Moses of Georgia spoke against the repeal of the bill, and opposed the proposition to raise the standard from 16 to 1 to 20 to 1.

The house then adjourned. SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

Nearly Every Member Giving Utterance to His Financial Views.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The flexible rules of the senate are proving of great service just now by permitting every member who has the inclination to give utterance to his financial views at any time and to any extent he may choose. While Senator Voorhees did not succeed in getting the upper chamber to enter today, as was hoped, upon active consideration of his bill swelling the volume of national bank currency to the par value of their United States bonds on deposit, the greater portion of the day was devoted to financial discussion of was devoted to financial discussion of one or more various propositions or resolutions pending. No one expects decisive action by the senate until most of the senators have had an opportunity to express their views, and anything which offers occasion for speech-making may be said to be a step toward a final solution

Manderson introduced two bills which he said had been prepared and sent to him by a gentleman of financial ability, and which were read by their titles and and which were read by their titles and referred to the finance committee. The titles are: "Directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issuance of treasury notes therefor, and for the appointment of a mint commissioner," and "Providing for the issuance of treasury notes, their redemption and for other Purposes."

Voorhees, chairman of the finance committee, said he had been appealed to by several senators not to call up to-day (as he intended) the bill to enable national banks to increase their circula-tion to the amount of the par value of the bonds deposited by them, but he gave notice that he would do so tomor-

Cockrell offered an amendment directing the secretary of the treasury to pay to the holders of 2 per cent bonds who may present them for redemption, their face value, with accrued interest in United States legal tender notes.

Sherman stated objections which occurred to his mind against the amendment. He said the president of the United States had called attention in clear and forcible language to the fact that the treasury notes iesued under the act of 1890 were presented for redemption in gold, and that caused the first falling off of the $100,000,000 gold reserve. The proposed amendment he regarded as a most dangerous financial proposition.

dressed the senate in favor of a double standard of gold and silver. The repeal standard of gold and silver. The repeal of the Sherman act, without other legislation, would, in his opinion, place the country upon a gold basis; would prevent the future coinage of any silver, and forever practically destroy silver as money. He (Berry) believed in a double standard, and was not willing to cast his vote for a gold standard money. He believed President Cleveland was a man of the highest and most patriotic purposes: a man of great shilling thor. purposes; a man of great ability, thoroughly honest and absolutely fearless in the expression of his opinions. Cleveland had often declared in favor of bimetallism, and he (Berry) was confident that, notwithstanding the president's failure to discuss bimetallism in his message, he would approve any bill that repealed the Sherman law and pro-vided for the circulation of both gold and silver on such terms as would give them equal value.

Allen gave notice of an amendment to the national bank circulation bill, to the effect that interest shall cease on bonds on which additional circulation shall be

The Lodge resolution was taken up with the Gallinger amendment to it (to the effect that it would be unwise and the effect that it would be unwise and inexpedient to make any radical change in the tariff prior to March, 1897), and Gallinger addressed the senate. He declared himself ready to vote at the earliest possible moment for the repeal of the Sherman law, though he did not believe that much-abused law was largely responsible for the existing financial evils. He believed silver and the Sherman act had infinitely less to do with the business depression today than the anticipated onslaught of the party in power on the McKinley tariff bill.

In conclusion, Gallinger said: "Let the bill, permitting banks to increase their circulation, be enacted into a law, and let this regolution and amendment and let this resolution and amendment be adopted, and confidence in our finances will be at once restored both at home and abroad. Trade will brighten and another era of prosperity equal to the marvelous prosperity of the administration of President Harrison will speedily come to the United States."

At the close of Gallinger's remarks, the senate proceeded to executive busi ness and soon adjourned.

ANDI-SILVERITES.

They Now Claim a Majority of 27 in the House

Washington, Aug. 16 .- The executive committee of the anti-silver forces in the house appointed at the conference last night, held a meeting this afternoon for consultation. A poll of the house has been practically completed by canvassers in the interest of the anti-silver faction, which is said by one of the leaders to show a majority of 27 in favor of unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause as provided in the Wilson bill.

Harter estimated that if the house successfully passes what he calls the danger point, the vote on free coinage at the ratio of 20 to 1, the majority for the Wilson bill, which will present the naked question of repeal or no repeal, will be 100 more. On the other hand Bland says there are representatives who may vote against the coinage of silver at any specified ratio, who will not vote to wholly abolish the use of silver as a money metal, which would be the effect, he says, of passing Wilson's bill.

"If there are any representatives from silver districts who would thus vote," said Bland, "they had better make terms with the administration, for they cannot do it with their people."

Harter's doubt as to the result of the vote on the proposition to coin silver at a ratio of 20 to 1 is said to be due to information conveyed to the anti-silver executive committee that there are upwards of 40 Republicans who will vote for the establishment of free coinage at that ratio. Bland, however, believes the ratio of 16 to 1 will be stronger in the house than any other, despite the reported 40 Republican votes for 20 to 1.

The repeal Democrats readily concede that they must have Republican votes to succeed, and have asked Republicans to come to their aid in the discussion now progressing.

Hoke Smith's Paper Advocates Free Coinage of Gold and Silver. ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 16.-In an editorial on the financial question this evening, the Journal, owned by Secretary of the Interior Smith, calls upon congress to pass a bill for the free coin age of both gold and silver, putting enough silver into the silver dollar to put it on a parity with the gold dollar.

IS COCKRAN A BACKSLIDER?

General Tracey Placed in Command of the Anti-Silverites. Washington, Aug. 16.—The marked absence of Bourke Cockran from the anti-silver men's meeting at the Arlington hotel last night and the appointment of General Tracey as chairman of the executive committee, in his stead, occasioned rumors to be started that the distinguished Tammany orator had taken umbrage and would not longer seek to lead the forces for unconditional repeal of the Sherman act. The additional surmise was ventured today that Mr. Cockran would be found eventually siding with Senator Hill in favor of a bimetallic standard.

He will also allege that the directors of the Pacific bank had no right not power to confess judgment, or that the bank was insolvent.

Cockrell ridiculed the objections made by Sherman, whom he spoke of as a great friend and patron of national banks and as a great gold monometallist.

Many questions were asked by Messrs.
Mitchell, McPherson, Peffer, Aldrich and Gray. They were all replied to by Cockrell, who expressed his amazement and mortification at the objections made to his proposition by the friends of national banks.

THE INDIAN COUNCIL WEAKENS.

Drafts Offered for Sale at Reduced Rate.

An Acknowledgment of Its Recent

It Looks as Though India Had a Hankering to Reopen Her Mints to Free Coinage

By the Associated Press.

London, Aug. 16.—The market was surprised and disturbed today by the sale of Indian council drafts at 1s 3%d. When the Indian mints were closed to free coinage of silver, the council fixed the rate for drafts at 1s 4d, and the sudden reduction has caused a general feeling of unessiness. A tender for bills at 1s 318d was refused. In consequence of the reduction of the price of drafts, rupee ls 3½d was refused. In consequence of the reduction of the price of drafts, rupes paper dropped 1½d.

London, Aug. 17.—The Times in a financial article this (Thursday) morning says: "Denver and Rio Grande, preferred, was quoted higher yesterday, owing to an absurd impression that the Indian government was about to reopen the mints to silver. Whether the decision taken on this subject be wise or not, it is not at all likely that the government will interrupt it so soon as this. The origin of the rumor was the action of the Indian council in selling drafts at 1s. 3½d. From the beginning it was doubtful whether the ceuncil would be able to force the market to buy on their own terms. In fact, Indian exports would be immediately contracted and Indian imports expanded, thus simultaneously reducing the demand for and increasing the supply of remittances to the east. This, we must assumé, has been overlooked, or not sufficiently allowed for. Moreover, no account could have been taken of other means of remittances which at a pinch could be and actually were made use of, such as rupee paper and even silver. On the other hand, we fear the majority of the council overestimated the rapidity with which the cessation of coining would begin to give the rupee a monopoly value. This is a matter on which it would be foolish for any outsider to offer an opinion, but arguing on purely prior grounds it should certainly be thought rash to assume that a cessation of coinage of less than two months could possibly affect the value of an article of which so large an amount was known to be in existence. Perhaps the stoppage of mintage for a few years may produce some effect, but even that is in no way certain."

New York, Aug. 16.—London cables received in Wall street this afternoon reported that the Indian council had receded from the position it took when it closed the Indian mints to free coinage of silver, and were selking council bills below the arbitrary fixed rate of 1s 4d. The advices were meager and did not state whether the mints had been reponed. In the absence of definite opened. READY MONEY NEEDED.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 16 -Ready money, or an equivalent that will be current with all who may be called upon money, or an equivalent that will be current with all who may be called upon to handle it, is absolutely necessary to move the crop now being harvested in the northwest. Ready money in sufficient quantities is unobtainable, and, as a substitute must be forthcoming, the bankers of St. Paul are now formulating a plan by which it may be provided. The plan proposed is an effective but not an original one, being in short the device of the New York clearing house. This means that the banks of St. Paul and Minneapolis should issue clearing house certificates in denominatione of $5, $10, $20 and $50, which could be loaned to buyers to be used in payment for wheat to farmers and of freight charges to railways, and thus carry wheat to market, when the proceeds will be returned to the banks, thus putting them in fands with which to redeem local currency. This plan meets with most favor, but the matter is still unsettled. The carrying out of any plan will receive the co-operation of the banks, jobbers and railways, and from interviews had with jobbers and railroad men, it is quite certain that they will agree in any action taken by the banks.

This afternoon William Shaw, of Troy, was appointed receiver of the Gilbert car works and William Kemp and James Keenan, of Troy, were appointed receivers of the Troy Iron and Steel company on a joint bond of $100,000. The latter company has a capital of $2,500,000, and its assets amount to $1,300,000; liabilities, $2,000,000. Equalizing Things.
Entrope Herald: While the grave and dignified city council is sitting as a board of equalization and demonstrating to the uneducated mind "how not to do the chief toad in the puddle, doing and saying about as he chooses, would it be competent for just an ordinary layman, one who has only the privilege of man, one who has only the privilege of paying taxes, to ask a question? Where was our valiant assessor last June when a number of people well known in the city were drawing much money out of the banks and stowing it away in various secret places? It is said about $3,000,000 were withdrawn in three days, a tax on one-half that sum would have a very easing effect on the owner of a house and lot or two which he camot conceal. These people ought to pay for their fun. These people ought to pay for their fun.
Our assessor proudly strokes his breast and noisily announces that he has discovered a whole lot of property to tax.
Was he ignorant of these other things? People who have it in their hands to wreck banks and prostrate a city's pros-perity surely ought to have a penalty laid upon them. And why was it not done? The assessment list shows nothing.

when the body is racked with pain, the mind cannot be joyous.

But the hope of happiness is held out to the unfortunate alling by the assurance that their ills can be healed. This assurance is expressed by many good people in these columns. The words of praise and comme dation they speak cannot fail to make the impression they desire to create. Their object is a noble and lofty one. It is to enable others to find the way to health and the enjoyment of the physical well-being that God intended all to enjoy.

Now, with the assurance that there are physicians who can furnish the relief and cure that the sick desire, is the further assurance that the cost will be so small that even those most severely pressed for money can afford it. Self-preservation is the first law of nature, and though this law works cruel effects at times, it is just and proper. Our first outy is to ourselves.
