

SOME WORLD'S FAIR MATTERS.

The Manufacturers' Building the Best of the Show.

It Would Require Nearly Six Months to See Each Exhibit.

One Hundred and Fifty Miles of Wires. The Austrian Art Display—Mexican Exhibit—The World's Fair Concerts.

Correspondence to the HERALD. CHICAGO, June 4th.

The last three days have been very muddy and dismal ones, but the visitors to the exposition never stop for that. Thick shoes and umbrellas come into service and the visitor goes merrily on. It is very bad for the state buildings though, as they track an endless amount of mud into their pretty parlors. Some states have drawn ropes across their parlor doors, and the visitors must only take a peep into the elaborate reception rooms. The past week has been full of interest to all. Many new exhibits have been installed, that attract the crowd. Comparatively few people will see all the exhibits of the exposition, and each one should plan to see what suits his individual preferences. It would take a man three days to cover the 150 miles of walk alone, and to devote a single minute to the inspection of the 100,000 exhibits, he would have to consume over 150 days working to get through the list. The main aisles of the manufacturing building are six miles in length, the art gallery has 150,000 square feet of wall space covered with paintings; if extended in a straight line, would extend a little more than two leagues, and the number of the buildings are in proportion. The visitor can readily realize, therefore, that he must arrange a system to take in even the important features of "the biggest show on earth." The most sensible plan for the new visitors is to go through the manufacturers' building first, as even if he saw nothing else on the grounds he would have learned more there than he ever knew in all his studies of countries. Every nation on earth is represented in this way, and it is a good chance to form companions of all countries.

The Austrian section of the fine art building was opened to the public today for the first. The Austrian section is in the west pavilion and leads to the German section from the west door of the pavilion. Even a cursory view of the exhibition discloses the fact that every picture on the walls is interesting. There is not a dull or commonplace bit of paint in these rooms, and the whole is a representative collection, excellently displayed and arranged with rare discretion.

The Mexican exhibit of art industries in the manufacturers' building was formally opened yesterday. The commissioners have endeavored to make as comprehensive a display as possible of the industries of the republic. Probably more attention is attracted by a row of carved wooden panels which are placed around the walls of the pavilion. The work in some is exceedingly crude, while in others are quite finished. The panels are all taken from old churches in Mexico, which were erected not later than the sixteenth century. The most important part of the exhibition is the display of the work of the potters, which range from a paper weight pear of the carved stone to immense plaques, on which have been painted pictures of Mexican home life. Quite an extensive display of pottery, wooden fabrics, artificial flowers, perfumes and other toilet articles is made. One section is taken up with the embroidered work by the women.

The world's fair concerts are becoming very popular. An audience larger than at any time previous attended the concert in music hall yesterday morning. Before the time of beginning the crowd at the doors was already larger than the seating capacity of the hall, and many were turned away. There were enough people seeking admittance to have filled the hall three times over.

Next week is to see a novelty introduced into the programmes, and it is a novelty that has attracted large audiences. On Monday at 12 o'clock the Linch choir of Russian singers will appear on the platform of Music hall to give the first of a series of four characteristic Russian song concerts. The singers will appear in the most recent costumes of Russia and Ukraine, and depict in song the life and ways of those regions. These concerts will not be free, as most of the past ones have been, but are well worth the 25 cents admission fee. There will be no free concert on Tuesday morning next.

EVYLN NIMS. WANTS TO BE A SAILOR.

A Los Angeles Boy With a Patriotic Spirit. There is a "young American" living in Los Angeles who wants to become a sailor, and he seems filled with the right spirit, too. Witness his letter to Mayor Ellert which was received yesterday, says the San Francisco Chronicle of Tuesday: June 1, 1893.

MR. MAYOR—Cannot you help my ambition to put me in the navy? I want to know how to fight for the help. If you can help me can you tell me how to go to Captain Matthews of the navy, who is going to establish that training ship at San Francisco? I am a little fellow for my age, and I am afraid I am going to be a small man, but five feet of a man is better than six feet in climbing around a mast, and I never heard that a man's height had anything to do with winning a battle. An early answer will oblige.

Yours respectfully, AUSTIN WENZELCK, 141 South Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal. P. S.—I inclose stamp for answer.

DEAR SIR: I see that a training ship to educate boys for the American navy, is about to be located at San Francisco. I write at the earnest request of my little nephew, aged 11 years. He is an orphan dependent on my sister and myself for support. He is an exceptionally bright boy, and his own ambition is to be in the American navy. I can give good references to show that the boy has been well brought up.

I am the widow of an old soldier who was in the war from the beginning to the end, and I have 48 a month pension.

I hope you will help my nephew to be as good a sailor as my husband was a soldier.

Remain yours respectfully, MRS. JANE P. ROWE, Widow of T. L. Rowe, Company K, Second Michigan Volunteers. In reply to the communication Mayor Ellert directed his secretary to send the boy the address of Captain Matthews at Washington, and such other information regarding the training ship as could conveniently be furnished.

THE CROPS.

The Weather Bureau's Report of their Condition. The weather bureau furnishes the following report of the condition of the crops in Southern California for the week ending June 5th:

The weather during the week did not differ materially from the conditions which have prevailed for some time past. The nights and mornings were cool, with quite heavy fogs, that penetrated well into the interior. The cool, damp nights caused the temperature to range below the seasonal averages. A deficiency of five degrees occurred at Los Angeles for the week, and San Diego reported a range of 11 degrees below the weekly averages. By noontime the fogs were dissipated by the sun's warming rays and the middle of the days and afternoons were clear, sunshiny and warm. Beans, corn and sugar beets derived benefit from the cool, damp nights, but the ripening of fruits and berries was somewhat retarded. Apricots are in market and command good prices on account of scarcity of the crop. Favorable reports continue concerning the peach crop. A good crop of peaches is anticipated, and the prospects for plums are fair.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY. Prof. Hugh D. Vail's weather summary for May showed the mean temperature to be 59 degrees; the highest 83, lowest 46. Rainfall, .09 of an inch, and for the season 26.34. There were 17 clear, 7 fair and 7 cloudy days.

VENTURA COUNTY. Ventura—About 300,000 pounds of wool were raised in the county during the past season.

Ojai—A load of honey, the first shipment of the season, was sent to San Francisco the past week. Filmore—The bee men are busy extracting honey, and the haymakers are at all work. The outlook is for a good crop.

Colonia—Beans are coming up well in most cases; in some sections they were planted too early in cold ground, requiring replanting.

Simi—Everybody is busy heading and haying in this vicinity.

Sardis—Beans are looking well; hay baling is in progress, but there is little demand for it. Young trees are doing well; two lemon orchards were set out during the week. Night fogs prevailed.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY. Verdugo—Barley hay is nearly all cut and the crop is heavy. Fruitgrowers are busy thinning peaches, which will be an average crop. Fogs were favorable to crops, and the weather is clear.

Pasadena—Home-grown apricots, ripe and sweet, are now on the market. Duarte—The week was cool, with cloudy or foggy mornings, but the middle of the days were warm; the highest temperature was 86 degrees. All fruits are growing finely. Haying is over and oranges are gone.

Pomona—The apricot crop will be about the same as last year. The peach yield will be large; prunes not yet determined; the buds were abundant but the green fruit is dropping to some extent.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY. Chino—A few foggy mornings were helpful to growing beets, which promise an unusually heavy crop. Peaches and apricots have set well and the trees are loaded with fruit. Highest temperature, 85 degrees.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY. Banning—The hay crop is nearly all cut; a large number of headers are at work in the grain fields, and a big crop is being gathered.

Riverside—The first apricots of the season came in Thursday; seven palms watermelons are in market; 1081 car loads of oranges were shipped up to June 1st.

Beaumont—Hay makers are busy finishing their work, and the threshing outfits are being put in readiness for early work.

Moreno—The average yield of the 15,000 acres sown to grain will be fully one ton to the acre, or 10 sacks of grain.

ORANGE COUNTY. Anaheim—The weather did not differ much from that of the previous week; foggy nights and sunny days prevailed, with a cool breeze. Shipments of potatoes continue. The highest temperature was 85 degrees.

Orange—The vegetable shipments amount to 20,000 pounds of cabbages and 300,000 pounds of potatoes.

Santa Ana—The walnut crop in Orange county this year will be good, though not as large as last year's. The sales of nursery stock in the county are reported larger than ever before.

Tustin—Citrus and walnut orchards received their first irrigation for the season during the week. Corn is a good early crop, and is growing well. Potatoes are being shipped. The week was favorable for ranch work.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY. Elsinore—The apricot crop in the valley is very short this season and is easily disposed of at high figures.

San Diego city—Harvesting is about over. Fruits are looking well, but cool weather has kept them back some. Berries are scarce, owing to continued cool, cloudy weather. The temperature was 11 degrees below the averages for the week; a trace of rain fell on the 3d.

Here is something good for your Rheumatic Friends. If any of your friends are troubled with rheumatism have them read this: Lynchburg, Va., April 18, 1893. I desire to say that Chamberlain's Pain Balm has cured one of our citizens of rheumatism in two years' standing. One bottle did the work. This gentleman, Mr. R. H. Farnell, ticket agent of the C. & O. R. R., now recommends Pain Balm to all his friends. F. O. Helbig, 30 cent bottles for sale by C. F. Heinemann, 222 North Main.

The best map of the city of Los Angeles, containing an index to streets and giving location of railroad depots, business blocks, telegraph offices, etc., can be bought at the Herald office for 25 cents, or it will be given as a present to city subscribers on payment of three months' subscription in advance.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

Stock Exchange Review. New York, June 7.—The stock market was dull today, with fluctuations were confined within comparatively narrow limits. The market was decidedly erratic, the speculative tone prevailing changed almost from hour to hour. The general list improved fractionally at the start, but the improvement was subsequently lost. The bears continued their efforts to depress the list right up to the close, but some shares had a fine rally last night's figures. The market closed steady in tone, at a recovery of 1/4 to 1/2 cent from the lowest.

Government bonds closed firm. MONEY QUOTATIONS. New York, June 7.—Money on call easier at 3/8 per cent; time deposits 1/2 per cent.
