OLD INSTRUMENTS.

A BROOKLYN DEALER WHO HAS AN INTERESTING PAIR.

A Lute That is One Hundred and Twelve Years Old—A Lyre That Has Existed Nearly as Long—History of Various String Instruments.

William V. Pezzoni has on exhibition in a window in Brooklyn a lute that is 112 years old. It is said to be the only one of its kind now existing.

In the earliest ages of Egypt instruments having the same general form as the harp, lyre and guitar of modern times were common.

Some historians are of the opinion that Hermes, one of the Egyptian deities, invented the three stringed lyre. These strings gave forth three sounds—grave, mean and acute—representing respectively winter, spring and summer.

The lute was adopted by the Arabs from Persia and reached the west about the time of the crusades. In the psalms of David it is spoken of as the malleh, and it is said to have been used by the children of Israel in their rejoicings after the overthrow of Pharaoh's host.

A curious claim is now made for a new comforter of down. The makers assert that their product retains all the natural warmth, but allows the impure air to escape from the bed, how or wherefore we are not informed.
