

CHALLENGER CHIEF ALL RIGHT

He Wins the Stallion Trot in a Game Contest.

An Attractive Programme at the Races Today.

Some Good Races Please the Crowd. The Great Racers to Appear Today—The Exhibits at the Pavilion.

The annual fair is now in full blast, and some great light-harness races will be seen before the week is out.

The track presented a very animated appearance, and society was well represented in the grand stand and the equipages which were lined up on both sides of the judges' stand.

The wheelmen were next called out. There were 10 contestants in the five-mile race and the riders appeared on the track in multi-colored uniforms.

The runners which are so popular with the patrons of the track was the next attraction. Button, Polaski, Ali Baba and Sewanee sported silk.

The four stallions that were to do battle for the $1000 purse were next summoned out. Betting was fast and furious, and the best winners of Gossiper were so anxious to get their money.

The fifth heat was gallantly contested. Challenger Chief led by two lengths, but the supporters had every confidence that Gossiper would beat Challenger Chief down the stretch.

The fourth heat Challenger Chief went off in the lead and carried Gossiper to a break. The northern horse won the race by a wide margin.

The 2:30 class was a little one-sided, Lady Clare winning in straight heats. If pressed, she would have undoubtedly entered the 2:20 list.

The 2-year-old colts' stake was equally as one-sided, Adelaide Simmons shutting out her only competitor in the second heat and trotted in 2:20 1/2.

Table with race results including Trotting, 3-minute class, and various stakes with names of horses and jockeys.

Today's Programme. The great race of the day will be the free-for-all pace which Silkwood, W. Wood and Our Dick are entered.

First race, half mile, sprinters' stakes—Gypsy Girl, 127; Belle, 119; Ben H., 117; Wolf, 114; Fin Slaughter, 109.

This building is to the left of the gate and is two stories in height. Here are shown the various display products, implements and miscellaneous articles.

Another creditable showing is made by the Jubilee Incubator company, which has several machines on hand, including one in which are seen a number of the chicks hopping about in the warm inside.

There is also a good showing with grapes on a table by the main entrance. There is not much of a variety, but the specimens shown are very fair.

Some very clean, healthy looking Lisbon lemon trees are exhibited by E. Pollard & Sons.

Howland Bros.' display of olive trees and oil is close by and is worth an inspection.

The Advance sewing machine is also shown.

H. Postcher shows a column of various kinds of wines, and Bishop & Co. have a veritable display of preserves and candies.

The Standard Sewing Machine company has several machines on exhibit, and the display of the California cultivator, a chemical production, is shown in front of the main entrance.

The display in the gallery is limited principally to fancy work. Quilts of all shades, sizes and descriptions are to be seen everywhere pinned along the walls and resting on the tables.

On the left side gallery is one of the finest displays in the entire building that of the Cudway Packing company.

The variety of canned goods are stacked in pyramids high towards the ceiling. Luscious hams and sides of rich bacon hang about the booth, while the ends of the long counter are two tempting looking pigs roasted whole.

The tidy and fancy work is also good, as is the display of designs and draughting by Fred J. Belmont.

Beaman and Herdes have a fine display of tidies, dollies and other fancy work at the end of the gallery.

The poultry is shown in a small, white building by the entrance. The display is rather limited in numbers, but is very fine in quality.

The largest display is that of the Indian games, while the Plymouth Rocks come next, with the Coochins third.

There is an excellent showing of bantams at all the previous fairs. The pigeon display is also good.

The horses are quartered in the long row of stalls fronting the track, while the cattle are to be found in a side yard opposite the grand stand.

The judges will begin at 10 o'clock this morning and make their decisions over the various exhibits.

SOME SERIOUS CHARGES. Mrs. Forbes' Children Protest Against Mr. Forbes Being Administrator.

A petition for letters of administration was filed by Charles H. Forbes, husband of the deceased, September 27. It is set forth that the estate consisted of personal property and real estate in this county, San Diego county and Mexico, and the value is stated to be not to exceed $26,000.

Forbes, who is very well known as the manager of the R. S. Baker rancho. There are 12 children, and nine of them are mentioned in the contest which has been filed, A. H. and J. A. Forbes, adults, and William, John, Thomas, Robert, Louis, Louisa and Josephine Forbes, minors.

The contestants attack the appointment of Charles Forbes, making some serious charges against the propriety of his administering the estate. It is alleged that he is incompetent by reason of improvidence and want of integrity; that he is "dishonest and lacking in probity and brightness and soundness of moral character and principle."

They allege that they are informed and believe that Mr. Forbes dishonestly claims to own certain property belonging to the estate.

It is further alleged that during Mrs. Forbes' lifetime, by means of fraudulent transactions, he obtained from her large amounts of money belonging to her, which he converted to his own use; that the claims were without right and are dishonest, and that he is now indebted to the estate for the amounts.

The value of the estate as given by the contestants is larger than stated by Mr. Forbes. They say that they believe the property is worth $50,000.

The appointment of J. M. Elliott as administrator is asked for by the contestants.

THE COURTS. Cases on Trial Yesterday—New Suits Filed.

THOSE NEW SALOON RULES.

They Will Now Take Effect on November 1st.

Proceedings Yesterday at the Police Commission Meeting.

Several New Saloon Licenses Granted. A Man Who Wanted to Remonstrate Chief Glass.

The regular weekly session of the police commission was held yesterday. Mayor Rowan and the new appointee, W. W. Stockwell, were absent, the latter not being qualified.

AN OFFICER FINED. The chief's report showed that he had suspended Police Officer Sam Dugan on the 18th inst., for a breach of one of the rules. Mr. Dugan was highly commended by the chief as a good officer as a rule. Mr. Boshyshell thought a suspension of a month from the force would be the proper thing to do, while Mr. Bradish thought he should be fined, and finally he moved that Mr. Dugan be fined $25, reprimanded and notified that a repetition of the offense would mean final dismissal. Mr. Weldon was in favor of a $10 fine, but the motion was put and carried.

SALOON LICENSES. Robert Kern asked and was granted a permit for license for saloon at 201 West Second street, under the Bryon-Bonebrake block.

Benil Waldeck was granted a permit for license of saloon at 101 Requena street, transfer from G. Drake.

T. A. Jones asked and was granted a transfer of license for saloon at 228 South Spring street from Robert Kern. The applications of Spinetti Bros., for permit for saloon at 416 North Main street, transfer from O. H. Kiefer; and Joe Manning for license of saloon at 300 North Alameda street, were referred to the saloon.

Walter Nicholson withdrew his petition for saloon license at 300 North Alameda street.

Charles Bogart was denied a permit for saloon license at 233 East First street.

SENT TO BACK. Councilman Innes, to whom the commission referred a petition from Temple street property owners asking for a policeman in that district, sent the petition back without any report.

SOMETHING "ON THE SIDE." An unusual communication was read from D. G. Runyon of 412 North Los Angeles street. It was addressed to Chief Glass, and stated that if the chief would use his influence to have him appointed watchman at First and Spring streets he would give the chief all money over $50 a month. The solicitation was made gently but firmly, and was referred to the waste basket.

CHANGED THE DATE. The saloon regulations adopted August 15th and ordered to take effect October 1st were, on motion of Mr. Bradish, changed to go into effect November 1st. The chief was instructed to have the regulations printed and distributed among the saloon keepers and all officers.

MINOR MATTERS. The petition from ex-Governor Downey and 29 others asking that Officer Shannon be retained at the corner of Spring and Temple streets was filed. The petitioners stated that it was understood that an attempt was being made to have him removed on malicious grounds.

G. W. Hudson, George McFall and James W. Bell applied for positions on the police force. Filed.

The investigation of a direct advance in value made in values of inside and preferred residence sites during the coming winter, and at the present moment property that changes hands will prove to be advantageous investments for the present purchaser.
