

A LARGE CROWD VISITS THE FAIR

Armory Hall Visited by Many Last Night.

Some of the Booths and What They Contain.

A Fine Musical Programme—Luncheon and Dinner Companies Now in Favor—Several Given Yesterday.

Perhaps no more worthy object appealing to the charity-inclined people of Los Angeles exists than the fair now being held in Armory hall for the benefit of the orphanage.

There are over 350 of these little homeless ones whose mute appeal reaches to everyone. Thrown upon a cold world through no fault of their own, they are left helpless at a tender age when they scarcely realize the true meaning of a mother's tender caress or a father's loving care.

These little mites of humanity, many of them must be clothed and fed, and to do this requires money and time. The sisters, under whose guidance these little tots are fostered, are obliged to depend largely upon the public for assistance in their endeavors to clothe, feed and educate them. The principal source of revenues is derived from the fair which is held annually, and as before stated, is being conducted at Armory hall on South Broadway.

The attendance has been large during the week, and as the end draws near the interest increases. Saturday night will close the fair, and a great crowd is expected.

A lunch is served daily, and the ladies would like all who can to help along the cause by patronizing the tables.

A daily paper is being issued, and while it is not a large one, to be sure, yet it publishes all news of interest to patrons of the fair.

This orphanage is non-sectarian and all children are received and treated alike, whether of Jewish, Catholic or Protestant faith.

The Willey orchestra was in attendance last evening, and rendered a number of selections with much effect. All of the numbers were well played and the orchestra was also doing a running business. Casey and his various experiences are the favorites with all, and crowds, during almost the entire evening, people may be seen about the machine, holding the tubes to their ears with one hand and holding their sides with the other.

Another man fished out a bottle of beer, and immediately there was a commotion towards the door, with the lucky fisherman and his prize leading the van.

One young woman drew out a doll baby's shoe, while another got a decorated Chinese slipper.

Many other amusing catches took place at the pond during the evening. The photographs are also doing a running business. Casey and his various experiences are the favorites with all, and crowds, during almost the entire evening, people may be seen about the machine, holding the tubes to their ears with one hand and holding their sides with the other.

The Monte Carlo booth, on the right hand side of the hall, attracts much attention. It is a cozy affair and is made entirely of red material. A large sign over the top proclaims the name. There is nothing particularly characterful of the room. It is tastefully trimmed in white material with blue polka dots and within the folds of the cloth are nestled of richly colored ivy leaves. In addition to serving delicious punch, tea can also be obtained. A well-selected stock of fancy articles is run in connection with this booth. Mrs. Bradbury is presiding, assisted by the Misses Winston and Mrs. Thomas.

The orphans' appeal booth is on the right hand side of the room, by Monte Carlo. It is the headquarters for the fair paper, the Orphan's Appeal. This little sheet is being well patronized in the way of advertisements and gives a daily report of the doings of the fair. The booth is in charge of Mrs. Victor Fonest, Mrs. D. M. McGarry and Mrs. D. F. Donegan.

The weighing scales are just to the left of the orphans' appeal booth. The ladies report doing an excellent business in telling the weights and heights of all. They are ready for all kinds of weights, from heavy weights down to featherweights. Mrs. Dr. Kannon, Misses McArthur and De Laney have charge here.

Luncheon and dinner companies are becoming very popular now. A delightful affair was held in the coffee booth in the afternoon and in the evening. Mrs. Victor Fonest entertained a number of friends in the dining hall.

Mr. D. F. Donegan, the contractor, entertained quite a number of city and county officials and others to luncheon in the afternoon. The best things of the party were the punch booth and the party was one of the jolliest ever gathered at the fair. The host was with one accord voted a royal fellow. Those present were: District Attorney Dillon, District Attorney Ryan, Messrs. Dockweiler, Luckenbach, Winston, Kannon, Bryant, Crowley, Peterson, Palomares, Hammon, Donegan.

If not inconsistent it would be well to finish the fair with a dance tomorrow evening. It would at least insure a large attendance.

Among the young ladies who have greatly aided their respective booths are Miss Frances Smith in the punch booth and Miss A. Bartning at Monte Carlo. They are bright young misses and are an attractive addition to the efficient corps of the booths.

Miss Ida Hansen, a pretty little girl, led flowers for this booth last night. She attracted much attention.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

The Organization Completed and Ready for Business.

The board of directors of the Associated Charities met yesterday at the court house, those in attendance being Wm. Pridham, president; Mrs. R. M. Widney, first vice-president; Mrs. H. G. Bath, second vice-president; Mrs. S. C. Hubbell, third vice-president; Mr. J. C. Kays, Mr. W. C. Patterson, J. E. Toberman, T. H. Ward, C. W. Blake; Mr. Stuart, secretary.

The incorporation papers having been received from the secretary of state, quite an amount of business was transacted toward the further perfecting of the organization.

On motion of Mrs. H. G. Batta, Mrs. C. Danmore, Col. J. Ayers, Col. H. G. Otis and H. F. Osborn were elected honorary members of the central council.

The secretary was authorized to at once open subscription lists at the different newspaper offices; also at the commercial banks, the chamber of commerce and the board of trade. As the membership fee is only the small sum of $1 annually, it is hoped that there will be a hearty response. It is also earnestly desired that every person so subscribing will give their name and address, as the managers wish that every member should receive a certificate of membership, together with copy of constitution, by-laws and method of work, which will be ready for distribution in a short time.

THAT POLICE COMBINE

MUTTERINGS AGAINST COMMISSIONERS STERN AND WELDON.

The Mayor Enjoys the Situation and Goes to Santa Monica for a Swim—Gossip About the Commissioners and Their Action.

The action of the police commission in letting out eight police officers in a bunch, is still the talk of the city.

Major E. L. Stern, the Republican commissioner, is coming in for a big share of the comment.

It was only possible for the men to be discharged by his vote added to Tom Weldon's, the other Republican commissioner.

The more the people realize that by this action seven Republicans were dropped from the force the more the two commissioners are damned by those members of the g. o. p. who have followed the course of action.

Of course Mayor Rowan is satisfied. Why shouldn't he be. By this adroit move he is enabled to "point with pride" to the discharges which have taken place.

Ex-commissioner Tuttle and Commissioner Eowshell and Bradbury are fighting mad at the statements by Mayor Rowan about the hand they are alleged to have taken in the dismissal of 18 men at the beginning of the year.

They indignantly deny that that was a parallel case to the present. Mr. Bostybal goes even further than parliamentary usage would dictate, and said yesterday that commissioners who had followed the course of Messrs. Weldon and Stern should be removed.

Major Stern, it is said, is not very far from the truth in his own or a football. Yet if I had been him, I would have told the commissioners to go to a very warm place before I should have allowed them to dismiss some of my best men without consulting me at all. I should have said: "Here is my star, gentlemen. If I am not competent to advise with you about my men, I don't wish to be a dummy and figure-head." But Glass couldn't do that without resigning, and that's just what he wanted. Don't you forget it, if I was chief I'd be chief or quit."

"Well, I can't talk to you much about that. It won't do, don't you know. I will say that I don't think it is a combination with Weber to throw gambling wide open again. Weber is too smart, if they are not, not to know that this community is against gambling. That won't work. It wouldn't last many days. Where is there any money now? I buy my 5-cent beer, and you may have some of your old-time luxuries, but don't do it. There's not enough money in it to make it an object, and the gang knows it a hopeless proposition, with public sentiment as it is. They couldn't do it quietly. Everybody would know it in a little while.

"No, you're right about that. He has been a modest, quiet business man, and his habits are like yours and mine. If there is anything like that going on the mayor will not stay with the combination. You mark my words."

Mayor Rowan seems to enjoy the commotion that has been stirred up, and does not mind the rumors around about. He seems to be satisfied that he is doing something that he has long wanted to do, and let's it go at that. Instead of worrying about the talk, he went down to Santa Monica yesterday and had a good swim.

It is understood that some of the commissioners are not satisfied to let the matter stand with regard to some of the men let out. It is proposed to try to bring about their reinstatement, or make the commission produce charges to justify their action.

Members of the council are taking more and more interest in the matter. Mr. Innes was very outspoken yesterday, and said that as far as he was concerned he was for the men until charges against them were brought to justify their discharge. Men let out in that style were in a predicament, and their friends did not know how to help them.

T. J. Matlock, assistant county license tax collector, called at the HERALD office yesterday morning and made the statement that all persons selling liquors in Pasadena had paid their licenses promptly, with the exception of Peter Steil, and action was commenced against him to enforce payment and not to make a test case, as was stated in a recent Pasadena report.

CHINESE ORDERED RELEASED.

Instructions from the Acting Attorney-General.

Marshal Gard Communicates the News to Judge Ross.

The Order Creates Infinite Disgust Among the Authorities—The Chinese Are Still in Jail.

The United States authorities were greatly wrought up yesterday over the probability that all Chinamen under sentence of deportation will be released forthwith.

The instructions to that effect came from the acting United States attorney-general at Washington.

There have been 67 convictions of Chinese who, with the entire population of almond-eyed celestials, should have been sent across the waters whence they came. Most of them were sentenced in the federal court by Judge Ross and have been awaiting deportation. They are at present in the San Francisco, Alameda county and Los Angeles county jails.

Several unsuccessful attempts have been made by attorneys of the Six companies to have the Chinamen released, but Marshal Gard refused to accede to any such proceedings. He wanted fuller authority, and got it yesterday in answer to a query sent to Washington. The telegram is as follows:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Discharge all Chinese in your custody sentenced to deportation under section 6 of the Geary act, except those heretofore convicted of felony. This is in pursuance of the McCree act, which discontinues all such proceedings and in accordance with the attorney-general's telegram of November 4th to Attorney Dennis.

Acting Attorney-General. This will release all Chinese who have been convicted except one, who was convicted of felony.

Upon receipt of the instructions Marshal Gard sent the news to Judge Ross, who is in San Francisco.

The authorities are very averse to the proceedings, as are many of California's citizens. The McCree act it would seem, covers all pending cases.

Marshal Gard said last night that he would not release any of the Chinamen until he had heard from Judge Ross, whom he expected would send the necessary instructions.

Commissioner Van Dyke did not care to say anything regarding the orders from Washington, although he was of the opinion that the instructions are in strict accordance with the new law.

ORDERED TURNED LOOSE. Marshal Gard received a telegram from Judge Ross last night to the effect that so far as he is concerned the Chinamen should be released. He had no objection to the orders sent from Washington.

In accordance with the opinion of Judge Ross and the instructions from Washington, Marshal Gard telegraphed the sheriff of the counties in whose jails the Chinese are, to release them at once.

No order was received at the Los Angeles county jail to have the Chinese released, but will probably receive instructions to that effect today. There are seven in the jail, two of whom are under sentence of deportation.

EVANGELIST SMITH. His Meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Yesterday.

The meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last night was attended by a large crowd of men and boys, notwithstanding the fact that the churches were holding their regular weekly prayer meetings.

Evangelist F. L. Smith spoke in his usual plain, simple and convincing manner. He read from the seventh chapter of Proverbs, and his talk was directed to the vices of the day. He spoke feelingly of the memory of our mothers, and expressed the hope that every man might always treat every woman with the same respect as he would his own mother or sister.

It is often that men and women are led to sin through the sense of sight. Vile literature is one of the means employed by the devil to lead men astray. Vile publications are publicly displayed in the windows and on the streets of Los Angeles, and are the means of ruining the moral characters of your sons and daughters.

May God grant that the day is not far distant when it will be a crime to sell or display any such vile literature among our loved ones. The speaker appealed to all who would make a determination to live a pure life—a healthy spiritual life in a healthy, pure body—to rise to their feet, and nearly every one in the house arose.

A large number of men signed the cards expressing a desire to lead a Christian life.

Special features of the programme was the sweet singing of the male quartette and of Mrs. Priest-Moffitt.

REFUSED TO GO. The Members of the Chain Gang Rebel.

All except five of the prisoners, who constitute the chain gang, refused to go yesterday morning. Jailer Collins was unable to cope with the gang, who number 34 prisoners.

He locked all of them in cells and will feed them on bread and water until they express a desire to again labor.

The prisoners gave no reason for the act, and rebelled out of pure cussedness.

In Favor of the Plaintiff. In the case of Edward Simmons vs. E. C. Webster, an action to enforce a mechanic's lien upon the Hotel Green at Pasadena, Judge Van Dyke ordered judgment and findings for the plaintiff.

LINDLEY HUNG ON.

He Caught a Runaway and Would not Let Go.

Dr. Will Lindley had quite an experience yesterday morning on Main street opposite Hamman baths. A horse attached to a buggy started to run away, when Dr. Lindley jumped for him and grabbed him by the bit. Two other horses attached to buggies also ran away, and considerable damage was done to the vehicles.

Dr. Lindley hung on like grim death to the plunging horse. He was thrown against a buggy and sustained some severe bruises, but never let go until he had the horse under control. A large crowd collected and the scene was a thrilling one while it lasted. The Doctor being heartily applauded for his bravery.

BRADFIELD ARRAIGNED.

Held Under $3000 Bail to Appear for Examination.

Mason Bradfield, who got into an altercation with D. F. Grant night before last, was arraigned in Judge Seaman's court yesterday, upon a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Attorney Gage appeared for the defendant and asked a continuance. The court set next Friday, the 24th, as the date of examination.

He was held under $3000 bonds. Grant, the fellow who was cut, is recovering rapidly.

THAT BUG CONTROVERSY

PROF. COQUILLET MAKES A LONG-DISTANCE REPLY.

He Denies Having Murderously Impaled Prof. Koebel's Importations of Scale Parasites, and Claims They Were Failures.

Prof. D. W. Coquillett, of the Washington bureau of entomology, who it is claimed, was unfortunate enough to get mixed up in a still more unfortunate controversy about Prof. Koebel's scale bug parasites, imported from Australia, and who has recently been recalled to Washington, under date of November 7th, writes to the HERALD as follows:

"My attention has just been called to your editorial concerning the Australian ladybirds, which appeared in Saturday's HERALD, October 28th, and I am greatly surprised to find that Mr. A. Scott Chapman should thus choose to misrepresent me before the public, as I never had any personal trouble with him in the past, but on the other hand have repeatedly shown him favors whenever an opportunity offered itself.

When Mr. Chapman, in company with Mr. Goodwin of the California Cultivator, called at my office in Los Angeles, I distinctly stated to them that I had never received any living specimens of rhizobius ventralis from Mr. Koebel. Why Mr. Chapman should choose to report me as saying that I had not received any specimens of this insect, is not clear, but perhaps it should be put down to his forgetfulness rather than to any desire on his part to misstate the facts.

In one of his letters to me from Australia, Mr. Koebel requested me to keep for him alcoholic specimens of all the dead insects received from him, this was done, and the list which you have recently received, and which is published in the Los Angeles paper, is on file in the Los Angeles public library. On page 20, under the heading 'Valuable Bugs,' is given an interview with Secretary Lelong concerning the contents of a package of insect sent me from Australia by Mr. Koebel, and in the next paragraph occurs the following statement:

"In all there were about 6000 beetles, and of that number between 200 and 300 were alive."

As to what disposition was made of the living insects received by me from Mr. Koebel, my report, published on pages 10 to 26 of bulletin No. 30, division of entomology of the United States department of agriculture, will show. I am ready to vouch for the correctness of the statements made in that report, and I assure Mr. Chapman that not a living insect received by me was put to death.

On the contrary, everything that could be done to insure the successful colonization of the different insects, was done.

The fact is that these imported insects have not accomplished all that was predicted of them by the promoters, but instead of acknowledging themselves in the wrong, these individuals are now seeking to lay the blame in some other quarter, and that they should be aided in this nefarious work by a man of such well known standing in the community as Mr. A. Scott Chapman is quite beyond my comprehension.

LOCATING THE BLAME. City Engineer Dockweiler Examines the Reports of Sewer Inspectors.

The city engineer was busily engaged in his office yesterday in tracing down the defective sewer work on the outfall, discovered by the committee.

There is a colored chart in his office showing all the work done and by what inspectors. By that and the daily reports, the responsibility will be exactly settled.

As soon as the investigation is completed, Mr. Dockweiler will make a formal report of the result to the sewer committee. The work will take two or three days.

The chamber of commerce has just issued the official report of the international irrigation congress, which was held in this city last month. It is published in pamphlet form and is 100 pages in length, embracing the various speeches and discussions held during the five days' session at the Grand opera house.

THE FAMOUS CHINO RANCH. MR. RICHARD GIRD, OWNER. AT PRIVATE SALE!

In 10, 20, 40 and 80-acre farms, to suit purchasers, on credit. Terms at low rate of interest.

THE PROPERTY WE OFFER COMPRISES THE WELL-KNOWN CHINO RANCH, IN THE center of which is the town of Chino, on the line of the southern Pacific railroad, about three miles south of Pomona and Ontario. Surrounding the property is the valley portion of the Chino Ranch, comprising 16,000 acres lying north and east of Chino creek, subdivided into 10-acre tracts, which have a gradual declivity toward the south and southwest, giving ample natural drainage for successful cultivation.

In 1891 the Best Sugar Company was organized and the refinery built and put in operation at Chino, in a central portion with reference to the property. The result obtained from the operation of the factory for the few years past shows a remarkable degree of adaptability of the soil to the successful cultivation of the sugar beet, both in amount of production and in percentage of saccharine matter, and also in the efficient capacity of the manufacturing plant. The factory handled during the present season of 1893 1,000 tons of beets per day, and from 600 to 800 tons per day coming in continuously for the entire campaign, covering a period of nearly four months. It is proposed now to increase the capacity of the factory by the erection of an additional building and machinery to suit the requirements of the increased production. The returns for the present campaign have been a total yield of over 15,000,000 pounds of sugar, which have been shipped out as crude sugar to be refined elsewhere.

Under a direct and specific contract between Mr. Gird and the Chino Valley Best Sugar Company, a corporation which instituted and operates the Best Sugar industry, they agreed to purchase from Mr. Gird or his successors all the beets grown on the ranch for years to come, and at the present date, about November 1, 1893, before the commencement of the next season, a fixed price is established that the factory will pay for the beets at maturity next season. This insures the planter in the market for his crop, and with the price that is fixed, before he takes any risk in the market or makes the first move to raise the price.

Possibly there is no other branch of industry whose calculations for future results can be made so readily or so correctly calculated upon, and returns realized in so short a time as in the cultivation of the sugar beet under such auspices.

While speaking particularly in regard to the important industry of beet growing for the manufacture of sugar, estimates of general fruits should not be lost sight of, as a great portion of the land is especially adapted to.

Deciduous Fruits and Deciduous Trees. Orange groves planted on portions of the Ranch are coming forward, and olives, figs, apricot, pines, pomegranates and berries, in fact California fruits of all kinds, seem indigenous to the soil. It is also demonstrated that corn, barley, wheat, and in fact all the cereals and vegetables flourish here, and attain a high degree of perfection.

The townsite of Chino, located at a convenient point with reference to all portions of the ranch, including California town, with telephone, and express offices, schools and churches. Means of communication and transportation are ample. The Southern Pacific railroad runs its main line direct into Chino, and is four miles distant from Pomona and Ontario, on the main overland line, and in addition is the proposed extension which is now assured from Pomona, through Chino, to South Riverside and Elsinore.

The following are a few of the advantageous features of the Chino valley: First, the cultivation of the sugar beet, which insures a profit of 15 tons in an average crop, but 20 tons is not unusual, which secures a fixed price of $1.50 per ton, which during the present season of 1893 has averaged the grower from $35 to $60 per acre net, and clean above all expense of working the ground, planting and harvesting the crop and delivering at the factory.

We invite land seekers generally who are desiring to secure profitable investments to examine this valuable property, which offers a field for health, profit or investment. Four passenger trains in and out of Chino every day. We invite correspondence. For further particulars, address or call on us.
