

GENTLEMEN'S DAY AT THE RACES.

The Owners of Buggy Horses Compete Yesterday.

The Great Free-For-All Trot to Come Off Today.

McKinney, Klamath and Ollinger the Favorites—The Events of Yesterday and Who Won Them.

With one exception the races yesterday were in the nature of walkovers, it being a day of retribution for the favorites. There were five races run, of which four were trotting, while only one was by the docked tails. This latter race was the most exciting of the afternoon, the winner getting under the wire a bare nose ahead of the second horse.

The other events included the 2-year-old colt stakes, and the gentlemen's races. There was only a fair attendance, but considerable betting was done in which the short ends got slightly the worst of the investment.

The day was more pleasant than the two previous, the weather being warmer and the sun shining. The track was very hard and faster than on any other day of the week.

It was nearly dark when the final heat was run, the programme being considerably prolonged. The events will commence today at 12 o'clock sharp, and will include the great free for all trot, the second most important race of the entire event.

In the running event Walk sold as favorite and won in two straight heats. The race was three-eighths of a mile, best two out of three heats.

The crowd got off well bunched. Walk took a slight lead and kept it for the entire distance, winning in 35 1/2, Ben H. a good close second, Gipsy Girl third and May Golding distanced.

Some difficulty was experienced in starting the trio for the final heat, but they got away at last with Walk and Ben H. slightly ahead. Walk led by half a length into the stretch, when Ben H. drew up and made a hard fight for the heat, but was beaten by a nose, Gipsy Girl last. Time, 35 1/2.

2:27 CLASS. It was conceded that Gossiper would walk away with this event, and as a result he was barred from the betting, the guessing being done for second place. There was no award made of second money or place as each of the three field horses in one of the three heats ran second, or third or fourth, leaving them exactly even and tied for second place at the end of the race.

Flora was the choice for the first heat, in which she got second place, but did not get either of the remaining ones. Conn getting the second and Tono the third.

In the first heat Gossiper led from the start, with Flora trotting a steady second, the other two breaking. Gossiper increased his lead all around and they finally swung into the stretch with Flora second and Conn trotting strong, Tono well up. Conn tried hard to catch Flora, but she had too big a lead and finished nearly a length ahead, Tono last.

During this heat the aeronaut went up in his balloon and nearly everybody watched him instead of the race. The drop was made safely. Gossiper again led all of the second heat, drawing away from the field, winning in a 39. Flora followed him for second place, but Conn, who had dropped behind in the first quarter, drew up and passed Tono in the first of the third quarter and caught Flora in the last, swinging into the stretch ahead of her. Conn lost his feet but soon steadied down and got second place, Flora finishing third and breaking badly, Tono last.

Gossiper again walked away with the third heat and race, but Tono managed to finish second. Conn started breaking in the first quarter and was left by Tono, who caught and passed Flora at the half, who was also breaking. Conn passed her and, and Flora broke repeatedly for the rest of the race, breaking badly at the finish and coming in last. Conn could not catch Tono and finished third.

GENTLEMEN'S RACE. This was the most amusing event of the whole week. Several of the animals took it into their heads not to trot, and persisted in running almost the entire race.

P. Q. had an easy race, taking the event in three straight heats, none of the other horses being dangerous near at any time. Draco finished second in each case.

TWO-YEAR-OLD COLT STAKES. McCuen took the race, getting the first two heats. The balance of the field settled the other places between them.

TROTTING NOVELTY. Gray Cloud easily took the first heat, Sir Credit the second and Princeton the last.

SUMMARIES. Directors' purse for all ages, three-eighths of a mile, best two heats; purse, $300.

He Wanted a Divorce in Order to Marry Another Woman.

Clara Armstrong was discharged yesterday at the conclusion of her preliminary examination before United States Commissioner Van Dyke. Mrs. Armstrong was charged by her husband with unlawfully opening his letters.

As the case developed it gradually became apparent that Armstrong's scheme consisted in endeavoring to get his wife sent to the penitentiary and on that account obtain a divorce and then marry the other woman.

The other woman in Miss Allie Leach of Santa Barbara, and it was an amorous letter of Miss Leach's which the wife opened.

There were a quantity of nauseous love letters, written by Miss Leach, which were introduced.

At the conclusion of the evidence, the district attorney rose and stated that Armstrong's motive in having his wife arrested was apparent that he should move to dismiss the charge.

DIED IN THE STREET.

EPRAIM KOITAMAKI TAKES AN OVERDOSE OF MORPHINE.

The Body Discovered by Two Ladies on Temple Street—The Dead Man Left No Word as to His People or Why He Killed Himself.

Epraim Koitamaki, a young Russian was found dead yesterday afternoon, under circumstances which point to suicide as cause of death.

Mrs. R. Baumgartner, who resides at First and Fanning streets, was walking up Temple street early in the afternoon in company with a Mrs. Corbar of Omaha street.

Near Carey's dairy the two women noticed the young man lying down by the side of the road. They would have paid no attention to the incident if it had not been for the extraordinary palor of the man's face.

Both women, however, jumped to the conclusion that the fellow was drunk, and walked on.

Sometime afterwards Mrs. Baumgartner returned home, and on her way back noticed the body of the dead man still there. Mrs. Baumgartner then became uneasy and began to suspect that something was wrong. Before investigating, however, she sat down on her doorstep, and determined to watch the recumbent figure for a short time.

She watched until the conviction forced itself upon her that she was gazing at death, and then she rushed horror-stricken to her next door neighbors, who went to where the body lay and called the coroner.

When W. F. Briggs of the firm of Orr & Satch drove out to take charge of the body he found by the side of the dead two bottles, one was wrapped with an ominous looking red cover and bore the word "Morphine" and the other was a gin bottle, the poison evidently having been mixed with the spirits.

There were no other papers or letters of any kind. The dead man was lying in a little hollow with his head resting on a tuft of grass, and he evidently died without a struggle, one hand being in his pocket and the other lying carelessly open, in the same position as when the suicide composed himself for his last slumber.

An inquest was held in the afternoon upon the remains and a verdict of suicide returned in accordance with the facts.

It is supposed he killed himself while in a state of depression caused by want.

THE SUPREME COURT.

Action Deferred on the Pacific Bank Case—Two Decisions.

The supreme court made an order in the Pacific bank case yesterday, fixing November 7th, at San Francisco, for a hearing on the application for a writ of prohibition to prevent General Willy from acting as receiver.

A decision was rendered in the case of Maggie Phelan and Mary O'Connor, respondents vs. Edward Smith, appellant, affirming the judgment of the lower court. It was an action in ejectment to recover some land in Los Angeles county. Plaintiffs had judgment and the appeal was taken from it and an order denying a new trial.

The motion to dismiss the appeal in the case of Childs vs. Lanterman et al. was denied.

A decision was rendered affirming the judgment of the San Francisco superior court in the case of Toomy, appellant, vs. Hale, respondent. The action was brought to recover $1775 for legal services. A judgment was rendered for the defendant in a former action, and in the present case the former judgment was held to be a bar to plaintiff's cause of action.

A number of cases were submitted in both departments upon briefs to be filed.

BICYCLE MATTERS.

The Two Cowans Make a Tie for a Record.

The local cranks were served a treat yesterday, by "Little Jimmie" Cowan, the winner of the 5-mile handicap race at the Agricultural Park. Cowan tried for a record at the Athletic Park.

Young Cowan is the only Southern Californian that ever held a world's record; he held the maiden record for two months till some youngster took it from him at Riverside. Owing to the pacemakers not getting off soon enough, he did not get a fair start. Following is his time: One-quarter 38 1/2, one-half mile 1:13 1/2, three-fourths mile 1:48 1/2, one mile 2:24 1/2, 1 1/4, W. W. Fox and H. McCrea, Cowan.

W. R. Cowan also tried for a mile. Few Long and C. Cowan were his pacers: One-quarter mile 37 1/2, one-half mile 1:13 1/2, three-fourths mile 1:49, one mile 2:20 1/2. Both of these young riders are satisfied that they can do a mile a good deal faster, and will try it again next week.

Every traveler should carry a box of TUTT'S PILLS.

TIPS ABOUT STATE POLITICS.

A Whole Lot of Campaigning Under Way.

What the Local Statesmen Are Endeavoring to Bring About.

Some Interesting Gossip About the Programme Which is Supposed to Have Been Arranged by the State Politicians.

If any one thinks the present state administration is not looking to the future he should buy himself a telescope; ordinary glasses won't assist him sufficiently.

The plans are being laid very quietly, and orders have gone out to fight exceedingly shy of the newspapers.

But just the same there is a possibility of informing the rank and file of the Republican party, confidentially, of what is going on under the surface.

A state is being made up with exceeding cunning with which to catch the reluctant voter, and the work is being done now right in Los Angeles.

This state may be designated, for want of a better term, as the administration programme. Those eminent statesmen, Maurice Kocovina, Higgins, the private secretary of Governor Markham, Dan Burns, Harbor Commissioner Bassett, our own original Hervey Lindley, and Tom Lewis are figuring pertinaciously in the matter as far as their powers will permit.

There is very little which these gentlemen do not think they can accomplish, and the envelopes around the Nadeau hotel have been productive of results.

Various state offices have been parcelled out with a view to keeping a clutch as a clutch on some, if not all, of the situation.

Hervey Lindley and his myrmidons have contracted to deliver a very large and powerful combination of delegates in aid of the programme, and some of a most magnificent character are to be thrown to the Cerberus of the south.

The head of the ticket lies between Irwin C. Stump and Justice W. F. Fitzgerald, and there isn't any manner of doubt that Hervey is working tooth and toenail for the latter. With how much authority from the able and widely admired justice is problematical. A good many friends of his are telling him to shake Hervey.

What the coteries of statesmen wish for is to secure the naming of the governor, and they propose to be very liberal as far as the rest of the ticket is concerned.

They will put up Lient-Governor Redick for the same position. "You see," said Hervey yesterday, while expounding the plan to a con-henchman, "that gives us the mountain counties."

Then with Oregon Sanders of Tulare county the gang will capture the San Joaquin valley. The office for which he will be put up is that of attorney general. This will be the nature of the motion for Oregon, for he is now deputy attorney general.

Pratt of Humboldt county is the choice for surveyor general and his selection covers not a multitude of sins, but another section to be swung into line.

There was considerable difficulty about clerk of the supreme court, but J. Steppacher of San Francisco was finally selected. He is now secretary of the state board of health.

There has not been a definite decision yet about the state controller. Siebe of San Francisco or Controller E. P. Colgan will come in, but the arrangements are yet open for this office.

For secretary of state Attorney General Ward, our own county clerk, has been selected, and is expected to strengthen the ticket in the south. "Trow" was a little bit uncertain what he would have, but finally settled on secretary of state.

At first he wanted to be clerk of the supreme court, and then drifted into the vortex of the attorney-generalship, but was at last induced to swing Southern California into line for the ticket as secretary of state.

Don't you see the fine Italian hand of some Machiavelli in the list as it is? It is great and that this is not me guess work, the future will show. The geographical genius of the combine, whether it be Melville Rene Higgins, Danny Barnes, Phil Cramm or Neddy Nihil, has got in his work in great shape. "Why to be sure," says a great of Humboldt, "I'd like to be surveyor-general, and you can count on me for 'programme' work."

Judge Wm. Junius McKinley, who aspires to the supreme bench, can see a very large sized and comfortable chair awaiting him. They do say that Hervey Lindley has assumed the direction of the judge's campaign in addition to lifting his gubernatorial candidate nearly but firmly into the chair. There is absolutely no limit to Hervey's magnanimity. He would give everyone an office if there were enough to go round, except Judge W. H. Clark. That is where Hervey draws the line.

And see how he has contracted. From now on until the convention meets he will pick up a delegate here and a delegate there, and, claiming about three times as many as he can deliver, will make himself felt.

There is a possibility that he may engineer his special protégés into magistracy, and he must be consulted upon who thinks Hervey is not making the other gang uneasy and disturbing their slumbers ought to see the way they are hobnobbing with him around the Nadeau.

There is a rotund statesman who is making a great point of assisting his friends in their ambition. It is Tom Lewis.

Just what Tom wants has not yet been revealed, but there are several nice places for which he will resign his present job and must be consulted upon the "programme" or he will throw all the weight of his influence against it.

The "programme," as outlined, is as far as the crowd has gone as yet. They have been talking it over in the hotels,

DR. CHICHESTER'S BIRTHDAY.

Mr. John Shirley Ward Makes Some Pleasant Remarks.

At a church social given last evening to new members of Immanuel church, which happened to fall on a birth anniversary of the Rev. Dr. Chichester, Mr. John Shirley Ward, the master of ceremonies for the evening, said:

Our programme tells us that we are to celebrate a birthday this evening. A birthday is an important event in every one's life. In fact, it is the starting point. It is really the first thing we ever have which we can call our own; and, therefore, should be twins born, then only one-half of it is ours. We are very hard to satisfy on this point, for whether born in palace or hovel, we generally have a cry over it.

A birthday, up to the age of 20, is neither of the masculine nor feminine gender. After the age of 20, it seems to be mainly masculine; that is, it is not patronized to any very great extent by females. To mention it to females who have passed the age of 20 is more solemnizing than the tolling of a funeral bell.

It is said that the old family Bible which contains the records is hidden away in the closets, not because "higher criticism" has shaken the faith of its owner, but because it points with unerring finger to the date of our birth. It is said that one young woman refused to marry because her age would have to be published in the list of license, thus dispelling a long kept-up mystery.

But, with all these little idiosyncracies of woman, we love her still; and to every true man she grows lovelier in her silver tresses than she was when youth and beauty clad her with locks of gold.

It was said of the great orators, who charmed Athenian audiences, that the Attic bees had lingered around their cradle, and had dropped on their infant lips the honey of Hymettus; and may we not say tonight that years ago, in a cradle in far away Maryland, the Attic bees have lingered lovingly, touching the infant lips with the honey of persuasion, drawn not from classic mountains, nor from classic flowers, but from the very garden of God.

May we not hope that those bees will continue to touch his tongue with a divine unction, and that in the far off years, when his last song must be sung, that it will be like the last song of the swan, his sweetest and his best.

THE NUMBER DECREASING

Santa Ana as a Tramp Gauge for Southern California.

City Marshal Joe Nichols of Santa Ana was in the city today for the purpose of securing some witnesses in a case in the courts there. In conversation with a HERALD reporter Mr. Nichols said that the tramp nuisance was being somewhat abated in Orange county, but nevertheless the officers had not relaxed their vigilance in the least, and only last week succeeded in capturing one of the gang in the act of burglarizing a house.

The through tramp travel from Los Angeles to San Diego via the Santa Fe railroad track, Mr. Nichols says, is nowhere near as heavy as it was several weeks ago, either coming or going.

Santa Ana has always been a stamping ground for tramps in Southern California. It is just a good day's tramp from Los Angeles, and the orange groves and orchards around the town are close to the railroad track afford a good shelter for them over night.

So when the tramps begin to decrease in number around Santa Ana it is safe to assume that their numbers are lessening all over the southern part of the state.

Emma Told May

That Charles and Mand were going to the great auction sale of lots at Angelano Heights today and as a result the whole family will attend, including the baker, coal oil man, carpenter, water collector and last, but not the least, the family pet, little "Dixie," who has lots of money, that he will certainly invest in the grandest opportunity ever offered to make money. That is by buying lots on Angelano Heights today at 2 o'clock in the time, and the Temple street cars will take you there.

Remember, there is no reserve or limit. The lots will be sold. Maps, catalogues and special free tickets over Temple street cable road at Easton, Eldridge & Co.'s, 121 S. Broadway.

THE JUSTICES' COURTS.

Cases Which Were Under Consideration Yesterday.

Hermann Steinicke was examined yesterday before Justice Austin upon a charge of burglarizing the residence of E. Gerlich, in company with two other men, some weeks ago.

There was no evidence to connect Steinicke with the affair and Justice Austin discharged him on the conclusion of the hearing.

William Welch was caught endeavoring to roll a drunk in a Main street saloon Thursday. Yesterday he was taken before Justice Austin who gave him 60 days straight for disturbing the peace.

U. Kilgoer was arrested yesterday by Detective Auble, and arraigned before Justice Austin upon a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Kilgoer is well known to the police as a desperate man, and the charge against him now is only another serious order to prove a more serious offense.

A SEWER IN THE SEA.

THE BIG OUTFALL PIPE SUCCESSFULLY LAUNCHED.

Six Hundred Feet of the Iron Section of the Outfall Sewer Put into Position Yesterday—The Way It Was Done.

That 600-foot cast iron section of the outfall sewer has been successfully launched at last and it didn't require a wharf to be built to launch it from either.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when City Engineer Dockweiler and others of the party which had gone from this city to assist in the work left the place, about half of the great cast iron tube was floating on the water and the remainder was on the down hill slide with good prospects of soon invading McGinty's sandy domain.

The scheme for sliding the awkward thing down into the water, which finally proved successful, was very simple, after it was devised, but it took some fine figuring just the same. There was no precedent to go by so the idea had to be entirely original.

The entire pipe rested upon a wooden framework, which had to be moved along with it. Capstans were rigged on either side and tackle run from these to the rear of the framework. A train of heavy horses operated each windlass. Out at sea the tug Pelican was stationed, with a tow line fastened to the pipe.

Some difficulty was experienced with the pipe after it began to leave the solid ground, on account of the tide currents, and it was found necessary to weight the pipe with sand bags so that it would float just below the surface of the water.

After the first preliminary operations were over, the pipe moved steadily at the rate of three feet to the minute, with four interruptions. The force which was at work yesterday afternoon intended to remain steadily at the work until the whole 600 feet of pipe was removed from the shore and rested in place upon the bottom, exactly where it will be when the sewer is in operation.

One of the grave questions which confronted the engineers of the outfall sewer has been overcome.
