AN INDEX TO YESTERDAY.

BY TELEGRAPH—Vice President Stevenson at San Diego... His next stop to be at Santa Barbara... President Cleveland burned in effigy at Kingman, Ariz.

LOCAL—The strange adventures resulting from a fire, a jag and a well... The police team outshout the Seventh Regiment team by 14 points... A strong oil company which has been formed.

NEIGHBORING TOWNS. PASADENA—The electric railway franchise comes up today. SANTA MONICA—Large crowds at the beach and the casino.

The passage of his pet arm bill by a mere scratch probably leaves the German emperor in a towering rage. It will largely take off from the enjoyment of his summer outing.

That so-called reconciliation between Governor Markham and Mr. M. H. De Young is exceedingly amusing. As the governor has not developed any intention of leaving the state it is pretty safe to assume that the senatorial lightning is not likely to strike the proprietor of the tall clock tower.

The outpourings of the silver convention at Reno Saturday night were much less inflammatory than those of the Denver body, but they contained a world of wise suggestion to the people of the United States.

The hoodlum element of Kingman, A. T., has burned Mr. Cleveland in effigy. These bad boys ought to be made to realize that they have done a very foolish thing. They have a perfect right to differ with the president on any question, but they should always remember that he is the chief magistrate of the United States.

Our esteemed contemporary, the San Francisco Chronicle, undertakes to belittle the standing and weight of Vice-President Stevenson, in a recent issue. Nothing could be more absurd than this.

Whether or no we shall be treated to great wars in the near future it is pretty well assured that in nearly all countries but the United States there are great preparations for them. The Emperor William has at last been accorded the daring ambition of his brief career as Kaiser. He now rejoices in a military system that will at last produce him an army of 4,400,000 men.

military power. The states which compose the German empire are supposed to contain somewhere in the neighborhood of 45,000,000 people. By ordinary military standards it is very difficult for so large a proportion of the population as that provided by the new army bill to pass muster as soldiers.

SENATORIAL SPECULATIONS.

Probably one of the most unique phases of newspaper gossip that has happened in California for many a day is that which hinges around a possible appointment of M. H. De Young to succeed Senator Stanford.

There were several circumstances for which the Democrats are indebted for carrying the last legislature. It should be borne in mind that it is generally very much easier for the Republicans to carry that body than it is for them to carry the state.

Secretary Willard of the chamber of commerce used to be a newspaper man, and despite his present associates still preserves a taint of brightness. He was talking with a reporter the other day about newspaper ethics.

Judge Burnett, who accompanied Vice-President Stevenson here, looks like a granger, but has the wit of a diplomat. He was traveling in a town one day and saw a street-gambler fleece a countryman of all the money he had.

Without abusing anybody in particular, or going into malevolent spasm, it would be a very interesting thing to know where the large sums of money so to that are undoubtedly spent at the reform school at Whittier. There is no possibility of evading the fact that the youths who occupy that institution could be supported for less than one-half of the money which the state and county between them furnish for their maintenance.

We are not of those who believe that no good can come out of the gold-bug Nezareth. Henry Clews has written a letter in which he recommends that the national banks should be permitted to issue additional currency to the full amount of the par value of their bonds deposited as a security for their circulation in the treasury of the United States.

and a sound American policy would call for the free coinage of silver, and for the adoption of any additional measures which should give us at least fifty per cent per capita more of a circulating medium than we have now.

THE AMERICAN PUBLIC, OR PERHAPS MORE PROPERLY SPEAKING THE CHICAGO PUBLIC, IS UNCOMMONLY STIFF-NECKED AND CONTRARY.

The American public, or perhaps more properly speaking the Chicago public, is uncommonly stiff-necked and contrary. One would think, after the great hue and cry that went up for Sunday opening of the world's fair, that Jackson Park would literally swarm with people after the boon was granted.

Yesterday while President Cleveland was gazing on the perturbed bosom of Buzard's bay from the portico of Gray Gables, the eye of his eminent yoke-fellow, Vice-President Stevenson, rested on the wide expanse of the placid Pacific from the veranda of the Hotel del Coronado.

The terrible catastrophe at the Italian celebration of the discovery of America in Los Angeles last fall, had its counterpart in an accident at an Italian picnic in Chicago last night.

HERE AND THERE.

Secretary Willard of the chamber of commerce used to be a newspaper man, and despite his present associates still preserves a taint of brightness.

He was talking with a reporter the other day about newspaper ethics. The reporter remarked that he bore no malice in newspaper fights. "In fact," he said, "when it is possible I follow the scriptures and turn the other cheek."

Judge Burnett, who accompanied Vice-President Stevenson here, looks like a granger, but has the wit of a diplomat. He was traveling in a town one day and saw a street-gambler fleece a countryman of all the money he had.

"How much do you think so," said the sharper. "Well, I'll bet a $100," was the reply. The gambler snapped up the offer, but then came the question of putting up the money.

"What's the matter with you?" said the gambler. "Get up here and try the game, and either win or lose your money." "Oh, no," replied Burnett. "There was nothing said about when I was to try it. I want time to study the matter a little. I worked too hard for my $100 to risk it without studying the game."

"Did you hear about the row in the Society for the Reformation of Victims of the Pie Habit? No? Well you know I can give the real names for it might hurt some one's feelings, but the society had for secretary a well-known professional man who got himself well disliked. He was oblivious to the fact that everyone wanted him to give up his office, and at last one of the members addressed to the society an official protest against the man's continuance as secretary."

This annoying scalp trouble, which gives the hair an untidy appearance, is cured by Skoolum Root Hair Grower. All druggists. Fitchner is selling shoes at almost cost for 30 days. 255 South Spring St.

changed his mind, when a member in the rear of the room jumped up and motioned that "the honorable secretary's resignation be accepted."

The Phoenix Gazette gives an account of the completion of General M. H. Sherman's electric road in that city and describes it as one of the finest in the United States.

It appears to me as if the Press club which is being organized will take the lead of all the other clubs in the city. It will not cost a man much to enjoy the privileges and will rapidly have on its membership roll the brightest men in town.

You may not be aware of the fact but newspaper men, as a class, are a remarkably clean set of fellows. They are often terribly tempted and sometimes they do fall, but it is dollars to doughnuts that there are fewer newspapermen in the penitentiaries than there are bankers, lawyers, ministers, merchants, writers or any other class of men.

It is not exactly safe for anyone to snub a reporter, no matter whether he is prosperous or the reverse. A business man was in a news room in this city yesterday and saw a man in a city style, and as he was leaving threw a cigar down on the desk as one throws a bone to a dog.

The reporter, with admirable insolence, let the thing drop on the desk, and the man drove on in a city style, and as he was leaving threw a cigar down on the desk as one throws a bone to a dog.

A group of gentlemen were gathered about the desk engaged in earnest endeavors to figure out a mathematical problem brought over by a prominent young member of the New York bar, who stands to lose $100 on a wager if his own solution is wrong.

The man from Gotham was not satisfied with the Philadelphia professor's conclusion, so on reaching Washington he hunted up Professor George Hill, the clerk to the house irrigation committee and expert in mathematics, who in turn referred him to Professor Woodward of the coast and geodetic survey.

The Derby as a "One Horse" Race. For a fortnight or more before the Derby everybody who talked or read about the subject must have become wearied of the expression that it would be a "one horse race."

Mr. Ruskin's Finances. Mr. W. G. Collingwood, no longer a rich man. The $200,000 he inherited from his parents have gone, chiefly in gifts and in attempts to do good.

The county council of the North Riding of Yorkshire, England, had decided that they will levy any taxes during the next 12 months. They are in a wretchedly happy position. The balance at their bankers is so large that they want no more money for a year.

The highest honor of oratory at the commencement of Trinity college, in North Carolina, was carried off by a full blooded Choctaw Indian of the name of Joseph Maytabby.

CHICAGO, July 10.—This week brings one more historical event to the world's fair. As Liep, the son of Eric, sailed 900 years ago, so the viking ship will come into the harbor at the fair on Wednesday afternoon.

Running With a Human Trolley. The novel sight of a man taking the place of the trolley on an electric car was seen last night on the Lake Roland elevated railway.

A Mourning Widower. The subjoined card is printed as an advertisement in a British colonial newspaper. Benjamin Jowett Phillips of Annandale begs most sincerely to thank the good people who so kindly contributed the numerous beautiful flowers, wreaths and crosses, on the occasion of the funeral of his late dear wife, Lissy Phillips.

The Cadmus of the Cherokees. George Guess, to whom a monument is soon to be erected in Indian Territory, was the Cadmus of the Cherokees, so to speak, for he invented an alphabet for their use, and in that way distinguished them above other American Indians.

Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. Act on a new principle—regulating the liver, stomach and bowels which are the nerves of the system. Dr. Miles' pills speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles, constipation, unequalled for men, women and children.

I KEEP COOL inside, outside, and all the way through, by drinking HIRE'S Root Beer. This great Temperance drink is as healthful, as it is pleasant. Try it.

Speed on the Great Lakes. The first of the new passenger carrying whalebacks for the lakes has made a speed of 23 miles an hour in a trial trip on Lake Michigan from Milwaukee to Chicago.

Argentine's Fourth of July. The North American Indians. General Notes About the Exposition. Sunday was Argentine's Fourth of July and they celebrated the anniversary of the dawn of its freedom by opening its exhibits in the manufactures, forestry, agriculture and mining buildings at the Columbian exposition.
