday was done under the new rules, and the pitchers worked under them very well, each being charged with but one ball. It was run getting day the circuit of the bases, beginning with the first man at the bat. Basty Wright, the first man up for the Angels, was allowed to reach first base by Whitehead, who fumbled his grounder. Wright was forced out at second base by Hulon. McCauley followed with a safe hit, advancing the Kid to third base. Hulon knocked a fly ball outside the diamond and Lawrence failed to get. Lawrence threw wild to second trying to catch Pop, and Kid and the Old Man scored. Hutchinson meanwhile moving up and came home on Glenavlin's sacrifice. Lohman retired the side, Lytle being on first.

The visitors took a hand in the run getting in the first inning also. Mannasau fled out to Hughes. Sweeney was given his base on balls and stole to third, aided by Lohman's wild throw to second to catch him. Whitehead also endeavored to first and stole second, Sweeney in the meantime starting from third to home. Lohman threw wild to Hughes and the Stockton captain crossed the plate. Knopst struck out. McVicker made a safe hit, scoring Whitehead. Lytle retired the side by a running catch of a fly ball from Lawrence's bat.

The Pirates made more runs in the next inning. Sweet fled to Hulon, and Peoples and Harper were given their base on balls. Harper stole second and Peoples was allowed to score by Lohman's wild throw to second. Mannasau also scoring on a poor throw to Lohman, whom the ball passed. Whitehead reached first, but Klopfi flew out to Wright.

In a third inning Kid Hulon reached first and was advanced to second by McCauley's hit. Pop was forced out at second by Hutchinson, and Hulon scored. Hutch was scored by Glenavlin's sacrifice. Lytle retired the side. McVicker, the first man to bat in the fifth inning, hit a home run, but Lawrence let the ball pass him, and the Kid was on third when it was fielded. He stole home on McCauley's fly to McVicker.

McVicker spiked his foot in retiring the last man, and was called off the field. Fanning was put in right field, Lawrence going to left. The visitors made three more in the next. Sweeney led off with a good hit, and went to third on Lohman's poor throw to catch him at second, and scored on Klopfi's hit.

Whitey walked to first, stole second and went to third on Klopfi's hit. Harper took the latter's place and stole second. The ball was thrown to Hulon to catch the runner but he let it pass. Glenavlin caught the ball and tossed it back to the Kid, who muffed and allowed Whitey to get home from third base. Sweet knocked one out by Hulon but he missed it and Harper also scored.

But the lucky seventh was at hand and the Angels arose equal to the occasion. Hughes struck out. Borchers made a safe hit and was followed by Rasty and the Kid, each with safe drives. The bases were full when Old Pop stood up. He connected with about the third ball pitched and drove it away out in the field for three bases. Glenavlin sacrificed the old man home.

The real fun for the Angels was in the following inning, when they made seven runs. Lohman led off with a two-bagger. Hughes tied out to Whitey. Borchers made a single, scoring Lohman and stealing second. Rasty reached first on Peoples's error. Hulon hit safely, scoring Borchers. The two remaining base runners were not advanced one base by a balk by Harper. Hutchinson reached first on a fielding error, and finally stole one bag. Glenavlin reached first on an error by Whitehead. Lytle fouled out to Sweeney. The next batter was Mr. Peter Lohman, who finally set his admirers crazy by knocking out a three-bagger and sending in three more

HE IS ONCE AGAIN IN THE TOILS. This Time He is Arrested for Perjury.

Another Link in the Case of the Simpson Litigation.

The Adultery Case Ends in an Acquittal Yesterday. But Mrs. Simpson Springs a New Complot.

George B. Simpson was found not guilty of the charge of living in open and notorious cohabitation and adultery with Grace Thompson by a jury in Justice Seaman's court yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock. But his liberty was short lived. Mrs. Simpson, the wife of George B., immediately swore out a warrant, charging her husband with having committed perjury in his evidence given in his defense in the adultery trial, and he was at once arrested. Simpson furnished bail and was released. It was hoped that with a decision in the adultery case the Simpson family difficulties would be, for a time at least, withdrawn from the public gaze, but it seems that such was not to be the case. In the trial of the adultery case yesterday morning, Grace Thompson resumed her testimony. She very positively denied ever having committed adultery with Simpson.

Simpson then took the stand and likewise was very firm in the statement that he had never had any illicit intercourse with the girl. He went into details explaining his conduct in relation to her, which he claimed was perfectly honorable. The defense then put a number of character witnesses on the stand to prove that the character of Grace Thompson prior to the time Simpson was arrested, on a charge of adultery, was of a good and reliable nature. This closed the case for the defense, and two hours was devoted to argument. Lecompte Davis for the prosecution and Henry Gage and Major J. A. Donnell for the defense. The court read his instructions to the jury. This concluded another very lengthy trial. The jury went out and in an hour brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Perjury against Simpson will be a difficult charge to prove and it is difficult to see just what warrant there is to put the country to further expense in the matter. It has already cost a considerable sum as far as the marital troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Simpson are concerned.

THE BILLIARD TOURNAMENT. Mr. Jenkins Amuses Himself by Walling the President.

Two games of billiards were played at the Athletic club last night, the first in the 150 class by Messrs. Jenkins and Wiley, in which the former won by 33 points, and the other in the 120-point class, in which Mr. Wiley defeated Mr. King by 11 points. Mr. Wiley is said to have played very brilliantly, while Mr. Jenkins played in great form. He is a very tall man and can reach all over a billiard table, thus enabling him to play many shots with ease at which other men strain badly or else are compelled to use a rest. He has now won four games out of five, a percentage equal only by Mr. Cook. The game stood 150 for Jenkins against 117 for Mr. Wiley, who is president of the club. The winner's average was 2 1/2 against 1 1/2 for Mr. Wiley. Mr. King's largest runs were 11, 9, 8, 8, 10, while Mr. Wiley's were 8, 7, 8, 7, 6.

The second game was the best yet played by any of the 120 point men in the handicap, the contestants being Messrs. Wiley and King, the former of whom scored 120 points to Mr. King's 109. The largest runs by Mr. Wiley were 10, 14, 7, 7 and those by Mr. King 7, 8, 13, 11. The winner's average was 2:4:10 and the loser's 2:5:12, which is very good for players in the third class. The game was very close for the first 100 points but after that Mr. Wiley showed the way to his opponent for all the rest of the race.

Peter Orban, who has won three games out of five, went east the other day, expecting to return in June in time to play all the other contestants against whom he has not yet been pitted. He is one of the best of the 120-point men.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION Meets to Consider the School Census for 1893.

The city board of education met at 8 o'clock last evening. President Pepper was in the chair and a full board was present. The chair stated this was a special meeting for the purpose of hearing the report of the census marshal. It was read and shows the following census for the year 1893: Boys, white, 6217; girls, white, 6590; negro boys, 121; negro girls, 131; native Mongolians, 24; total, 13,083. Children that attend private school, white, 1015; negro children that attend private school, 181; Mongolians that attend private school, 7; total, 1208. Children that have not attended school, white, 1775; negro, 53; Indian, 3; Mongolian, 12; total, 1845. Increase for San Francisco in 1893, 1308; increase for Los Angeles in 1893, 1352.

The report was adopted without a dissenting vote. The bond of Lewellyn Bros. in the penal sum of $2000, with Andrew McNally and John Bryson as sureties, and approved as to form by the city attorney, was then read and approved by the board. The board then began considering the idea of building two new schoolhouses. Mr. Friesner addressed the board upon several points connected with this matter. He said the greatest care must be taken in getting accurate estimates before holding an election for the issuance of bonds. The whole matter, after being very freely discussed, was put over to a special meeting to be held on Tuesday, the 16th inst., at the office of the city superintendent of schools. The board then adjourned.

The trial of Rippey. SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—The trial of Wesley C. Rippey, who attempted to kill John W. Mackay on a street of this city February 24th, began today. Mr. Mackay appeared in court and gave his testimony.

Mr. Miles Casaday died on May 2d, at San Pedro, N. M. He is supposed to have friends or relatives here, and Mr. L. H. Boren of the above place sends the notice for their information.

THE FIRE COMMISSIONERS. HIS IDEAS ON GOVERNMENT. Judge Wade Tells Cordano to Learn More About His Country. Judge Wade, in department three of the superior court, believes that a man should at least have some knowledge of the American form of government when he applies to be admitted to citizenship. Joseph Cordano, a native of sunny Italy, applied to him yesterday, with some witnesses. He proved easily enough that he had been in this country for 20 long years. When it came to speaking English he was not in it to any great extent, and when asked what kind of a government that of the United States is, said it was all right. He was asked in what it differed from the Italian government, and replied that that was a very good government, too—much cheaper than America.

The applicant for the proud gift of citizenship had a mind that was absolutely blank as to the system of government, and Judge Wade very properly told him he would be obliged to learn more about it before he would admit him as a citizen. His sponsor, another Italian, immediately took Cordano down stairs and tried to find another judge, but they had all been notified and the party was sent to the right about in a hurry.

A BROAD SMILE. C. S. Metz Laughs at the Slow Police Justice. U. S. Metz had a chance for a big laugh yesterday in Judge Wade's court, and availed himself of it. About a year ago he pleaded guilty to vagrancy in Justice Owens' court. The justice allowed him to go on his own recognizance, to appear the next day for sentence, but Metz developed traits of discretion which spoke well for the development of that phenomenal bump, and beat a masterly retreat to pasture near. Justice Owens passed sentence, nevertheless, giving the absent "vag" 90 days in jail.

About a week ago Metz was found in the city again, and being remembered by the police, was run in to serve his sentence. He was brought before Judge Wade yesterday under a writ of habeas corpus. The court decided that the sentence had expired by its own limitations and that Metz could not be imprisoned under a commitment that had run out long ago. He therefore discharged the prisoner, who smiled broadly as he walked out of the court room a free man.

THE CLOTHES CAME. And President Cleveland Was Blessed for Their Forthcoming. A well-known young lady of this city who is on a visit to Thomas, Ala., wrote to her father, who resides here, a few days ago, a funny but actual occurrence that took place at Birmingham, Ala., two days after Grover Cleveland took his seat. It is told in her own language: "THOMAS, ALA., March 27, 1893. DEAR PAPA—I read in one of the Birmingham papers the other day about an old darky near York, Ala., who had heard the campaign speakers tell of the good times if Cleveland was elected—that money, clothes, etc., would grow on trees, etc. This old nigger was chopping wood near where the cyclone struck the other week that scattered everything pretty lively, and he happened to look up in a tree near by, and there was a new pair of shoes and a pair of pantaloons lodged in it. He didn't lose any time getting them down, you can imagine, and as he leaned on his ax he said: "Well, dem plentiful days is come here; jus' look. Masses Cleveland ain't bin in dat chair but two days and here am a pair of breeches and a bran new pair of shoes for dis pore ole nigger."
