STILL ANOTHER JUNKETING TRIP

The Solid Six Board of Education Members Win.

They Will Inspect Ventilating Systems Throughout the State.

A Snappy, Sparking Meeting Held Last Night—Some Lively Discussions—A List of the Janitors Appointed.

The large number of spectators who attended the meeting of the board of education last night were well repaid for their trouble.

The session was a snappy, snarly one almost from the beginning.

One person who was present came to the conclusion that a majority of the members made a "holly show" of themselves.

The questions before the board did not warrant any such display of engendered feelings.

Six members against three was the way the voting stood on nearly every proposition that came up.

It will be remembered that some time ago three of the board visited several northern cities to investigate the various systems of heating and ventilating.

After a postponement of the matter it was again taken up at the meeting last evening.

After a motion by Dr. Wills to indefinitely postpone the proposition, the luncheon was held.

Then a motion was made by Mr. Stein that a committee of three, accompanied by the city engineer or the superintendent of buildings, be appointed to go to various schools in the state and report their investigation.

The motion was adopted. The board will defer their report until next meeting.

Two of the members who were asked to serve on the committee declined, one on the ground that he had already served in the same capacity, and the other because he declined to travel at the expense of the city.

During the heated discussions, in which Mrs. Hughes, Dr. Wills and Mr. Platt were the minority, there were several bold assertions made regarding minor sayings.

The president made the remark that if any of the members became offensive he would have to remove them. He repeated for more than once before he got it.

A letter was read from the city auditor, recommending that a clause be inserted in the contract with the firm from whom the board was to purchase the heating apparatus for the high school, whereby the board will defray the cost of the same.

The teachers' committee reported as follows: They recommended that all teachers who have married since their election be not assigned to positions in the department.

The proposition is to send the Magazine one year for one dollar, the regular subscription price.

Think of it. You receive a new and complete novel, by mail, post paid, every week for 52 weeks in addition you get the Magazine once a month for twelve months all for one dollar.

The bids of Gardner & Oliver and E. T. Cook, for school supplies, were accepted, each to furnish one-half of the articles bid on, as was also the bid of Hancock Banking for coal.

The following persons applied for positions as janitors in the various schools of the city: F. W. Ambrose, Mrs. S. P. Gibbs, Mrs. Fall, Juliet Judd, Mrs. Raviel, John H. Dickey.

Mr. Platt moved the adoption of a resolution to the effect that the Normal Review copy books be adopted instead of the Specimen system.

SCCHOOL EXAMINATION. A resolution was passed as follows: Resolved, That the secretary of the board be authorized to request the Los Angeles county board of education to hold an examination in such subjects as are required to be taught by special teachers in the Los Angeles high school, such examination to be held on September 24th.

THE RESIGNATION ACCEPTED. The resignation of D. W. Hanna from the school as teacher was accepted.

DR. WILLS PROTESTS. Dr. Wills objected seriously to his treatment in the election and substitution of school building janitors of the Second ward, about which he was not consulted.

When the report was presented by the chairman of the janitors' committee, Mr. Platt, a man was substituted for a satisfactory woman janitor who had proven herself to be competent, at the Alpine street school, and after a vigorous but unavailing protest from the representative of the second ward, who stated that he desired no changes, the vote was elected by the solid six voters.

The following are the janitors who were appointed and the schools to which they are assigned: Arroyo street school, Mrs. E. Smith; Swain street school, Mrs. Anna Wilson; Chestnut street school, Mrs. M. P. Tallin; Hillman street school, Mrs. T. Small; Gates street school, Mrs. A. Aisenberg; Griffin street school, Mrs. G. Gillington; Hays street school, Mrs. G. Gregg; Castella street school, Miss Inez Tapia; Sand street school, Mrs. A. Platt; Alpine street school, John C. Glidden; Temple street school, Mrs. E. Sherman; Grafton street school, Mrs. Rosa Garcia; Fred street school, Mrs. N. Porter; Union avenue school, Mrs. W. W. Wilson; Fremont street school, Mrs. J. Baker; Spring street school, Mrs. Chas. Jackson; Eighth street school, Mrs. John Robson; Tenth street school, Mrs. Lavina White; Sixteenth street school, Mrs. J. B. Calton; Thirteenth street school, Mrs. A. Barthel; San Pedro street school, Mrs. John Spangler; Stanton avenue school, Mrs. Simonds; Seventh street school, Mrs. A. Rickard; Ninth street school, Mrs. S. Miller; Hewitt street school, Mrs. A. McElvray; Amelia street school, L. McPherson; Ann street school, Mrs. E. Kelly; Macy street school, Mrs. A. Arlaga; Cornwell street school, Mrs. Morrow; Broad street school, Mrs. Carrie Lingenfelter; First street school, Mrs. Mary Hallman; Eight street school, Mrs. Santa Fe avenue school, Wm. Nelson.

THE FORESTERS. They Are to Have a Gala Time Today at Santa Monica.

Today will be a gala one among the Ancient Order of the Foresters of America. They will assemble in Santa Monica cañon, cohort on cohort, and they will prove by their assemblage to the people of Southern California that the one thing to be desired above all others is to be a member of the Foresters.

All Southern California will be represented. The newly organized court of Columbus, as its name would indicate, leads the van. Then follow court of Los Angeles, Fremont, Olive, Francaise and East Side, all of this city; Court Citrus of Riverside, San Bernardino, court of this city, in addition to Pioneer court of Santa Barbara, and Diego of the city by and climate, and Pomona, Santa Monica and Pasadena. All meet together tomorrow as a unit in Santa Monica cañon at a grand picnic, and exchange fraternal courtesies and best wishes.

Court Columbus will be the "most observed of all observers." Its institution last night was an event which will be commented on the world over, and best wishes from the Foresters all over the globe are coming in to congratulate it.

Prof. M. S. Carrizosa, who at its inauguration performed many intricate pieces of music, and who is known as the most expert thresher of the guitar strings in Southern California, will be in attendance, as will a representative of the Latin population of the city who will entertain the guests at the cañon.

The different courts will parade in full dress at 8:30 today, and then take the 9:30 train from the Arcade depot for the cañon. The train will leave at 10:00 afterwards, and the Foresters have decided to paint the cañon in all colors of the rainbow.

Something unique even in these days of mammoth promenade offers, is the latest efforts of Stafford's Magazine, a New York monthly of home and general reading.

AND THE BAND PLAYED

ANNE LAURIE FOR COOPER AND TA-RA-RA FOR JACOBSON.

A Case Before Justice Seaman in Which Two of the Muses Were Involved.

A Verdict for the Bandmaster.

The case of Louis Jacobson, the leader of the Park theater orchestra, who recently struck a legal discord between himself and the proprietors, Messrs. Cooper & Stoner, of the theater, concluded nearly all of yesterday before Justice Seaman.

The charge against Jacobson was for obtaining money under false pretenses, and was preferred about two weeks ago.

Jacobson is a veteran musician, and he knew Cooper in Nevada.

In the days of 1891, and Cooper bought him in San Francisco to come here and take charge of the orchestra at his theater, which he, in conjunction with Stoner and Sawyer, owned.

The case was tried by jury, and counsel acquitted themselves with all the necessary formality and vehemence of speech. The prosecution claimed that Jacobson according to contract was to hire five musicians at $17.50 and one at $25 a week, and that they paid him accordingly with his own salary at $25 a week; but that instead of doing this Jacobson paid the men at the rate of $15 a week each and pocketed the remainder of the stipulated sum.

The action was brought on one specific case of $25.00 thus appropriated, and the case came within the province of the justice's jurisdiction, the prosecution relying on the fact that in case of conviction on that isolated count, they could pile up others of the same kind and dating back from February to August.

Jacobson, as his attorney, Hon. J. Maria Brown, contended that he was a "chicken," and it was claimed for him that he stipulated with Cooper & Stoner to furnish them an orchestra at the rate of $132 a week, and he assumed the responsibility of engaging the players. He did so, and according to his statement the Los Angeles talent he playing at the "Park theater" being "nothing less than woodworkers," he brought from San Francisco players "well up in the business," whom he engaged at the rate of $15 a week each.

Jacobson was business-like enough to take from each of them a receipt for his weekly stipend, after having collected for each $17.50 from the proprietors, and there was no complaint on the part of the hired musicians. Further than this, Jacobson claimed that it was understood between him and his old-time friend, Cooper & Stoner, that he was to play at his own price, and pocket the difference, if any accrued. Therefore the case narrowed down to a question of veracity between Jacobson and Cooper.

The attorneys well earned their fees in "long and labored" speeches, and the jury, after listening to the evidence, decided in favor of Mr. Jacobson's version of the contract, and he was set free and continued to "toot his own horn."

HE GAINED WEIGHT. Billy Phelan's Experiences at the City Jail.

"Billy" Phelan was yesterday released from the city prison after a service of 117 days. Phelan is a bright young fellow in appearance, about 19 years old, but in the past few years he has established a record among the police for being one of the most besotted opium fiends in the city.

His family is well to do, but their efforts to reclaim him were all in vain, and they had to appeal to the police. Time and again the officers arrested him, and he served short terms, but they had no lasting moral effect upon him.

The last time he was arrested was down in a Chinese opium den, where he had been for three days, and he was in a most pitiable condition. He was a mere skeleton, and for a time his life was almost despaired of, so exhausted was his nervous system. The police took charge of him, however, and carefully nursed him. He had been sentenced to pay a fine of $120 or serve 120 days, and the cash not being forthcoming he was doomed to serve the term.

During that time he has not been permitted to touch opium, and he is now a changed man. He has gained 57 pounds since his imprisonment, and yesterday being his one hundred and seventeenth day, on account of his excellent behavior he was discharged from custody.
