

PASADENA.

The Council Proceedings—Court Matters—Notes.

PASADENA, Oct. 16.—The city council met in regular session at 2 o'clock, with Judge Mead in the chair, and present Councilmen Clarke, Cox, Lukens and McQuilling.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved, and all bills filed to date referred to committee without reading.

Upon motion it was agreed that when the meeting adjourned it should adjourn to meet on Thursday next.

The screen door nuisance came up for discussion, and an ordinance prohibiting doors swinging out on the sidewalk was declared read for the first time.

It provides that any person maintaining such a door on his premises shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be subject to a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50, or by imprisonment in the city jail for not less than one nor more than 150 days.

An application for a small rebate on taxes was received and allowed.

The report of the auditing and finance committee, recommending payment of the usual weekly bills was presented and warrants ordered drawn for same.

The action of the board taken last week ordering sewers laid on Summit avenue and Chestnut street and on North Euclid avenue was rescinded and all proceedings declared off.

This action was taken from the fact that the sewer as ordered would come directly under the street-car tracks, which would entail much additional expense.

New proceedings looking toward carrying on the work will be commenced at once.

A petition from John McDonald asking permission to cover a space between two buildings on Union street was granted.

A petition to erect a corrugated iron shed on North Fair Oaks avenue was denied.

Carvon & Sprague were granted a five days extension on the North Raymond avenue work, while Gray Brothers were given 30 days more to complete the contract for cement walks on East Colorado street.

A resolution of intention to curb and gutter Los Robles avenue on the west side, from Center to California, was passed.

A petition from property owners on Worcester avenue, to have the grade of that avenue established, was received and the city engineer instructed to make survey.

Property owners on South Lake avenue presented a petition asking that the avenue be graded, curbed and guttered on both sides from Colorado to California street. The petition was granted and the resolutions of intention drawn up.

A similar petition from property owners on Vermont between Colorado and Walnut was referred back to petitioners.

Bids for constructing a cobble stone curb on both sides of Colorado street, between Narengo and Lake avenue, were opened and the contract awarded to the firm of Dorey, Fair G Park at 11 cents per linear foot.

A peculiar communication was received from Macy Thompson, a Los Angeles bicycle rider, who was recently fined $15 for riding on the sidewalk.

The writer consumed several pages of foolscap relating his many woes, during the course of which he expressed a wish to get his money back and go to jail for the 15 days, as he said he had borrowed the money and could not pay it back.

Just what the writer hoped to gain by his extraordinary narrative is difficult to see, and the council made short work in disposing of it.

SANTA ANA.

The Irrigation Congress Delegates in Town—Local Affairs.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 16.—About 40 of the delegates to the irrigation congress arrived in Santa Ana on the 3 p. m. train today and were met by citizens at the Santa Fe depot and driven down to Spurgeon's hall, where they were shown through the exhibit of the Orange County fair, which had been left at the hall for that purpose.

The delegates appeared to take great interest in everything they saw, and the large corn, squashes and vegetables from Garden Grove and the peas and alfalfa, many exclamations of surprise from the visitors. After considerable time had been spent at the hall the carriages were again taken and were driven over the town and then to Tustin and Orange.

At 5 o'clock the carriages brought up in front of the Lacy block, where a spread had been prepared for the delegates. After lunch they were driven to the Santa Fe depot, where they took the train for San Diego at 5:45.

The irrigation system of the Santa Ana was studied as closely as their short stay would permit, and called forth many compliments from those acquainted with that line of business.

George Shirley and Roy Reed, the two recent boys who were to appear before Judge Freeman this morning were on hand on time, and after a short examination they were committed to the Whittier reform school.

J. W. Smith and family and A. Lee and family have returned from a three months' visit to the world's fair.

Judge Freeman joined in marriage H. W. Ball, aged 65, residence Anaheim, and Catherine A. Soper, aged 59, residence Santa Ana. The ceremony took place in the judge's office at 11 o'clock this morning.

Santa Ana Lodge, I. O. O. F., will hold a public meeting at Neill's hall on October 20th, with a view of celebrating the anniversary of the order.

C. S. McKelroy has returned from San Diego, where he has been attending a conformational of the N. G. C.

The supervisors met in regular session today, Mr. Tedford presiding in the absence of Chairman Yoch.

M. D. Hurliday laid a complaint before the board concerning the bad condition of the bridge at the Santa Fe crossing, and it was decided that replanking is necessary. Supervisor Ames said that the county was not responsible for damages incurred to people while traveling over the public highways.

J. B. Balfour made a claim of $100 as damages done to his farm in changing the channel of the river. Ames thought, as the work was being done for the whole county, it was not the proper thing for people to bring in bills of damages that would likely delay the improvements being done on the river.

The committee appointed to investigate the rooms offered for the law library presented a long communication concerning the different halls, but did not recommend the acceptance of any of the offers.

In the superior court the application of C. S. Parcell, on habeas corpus, was denied and the defendant remanded to custody.

E. A. Dille's application for writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Hattie L. Dille was granted, and the custody of the child was awarded E. E. Dille.

In the case of Yoch vs. Layman five days were granted plaintiff to move to strike out answer of Minnie M. Fulton.

ALHAMBRA NOTES.

The Athletic Club Making Rapid Strides—Briefs.

ALHAMBRA, Oct. 16.—Alhambra still has its steady, prosperous gait. The shoe factory has resumed operations in their mammoth building, giving employ to many hands temporarily idle, and placing a good deal of silver in circulation every Saturday evening.

The numerous dryers, wineries and vineyards are furnishing employment to hundreds of men, boys and girls. A good deal of building is also in progress, making the town very busy and full of life.

The Alhambra, which has nearly reached the 2-year-old mark, has made great strides of late, and now embraces in its territory Ramona, San Gabriel, Savannah and Monte, giving a live budget of news from each place every week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gail B. Johnson started east last week on a visit to Chicago and other Illinois towns.

Figs are waiting for buyers. Some growers will sell by the carload or trainload at 1/2 cent per pound.

The Alhambra Athletic club has grown wonderfully the past year. Starting with five members, it now numbers 55 and is steadily growing. Not only have they ample funds at hand, but have paid for a long lease on the athletic park, built a fine track and diamond, established football and baseball teams, rented the largest hall in town and are about to purchase the finest piano money can buy.

SANTA MONICA.

Irrigation Congress Delegates Visit the Beach—Notes.

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 16.—A number of the members of the late irrigation congress came down on Sunday afternoon guests of the Southern Pacific. They visited the mammoth wharf and were then railroaded through the town and home without giving the citizens of the city by the sea a chance to entertain the distinguished guests. They also visited the Soldiers' home.

The town today is almost deserted, every one having gone to the races at Agricultural park.

Tomorrow, Tuesday, the pony hurdle race will call for a large delegation from the English colony as the majority of the entries are well-known to Santa Monica and summer here.

Shiela, Mr. W. H. Young's horse, who has never been beaten, is among the entries and has many who are backing her to win again. While Penants from the Allen stable of Riverside, is booked to win by others.

The world's fair wanderers are returning to the city by the sea, and one and all, while delighted with their trip, the wonders of the Columbian exposition, etc., they are more than pleased to get back to the land of sunshine. Among those who returned during the past few days are: Postmaster W. S. Vawter and wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Suits and Coroner H. G. Cates.

Mr. H. E. Jackson and Miss Bertha Jackson have returned after a weeks' absence visiting friends in San Bernardino, Redlands and Riverside.

Mr. N. E. Folsom has returned from his San Francisco trip where he has been attending the session of the Grand Lodge F. and A. M. as the representative of the local lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Powell of Portland are enjoying a few days here.

Santa Monica text, Oct. 22, of the Knights of Maccabees has received its charter and paraphernalia and is now ready to roast al-comers. The lodge is growing and in a healthy condition.

Street Superintendent Lowman has taken the prize for bridge building, having built a bridge 40 feet long in two days with only four men. Can any other town match him? We Santa Monica are proud of the modest gentleman.

New wire is being constantly strung by the electric light company and new lights being put in. The city is more than fulfilling every pledge it made before granted its franchise.

Thomas Dunlap of Mexico, the manager of an English mining syndicate's interests in the sister republic, spent Sunday at the beach.

Mr. J. B. Folsom has returned from a northern trip to San Francisco and other points of interest.

The Arcadia management are booking a large number of guests for the winter months and Mr. Kincaid is proving conclusively that he will be able to keep his house full all the time as soon as the fact that the house will remain open the year round is thoroughly understood. He deserves credit for his enterprise from the entire community.

Sea Side Lodge, I. O. O. F., confers the initiatory and third degrees Tuesday.

Among the recent arrivals at the Jackson are John Wilson, Omaha; S. B. Comstock, Grand Forks, Neb.; D. H. Black, Columbus, Neb.; Mrs. L. Marion and daughter, London, Eng.; F. Weston, Colton; Mr. and Mrs. Hamburg, Los Angeles; J. H. Porterfield, A. E. Lyons, San Francisco; W. H. Hamer, John McCarty, Mannibig, Ia.; J. H. Manville, Chicago; P. Falagat, Peatone, Ill.

LONG BEACH.

International Irrigation Congress Delegates Visit the Coast.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 16.—About 100 of the international irrigation congress passed through here this morning on their way to Terminal island.

Exclamations of delight were spontaneous as the Pacific in all its glory on the train rounding the curve at the Alamitos turned over their astonished and admiring eyes.

The run over to the island was quickly made and the beach was invaded by men and women shell hunters who swooped down upon the souvenirs with that eager enthusiasm which characterizes all those to whom the sport is new. They were unusually well informed on the harbor question.

Judge Emery, of Lawrence, Kan., said San Pedro bay had a corner. His views were shared in by Governor Hines and all those who were discussing the situation in the hearing of the HERALD men.

About 45 minutes was profitably spent on the island and boarding the special they were slowly wheeled to give them the fullest opportunity to enjoy the grandest marine view on the coast, to the great well of General Bouton, which spouts out its thousands of gallons of water hourly. The well was photographed and each of the visitors will take to their homes the other side of the Rockies a picture of the largest flowing well in the county.

POMONA.

Services at the Congregational Church.

POMONA, Oct. 16.—The services at Pilgrim Congregational church last night consisting of songs, prayers and addresses by Prof. C. B. Sumner, President Baldwin and Prof. Norton of the college, Rev. Jones of the Claremont Congregational church (an offering of Pilgrim Congregational church, Pomona), and Dr. Hutchins of Los Angeles, each being in some way more or less peculiarly connected either with the origin of the idea of this church, its organization, its first pastor, the link between it and Pomona college, etc., presenting his part therein, made the whole a very interesting and appropriate entirety when taken together. Their open houses from 7 to 10 o'clock this evening (being free from any musical programme, refreshments, confusion, etc.) was a regular old-fashioned, social, good time commingling of friends.

The orange growers met this evening to make another trial at a legal election of directors, officers, etc.

A goodly number of Pomonites went to Los Angeles this morning to attend the opening of the county fair at agricultural park, make entries, etc. A. B. Oldwell went down with a display from Howard Bros.

There has been one blank at least taken out, upon which to make a proposal for the location of the postoffice for the next five years from January 1, 1894, and that is Mr. Osgood in the interest of a removal—the prevailing opinion, however, seems to be that it will remain in its present location—the main point is to quiet this everlasting periodical agitation.

City Trustee Elliott has moved from the corner of Third and Ellen to his new place above the railroad on Ellen near Center. Mr. M. B. Wright and family from the corner of Fourth and Parcels to their place near the corner of Gordon and Center streets.

Oratory Scindor now has a tony little turnout on which he spins around the corners in a lively manner.

The quilldriver of the Beacon has gone to housekeeping.

Pomona can now boast a 10 cent barber shop.

Three carloads of dried fruit were shipped from Pomona today, so Santa Fe Agent Vincent informs us.

Mr. L. Mathews has returned from his eastern trip.

Mr. G. E. Grier has gone to Los Angeles for three or four days.

Mr. I. N. Moore and family left today for an absence of two or three days at the county fair.

Clen Eaton, at one time Southern Pacific agent at this depot, is in town to look after his business.

R. L. Hatch, a former Pomona merchant, is in town today.

Mrs. M. B. Wright was one of the Los Angeles-bound passengers this morning.

Miss Mande Prater of Ontario is visiting Miss Ida Shurt of this place.

See the notice up here over Sunday. He leaves today.

Henry Hoffman and Mr. Blake have gone to San Francisco for a short time.

Mrs. Herman Cohn and Miss Prager of Los Angeles came her yesterday to attend a visit to their sister, Mrs. Nathan Cohn.

Our city fathers will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30, and may decide the electric light question. "We shall see what we shall see."

Power of the Imagination.

"I never was more firmly convinced of the power of imagination," said a man, "than I was by something that happened to me on the occasion of a visit to a friend. It had been an extremely hot day, and when I went to bed at night the heat seemed almost insupportable. It seemed to me that if I should open the door from my room into the hall it would make a little circulation and make the air more comfortable, and I left safe in doing this when I am an early riser, and I knew I could get the door shut before any 'churns' and started at the same moment to make butter against time. Each came provided with a watch, and the temptation was almost irresistible to turn the handle of the machine as quickly as possible. But no, butter must be 'hammered,' not driven. The silent lists were filled with the provokingly deliberate 'flip, flop' of 40 churns. One of the slowest combatants won the race. I never realized more plainly that 'most haste is worst speed.'—Cornhill Magazine.

HOME FROM SCHOOL.

Now here I am in the good old place—Yes, little mother, I'm here to stay. Let me hold your hair against my face. And kiss both cheeks in the dear old way. Just look at me hard—I'm well and strong; Just feel my arms—they'll stand you best; I'll go to the kitchen where I belong; You go to the porch and rest. Now hear, little mother, you dear little mother, Sit under the vines and rest.

I liked my teachers, I liked my books. I had my share of the pranks and fun. But my heart came back to the sweet home nooks. And rested with you when the day was done. I used to think what you had for tea. Just what you were doing and how you were dressed. And somehow or other it seemed to me I didn't take half enough rest. You sly little mother, you sly little mother, I'm going to have you rest.

Dear little mother, it brings the tears Whenever I think I've left you do. You've planned for my pleasure years a year—It's time I planned a little for you. So drop that apron and smooth your hair; Turn back the curtains and let the sun in. Lean back in your chair, let go your care, And really and truly rest. You neat little mother, you sweet little mother, Just take a vacation and rest.

The Beauty of Wrinkles.

And now an authority inveighs against steaming the face as a preventive against wrinkles, alleging that this is the swiftest and surest process by which to produce them. "The second layer of the skin becomes attenuated, and there is a decrease in bulk of the superficial layers," is the technical explanation which the lady will not understand and does not need to. The simple fact is sufficient. But why should wrinkles be such a red rag to every woman? They must inevitably come if one lives long enough, and barring the suppression of the habit of frowning and the avoidance of dangerous cosmetics it seems useless to fight them.

Time was when we were taught that they were the lines of character, and time is when character, as shining forth in the expression of the face, makes the wrinkles forgotten. Watch the soul behind the wrinkles. Take as much care of that as you strive to of the outer layer of cuticle, which is its external semblance, and the wrinkles will be lost or overlooked in the serene and steady eye and quiet but smiling mouth. "Think lofty things," says a preacher, "and the countenance will show the thought."—New York Times.

The Natives Had Scruples.

Once an amusing story was told me by a South sea trader, writes Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson. He had been in the habit of carrying all sorts of tinned meats, which the natives bought with avidity. Each tin was branded with a colored picture—a cow for beef, a sheep for mutton and a fish for sardines.

It happened that the firm who furnished the mutton thought it a good plan to change their labels, that their goods might be more easily distinguished from others. The mark chosen was a red dragon.

The natives came with their copra to trade as usual. The new tin was shown them, but they recoiled with horror and gave the trader to understand that they had had some religious instruction and were not to be deluded into eating tinned devil.

The trader was forced to eat his stock of mutton himself, for not a native could be persuaded to touch the accursed thing.

"More Haste, Worse Speed."

"Of all the 'tournaments' I ever saw, one among the 'dairy maids' at an agricultural show was perhaps the last to associate itself with that heroic procedure which such a word suggests. There were about 40 of them armed with 'churns' and started at the same moment to make butter against time. Each came provided with a watch, and the temptation was almost irresistible to turn the handle of the machine as quickly as possible. But no, butter must be 'hammered,' not driven. The silent lists were filled with the provokingly deliberate 'flip, flop' of 40 churns. One of the slowest combatants won the race. I never realized more plainly that 'most haste is worst speed.'—Cornhill Magazine.

Kumfins (in fruit store)—Which is correct now, "these peaches are a cent apiece," or "those peaches are a cent each?"

Striking for a Raise.

"If," said Mr. Tenacew wearily as he came out of the proprietor's office and walked easily to his place behind the handkerchief counter; "if an injection of gold will cure the liquor habit in all its forms, why will a similar judicious use of whisky or a like beverage not be a sure cure for heartless miserliness and hard fisted penny-pinching?"—Boston Herald.

People who do not believe in dog stories are really subjects for heartfelt commiseration. They have either been unfortunate in their canine acquaintances or have not the penetration requisite for proper interpretation of dog characteristics.

It is said to cost less to send the product of an acre of wheat from Dakota to England than it does to manure an acre of land in England so that it can grow good wheat.

Queen Victoria is superstitious about precious stones. She invariably wears a chrysochryse in one form or another and thinks it brings her good luck.

A western geologist says that Kansas can waste wheat for another 1,000 years before exhausting the necessary properties of the soil.

Wisdom and virtue are by no means sufficient without the supplemental laws of good breeding.

A Thimble for Mrs. Palmer.

Mrs. Potter Palmer is to have a thimble when the fair is over. Women look at it reposing in its crystal and silver case and ask one another, "What will she do with it?" It is a gold thimble, beautifully made and set with 40 diamonds around the rim. The thimble bears a design of Machinery hall with "World's Columbian Exposition, 1893-1894" in relief.

There are thimbles in Machinery hall which are studded with pearls, turquoises, emeralds, rubies, diamonds and other precious stones. Some are silver overlaid with gold, some are hand chased, some are of unique designs which cost $100 or more. It would seem that designs and decorations were limited when applied to thimbles, but women can take their pick of 103 different styles in gold and silver and pay all the way from 50 cents to $150 for a "thumb bell," as the old German called the thimble when he invented it years and years ago. In the German section of the Manufactures building are thimbles capped with onyx, but Americans prefer a silver thimble which has been well knurled.—Chicago News.

A Literary Salad.

A well known society woman, who possesses a great fondness for and familiarity with books, has invented a very amusing game that promises to gain much popularity at her own and other house parties this fall. She calls it a "literary salad." The method of playing is at once simple and ingenious. Tiny leaves of green crinkled paper are attached to little Japanese toothpicks. Around these are written quotations more or less familiar. The toothpicks are then stuck into caramels, thus enabling the leaves to retain a perpendicular position. The salad thus arranged is placed in a large bowl. The participants draw leaves in succession, and the one guessing the origin of the greatest number of quotations receives a prize in the form of a book, a silver trinket or a piece of bric-a-brac.

The game has proved most entertaining. One may see at once the possibilities it possesses both from an intellectual and social standpoint.—Philadelphia Press.

Lady Florence Dixie.

Lady Florence Dixie, who is credited with the intention of starting a new woman's paper in England, is a sister of the Marquis of Queensberry and one of the most versatile women of the day. While yet a girl she had excited the enthusiastic admiration of "the shires," where riding is carried to a fine art, by her straight and intrepid going, and in the saddle she has journeyed over the best part of Europe, has explored the wilds of Patagonia and went through the Boer campaign early in the eighties as "special" for The Morning Post. She has written a novel, is somewhat of a poetess and has appeared on the platform to plead for "the rights" of her sex. Furthermore, she has devoted husband and a delightful home—The Fishery, at Windsor—and two handsome boys. Yet one thing more, she has a strange power for sale at a great bargain. Catarrh of the Head, Throat and Stomach

Yield to the New Method of Treatment.

The marked efficiency of the new method of treatment in general catarrh of the head and poisoning of the entire system is aptly illustrated in the case of Miss B. Gonden, of 831 South Los Angeles Street, who says:

MISS B. GONDEN.

"For about eight years I had been troubled with chronic catarrh, but the past two years it became so much worse that life was almost a burden to me.

"I most always got up in the morning with a dull headache, mostly above the eyes. My hearing was impaired; sometimes roaring in the ears, nostrils were stopped up, mucous dropped down my throat, and a watery discharge from the chest and distress in stomach. The past year had a very annoying cough, some pains through the chest and distress in stomach. Also suffered with loss of sleep at night, and a tired feeling during the day.

"Being advised by friends, I decided to try Dr. De Monco and associated. Now I have nothing to complain of; really, I feel like myself again. Have no headaches, sleep peacefully, and no more trouble with my stomach. What more can I say—except to recommend all sufferers to Dr. De Monco and associates."
