

DAILY EASILY DOES UP CARTER.

Some Brilliant Playing at the Tennis Tournament.

The San Francisco Professional is a Wonder.

Today's Programme—Association Singles—All-Comers' Doubles—The Tennis Ball a Great Success—Notes.

Yesterday the devotees of tennis had their fill of the game for there has never been an equal exhibition of the sport in Southern California as that enjoyed by the assemblage which packed the grand stand to suffocation and the space between the courts and the stand.

The great drawing card was the exhibition game between J. L. Daly, the San Francisco expert and exponent of the game and Carter. It was to be played under championship rules, the best three out of five, and although Carter did not take kindly to being made the attraction for the Roman peasant in the grand stand, he kindly took his position and played.

He played as he never had before, every stroke was a good one, his judgment never faltered, still he seldom got a ball where the alert professional could not pick it up and return it with added force.

Fred W. Roche. (The Pasadena man who is doing fine work in the present tournament.)

Daily plays a perfect game, which seems to be effortless and his drives are the pink of perfection, there is not a feature of the game but what he plays to the queen's taste. Lithe, agile, with endurance of a trained athlete, it is worth a journey many times the distance between Los Angeles and the sea to watch him. The score was 6-3, 6-3, 6-0.

The other match of the day which was intensely interesting and well played was the final in the all comers doubles between the Carter brothers and Alexander and Lester which was a hard fought one, full of brilliant plays. Score: 4-6, 6-3, 8-6, Carter brothers winning. This left the Carter brothers tournament winners of the event with Alexander and Lester runners up, and the Carter brothers to play the Chase brothers for the challenge cups and the championship of the all comers doubles, which will be played this afternoon.

Last year the Chase brothers were pitted against the Carters and won.

The programme for today will be the final in the association singles at 10 a. m., and at 2 o'clock the championship match in the all comers doubles, with the chance of an exhibition game in the mixed and the final in the mixed doubles.

The following is the score in the exhibition match between Carter and Daily by points:

Table with 4 columns: Set, Net, Out, Aces, Paced, Double, Fts. Rows for Carter and Daily.

ASSOCIATION SINGLES. Play was continued yesterday in association singles. E. Caverton defeated to M. A. Chase as did R. P. Carter to Routh in the preliminary round. In the first round Frick beat Shoemaker; score, 6-1, 6-0. M. A. Chase beat Lester, 6-0, 6-2.

Rowan defeated Acker, 6-5, 6-3, 6-3. Freeman beat Cosby, 6-1, 6-1. McGilvray won from Frick, 6-5, 6-2, and Picher from Routh, 1-6, 6-1, 6-1.

This was the most stubbornly contested match of the event, the last set lasting an hour and a quarter, and there being over 80 passes before the set and match was won by Picher, who is playing remarkable tennis considering the fact that it is his first tournament.

In the second round Waring defeated Frick after a stubborn contest; score, 6-2, 6-4, 6-1, while M. A. Chase defeated to his brother, L. N. Chase. Picher beat Rowan, 6-2, 6-5, and Freeman beat McGilvray, 6-1, 6-3, and Picher vs. Freeman to contest in the semi-finals, the successful one to meet Alexander, the holder of the cup, in the association singles for the championship of this event and the cup.

ALL COMERS' DOUBLES. In the all comers' doubles, Alexander and Lester defeated Routh and Gilvray by the score of 6-5, 6-1, and were in turn defeated by the Carter Bros. in the final by the score of 4-6, 6-1, 8-6. This was a beautiful match and attracted the attention of the large audience present, who vociferously applauded the many good plays of the contestants, and it took the very best work of the Carter Bros. to defeat the boys who played a strong game, both on the net and base line.

MIXED DOUBLES. In mixed doubles there were four entries. Mrs. Teale and Mr. Routh vs. Mrs. Hendricks and Mr. Cosby, and Miss Carter and R. P. Carter vs. Miss Shoemaker and Mr. Lester. In the first round Mrs. Teale and Mr. Routh defeated Mrs. Hendricks and Mr. Cosby by the score of 6-5, 6-5. It was a pretty and close match. This left the winners to play the Carters in the final.

THE TENNIS BALL. The tennis ball of '33 is a thing of the past, but the vivid remembrance of the enjoyable terpsichorean feast remains and will be a pleasing picture for many years on memory's walls, for the devotees of pleasure and tennis of '33. The brilliantly lighted ball room was decorated with floral gems artistically worked up into tennis emblems, and the dancers kept rhythmic time to the enchanting music of Kammeys' orchestra. Supper was served at midnight, and in the repeat Mr. Reinhart's orders to the chef to make it an epicurean feast were obeyed to the letter, and it was in keeping with the other features of the social affair. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Severance, Mr. and Mrs. P. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Winslow, Judge and Mrs. George E. Otto, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. J. Macchell, Mr. and Mrs. J. North, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hoy, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bettner, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Vawter, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Press, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. W. Young, Mr. and Mrs. G. Waring, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gaffey, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ward, Misses, Stillman, Burt, Dingley, Sutton, Misses, Carter, Hall, Campbell, Robertson, F. Routh, Shoemaker, Brooks, Van Dyke, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Corson, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. Shaw, Messrs. J. Bettner, Routh, Berry, Messrs. Herbert H. Garsten, Mand, F. Carter, R. P. Carter, Wm. H. Hall, E. Parker, H. E. Routh, Shoemaker, Ed Tufts, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cosby, Mrs. E. F. P. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. White, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Dobbins, E. J. Vawter, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Abbott Kinney, Mr. W. S. Gilmore, Mr. L. R. Works, Mrs. J. D. Works, etc.

Mrs. Walter Maxwell and daughter visited the courts yesterday. A number of cyclists rode down on their wheels from Los Angeles to see the game between Carter and Daly. The bicycle singles has been scratched from the list of events.

Any one caught whistling on the courts this morning after the Ball is Over, will be summarily dealt with.

Mr. and Mrs. Reinhart were observed on the grand stand. Heville escorted a number of ladies to the courts.

MISS HOFFMAN'S STORY.

AT FRIENDS' SUGGESTION SHE FILES A SWORN STATEMENT.

An Authoritative Denial of All the Allegations Made in Detective Lawson's Report, Supported by One from Mr. Trout.

Miss E. L. Hoffman, who was mentioned in Detective Lawson's report on the Bentley case, yesterday at the suggestion of friends called on District Attorney Dillon and prepared for him an affidavit which was filed with him. In brief the document reads as follows:

She relates in this way she became acquainted with Bentley by answering an advertisement which he inserted asking for a correspondent. They corresponded and finally met in San Francisco. She had known a Mrs. Reynolds in San Francisco, and when she came to Los Angeles Mrs. Reynolds secured a room for her. After arriving here she discovered that Bentley really was from Mrs. Reynolds, and that he was married. As soon as she found he was a married man she told him her acquaintance must cease. Mrs. Reynolds suggested, she says, that she had better continue her acquaintance with Bentley, that it might be profitable. She would not consider any such thing, and went to the Figueroa hotel. Mr. Lemmert, the landlord, she says, spoke of the Bentley affair, when her name was first mentioned in connection with it, and she told them how she had made her acquaintance. Mr. Lemmert, she asserted, that evening introduced Judge Guthrie to her, who examined her letters from Bentley and he told Mrs. Lemmert she had a case against Bentley and could get money from the "and she did not want to lose money that way all she wanted was to be let alone." After looking at the letters he advised her to leave town if she did not wish to become a witness in the case. That they were looking for her as a witness in the case. She left that evening and went to Santa Monica, and the next day, much to her surprise, her trunks and property that she had left at the Figueroa hotel were sent to her, though the understanding when she left was that her belongings were to remain in the hotel. She then became suspicious of the motives of Guthrie and Lemmert in advising her as they had, and returned to Los Angeles the next morning.

She went to Anaheim next day to see for Mrs. Langenberger, but first went to the postoffice in this city and left directions about forwarding her mail. She had no thought of hiding or keeping out of the way of the officers, and took no pains to conceal her whereabouts, and told several acquaintances in Los Angeles where she was residing. She has not been at any time in Alhambra. The articles which have been printed about her are untrue. She never told Lawson or anyone else that she bought poison for Bentley, and never did buy any poison for him, and never gave him any.

The affidavit is sworn to by the deputy district attorney, M. W. Conkling. Accompanying this document was also filed an affidavit from Mr. J. H. Trout, which states that Miss Hoffman never purchased any poison from him or at his store, and that he never made any such statement to Lawson or anyone else.

A guest of the Hotel Figueroa during Miss Hoffman's stay there writes to the Herald speaking most highly of the lady and her character, and stating that she is surely the victim of misrepresentations, a theory which she seems to have fully established.

BLANCHE NOT IN A TANTRUM.

She Talks About Pacific Coast Art Appreciation.

Though San Franciscans Did Not Like Her Los Angeles Do.

Miss Walsh Says She Was Misrepresented by Reporters in the Bay City, and Gives Some More Talk About Her Views.

Miss Blanche Walsh, the talented leading lady of the Frohman company, now presenting Bronson Howard's play, Aristocracy, about the merits of which there is such a wide diversity of opinion, is, according to the San Francisco papers, a very difficult and dangerous young lady to interview.

The Examiner reporter, whose shining success in detailing an interview of what did not occur, under the startling head of "Blanche in a Tantrum," evidently was prepared for a most difficult task that he did not exactly consider himself capable of doing justice to, and as a result a few of her vivid imaginings appeared in that now celebrated interview.

As a Herald reporter, who presented himself at the Westminster last night after the performance, with a request for a short interview, no such danger was in sight during the pleasant time that followed his entry into Miss Walsh's parlor.

With pleasing readiness and charming grace she expressed her willingness to answer all questions that would in any way be of public interest. In reply to a question as to the origin of the statement that appeared in some of the San Francisco papers, to the effect that the people there were in no way educated up to the dramatic standard that she was accustomed to find in the east, and that San Francisco was "a jay town, anyway," Miss Walsh very earnestly said:

"The article first appeared in the Examiner, there being no foundation whatever for such a ridiculous charge. 'How would I, a young actress, claim to set myself up as a judge and declare that the people had not the proper understanding of what was good in the dramatic line, when Sarah Bernhardt, the greatest actress of our time, Parisian surely the most marvelous and skillful congress that ever lived, and others who stood highest in their art, had appeared there and had been enthusiastically received and appreciated? And as for using and applying the term 'jay town' to San Francisco, it is a phrase that I am not in the habit of using nor have I ever thought of using it in reference to any place.

"The reporter of the Examiner came to me, was received by me, and kindly and courteously answered when he put to me a multitude of tiresome and needless questions concerning my reception in other cities, the opinion of the critics and the cost and material of my dresses. 'I am at times slightly nervous, and as I am now wearing up your cards in my little bin, so, perhaps, did I tear up the card of the Examiner's man, and that was the foundation for his story that I was in a tantrum and tore up his card and with a violent gesture threw it down. Before going he asked me for my picture, as he wished to publish it next morning in a review of the play and my dresses. Instead of applying the picture to any such purpose he used it in that cruel attack on me, which I consider a most reprehensible departure from professional courtesy.

"While I recognize at all times that it is the right of the critics to state their opinions of a play and those who interpret it, and if they do not approve, condemn, it seems to me that they are going out of their province when they attack a young girl without cause. 'In San Francisco the people showed that they did not like Aristocracy, nor me in my conception and impersonation of Diana Stockton. Of course much as I would have liked it to have been otherwise, I feel that they have a right to their opinion.

"Two years ago, when I appeared with Marie Walworth, my efforts were enthusiastically received. So far, San Francisco has been the only city that has failed to appreciate our play, and I was greatly gratified and moved at the large and appreciative audience gathered at your beautiful play house this evening to witness our performance. 'I like Los Angeles and her people; I have always been kindly and considerably received here, and I hope with all my heart that your people will like me and always entertain that pleasant feeling toward me that I do toward them.

"I cannot imagine how anyone living in this beautiful city, with its lovely climate, attractive drives, people highly educated to all that is good and elevated and with its wealth of beautiful flowers at all seasons of the year, can help liking everything and everybody. I may perhaps be pardoned when I say that I want everybody to like me, particularly everyone in this beautiful city," and the retreating scribe vanished, bearing in mind what a charming picture this very earnest young woman made as she expressed this very feminine wish. He thought that could the people of this city see her as he just had, her conquest would be complete at once.

PERSONALS.

J. Watson of England, who is touring California, is in the city.

Mr. Dave Hayman of all over the United States, is here in charge of the Aristocracy company.

C. M. Rydon, head of the New York Life Insurance company of San Francisco, is staying at the Nadeau.

Wheeler W. K. Cowan, Jenkins, Tyler and Allen will go to Santa Barbara today to witness the bicycle races.

Specimens were brought into the city by A. M. Parker, a resident of the cañon, who was very earnest in his description of Mountain Charlie's find.

THE COURTS.

Cases on Trial Yesterday—New Suits Filed.

Contrary to general expectations the Billy Young murder trial was not concluded yesterday.

At the morning session of court the testimony was finally closed, the defendant being recalled and testifying in his own behalf. He denied having been at Irene O'Brien's crib at the time she was burned, and stated in detail what he claimed were his movements that night. He denied that he ever threw any lamp at the girl, and followed along the line of the alibi outlined by the witnesses for the defense.

The opening argument for the prosecution was made by Deputy District Attorney A. W. Ryan, and he reviewed the testimony for over two hours, making a strong presentation of the case.

He was followed by Zu Beck, for the defense, who occupied the balance of the afternoon. There was a large crowd of spectators in the court room all day.

The concluding arguments will be made this morning.

It is the general idea that the prosecution has made a much stronger case than on either of the preceding trials of the defendant, but whether the jurors will convict or not is an unknown quantity.

Judge Smith granted a decree by default yesterday to Mrs. Mary A. Robinson from Millard F. Robinson upon the ground of desertion.

G. M. Worden, who was held to answer to the superior court on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, was before Judge Smith yesterday under habeas corpus proceedings. After a short hearing the writ was granted and the defendant was discharged, owing to errors made by the justice.

Judge McKinley yesterday granted a divorce to Mrs. S. E. Smith from W. C. Smith. The grounds upon which the decree was ordered were desertion and cruelty.

A judgment of foreclosure was granted by Judge McKinley yesterday in the case of M. E. Haynes vs. W. Denby.

NEW CASES.

Among the papers in new cases filed yesterday in the county clerk's office were the following:

R. S. Derrig, et al. vs. S. W. Strong. Suit to enjoin the defendant from conveying any interest in the water or water rights on the Omaha tract, and that certain deeds be reformed so as to give each plaintiff his proportionate share of the water rights.

Petition by Mary Gregory for letters of administration on the estate of Joseph Gregory, it being valued at $1250.

Martin Forrest, receiver of Newton & Best, vs. A. P. Spencer. Suit for $2569.05 alleged to be due from defendant on account of livery hire, repairing buggies and wagon, fed furnished and cash advanced.

Petition by C. E. DeCamp for letters of administration upon the estate of Wallace Woodworth, the estate being valued at $500.

Divorce proceedings have been commenced by Geo. S. Turner vs. Flora Pearl Turner, Flora M. Wallace vs. Edwin L. Wallace.

WANT A TALL MAST. Citizens Protest Against a Proposed Electric Light Removal.

A petition from property owners was filed with the city clerk yesterday for presentation to the council, protesting against the removal of the electric lights from the most corner of Figueroa and Jefferson streets. They ask that all proceedings be abandoned and that the lights be allowed to remain.

They claim that the lights on low masts, as proposed by the council, will not sufficiently light that portion of the city owing to the thick shade trees. The petition adds that the long distance from police headquarters and lack of proper police protection at that point make it necessary for a large and powerful light at the corner of the streets in that vicinity.

A SAN GABRIEL CANON BONANZA.

Mountain Charlie Strikes a Rich Gold Lead.

Nuggets of the Yellow Metal Which Promise Big Returns.

The Location of the Old Mountaineer's Find—The Prospect Good for Further Discoveries.

San Gabriel cañon is proving to be more than a delightful summer resort for those who seek rest and health. Gold is being found at the head of the cañon in paying quantities, and if future finds prove as profitable as present ones, Mountain Charlie, the prospector, will be referred to in a very short time as Millionaire Charlie.

This individual has made the cañon his home for 14 years, and his occupation has been probing mother earth for some of her riches. And at last he has been successful, having located a prospect that is showing large quantities of color.

The mine is located in the Narrows, about 12 miles above the store and camp of Follows Bros., and yields principally free gold, several specimens being recovered which were lumps of free gold, the largest of which weighed $36.

Several persons have made flattering offers to Mountain Charlie, but the aged mountaineer and prospector prefers to profit himself for his long years of constant and patient research.

The cañon will no doubt be visited by many people who are interested in mining properties, and it will, beyond question, prove to be another rich camp at an early day.

The specimens were brought into the city by A. M. Parker, a resident of the cañon, who was very earnest in his description of Mountain Charlie's find.

HE USED A DIRK KNIFE.

Serious Cutting Affray at Inglewood—Albert Scott arrested.

A colored man giving the name of Albert Scott was brought in yesterday from Inglewood charged with assault with a deadly weapon and lodged in the county jail.

Scott was employed on the outfall sewer and got into a dispute with a fellow workman which ended in the negro drawing a vicious looking dirk knife which he had in his pocket and badly cutting his opponent. After the assault, he was driven out of the camp by the men but returned yesterday morning and gave himself up to Constable Freeman who brought him in to the jail.

The condition of the man who was cut has not been learned.

Scott is the same fellow who swore out a complaint against Bennie Myers and his partner charging them with robbing him of $50 which, however, it was proven they won from him in a crap game.

A PATENTED GAS.

Interesting Damage Suit Filed in the United States Court.

A complaint was filed in the United States circuit court yesterday by W. B. Wall, M. S. Jones and A. D. Bishop vs. W. L. Adams, all of Tustin.

The plaintiffs claim that they have a patent upon a process of clearing trees of scale by the use of hydrocyanic gas in the absence substantially of the active rays of light, and that defendant has appropriated to his own use their methods, and has refused to pay anything for the privilege, although repeatedly notified to do so.

By the use of this fumigating method plaintiffs claim that defendant has benefited his orchard and increased his profits to the extent of $700, and the court is asked to grant such damages as it may consider just and compel defendant to desist from the use of the above mentioned method.
