

MUSCLE, GRIT AND ENDURANCE.

Qualities Shown at the Tag of War Last Night.

The East Siders Down the Electrics After Nearly Two Hours' Pull.

Tonight the Two Heavyweight World Champions Team Will Have Their First Contest—The First Program.

There was another big turn out last night at the tug of war tournament, and the three contests of the evening were fully as interesting and as hotly contested as on the previous night.

At a quarter past eight o'clock the East Los Angeles team stepped on the platform, and were heartily cheered. A minute later the Electric team put in an appearance and received an equally enthusiastic reception at the hands of the large audience.

The second match was between the Seventh regiment team and the plucky Pacific team, and on entering the hall both teams were received with cheers.

The third pull was between the Young American and the Spanish teams and the signal was given at 11 o'clock and the Young Americans took the rope over six inches, and with one fell swoop walked up the elastic and took the ribbon over the line in 55 seconds precisely.

Tonight the seating capacity of Armory hall will be tested, judging from the excitement over the contest between the Champion Canadian team of San Francisco and the Big American team of this city, for the state championship, a purse of $2000 and the state representation in the international tug of war at the world's fair, Chicago, in September.

The members of the teams are as follows: American team of Los Angeles—A. P. Obutek, captain; E. H. Hutchinson, anchor man; Jay Gray, George Gray, Perry Gray, Tom Bakman, Charles Eiton, Hiram Shoulter, R. O. Donn, Jack Ramer.

Canadian team of San Francisco—George Duplessis, captain; N. Mosher, anchor man; D. R. Campbell, George Ewing, John Field, James Dunning, Joseph A. McKay, F. Mackenzie, Joseph Fish, J. McDonald.

In addition to the great championship tug tonight the following teams will also pull for the local prizes: Young America vs. East Los Angeles; Electric vs. Seventh regiment, and Pacific vs. Spanish.

The San Francisco team, which arrived at noon yesterday, was accompanied by a large delegation who have come down with sacks to back their team to the limit. They will find plenty of Angelenos ready and willing to back the big American team.

The personnel of the teams. The teams competing last night were as follows: East Los Angeles team—S. L. Reynolds, captain; Frank Rademaker, anchor man; B. Richards, A. Anderson, G. Crote, J. Harbour, J. Jeffries, G. Webber, W. Eaton, W. Gray.

Electric Road team—C. A. Sheldrick, captain; Charles Miller, anchor man; Sam Collier, J. S. Mobley, John Martin, J. M. Walsh, John Underwood, William G. Willits.

THE COURTS.

Cases on Trial Yesterday—New Suits Filed.

The suit of P. McAnaney against the Southern California Railway company to foreclose its right of way through Hyde Park was up before Judge Clark yesterday. Testimony was taken in the case, but there was no final settlement, there being a complication over the agreed state of facts upon which it was to be submitted.

The case of the city of South Pasadena vs. the Los Angeles Terminal Railway company, to forfeit its franchise through that place, was tried yesterday by Judge Shaw and continued until May 29th for argument.

The suit has been pending for some time, the forfeiture being asked on the ground that they had not complied with the conditions under which the franchise was granted.

The case of John C. Koford and Mrs. Lily H. Koford vs. Samuel B. Gordon was tried in Judge McKimley's court yesterday, and submitted on briefs to be filed hereafter. The plaintiffs allege that the defendant, while acting as attorney for them, acted also with James F. Cosby, using the information he had received as their attorney, and bought a deficiency judgment against them from Cosby for $200. They ask that they be allowed to pay Gordon the $200, and that the judgment be assigned to them, and that the defendant be restrained from selling certain property under execution.

In the insolvency proceedings of W. B. McCormick, Judge Van Dyke yesterday appointed Sheriff Cline receiver, and set June 20th for the creditors' meeting.

Judge Wade yesterday granted a decree as prayed for in the suit of M. A. Rooney vs. W. F. Rooney, to quiet the title to certain real estate.

A man named McKinney was arraigned before Justice Bartholomew yesterday, on a charge of selling liquor without license, at Neenach, and his trial was set for June 1st.

NET SUITS FILED.

Among the documents filed yesterday in the county clerk's office were the following:

A. G. Baldwin vs. G. Del Amo et al. Action on street assessment for $118.

P. J. Collier vs. M. A. Mendelsohn et al. Suit for $150 on a promissory note.

George Garner vs. Emma Benton. Suit to recover judgment for $850 money loaned.

W. J. Turners et al. vs. Anna M. Spence, executrix. Suit for $2068.84 attorney's fee for services rendered.

Petition of the Epworth M. E. church to sell realty.

A. H. Rusch vs. H. Hutton and Garde Mahoney. Suit for an accounting of the Pacific Lime and Cement company, and that the stockholders be ordered to pay him $901 due him.

James Bothwell et al. vs. James K. Mulkey et al. Suit for cancellation of a deed for land given in exchange for stock in the Los Angeles Brown Stone company.

Divorce proceedings have been commenced by Ella V. Benschutz vs. Otto G. Benschutz, and Margaret N. Watts vs. John A. Watts.

DR. PRICE'S BAKING POWDER.

Supplying the Army, Navy and Indian Department.

The purchasing agents of the United States government have ordered nearly one hundred thousand pounds of Dr. Price's Baking Powder in the first five months of this year.

The government exercises great care in selecting its supplies of all kinds, rejecting everything that is not of the best, and the very fact that it has adopted Dr. Price's Baking Powder is proof that it has found it the best of all the baking powders.

It is guaranteed to the government to be a pure cream of tartar powder free from ammonia, alum, or other harmful substances, and it is the only baking powder prepared by a physician of high standing.—[Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The Shock Killed Him.

He had about finished tuning the piano when he looked up and said: "Your instrument was in an awful condition. You ought to have sent for me sooner."

"It was tuned only three months ago."

"Then the man who did it certainly didn't know his business."

"No."

"No, ma'am. He had better be working on the railroad than tuning pianos. Why, my dear madam, a delicate instrument like the piano needs fingers equally delicate to handle it, combined with an ear of extraordinary accuracy. The individual who attempted to tune this instrument last evidently possessed neither of these. In fact I am free to say that he did it more harm than good."

"Indeed?"

"Indeed he did. May I ask who it was who so abused your poor instrument?"

"It was you yourself."

"Madam, you are wrong; I never tuned a piano in this house before."

"Probably not, but you tuned that instrument nevertheless, or made a botch at it in attempting to do so. It belongs to Mrs. Gazzan, who sent it here while she is out of the city. She told me you always tuned it and to send for you when?"

But she did not finish.

The unhappy man fell to the floor and expired almost instantly.—Brooklyn Life.

An Unfortunate Suggestion.

In a small New England town there is an old negro, Pompey by name and a wood sawyer by profession. He was complaining to one of his customers one day about his sufferings from dyspepsia, and attributed them to the fact that as he had no teeth he was unable to masticate his food properly.

"Well, Pompey," said the gentleman to whom he had been stating his ailments, "why don't you get a set of false teeth? They won't cost you much."

"False teeth?" cried Pompey. "No, sah; not much, sah! I've had all de teeth I want in my mouf, sartin sure! I've sussed more vid teefache den I do vid de 'speres, an' I was mighty wylful to giv' shes ob my teef. Nobody won't git no' teef into my mouf, not while I lib, sah!"—Youth's Companion.

HE-WAS NOT IN IT.

A LIVELY EPISODE YESTERDAY AT SANTA MONICA WHARF.

A Scrimmage in Which Four Women and a Man Are Said to Have Danced all Over an Individual Who Talked Too Much.

Rather a warlike scene took place on the new Southern Pacific wharf yesterday morning about 8 o'clock. Four excited women and one man were seen to assault another man and walk all over him. They hit him, clawed his face, pulled his hair, and finally threw him down and tripped their light fantastic toes over his person.

The man is a Mr. Smith, who has been employed in a clerical capacity by the Thompson Bridge company, that is now constructing the wharf. The assaulting parties were Mr. and Mrs. Waters and three women friends.

The trouble grew out of the allegations of Mrs. Waters that Smith had made derogatory remarks concerning her.

On Tuesday evening, as Smith was standing at the corner of Second and Utah streets, Santa Monica, it is said that he was approached by Mrs. Waters, who carried a cowhide whip in her hand. Without any remarks, she proceeded to whip Mr. Smith. He took the whip away from her and left the street, thinking nothing further of the occurrence.

Yesterday morning he was at the wharf with Mr. Thomas Thompson, president of the bridge company, when he was again approached by Mrs. Waters, together with her husband and several women friends.

After they had been separated and Mr. Smith was removed to his apartments and his wounds looked after, it was found that he had received some very painful injuries and was in a bad condition, suffering much pain. He was given an opiate last evening to relieve his sufferings.

He stated that he proposes to take steps to compel the Waters to retract their allegations. No statement could be gotten from him last evening as he was thought to be in too serious a condition.

Mr. Thompson expressed belief in the young man's innocence of the charge.

The Waters reside at the Santa Monica casino, the husband working on the wharf. He has never spoken to Smith, so far as is known, on the subject of his having made derogatory remarks concerning Mrs. Waters.

Fortune at a Stroke.

There was a flash of ruddy light, a dull roar, a cloud of smoke, and the burglars paused in breathless silence.

Apparently the explosion had aroused no one.

Reassured, the masked men crept forward to explore the interior of the wrecked safe.

Before them lay a confused mass of twisted bolts and splintered wood. Cautiously they removed the debris, fragment by fragment.

"Great Scott!"

One of them was clutching the other by the shoulder.

His eyes glistened strangely.

"Look," he cried, "the treasure."

He pointed excitedly into the farthest recess.

"If we get that out, we never need to steal again."

With trembling, they gathered into a sack the dozen and a half fresh eggs they had found, and heading nothing else noiselessly fled the place.—Detroit Tribune.

The Hoopskirt.

I remember, I remember the hoops my best gal wore

When first I went a-sperkin' her, way back in fifty-four.

For when I'd see her home o' nights I allow 'twas kinder rough

To stamp along the gutter, 'cause the walk wa'n't wide enough!

I remember, I remember the settin' room at home

When the old folks all hed gone to bed an' left us there alone.

To get in spoonin' distance was more'n I could do

An when she tuk the sofa seat there wa'n't no room for two!

I remember, I remember how I us' to sweat an' work

A-tryin' to figger out a way to beat that durned hoopskirt.

An I reckon how I dilled round two year an more that way

THE WHISKY TRUST.

Directors of the Geneva Hold a Long Secret Session.

Proxima III, May 24.—The whisky trust directors were still in session at a late hour this evening. After the adjournment of the afternoon session President Greenhut stated there was nothing to be made public in the board would be in session tomorrow. The question of raising money, however, was taken up and it is learned that a quantity of the surplus product were offered to distributing agencies at a discount. There is such an overstock that the trust is desirous of realizing. No dividend will be paid, however. The Geneva distillery will shut down this week. Other houses will be closed by the first of June. The seceders agreed to work off the stock on hand, after which there will be a shut down, pending the solution of the ownership question.
